"(II) any Territory thereof;

"(III) the District of Columbia; or

"(IV) any insular possession or other place under the jurisdiction of the United States; and

"(C) The effect of such discrimination may be substantially—

"(i) to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce; or

"(ii) to injure, destroy, or prevent competition—

"(I) with any person who—

"(aa) grants such discrimination; or

"(bb) knowingly receives the benefit of such discrimination; or

"(II) with customers of a person described in subclause (I).

"(2) Safe harbors.—It shall not be unlawful under this subsection for—

"(A) differentials resulting from differing methods or quantities in the cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery of such commodities or services which are—

"(i) direct;

"(ii) verifiable;

"(iii) transaction-specific; and

"(iv) causally linked

"to such purchasers with respect to such sale or provision;

"(B) persons engaged in selling goods, services, wares, or merchandise in commerce to select their own customers in bona fide transactions and not in restraint of trade; or

"(C) price changes from time to time where in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of the goods or services concerned, such as but not limited to—

"(i) actual or imminent deterioration of perishable goods;

"(ii) obsolescence of seasonal goods;

"(iii) distress sales under court process; or

"(iv) sales in good faith in discontinuance of business in the goods concerned.

"(3) Quantity limits.—

"(A) Authority.—The Commission may, after due investigation and hearing to all interested parties, fix and establish quantity limits, and revise such limits as it finds necessary, with respect to particular commodities or classes of commodities.

"(B) Standard.—The Commission may exercise the authority under subparagraph (A) where it finds that purchasers available in greater quantities are so few as to render differentials on account of such quantities unjustly discriminatory or promotive of monopoly in any line of commerce.

"(C) Effect.—Upon the establishment of quantity limits under this paragraph, this subsection shall not be construed to permit differentials based on differences in quantities greater than those so fixed and established.

"(b) Burden of rebutting prima-facie case of discrimination.—

"(1) Burden.—Upon proof being made, at any hearing on a complaint under this section, that a violation of subsection (a)(1) has occurred, the Commission is authorized to issue an order terminating the discrimination unless the person charged shall affirmatively show justification such as provided by subsection (a)(2) or paragraph (2).

"(2) Meeting competition.—A seller may rebut a prima-facie case made in this subsection by showing that their lower price or the furnishing of services or facilities to any purchaser or purchasers was made in good faith to meet an equally low price of a competitor, or the services or facilities furnished by a competitor.

"(c) Payment or acceptance of commission, brokerage, or other compensation.—

"(1) Prohibition.—It shall be unlawful for any person engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to pay or grant, or to receive or accept, anything of value as a commission, brokerage, or other compensation, or any allowance or discount in lieu thereof.

"(2) Exception.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply where—

"(A) the compensation is paid solely for services rendered in connection with the sale or purchase of goods, wares, or merchandise; and

"(B) such services are rendered either—

"(i) to the other party to the transaction; or

"(ii) to an agent, representative, or other intermediary that is acting in fact for or on behalf of, or is subject to the direct or indirect control of, the person by whom such compensation is paid.

"(d) Payment for services or facilities for processing or sale.—

"(1) Prohibition.—It shall be unlawful for any person engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, to

"(A) pay or contract for the payment of anything of value

"(B) to or for the benefit of a customer of such person

"(C) as compensation or in consideration for services or facilities—

"(i) furnished by or through such customer; and

"(ii) in connection with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale—

"(I) any products or commodities manufactured, sold, or offered for sale by such person.

"(2) Proportional availability.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply where such payment or consideration is made available on proportionally equal terms to all other customers competing in the distribution of such products or commodities.

"(e) Furnishing services or facilities for processing, handling, etc.—

"(1) Prohibition.—It shall be unlawful for any person engaged in commerce to—

"(A) discriminate in favor of one purchaser; and

"(B) against another purchaser or purchasers—

"(i) of a commodity bought for resale;

"(ii) with or without processing;

"(C) by contracting to furnish or furnishing, or by contributing to the furnishing of—

"(i) services or facilities

"(ii) furnished in connection with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale—

"(I) such commodity described in subparagraph (B)(i).

"(2) Proportional availability.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply where such services or facilities are made available on proportionally equal terms to all purchasers competing in the distribution of such commodity.

"(f) Knowingly inducing or receiving discriminatory price.—It shall be unlawful for any person engaged in commerce, in the course of such commerce, knowingly to induce or receive a discrimination in price which is prohibited by this section.".

SEC. 1122. SHERMAN ACT AMENDMENTS.

(a) Section 2 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 2) is amended—

(1) by striking "Every" and inserting "(a) Every"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(b) (1) In any case alleging a violation of this section or section 1 in which a plaintiff establishes by a preponderance of the evidence (including direct evidence) the existence of substantial market power or the anticompetitive or otherwise detrimental effects of particular practices, a plaintiff need neither define the scope of a relevant market nor establish the share of such a market controlled by the defendant.

"(2) In any case alleging a violation of this section or section 1 in which the defendant relies on alleged procompetitive effects to justify the conduct of the defendant, the defendant shall establish by clear and convincing evidence that—

"(A) the procompetitive effects of the conduct clearly outweigh the anticompetitive effects of the conduct; and

"(B) the defendant could not obtain substantially similar procompetitive effects through commercially reasonable alternatives that would involve materially lower competitive risks.

"(3) Nothing in this subsection may be construed to prevent a court from considering evidence relating to the definition of a proposed relevant market in evaluating the merits of a claim.".

(b) Section 4 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 4) is amended—

(1) by striking "The several" and inserting "(a) The several"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(b) It is the policy of the United States that the principal standard for evaluating the permissibility of practices under this Act is the protection of economic competition within the United States.

"(c) In any action brought by the United States or the Federal Trade Commission alleging a violation of this Act, if the United States or the Federal Trade Commission establishes such a violation, the court shall order disgorgement of all profits earned by the defendant as a result of the conduct constituting that violation, except upon a showing of extraordinary good cause.

"(d) In any action brought by the United States or the Federal Trade Commission in which a violation of section 2 is established, the court shall, in addition to any other remedy or penalty provided by law, order relief that—

"(1) unfetters the affected market or markets from the harm caused by the violation;

"(2) terminates any monopoly unlawfully acquired or maintained through the violation; and

"(3) eliminates any practice likely to result in a future violation of section 2 by the defendant.".

(c) Federal Trade Commission authority.—Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45), as amended by this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following:

"(p) Civil action for Sherman Act violations.—

"(1) In general.—The Commission may commence a civil action in a district court of the United States against any person, partnership, or corporation for a violation of subsection (a)(1) respecting an unfair method of competition that constitutes a violation of section 1 or 2 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 1, 2).

"(2) Relief.—In an action under paragraph (1), the Commission may seek, and the court may grant, any relief authorized under this Act, the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 1 et seq.), or the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 12 et seq.), including relief under section 4(c) or (d) of the Sherman Act.".

SEC. 1123. CLAYTON ACT AMENDMENTS.

(a) Policy of competition.—Section 1 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 12) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)—

(A) by designating the 3 undesignated paragraphs as paragraphs (1) through (3), respectively; and

(B) by adding at the end the following:

"(4) The term 'market power' in this Act means the ability of a person, or a group of persons acting in concert, to profitably impose terms or conditions on counterparties, including terms regarding price, quantity, product or service quality, or other terms affecting the value of consideration exchanged in the transaction, that are more favorable to the person or group of persons imposing them than what the person or group of persons could obtain in a competitive market."; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(c) It is the policy of the United States that the principal standard for evaluating the permissibility of practices under this Act is the protection of economic competition within the United States.".

(b) Prejudgment interest.—Section 4 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 15) is amended by striking subsection (a) and inserting the following:

"(a) Except as provided in subsection (b), any person injured in that person's business or property by reason of anything forbidden in the antitrust laws may sue therefor in any district court of the United States in the district in which the defendant resides or is found or has an agent, without respect to the amount in controversy, and shall recover—

"(1) threefold the damages sustained by such person;

"(2) the cost of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee; and

"(3) simple interest on threefold the damages sustained by that person for the period beginning on the date of service of that person's pleading setting forth a claim under the antitrust laws and ending on the date of judgment.".

(c) Section 7 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 18) is amended—

(1) in the first 5 undesignated paragraphs—

(A) by inserting "or a monopsony" after "monopoly" each place that term appears;

(B) by striking "substantially to lessen" and "to lessen substantially" each place that such terms appear and inserting "to create an appreciable risk of materially lessening"; and

(C) redesignating such paragraphs as subsections (a) through (e), respectively;

(2) in subsection (c) (as redesignated) by striking "the substantial" and inserting "an appreciable risk of materially";

(3) by amending the 6th undesignated paragraph to read as follows:

"(f) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to transactions duly consummated pursuant to authority given by the Secretary of Transportation, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, the Surface Transportation Board, or the Secretary of Agriculture under any statutory provision vesting such power in such agency or Secretary."; and

(4) by adding at the end the following:

"(g) In determining whether an acquisition may create an appreciable risk of materially lessening competition or tend to create a monopoly or monopsony, a court shall consider whether either the acquiring person or the acquired person or assets prevents, limits, or disrupts coordinated interaction among competitors in a relevant market, or has a reasonable probability of doing so absent the acquisition.

"(h) Where a preponderance of the evidence (including direct evidence) is adduced to demonstrate that the effect of an acquisition may be to create an appreciable risk of materially lessening competition or to tend to create a monopoly or a monopsony, a plaintiff need neither establish market shares nor the concentration of any particular market.

"(i) No acquisition shall be presumed not to create an appreciable risk of materially lessening competition or tend to create a monopoly or monopsony only because the parties to the acquisition do not compete directly against one another at the time of the acquisition.

"(j) A statutory reference to a line of commerce shall not be construed to require the definition of a relevant market or the establishment of market shares or market concentration.".

(d) Premerger notification and public comment.—

(1) Section 7A of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 18a), as amended by section 416 of this Act, is further amended—

(A) in the undesignated matter following subsection (a)(2)(B)(ii)(III), by adding at the end the following: "In the case of any transaction involving a person, partnership, or corporation designated as a dominant digital firm under section 10A of the Federal Trade Commission Act, the person, partnership, or corporation shall file notification as required by this section.";

(B) in subsection (d)(1) to read as follows—

"(1) shall require that the notification required under subsection (a) be in such form and contain such documentary material and information relevant to a proposed acquisition as is necessary and appropriate to enable the Federal Trade Commission and the Assistant Attorney General to determine whether such acquisition may, if consummated, violate the antitrust laws, and shall include, at a minimum, the categories of information required by the Hart-Scott-Rodino premerger notification rules as published in the Federal Register on November 12, 2024 (89 Fed. Reg. 89216), including disclosures relating to transaction structure, competitive overlaps, prior acquisitions, and labor market impacts; and";

(C) in subsection (e) by adding at the end the following—

"(3) Large transactions.—In the case of any proposed acquisition described in subsection (j)(1), the Federal Trade Commission or the Assistant Attorney General shall require the submission of additional information or documentary material under this subsection after the close of the public comment period."; and

(D) by inserting after subsection (i) the following—

"(j) Public comment for covered transactions.—

"(1) In general.—For any proposed acquisition subject to this section in which the value of the transaction equals or exceeds $1,000,000,000, the Federal Trade Commission and the Assistant Attorney General shall open a public comment docket during the waiting period.

"(2) Discretionary authority.—The Federal Trade Commission and the Assistant Attorney General may open a public comment docket for any other proposed acquisition where the agencies determine that the transaction may have substantial impacts on competition, labor markets, consumers, or the public interest.

"(3) Public summaries and funding disclosure.—In connection with any public comment docket under this subsection, the agencies shall publish an agency-prepared public summary of the proposed transaction describing the nature of the transaction and the principal competitive, economic, and labor-related issues raised, without disclosing confidential business information, and any study, analysis, or report submitted for consideration in such docket shall disclose any direct or indirect funding sources or financial sponsorship.".

(2) Confidentiality.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to alter the confidentiality protections provided under section 7A(h) of the Clayton Act, except that agency-prepared public summaries and disclosures required under subsection (j)(3) shall not be treated as confidential.

(e) Exclusionary conduct.—

(1) In general.—The Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 12 et seq.) is amended by inserting after section 26 (15 U.S.C. 26a) the following:

"Sec. 26A. Exclusionary conduct.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Exclusionary conduct.—

"(A) In general.—The term 'exclusionary conduct' means conduct that—"(i) materially disadvantages 1 or more actual or potential competitors; or

"(ii) tends to foreclose or limit the ability or incentive of 1 or more actual or potential competitors to compete.

"(B) Limitations.—

"(i) Intellectual property.—Applying for or enforcing a patent, trademark, or copyright, unless such applications or enforcement actions are baseless or made in bad faith or in violation of a legal obligation, shall not alone constitute exclusionary conduct, but such actions may be considered as part of a course of conduct that constitutes exclusionary conduct.

"(ii) Conduct required by law.—Conduct that is necessary to comply with Federal or State law shall not alone constitute exclusionary conduct, but such actions may be considered as part of a course of conduct that constitutes exclusionary conduct.

"(2) Market power.—The term 'market power' means the ability of a person, or a group of persons acting in concert, to profitably impose terms or conditions on counterparties, including terms regarding price, quantity, product or service quality, or other terms affecting the value of consideration exchanged in the transaction, that are more favorable to the person or group of persons imposing them than what the person or group of persons could obtain in a competitive market.

"(b) Violation.—

"(1) In general.—It shall be unlawful for a person, acting alone or in concert with other persons, to engage in exclusionary conduct that presents an appreciable risk of harming competition.

"(2) Unfair method of competition.—A violation of paragraph (1) shall also constitute an unfair method of competition under section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45).

"(c) Presumption.—

"(1) In general.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), exclusionary conduct shall be presumed to present an appreciable risk of harming competition and shall be a violation of subsection (b)(1) if the exclusionary conduct is undertaken, with respect to a relevant market, by a person or by a group of more than 1 person acting in concert that—

"(A) has a market share of greater than 50 percent as a seller or a buyer in the relevant market; or

"(B) otherwise has significant market power in the relevant market.

"(2) Exception.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply if the defendant establishes, by a preponderance of the evidence, that—

"(A) distinct procompetitive benefits of the exclusionary conduct in the relevant market eliminate the risk of harming competition presented by the exclusionary conduct;

"(B) 1 or more persons, not including any person participating in or facilitating the exclusionary conduct, have entered or expanded their presence in the market with the effect of eliminating the risk of harming competition posed by the exclusionary conduct; or

"(C) the exclusionary conduct does not present an appreciable risk of harming competition.

"(d) Considerations.—If the presumption in subsection (c) does not apply, the determination of whether exclusionary conduct presents an appreciable risk of harming competition shall be based on the totality of the circumstances, which may include consideration of—

"(1) the extent to which any distinct procompetitive benefits of the exclusionary conduct substantially eliminate the risk of harming competition presented by the exclusionary conduct; and

"(2) whether 1 or more persons, not including any person participating in or facilitating the exclusionary conduct, have entered or expanded their presence in the market, substantially eliminating the risk of harming competition presented by the exclusionary conduct.

"(e) Limitations.—Although the following circumstances may constitute evidence of a violation of subsection (b)(1), such violation does not require finding—

"(1) that the unilateral conduct of the defendant altered or terminated a prior course of dealing between the defendant and a person subject to the exclusionary conduct;

"(2) that the defendant treated persons subject to the exclusionary conduct differently than the defendant treated other persons;

"(3) that any price of the defendant for a product or service was below any measure of the costs to the defendant of providing the product or service;

"(4) that a defendant with significant market power in a relevant market has recouped or is likely to recoup the losses it incurred or incurs from below-cost pricing for products or services in the relevant market;

"(5) that the conduct of the defendant makes no economic sense apart from its tendency to harm competition;

"(6) that the risk of harming competition presented by the conduct of the defendant or any resulting actual harm to competition have been quantified or proven with quantitative evidence; or

"(7) that when a defendant operates a multi-sided platform business, the conduct of the defendant presents an appreciable risk of harming competition on more than 1 side of the multi-sided platform.

"(f) Civil penalties.—Any person who violates subsection (b)(1) shall be liable to the United States for a civil penalty, which may be recovered in a civil action brought by the Attorney General of the United States, of not more than the greater of—

"(1) 15 percent of the total United States revenues of the person for the previous calendar year; or

"(2) 30 percent of the United States revenues of the person in any line of commerce affected or targeted by the unlawful conduct during the period of the unlawful conduct.

"Sec. 26B. Civil penalties.

"(a) Civil penalty for violation of section 26A.—The Federal Trade Commission may commence a civil action in a district court of the United States against any person, partnership, or corporation that violates section 26A(b)(1) to recover a civil penalty, which shall accrue to the United States, in an amount not more than the greater of—

"(1) 15 percent of the total United States revenues of the person, partnership, or corporation for the previous calendar year; or

"(2) 30 percent of the United States revenues of the person, partnership, or corporation in any line of commerce affected or targeted by the unlawful conduct during the period of the unlawful conduct.

"(b) Commission litigation authority.—Except as otherwise provided in section 16(a)(3) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 56(a)(3)), the Federal Trade Commission shall have authority to commence or defend, and supervise the litigation of, any civil action authorized under subsection (a) and any appeal of such action in its own name by any of its attorneys designated by it for such purpose. The Federal Trade Commission shall inform the Attorney General of the exercise of such authority, and such exercise shall not preclude the Attorney General from intervening on behalf of the United States in such action and any appeal of such action as may be otherwise provided by law.

"(c) No duplicate penalty.—A person may not be required to pay more than 1 civil penalty under section 26A(f) and this section for the same violation.".

(2) Enforcement guidelines.—

(A) Initial guidelines.—Not later than July 1, 2027, the Attorney General and the Federal Trade Commission shall issue joint guidelines outlining policies, practices, and analytical techniques relating to agency enforcement under section 26A of the Clayton Act, as added by paragraph (1), with the goal of promoting transparency and deterring violations of such section 26A.

(B) Updates.—The Attorney General and the Federal Trade Commission shall update the joint guidelines issued under subparagraph (A), as needed to reflect current agency policies and practices, but not less frequently than once every 5 years.

(C) Public notice and comment.—

(i) Guidelines.—Before issuing guidelines under subparagraph (A) or (B), the Attorney General and the Federal Trade Commission shall publish proposed guidelines in draft form and provide public notice and opportunity for comment for not less than 60 days after the date on which the guidelines are published.

(ii) Inapplicability of rulemaking provisions.—Section 553 of title 5, United States Code, shall not apply to the guidelines issued under this paragraph.

SEC. 1124. PROHIBITION ON ABUSIVE ACTS OR PRACTICES.

(a) Abusive acts or practices.—Title 15, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in sections 45, 45a, 45b, 45c, 45d, 45f, 52, 57b, 57b-1, 57b-2b, 69a, 69h, 70c, 70d, by striking "unfair or deceptive" each place it appears and inserting "unfair, deceptive, or abusive"; and

(2) in section 45—

(A) by adding at the end of subsection (n) the following:

"This subsection shall apply only to unfair acts or practices and shall not apply to deceptive or abusive acts or practices."; and

(B) by inserting after subsection (n) the following:

"(o) Abusive acts or practices.—For purposes of this section, the Commission shall have authority to declare an act or practice abusive if the act or practice—

"(1) materially interferes with the ability of a person to understand a material term, condition, or reasonably foreseeable consequence of conduct, a transaction, or an arrangement offered in or affecting commerce; or

"(2) takes unreasonable advantage of—

"(A) a lack of understanding on the part of a person of the material risks, costs, conditions, or effects of such conduct, transaction, or arrangement;

"(B) the inability of a person to protect the interests of the person in selecting, accessing, or using a good, service, platform, or market; or

"(C) the reasonable reliance by a person on another person to act in the interests of the person.".

(b) Rule of construction.—Nothing in the addition of the term "abusive" to the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45 et seq.) shall be construed to—

(1) narrow or limit the scope of conduct previously prohibited as unfair or deceptive acts or practices; or

(2) impair the applicability of judicial precedent interpreting unfair or deceptive acts or practices under this section.

(c) Conforming references.—Any reference in Federal law to an "unfair or deceptive act or practice" under section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act, or to conduct treated as an unfair or deceptive act or practice under section 5 or section 18 of such Act, shall be deemed to include an abusive act or practice.

SEC. 1125. PROHIBITION ON TYING ARRANGEMENTS BY DOMINANT FIRMS.

(a) In general.—The Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 12 et seq.) is amended by inserting after section 3 the following:

"Sec. 3A. Prohibition on tying arrangements by dominant firms.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Distinct products or services.—The term 'distinct products or services' means products or services for which separate demand exists. Separate demand includes separate offering, separate pricing, separate billing, separate licensing, separate contracting, industry practice, or practical separate acquisition. Products or services shall not be treated as indistinct solely because they are complementary, interoperable, integrated, or bundled together by the same person.

"(2) Dominant firm.—The term 'dominant firm' means a person that—

"(A) possesses monopoly power or dominant market power;

"(B) has a market share of greater than 30 percent with respect to a product or service that is the subject of a tying product or service purchase condition;

"(C) (i) controls a platform, marketplace, operating system, payment system, or other intermediary or access point through which business users or consumers obtain, distribute, access, or pay for a product or service subject to such person's tying product or service purchase condition; and

"(ii) at any month during either of the previous 2 calendar years, had at least 50,000,000 United States–based monthly active users or at least 100,000 United States–based monthly active business users;

"(D) during either of the previous 2 calendar years, had annual revenue or market capitalization greater than $100,000,000,000; or

"(E) is designated as a dominant firm under subsection (d).

"(3) Tying arrangement.—The term 'tying arrangement' means any of the following conduct in commerce, where such conduct materially impairs practical commercial choice or may substantially lessen competition:

"(A) a tying product or service purchase condition that a person purchase, lease, license, use, or distribute another distinct product or service from the person imposing the condition or from an affiliated person;

"(B) a tying product or service purchase condition that a person not purchase, lease, license, use, or distribute a competing product or service from another person;

"(C) offering, pricing, licensing, distributing, or providing 2 or more distinct products or services together under materially more favorable terms that pressure purchase of the combined offering; or

"(D) imposing a material disadvantage on a person, including product or service degradation, withholding of interoperability, discrimination in ranking or placement, discriminatory pricing, or other adverse treatment, as a consequence of such person ceasing to comply with a condition described in subparagraph (A) or (B), or for refusal to agree to such condition.

"(4) Tying product or service purchase condition.—The term 'tying product or service purchase condition' means a condition on the sale, lease, license, distribution, use, access, or terms of a distinct product or service which is used to induce additional activity in or affecting commerce.

"(b) Prohibition.—It shall be unlawful for any dominant firm, directly or indirectly, in or affecting commerce, to engage in a tying arrangement.

"(c) Defenses.—It shall be an affirmative defense, on which the defendant bears the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence, that the challenged conduct—

"(1) is reasonably necessary to achieve cybersecurity, privacy, safety, or technical-integrity objectives;

"(2) is narrowly tailored, and no materially less restrictive alternative would reasonably achieve such objective; and

"(3) does not materially impair practical commercial choice or substantially lessen competition to a degree that is disproportionate to such objective.

"(d) Designation.—

"(1) Official designation.—

"(A) In general.—Subject to subparagraph (C), the Commission shall officially designate a person that meets the requirements under subparagraph (B), (C), or (D) of subsection (a)(2) as a dominant firm by publishing the designation in the Federal Register.

"(B) Duration of designation.—The designation of a person as a dominant firm under subparagraph (A) shall apply indefinitely, regardless of whether there is a change in control or ownership of the person, unless the Commission removes the designation under paragraph (2).

"(C) Rules.—The Commission may, as the Commission determines appropriate, promulgate rules to—

"(i) adjust a numeric threshold in subsection (a)(2), provided that the Commission may not adjust any numeric threshold below the value in the applicable subparagraph; or

"(ii) define additional characteristics that a person must have in order to be designated as a dominant firm under subparagraph (A).

"(2) Removal of designation.—

"(A) Request.—If a person designated as a dominant firm under paragraph (1) ceases to meet the qualifications for such designation, the person may submit to the Commission a request for removal of the designation, together with evidence that the person no longer so qualifies.

"(B) Determination.—

"(i) In general.—Not later than 120 days after receiving a request under subparagraph (A), the Commission shall determine whether to grant the request and, if the Commission grants the request, remove the person from the public list under subsection (e)(1).

"(ii) Denied requests.—A denial under clause (i) of a request submitted under subparagraph (A) shall constitute final agency action for purposes of chapter 7 of title 5, United States Code.

"(e) Public list.—

"(1) In general.—The Commission shall maintain and periodically update on its website a public list of persons that the Commission has identified as dominant firms under this section.

"(2) Omission not dispositive.—Omission from the public list under paragraph (1) shall not by itself establish that a person is not a dominant firm.

"(f) Enforcement.—

"(1) Federal Trade Commission.—A violation of this section shall constitute an unfair method of competition under section 5(a)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(1)). The Commission shall enforce this section in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties as though all applicable terms of the Federal Trade Commission Act were incorporated into and made a part of this section.

"(2) Relation to other law.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit any other claim or authority otherwise available under the antitrust laws or the Federal Trade Commission Act.".

SEC. 1126. WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTIONS AND INCENTIVES.

(a) Civil whistleblower protections.—The Clayton Act is amended by inserting after section 27 (15 U.S.C. 26b) the following:

"Sec. 27A. Anti-retaliation protection for civil whistleblowers.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Applicable antitrust laws.—The term 'applicable antitrust laws' means section 1, 2, or 3 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 1, 2, and 3) or section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45) to the extent that such section applies to unfair methods of competition.

"(2) Covered individual.—The term 'covered individual' means an employee, contractor, subcontractor, or agent of an employer.

"(3) Employer.—The term 'employer' means a person, or any officer, employee, contractor, subcontractor, or agent of such person.

"(4) Federal Government.—The term 'Federal Government' means—

"(A) a Federal regulatory or law enforcement agency; or

"(B) any Member of Congress or committee of Congress.

"(5) Person.—The term 'person' has the same meaning as in subsection (a) of the first section of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 12(a)).

"(b) Whistleblower protections for employees, contractors, subcontractors, and agents.—

"(1) In general.—No employer may discharge, demote, suspend, threaten, harass, or in any other manner discriminate against a covered individual in the terms and conditions of employment of the covered individual because of any lawful act done by the covered individual—

"(A) to provide or cause to be provided to the Federal Government or a person with supervisory authority over the covered individual (or such other person working for the employer who has the authority to investigate, discover, or terminate misconduct) information relating to any violation of, or any act or omission the covered individual reasonably believes to be a violation of, the applicable antitrust laws; or

"(B) to cause to be filed, testify in, participate in, or otherwise assist a Federal Government investigation or a Federal Government proceeding filed or about to be filed (with any knowledge of the employer) relating to any violation of, or any act or omission the covered individual reasonably believes to be a violation of, the applicable antitrust laws.

"(2) Limitation on protections.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to any covered individual if—

"(A) the covered individual planned and initiated a violation or attempted violation of the applicable antitrust laws;

"(B) the covered individual planned and initiated a violation or attempted violation of a criminal law in conjunction with a violation or attempted violation of the applicable antitrust laws; or

"(C) the covered individual planned and initiated an obstruction or attempted obstruction of an investigation by the Federal Government of a violation of the applicable antitrust laws.

"(c) Enforcement action.—

"(1) In general.—A covered individual who alleges discharge or other discrimination by any employer in violation of subsection (b) may seek relief under subsection (d) by—

"(A) filing a complaint with the Secretary of Labor; or

"(B) if the Secretary of Labor has not issued a final decision within 180 days of the filing of the complaint and there is no showing that such delay is due to the bad faith of the claimant, bringing an action at law or equity for de novo review in the appropriate district court of the United States, which shall have jurisdiction over such an action without regard to the amount in controversy.

"(2) Procedure.—

"(A) In general.—A complaint filed with the Secretary of Labor under paragraph (1)(A) shall be governed under the rules and procedures set forth in section 42121(b) of title 49, United States Code.

"(B) Exception.—Notification made under section 42121(b)(1) of title 49, United States Code, shall be made to any individual named in the complaint and to the employer.

"(C) Burdens of proof.—An action brought under paragraph (1)(B) shall be governed by the legal burdens of proof set forth in section 42121(b) of title 49, United States Code.

"(D) Statute of limitations.—A complaint under paragraph (1)(A) shall be filed with the Secretary of Labor not later than 180 days after the date on which the violation of this section occurs.

"(E) Civil actions to enforce.—If a person fails to comply with an order or preliminary order issued by the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the procedures set forth in section 42121(b) of title 49, United States Code, the Secretary of Labor or the person on whose behalf the order was issued may bring a civil action to enforce the order in the district court of the United States for the judicial district in which the violation occurred.

"(d) Remedies.—

"(1) In general.—A covered individual prevailing in any action under subsection (c)(1) shall be entitled to all relief necessary to make the covered individual whole.

"(2) Compensatory damages.—Relief under paragraph (1) shall include—

"(A) reinstatement with the same seniority status that the covered individual would have had, but for the discrimination;

"(B) the amount of back pay, with interest; and

"(C) compensation for any special damages sustained as a result of the discrimination including litigation costs, expert witness fees, and reasonable attorney's fees.

"(e) Other protections preserved.—Nothing in this section shall be deemed to diminish any protection, privilege, or remedy of any covered individual under any Federal or State law, or under any collective bargaining agreement.".

(b) Criminal whistleblower incentives.—The Antitrust Criminal Penalty Enhancement and Reform Act of 2004 (15 U.S.C. 1 note) is amended by inserting after section 216 (15 U.S.C. 7a–3) the following:

"Sec. 217. Criminal antitrust whistleblower incentives.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Antitrust laws.—The term 'antitrust laws' means section 1 or 3 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 1 and 3).

"(2) Collected proceeds.—The term 'collected proceeds' means any sanctions, fines, penalties, or awards obtained in any covered enforcement action, whether by judgment, settlement, or a deferred prosecution agreement.

"(3) Covered enforcement action.—The term 'covered enforcement action' means any criminal action brought by the Attorney General under the antitrust laws that results in collected proceeds exceeding $1,000,000.

"(4) Original information.—The term 'original information' means information that—

"(A) is derived from the personal knowledge of a whistleblower;

"(B) is not known to the Attorney General or the Department of Justice from any other source, unless the whistleblower is the original source of the information;

"(C) is not exclusively derived from an allegation made in a judicial or administrative hearing, in a governmental report, hearing, audit, or investigation, or from the news media, unless the whistleblower is a source of the information; and

"(D) is not already required to be disclosed to the Department of Justice or another Federal agency.

"(5) Related action.—The term 'related action', when used with respect to any covered enforcement action brought by the Attorney General, means any criminal action brought by another United States entity that is based upon the original information provided by a whistleblower that led to the successful enforcement action by the Attorney General.

"(6) Whistleblower.—The term 'whistleblower' means any individual who provides information relating to a violation of the antitrust laws to the Department of Justice, in a manner established by the Department of Justice.

"(b) Awards.—

"(1) In general.—In a covered enforcement action, or related action, the Attorney General, subject to subsection (c), may pay an award or awards to a whistleblower who voluntarily provided original information to the Department of Justice that led to the successful enforcement of the covered enforcement action, or related action, in an amount not less than 10 percent and not more than 30 percent, in total, of what has been collected of the criminal fine imposed in the covered enforcement action or related action under the antitrust laws.

"(2) Payment.—Any amount paid under paragraph (1) shall be paid from the criminal fine collected in the covered enforcement action.

"(c) Determination of amount of award; denial of award.—

"(1) Determination of amount of award.—

"(A) Discretion.—The determination of the amount of an award made under subsection (b) shall be at the discretion of the Attorney General.

"(B) Criteria.—In determining the amount of an award made under subsection (b), the Attorney General shall take into consideration—

"(i) the significance of the information provided by the whistleblower to the success of the covered enforcement action;

"(ii) the degree of assistance and cooperation provided by the whistleblower in a covered enforcement action;

"(iii) the interest of the Department of Justice in deterring criminal violations of the antitrust laws by making awards to whistleblowers who provide information that leads to successful covered enforcement actions; and

"(iv) such additional relevant factors as the Attorney General may establish.

"(2) Denial of award.—No award under subsection (b) shall be made—

"(A) to any whistleblower who is, or was at the time the whistleblower acquired the original information submitted to the Department of Justice, a member, officer, or employee of—

"(i) any branch, agency, or instrumentality of the Federal Government; or

"(ii) any law enforcement organization;

"(B) to any whistleblower who is convicted of a criminal violation related to the covered enforcement action for which the whistleblower otherwise could receive an award under this section;

"(C) to any whistleblower who was an originator or leader of or who coerced any other party to participate in the activity giving rise to liability under the antitrust laws in the covered enforcement action for which the whistleblower otherwise could receive an award under this section;

"(D) to any whistleblower who fails to provide timely, truthful, continuing, and complete cooperation to the Department of Justice relating to the original information or intentionally withholds information relating to the original information;

"(E) to any whistleblower who commits, participates in, or attempts to commit or participate in any crimes after disclosing the original information to the Department of Justice;

"(F) to any whistleblower who fails to submit information to the Department of Justice in such form as the Department may require, or fails to report relevant information to the Department known to the whistleblower when the whistleblower first reported the information to the Department;

"(G) to any whistleblower who planned and initiated an obstruction or attempted obstruction of an investigation by the Department of Justice of a violation of the antitrust laws; or

"(H) to any whistleblower who engages in conduct that would disqualify the whistleblower if the whistleblower were a leniency applicant under the Leniency Program of the Antitrust Division.

"(d) Representation.—Any whistleblower who makes a claim for an award under subsection (b) may be represented by counsel.

"(e) Appeals.—Any determination made under this section, including whether, to whom, or in what amount to make awards, shall be in the discretion of the Attorney General. Any such determination, except the determination of the amount of an award if the award was made in accordance with subsection (b), may be appealed to the appropriate court of appeals of the United States not more than 30 days after the determination is issued by the Attorney General. The court shall review the determination made by the Attorney General in accordance with section 706 of title 5, United States Code.".

Subtitle C—Restricting Algorithmic Pricing

SEC. 1131. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Prices for essential goods and services, including groceries, rent, residential housing, utilities, and health care, have increased substantially in recent years, contributing to widespread economic hardship for households across the United States.

(2) Algorithmic pricing systems influence prices in markets where these increases have occurred, including food staples, residential rents, and other essential goods and services.

(3) Practices that artificially raise, align, or stabilize prices among competitors are unlawful when conducted directly through human communication, and the use of an algorithmic intermediary does not alter the unlawful nature of such conduct.

(4) Certain pricing algorithms rely on nonpublic competitor data or function as shared systems across multiple competing firms, thereby replicating or magnifying forms of price coordination that would violate long-standing antitrust prohibitions if engaged in through direct interaction.

(5) Algorithmic pricing systems used in concentrated markets can produce supracompetitive prices even without explicit agreements among competitors, undermining the competitive process that Congress has sought to protect for generations.

(6) Individualized pricing based on surveillance data enables discrimination among consumers, exploits behavioral vulnerabilities, and imposes higher prices on those least able to pay.

(7) Transparency, accountability, and oversight are necessary to ensure that algorithmic pricing systems do not facilitate coordination, manipulation, discrimination, or reductions in output.

(8) It is necessary for Congress to update Federal law to ensure that the principles of fair competition established over the past century remain effective in the digital and algorithmic era.

(b) Purpose.—The purpose of this subtitle is to—

(1) prohibit the use of shared or collusive pricing algorithms that incorporate nonpublic competitor data or perform coordinating functions among competitors;

(2) prohibit surveillance-based individualized pricing and other discriminatory algorithmic pricing practices; and

(3) provide enforcement mechanisms to ensure fair pricing, protect consumers, and preserve competitive markets.

SEC. 1132. DEFINITIONS.

(a) For purposes of this subtitle:

(1) Antitrust laws.—The term "antitrust laws"—

(A) has the meaning given that term in section 1 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 12); and

(B) includes section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45).

(2) Automated decision system.—The term "automated decision system"—

(A) means a system, software, or process that uses computation, the result of which is used to assist or approximate human decision making; and

(B) includes a system, software, or process derived from machine learning, statistics, or other data processing or artificial intelligence techniques.

(3) Bona fide discount.—The term "bona fide discount" means an offered price that is lower than the genuine price at which a product or service is widely offered to the public on a regular basis for a reasonably substantial period of time and not for the purpose of establishing a fictitious price to enable the subsequent offer of a reduction.

(4) Business of insurance; credit.—The terms "business of insurance" and "credit" have the meaning given such terms in section 1002 of the Consumer Financial Protection Act of 2010 (12 U.S.C. 5481).

(5) Commercial terms.—The term "commercial terms" means—

(A) level of service;

(B) availability;

(C) output, including quantities of products produced or distributed or the amount or level of service provided; or

(D) rebates or discounts made available.

(6) Commission.—The term "Commission" means the Federal Trade Commission.

(7) Common pricing algorithm.—The term "common pricing algorithm" means any pricing algorithm that is used, licensed, supplied, deployed, or otherwise made available to 2 or more persons that compete in the same market or a related market, and that is designed, marketed, offered, or used to coordinate, align, or stabilize prices or commercial terms among such persons, irrespective of whether the algorithm's outputs to each user are identical.

(8) Distribute; distribution; distributing.—The terms "distribute", "distribution", and "distributing" include selling, licensing, providing access to, or otherwise making available by any means, including through a subscription or the sale of a service.

(9) Essential goods and services.—The term "essential goods and services" means goods and services necessary for health, safety, subsistence, or ordinary participation in economic and civic life, including groceries, residential housing, utilities, and health care, and such other goods and services as the Commission may designate by rule.

(10) Genetic information.—The term "genetic information" has the meaning given such term in section 2791(d) of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 300gg–91(d)).

(11) Individualized price.—The term "individualized price" means a price or commercial term offered to a specific individual or household that differs from the price or commercial term offered contemporaneously to similarly situated buyers for the same good or service.

(12) Nonpublic competitor data.—The term "nonpublic competitor data" means data that consists of, is derived from, or otherwise reflects another person's nonpublic pricing or commercial information, where such other person competes in the same market or a related market, whether or not such data is attributable to a specific competitor and whether or not such data is anonymized.

(13) Nonpublic pricing or commercial information.—The term "nonpublic pricing or commercial information" means information regarding a person's prices or commercial terms that is not publicly available or readily accessible to the public.

(14) Person.—The term "person" has the meaning given that term in section 1 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 12).

(15) Personal information.—The term "personal information" means any quality, feature, attribute, or trait of an individual, including any immutable characteristic, any mutable characteristic, genetic information, and any other information that could reasonably be linked, directly or indirectly, with a particular individual or household.

(16) Price.—The term "price" means the amount of money or other thing of value, whether tangible or not, expected, required, or given in payment for any product or service.

(17) Pricing algorithm.—The term "pricing algorithm" means any computational process, including a computational process derived from machine learning or other artificial intelligence techniques, that processes data to recommend or set a price or commercial term that is in or affecting interstate or foreign commerce.

(18) Surveillance-based price setting.—The term "surveillance-based price setting" means using an automated decision system to offer or inform a customized price for a good or service for a specific person or consumer, or group of people or consumers, based, in whole or in part, on surveillance data.

(19) Surveillance data.—The term "surveillance data"—

(A) means data obtained through observation of an individual that is related to the personal information, behavior, biometrics, or other characteristics of the individual or of any group or category in which the individual belongs; and

(B) includes data gathered, purchased, inferred, derived, or otherwise acquired.

SEC. 1133. PROHIBITION ON COLLUSIVE PRICING ALGORITHMS.

(a) In general.—It shall be unlawful for a person to use or distribute any pricing algorithm that—

(1) uses, incorporates, or was trained with nonpublic competitor data;

(2) is a common pricing algorithm; or

(3) receives from another person nonpublic pricing or commercial information, if the person using or distributing the pricing algorithm knows or has reason to know that the pricing algorithm is a common pricing algorithm.

(b) Presumption of collusion.—With respect to the use of a pricing algorithm that would violate subsection (a), there shall be a presumption for purposes of section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 1) that the defendant entered into an agreement, contract, combination, or conspiracy in restraint of trade, and for purposes of section 5(a)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(1)) that the defendant has engaged in an unfair method of competition if the plaintiff establishes that—

(1) the defendant distributed the pricing algorithm to 2 or more persons—

(A) with the intent that such algorithm be used as a common pricing algorithm; or

(B) such algorithm was used by such 2 or more persons as a common pricing algorithm; or

(2) the defendant knew or had reason to know that the pricing algorithm was a common pricing algorithm; and

(A) provided to the pricing algorithm, or to a person affiliated with the pricing algorithm, nonpublic pricing or commercial information; or

(B) used the pricing algorithm to set or recommend a price or commercial term of a product or service.

(c) Rebuttal.—The presumption under subsection (b) shall not apply to a defendant if the defendant did not develop or distribute the pricing algorithm and the defendant demonstrates by clear and convincing evidence that the defendant did not have actual knowledge, and could not reasonably have known, that the pricing algorithm violated subsection (a).

(d) Joint and several liability.—In a civil case in which the presumption under subsection (b) is applicable, any person that distributed the pricing algorithm and knew, or could reasonably have known, that the pricing algorithm violated subsection (a) shall be jointly and severally liable for any violation of section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 1) or section 5(a)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(1)).

(e) Relation to antitrust laws.—Nothing in this section shall impair or limit the applicability of the antitrust laws.

(f) Effective date.—This section shall take effect on the date that is 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 1134. PROHIBITION ON SURVEILLANCE-BASED PRICE SETTING.

(a) In general.—It shall be unlawful for a person engaged in commerce to offer or charge different prices to different consumers for the same, or a substantially similar, product or service using, informed by, or based on, in whole or in part, surveillance data.

(b) Exceptions.—The following shall not be considered surveillance-based price setting for purposes of subsection (a):

(1) A difference in price that is based solely on reasonable costs associated with providing the product or service to different consumers, if the basis for such difference is disclosed to the consumer prior to purchase.

(2) A bona fide discount that is offered to any member of a broadly defined group, including teachers, active duty personnel, veterans, senior citizens, or students, if—

(A) any eligibility condition or criteria is clearly and conspicuously disclosed;

(B) such discount is offered uniformly to any consumer who meets the disclosed eligibility conditions or criteria; and

(C) any surveillance data used solely to offer or administer a bona fide discount is not used for any other purpose, including profiling, targeted advertising, or individualized price setting.

(3) A bona fide discount that is offered to any consumer who affirmatively and knowingly enrolls in a loyalty program, if—

(A) the conditions described in subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) of paragraph (2) are met; and

(B) a loyalty program that allows a user to accrue and exchange points, credits, or any similar nonmonetary system of value for a product or service does not charge a different price for those points, credits, or similar nonmonetary system of value to different consumers for the same or substantially similar product or service.

(4) The offering or charging of different prices with respect to the business of insurance or any credit product.

SEC. 1135. ESSENTIAL GOODS AND SERVICES; RULEMAKING.

(a) In general.—Not later than January 1, 2028, the Commission shall promulgate rules governing the use of pricing algorithms with respect to essential goods and services.

(b) Scope.—Rules promulgated under this section shall identify and prohibit unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices, and unfair methods of competition, involving the use of pricing algorithms with respect to essential goods and services.

(c) Factors.—In promulgating rules under this section, the Commission shall consider whether the use of a pricing algorithm—

(1) increases or aligns prices or commercial terms without a legitimate cost-based or other nonpretextual justification;

(2) reduces output, availability, or access;

(3) exploits acute demand, lack of substitutes, or consumer vulnerability;

(4) relies on surveillance data, nonpublic competitor data, or a coordinating function among competitors; or

(5) otherwise threatens competition, consumer protection, or fair access to essential goods and services.

SEC. 1136. TRANSPARENCY AND PRICING ALGORITHMS.

(a) Transparency in pricing algorithms.—

(1) In general.—Any person that has $5,000,000 or more in annual revenue that uses a pricing algorithm to recommend or set a price or commercial term shall clearly disclose, before the customer purchases the relevant product or service, that the price or commercial term is set or recommended by a pricing algorithm.

(2) Additional disclosures.—

(A) Price discrimination.—A disclosure under paragraph (1) shall state if the pricing algorithm sets or recommends different prices or commercial terms for different customers seeking identical or nearly identical products or services.

(B) Third-party algorithm.—If applicable, a disclosure under paragraph (1) shall—

(i) state that the pricing algorithm was developed or distributed by a person other than the person making the disclosure; and

(ii) provide the identity of the person that developed or distributed the pricing algorithm.

(3) Additional disclosures for individualized pricing.—Any person that uses a pricing algorithm to set or recommend an individualized price shall maintain and make publicly available, in a clear and accessible manner—

(A) reasonable procedures to ensure the accuracy of any data used by the pricing algorithm for individualized price setting;

(B) a process by which a consumer may correct or challenge the accuracy of data used by the pricing algorithm for individualized price setting; and

(C) a disclosure of the categories of data considered by the pricing algorithm and the manner in which such data may affect the individualized price.

(b) Competition law enforcement audit.—

(1) In general.—A person using or distributing a pricing algorithm, upon a written request by the Attorney General or the Commission, shall, not later than 30 days after the date of the written request, or any later date approved by the Attorney General or the Commission, respectively, provide to the Attorney General or the Commission, respectively, a written report on each pricing algorithm identified in the request.

(2) Report contents.—Each report under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) information on whether the person is responsible for the development or distribution of the pricing algorithm, or whether a third party is responsible for the development or distribution of the pricing algorithm, including the identity and contact information of any other person responsible for the development or distribution of the pricing algorithm;

(B) information on whether the pricing algorithm autonomously sets prices or commercial terms and whether there is human review of any recommendation or decision of the pricing algorithm;

(C) an explanation of the rules or processes that the pricing algorithm uses to set or recommend prices or commercial terms;

(D) a description of all data the pricing algorithm uses to set or recommend prices or commercial terms, including data used to train the pricing algorithm;

(E) all sources and collection processes, including the frequency of collection, of any data that the pricing algorithm uses to set or recommend prices or commercial terms;

(F) whether the pricing algorithm engages in price discrimination by setting or recommending different prices or commercial terms for different customers seeking identical or nearly identical products or services, and if so, the factors used in differentiating among such customers; and

(G) any changes made to the pricing algorithm between the date of receipt of the request under paragraph (1) and the date of certification under paragraph (3).

(3) Certification of report.—The chief executive officer, chief economist, chief technology officer, or a corporate officer of similar authority of a person, or, if the person has no such officer, an individual with equivalent responsibility and authority, shall certify, under penalty of perjury, the accuracy of a report submitted under paragraph (1).

(4) Confidentiality.—All information submitted in a report under paragraph (1) shall be treated as confidential and shall be considered to be privileged and confidential trade secrets and commercial or financial information exempt under section 552(b)(4) of title 5, United States Code, from being made available to the public under section 552(a) of such title.

(5) Information sharing.—

(A) In general.—A report under paragraph (1) may be shared—

(i) between the Department of Justice and the Commission; and

(ii) with the National Institute of Standards and Technology for technical assistance in understanding the report.

(B) Limitation.—The National Institute of Standards and Technology shall not disclose the contents of a report shared under subparagraph (A) or the analysis of the report to any person, except the Department of Justice or the Commission, whichever sought the technical assistance.

(6) Rules of construction.—Nothing in this subsection shall—

(A) limit the ability of the Commission or the Attorney General to issue a civil investigative demand, issue a subpoena, seek discovery in the course of litigation, or otherwise obtain information through other means available under law; or

(B) restrict the use of information submitted in a report under paragraph (1) in a formal investigation, enforcement action, litigation, trial, or other proceeding, in accordance with applicable confidentiality procedures.

(c) FTC study.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall publish the results of a study of the use of pricing algorithms, including information on—

(1) the prevalence of pricing algorithms;

(2) the frequency of the use of pricing algorithms to engage in price discrimination;

(3) the potential for persons to use pricing algorithms to engage in behavior that increases prices, reduces output, lowers quality, deters innovation, or otherwise harms the competitive process outside of the price-fixing context;

(4) the potential benefits or efficiencies of pricing algorithms;

(5) any industries, sectors, or markets in which pricing algorithms may warrant additional oversight or regulation to protect competition and consumers; and

(6) recommendations for additional legislation, regulation, or rulemaking relating to competition and consumer protection issues arising from the use of pricing algorithms.

SEC. 1137. ENFORCEMENT.

(a) Treatment under Federal Trade Commission Act and antitrust laws.—Any violation of this subtitle, or any regulation promulgated under this subtitle, shall be treated as—

(1) a violation of section 5(a)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(1)) as an unfair, deceptive, or abusive act or practice and as an unfair method of competition;

(2) a violation of a rule promulgated under section 18 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57a); and

(3) where applicable, a violation of section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 1).

(b) Federal enforcement.—

(1) In general.—The Federal Trade Commission and the Attorney General shall enforce this subtitle, and any regulation promulgated under this subtitle, in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.) and the antitrust laws were incorporated into and made a part of this subtitle.

(2) Commission jurisdiction.—Notwithstanding section 4, 5(a)(2), or 6 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 44, 45(a)(2), 46), or any other jurisdictional limitation of the Commission, the Commission shall also enforce this subtitle, and any regulation promulgated under this subtitle, with respect to—

(A) common carriers subject to the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 151 et seq.);

(B) organizations not organized to carry on business for their own profit or that of their members; and

(C) air carriers and foreign air carriers subject to subtitle VII of title 49, United States Code.

(c) State enforcement.—

(1) In general.—In any case in which the attorney general of a State has reason to believe that an interest of the residents of such State has been or is threatened or adversely affected by a violation of this subtitle or a regulation promulgated under this subtitle, the attorney general of the State may, as parens patriae, bring a civil action on behalf of the residents of the State in an appropriate State court or an appropriate district court of the United States to—

(A) enjoin such violation;

(B) enforce compliance with this subtitle or such regulation;

(C) obtain damages, restitution, civil penalties, or other appropriate relief; and

(D) obtain reasonable costs and attorneys' fees.

(2) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to prevent a State attorney general from exercising the powers conferred on the attorney general by the laws of the State to conduct investigations, administer oaths or affirmations, or compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of documentary and other evidence.

(d) Private cause of action.—

(1) In general.—Any person injured by a violation of this subtitle or a regulation promulgated under this subtitle may bring a civil action in an appropriate State court or an appropriate district court of the United States to—

(A) enjoin such violation;

(B) recover damages, including treble damages where appropriate;

(C) obtain restitution or other equitable relief; and

(D) recover reasonable attorneys' fees and litigation costs.

(2) Special rule for claims under section 1134.—In any action under paragraph (1) alleging a violation of section 1134(a)—

(A) the plaintiff establishes a prima facie violation by demonstrating that—

(i) 2 or more individuals were offered different prices by the defendant for the same, or a substantially similar, product or service during the same, or a substantially similar, period of time; or

(ii) 1 individual was offered different prices by the defendant for the same, or a substantially similar, product or service during the same, or a substantially similar, period of time while using different means of viewing the price; and

(B) the defendant may rebut the prima facie showing under subparagraph (A) by demonstrating that the alleged difference in price was—

(i) not informed, in whole or in part, by surveillance data; or

(ii) fully explained by the exceptions described in section 1134(b).

(3) Limitation.—An action under this subsection may be commenced not later than 5 years after the date on which the person first discovered or had a reasonable opportunity to discover the violation.

(e) Remedies cumulative.—The remedies provided under this section are in addition to, and not in lieu of, any other remedies available under Federal or State law.

(f) No preemption of stricter State law.—Nothing in this subtitle shall be construed to preempt any State law that provides equal or greater protection against anticompetitive conduct, unfair methods of competition, or unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices.

Subtitle D—Right to Repair

SEC. 1141. SHORT TITLE AND FINDINGS.

(a) Short title.—This subtitle may be cited as the "Right to Repair Act".

(b) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) The Federal Trade Commission has extensively studied the ability of customers to repair the products they own and found that products have become increasingly difficult to repair due to manufacturer-imposed repair restrictions, including physical barriers, the unavailability of parts, manuals, tools, and diagnostic software, and the use of software locks and pairing technologies.

(2) Manufacturers often profit more from product replacement or steering consumers toward authorized repair networks than from permitting independent repair, creating incentives to restrict repair markets.

(3) The Federal Trade Commission's 2021 "Nixing the Fix" Report found limited evidence supporting claims that independent repair presents heightened safety, cybersecurity, liability, or quality risks.

(4) Expanded competition in repair and parts markets offers lower prices for repairs, extends product lifespan, reduces electronic waste, and generates economic opportunities for independent repair businesses and local communities.

(5) The right to repair a product is integral to property rights, enabling owners to choose independent repair providers or to repair products themselves.

(6) Repair restrictions disproportionately harm small businesses, low-income households, and family farms, and reduce the availability of timely and affordable repairs in rural areas.

(7) Many modern products depend on software and applications to operate, and failure to provide software updates can render products insecure, inoperable, or unrepairable, undermining product longevity and leaving consumers without the ability to meaningfully compare durability at the time of purchase.

(8) It advances the public interest to ensure access to cost-effective repair and to prevent manufacturers from using technological or contractual mechanisms to impair competition in repair markets.

SEC. 1142. DEFINITIONS.

(a) Definitions.—In this subtitle:

(1) Aftermarket part.—The term "aftermarket part" means a part made by a person other than the manufacturer of a covered product and not identified by the manufacturer's brand, trade, or corporate name.

(2) All-terrain vehicle.—The term "all-terrain vehicle" means any motorized, off-highway vehicle designed to travel on 3 or 4 wheels, having a seat designed to be straddled by the operator and handlebars for steering, excluding prototypes intended exclusively for research and development unless offered for sale.

(3) Authorized repair provider.—The term "authorized repair provider" means any person that has an arrangement with a manufacturer to offer diagnostic, maintenance, or repair services for a covered product, or the manufacturer itself when performing such services.

(4) Commission.—The term "Commission" means the Federal Trade Commission.

(5) Covered product.—The term "covered product" means digital electronics equipment, a digital electronics-enabled implement of agriculture, an all-terrain vehicle, a motor vehicle, a heavy-duty vehicle, or a powered mobility assistance device, but does not include industrial safety equipment.

(6) Digital electronics equipment.—The term "digital electronics equipment" means any product that depends for its functioning, in whole or in part, on digital electronics embedded in or attached to the product, not including an all-terrain vehicle, motor vehicle, heavy-duty vehicle, or digital electronics-enabled implement of agriculture.

(7) Digital electronics-enabled implement of agriculture.—The term "digital electronics-enabled implement of agriculture" means equipment designed for agricultural purposes, used exclusively by the owner in agricultural operations, and dependent for its functioning, in whole or in part, on digital electronics embedded in or attached to the product.

(8) Documentation.—The term "documentation" means any manual, diagram, reporting output, service code description, schematic, security code or password, or similar information, in electronic or tangible format, including updates, provided by a manufacturer to an authorized repair provider for diagnosis, maintenance, or repair.

(9) Embedded software.—The term "embedded software" means any programmable software instruction delivered with or loaded onto a covered product, or a part of a covered product, to allow the covered product or part to operate or communicate with other computer hardware, including any relevant patch and fix that the manufacturer makes for purposes of diagnosis, maintenance, or repair.

(10) Fair and reasonable terms.—The term "fair and reasonable terms" means—

(A) in general, such terms are not—

(i) conditioned on becoming or remaining an authorized repair provider or entering into any arrangement with the manufacturer; or

(ii) conditioned on a substantial obligation or restriction that is not reasonably necessary for enabling the owner or independent repair provider to engage in diagnosis, maintenance, or repair; and

(B) (i) for parts, that replacement parts are available at costs and terms equal to the most favorable costs and terms offered to an authorized repair provider, accounting for discounts, rebates, delivery, functionality restoration, rights of use, or other incentives; and when the authorized repair provider is the manufacturer, the price shall reflect the actual cost of manufacture or procurement, preparation, and delivery, exclusive of research and development costs;

(ii) for documentation, that documentation is made available at no charge, except for reasonable costs of copying and sending printed materials;

(iii) for tools and data, that proximity access and remote access are made available at no charge and without impediments to efficient and timely access or use to diagnose, maintain, or repair, and to enable full functionality of the covered product, except for reasonable actual costs of manufacturing or sending a physical tool.

(11) Firmware.—The term "firmware" means a software program or set of instructions programmed on a covered product, or on a part for such covered product, that allows the covered product or part to communicate within the covered product or part or with other device hardware.

(12) Heavy-duty vehicle.—The term "heavy-duty vehicle" means any vehicle with a gross vehicle weight rating of more than 14,000 pounds.

(13) Independent repair provider.—The term "independent repair provider" means any person who diagnoses, maintains, or repairs a covered product and is not an authorized repair provider.

(14) Industrial safety equipment.—The term "industrial safety equipment" means digital electronics equipment used solely in workplace settings or by firefighters to prevent serious injury or death, and regulated by a federal safety regulation requiring that the equipment maintain intended health and safety functions after repair.

(15) Maintenance.—The term "maintenance" means operations necessary to keep a covered product performing its intended function and in fully working order.

(16) Manufacturer.—The term "manufacturer" means a person engaged in selling, leasing, or otherwise supplying a covered product manufactured by or on behalf of itself.

(17) Motor vehicle.—The term "motor vehicle" means a vehicle driven or drawn by mechanical power and manufactured for use on public streets, roads, and highways, excluding vehicles that may be operated only on a rail line or heavy-duty vehicles.

(18) OEM part.—The term "OEM part" means a part made or sold by the manufacturer of a covered product or identified by the manufacturer's brand, trade, or corporate name.

(19) Owner.—The term "owner" means—

(A) any person who owns or leases a covered product;

(B) the United States, any executive agency (as defined in section 105 of title 5, United States Code), and any State or political subdivision thereof with respect to any covered product they purchase or lease; and

(C) any officer, employee, or servicemember of an entity described in subparagraph (B), when acting within the scope of official duties to diagnose, maintain, or repair such covered product.

(20) Part.—The term "part" means any replacement part or assembly of parts, including OEM parts and aftermarket parts, whether new or used, that is used or usable to replace an original part that is not functioning properly.

(21) Powered mobility assistance device.—The term "powered mobility assistance device" means—

(A) a motorized wheeled device designed for use by an individual with a physical disability; and

(B) a wearable robotic device designed to augment and enhance the physical ability of an individual to walk.

(22) Proximity access.—The term "proximity access" means access to onboard computer systems and electronic systems of a digital electronics-enabled implement of agriculture, all-terrain vehicle, heavy-duty vehicle, motor vehicle, or powered mobility assistance device, provided through a physical connection, short-range wireless protocol, or combination of such methods.

(23) Remote access.—The term "remote access" means access, with the owner's authorization, via long-range wireless systems to onboard computer systems and electronic systems required to diagnose, maintain, or repair a digital electronics-enabled implement of agriculture, all-terrain vehicle, heavy-duty vehicle, motor vehicle, or powered mobility assistance device.

(24) Repair.—The term "repair" means any act needed to restore a covered product to working order.

(25) Software updates.—The term "software updates" means necessary software patches, upgrades, or modifications needed to remedy identified cybersecurity or functionality problems and enable continued functioning.

(26) Tool.—The term "tool" means any software program, hardware implement, or other apparatus, including updates, made available by a manufacturer to an authorized repair provider to perform diagnosis, maintenance, repair, programming, pairing, provisioning, calibration, or any function required for full product operation.

SEC. 1143. RIGHT TO REPAIR.

(a) Documentation, parts, and tools.—A manufacturer must make available to owners and independent repair providers, on fair and reasonable terms, the documentation, parts, embedded software, firmware, and tools necessary to diagnose, maintain, and repair a covered product. The requirements of this subsection continue after the last date the product model or type was manufactured:

(1) for at least 5 years for products with a wholesale price of not less than $50 and not more than $250;

(2) for at least 10 years for products with a wholesale price above $250;

(3) for at least 30 years for a digital electronics-enabled implement of agriculture, an all-terrain vehicle, a heavy-duty vehicle, or a motor vehicle; and

(4) for as long as such documentation, parts, and tools are made available to an authorized repair provider.

(b) Software updates.—A manufacturer must provide software updates at no cost to the owner. The requirements of this subsection continue after the last date the product model or type was manufactured:

(1) for at least 5 years for products with a wholesale price of not less than $50 and not more than $250;

(2) for at least 10 years for products with a wholesale price above $250;

(3) for at least 30 years for a digital electronics-enabled implement of agriculture, an all-terrain vehicle, a heavy-duty vehicle, or a motor vehicle; and

(4) for as long as software updates are made available to an authorized repair provider.

(c) Obligations.—The obligations of subsections (a)(3) and (b)(3) do not apply to products manufactured prior to 2016.

(d) Disclosure of support periods.—A manufacturer must clearly and conspicuously disclose to potential purchasers the duration of documentation, parts, tools, and software update support.

(e) Publicly available process.—A manufacturer must maintain a publicly available process by which an owner or independent repair provider may request and obtain documentation, parts, tools, embedded software, firmware, and other materials required to be made available under this subtitle, including clear instructions for submitting such requests and for obtaining such materials.

(f) Proximity and remote access.—A manufacturer must provide owners and independent repair providers—

(1) proximity access to read data, write data, and execute commands for diagnosis, maintenance, or repair; and

(2) remote access to read data to the same extent provided to an authorized repair provider.

(g) Prohibited conduct.—It shall be unlawful for a manufacturer to—

(1) require the use of manufacturer-approved parts;

(2) degrade, reduce, or end functionality following repair by an owner or independent repair provider;

(3) disparage aftermarket parts or independent repairs without adequate substantiation;

(4) require a subscription or post-sale payment to use a product or its features unless clearly disclosed at point of sale;

(5) impose any impediment to part replacement or repair, including pairing codes, cryptographic locks, authorization routines, or other security-related measures that materially impede diagnosis, maintenance, replacement, or repair; except as provided in paragraph (6); or

(6) in the case of a covered product that contains an electronic security lock or other security-related function, fail to make available, in a timely manner and on fair and reasonable terms, any documentation, part, embedded software, firmware, or other tool needed to disable the lock or function, and to reset the lock or function when disabled in the course of diagnosis, maintenance, or repair; provided that such items may be made available through an appropriate secure data release system.

(h) Prohibited contract terms.—A contract or agreement is void and unenforceable if it purports to:

(1) waive, limit, or require arbitration of protections or remedies under this section; or

(2) modify or restrict diagnosis, maintenance, or repair in any manner inconsistent with this section.

(i) Intellectual property.—Nothing in this subtitle requires a manufacturer to divulge a trade secret, disclose source code, or license intellectual property except as needed for repair.

(j) Manufacturer liability.—A manufacturer in compliance with this section is not liable for damage resulting from repair, maintenance, or modification conducted by an owner or independent repair provider unless the manufacturer violates a duty of care or breaches a warranty.

SEC. 1144. ENFORCEMENT.

(a) Enforcement by the Commission.—

(1) Rulemaking authority.—The Commission may promulgate rules, in accordance with section 553 of title 5, United States Code, as necessary to carry out this subtitle, including rules to clarify the requirements of section 1143 and to prevent evasion or circumvention of the obligations imposed by this subtitle.

(2) In general.—Violation of section 1143, or any regulation promulgated under paragraph (1), shall be treated as a violation of a rule under section 18 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57a) regarding unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices. The Federal Trade Commission shall enforce this subtitle in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.) were incorporated into and made a part of this subtitle.

(3) Penalties.—Any person who violates section 1143, or any regulation promulgated under paragraph (1), shall be subject to the penalties and entitled to the privileges and immunities provided in the Federal Trade Commission Act as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act were incorporated in and made part of this subtitle.

(4) Intervention.—On receiving notice pursuant to subsection (b)(3)(A), the Commission may intervene in the action that is the subject of the notice. If the Commission intervenes in such action, it shall have the authority—

(A) to be heard with respect to any matter that arises in that action; and

(B) to file a petition for appeal.

(5) Amicus curiae.—The Commission may appear as amicus curiae in any action brought under subsection (b) or subsection (c).

(6) Authority preserved.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the authority of the Commission under any other provision of law.

(b) State enforcement.—

(1) In general.—In any case in which the attorney general of a State has reason to believe that an interest of the residents of that State has been or is threatened or adversely affected by a violation of section 1143, or regulation promulgated under subsection (a)(1), the attorney general may bring a civil action on behalf of the residents of the State in a district court of the United States of appropriate jurisdiction to—

(A) enjoin that practice;

(B) enforce compliance with such section or regulation;

(C) obtain damages, restitution, or other compensation on behalf of residents of the State;

(D) obtain civil penalties subject to paragraph (5); or

(E) obtain such other relief as the court may consider to be appropriate.

(2) Exception.—In any case in which an action is instituted by or on behalf of the Commission for violation of section 1143, or any regulation promulgated under subsection (a)(1), no State may, during the pendency of that action, institute an action under paragraph (1) against any defendant named in the complaint in such action.

(3) Notification.—

(A) When filing an action under paragraph (1), the attorney general of the State involved shall provide to the Commission—

(i) written notice of that action; and

(ii) a copy of the complaint for that action.

(B) The requirements of subparagraph (A) must be met prior to filing of the action, unless it is not feasible to do so, in which case they must be met at the same time as the action is filed.

(4) Construction.—For purposes of bringing any civil action under subsection (b), nothing in this subtitle shall be construed to prevent an attorney general of a State from exercising the powers conferred by the laws of that State to—

(A) conduct investigations;

(B) administer oaths or affirmations;

(C) compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of documentary and other evidence; or

(D) prevent a State from exercising additional enforcement authority under State law that provides equal or greater protection than this subtitle.

(5) Penalties.—The maximum civil monetary penalty for violations subject to civil penalties under this subsection shall be the same as the maximum civil penalty amount for violations of unfair or deceptive trade practices under the Federal Trade Commission Act, as periodically published by the Commission pursuant to the Federal Civil Penalties Inflation Adjustment Act of 1990, as amended, and any corresponding rules (16 CFR 1.98).

(c) Enforcement by persons and entities.—

(1) Civil actions.—A person injured by a violation of section 1143 or regulations promulgated under subsection (a)(1) may bring a civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction to enjoin such violation or to recover damages.

(2) No exhaustion.—A plaintiff is not required to exhaust administrative remedies before bringing an action under this subsection.

(3) Notification.—A plaintiff must provide notice to the Commission as described in subsection (b)(3).

(4) Injunctive relief.—A court may issue temporary, preliminary, or permanent injunctive relief to prevent or restrain a violation of section 1143 or regulations promulgated under subsection (a)(1).

(5) Damages.—A prevailing plaintiff may recover—

(A) the greater of—

(i) actual monetary loss; or

(ii) double the purchase price of the product;

(B) in the case of a willful or knowing violation, the court may increase the amount recoverable under subparagraph (A) to an amount not to exceed the greater of—

(i) 3 times the actual monetary loss; or

(ii) 3 times the purchase price of the product; and

(C) reasonable attorney's fees and costs.

(6) Limitations period.—An action under this subsection may be brought not later than 2 years after the date on which the plaintiff discovered, or by the exercise of reasonable diligence should have discovered, the violation, but in no event later than 5 years after the date of the violation.

(d) Venue.—An action under this section may be brought in any district where the defendant is an inhabitant, may be found, or transacts business.

SEC. 1145. RELATION TO STATE LAW.

(a) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this subtitle shall be construed to preempt, displace, or limit the authority of a State to enforce or adopt requirements relating to the diagnosis, maintenance, or repair of a covered product that provide equal or greater protection than section 1143 or any regulations promulgated under section 1144(a)(1).

(b) State consumer protection laws.—A violation of section 1143, or regulations promulgated under section 1144(a)(1), may also be enforced under any State law that prohibits unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices, to the extent such State law is consistent with this subtitle.

SEC. 1146. AMENDMENTS TO THE MAGNUSON-MOSS WARRANTY ACT.

(a) Civil penalties for violations of the anti-tying rule.—Section 2302 of title 15, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in the introductory text of subsection (c)—

(A) by striking "his" and inserting "their";

(B) by striking "or service (other than an article or service" and inserting ", service, part, accessory, tool, diagnostic service, or repair provider (unless"; and

(2) by inserting after subsection (e) the following:

"(f) Civil penalties.—

"(1) Any warrantor who violates subsection (c) shall be subject to a civil penalty not to exceed the maximum penalty for unfair or deceptive acts or practices established under section 5(m)(1)(A) of the Federal Trade Commission Act.

"(2) Each consumer product for which the warrantor conditions a written or implied warranty in violation of subsection (c) shall constitute a separate violation.

"(3) The Commission may enforce this subsection in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties as though all applicable provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act were incorporated into and made a part of this chapter.".

(b) Rulemaking authority.—The Federal Trade Commission may promulgate regulations necessary to implement and enforce this section.

SEC. 1147. AMENDMENT TO THE DIGITAL MILLENNIUM COPYRIGHT ACT.

(a) Repair exemption.—Section 1201 of title 17, United States Code, is amended by inserting after subsection (k) the following:

"(l) Repair exemption.—

"(1) Notwithstanding subsections (a) and (b), it is not a violation of this section for a person, for the purpose of diagnosis, maintenance, or repair of a lawfully acquired product, software program, digital service, or system that contains or depends on a work protected under this title, or any component thereof, to—

"(A) circumvent a technological measure that effectively controls access to a work protected under this title; or

"(B) manufacture, import, offer to the public, provide, or otherwise traffic in a technology, product, service, device, component, or part thereof.

"(2) Nothing in this subsection permits the unauthorized access, deletion, or alteration of personal data stored on a device or machine.

"(3) Nothing in this subsection authorizes the distribution of copyrighted works other than as necessary to enable diagnosis, maintenance, or repair.

"(4) The exemption under this subsection applies regardless of whether the Librarian of Congress has issued a corresponding exemption under subsection (a)(1)(C).

"(m) Bad-faith threats prohibited.—

"(1) A person may not knowingly assert, threaten to assert, or communicate a claim under this chapter against a person engaging in conduct exempt from the prohibitions in this section, if the person knows or should know that the claim lacks a legal basis.

"(2) A person who violates paragraph (1) shall be liable to the United States for a civil penalty not to exceed $50,000 for each violation, in addition to any other remedies available under law.

"(3) A person who is subjected to a violation of paragraph (1) may bring a civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction for actual damages, statutory damages not to exceed $50,000 per violation, attorney's fees, and injunctive relief.

"(4) Each separate assertion, threat to assert, or communication of a claim under this chapter in violation of paragraph (1) shall constitute a separate violation.

"(5) Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to limit the authority of the Federal Trade Commission or a State attorney general to enforce this subsection as an unfair or deceptive act or practice under section 5(a)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(1)) or any analogous State law.".

(b) Effective dates.—

(1) Subsection (l) of section 1201 of title 17, United States Code, shall take effect upon enactment and shall apply to all acts of diagnosis, maintenance, or repair occurring on or after that date and to all proceedings pending on or after that date.

(2) Subsection (m) of section 1201 shall take effect on the date that is 30 days after enactment and shall apply only to assertions, threats to assert, or communications made on or after that date.

SEC. 1148. DESIGN PATENT REPAIR SAFE HARBOR AND BAD-FAITH THREATS.

(a) Table of contents amendment.—The table of contents for chapter 29 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 299 the following:

"300A. Repair safe harbor.

"300B. Bad-faith threats prohibited.".

(b) Defense reference.—Section 282(b)(4) of title 35, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"(4) Any other fact or act made a defense by this title, including the repair safe harbor under section 300A.".

(c) Conforming amendment.—Section 289 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following: "No remedy under this section or under section 283 or 284 shall be available for conduct involving a repair part that meets the safe harbor under section 300A.".

(d) Repair safe harbor and bad-faith threats.—Chapter 29 of title 35, United States Code, is amended by inserting after section 299 the following:

"Sec. 300A. Repair safe harbor.

"(a) Definitions.—

"(1) Repair part.—The term 'repair part' means a component or part of a product, whether sold separately or as part of a repair service, that is used exclusively for diagnosis, maintenance, or repair and not for the production of a new article.

"(2) Product.—The term 'product' means any article of manufacture to which a patent for a design applies.

"(b) Safe harbor criteria.—It shall not be an act of infringement of a patent for a design to manufacture, import, offer to the public, sell, or otherwise provide a repair part for a product or any component thereof, if—

"(1) the repair part is functionally necessary to restore the product to the appearance or form in which it was manufactured; or

"(2) the repair part's appearance must match the original design to fit, align, attach, or otherwise function properly with the product or its component parts.

"(c) Limitations.

"(1) The manufacture, importation, or sale of a repair part consistent with this section is not reconstruction of a patented article.

"(2) Nothing in this section permits the use of a trademark, trade dress, logo, or other source-identifying mark of the patent owner without authorization, or permits conduct likely to cause confusion as to source, sponsorship, or approval.

"Sec. 300B. Bad-faith threats prohibited.

"(a) Prohibition.—A person may not knowingly assert, threaten to assert, or communicate a claim of infringement of a patent for a design if the person knows or should know that the claim lacks a legal basis.

"(b) Civil penalties.—A person who violates subsection (a) shall be liable to the United States for a civil penalty not to exceed $50,000 for each violation, in addition to any other remedies available under law.

"(c) Private cause of action.—A person subjected to a violation of subsection (a) may bring a civil action in any court of competent jurisdiction for actual damages, statutory damages not to exceed $50,000 per violation, attorney's fees, and injunctive relief.

"(d) Separate violations.—Each separate assertion, threat to assert, or communication of a claim of infringement in violation of subsection (a) shall constitute a separate violation.

"(e) Enforcement by Federal Trade Commission and State attorneys general.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the authority of the Federal Trade Commission or a State attorney general to enforce this section as an unfair or deceptive act or practice under section 5(a)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(1)) or any analogous State law.".

(1) Section 300A of title 35, United States Code, shall take effect upon enactment and shall apply to any manufacture, import, offer to the public, sell, or other provision of a repair part occurring on or after that date and to all proceedings pending on or after that date.

(2) Section 300B shall take effect on the date that is 30 days after enactment and shall apply only to assertions, threats to assert, or communications made on or after that date.

SEC. 1149. APPLICATION TO DEFENSE PROCUREMENT.

(a) Definitions.—Notwithstanding section 1142, the following definitions shall apply for the purposes of this section:

(1) Covered product.—The term "covered product" includes any product, system, component, or software procured by or for the Department of Defense, including through classified, noncommercial, or other Federal procurement authorities.

(2) Independent repair provider.—The term "independent repair provider" includes a servicemember or Department of Defense civilian employee performing diagnosis, maintenance, or repair of a covered product owned or leased by the United States in the scope of official duties.

(b) Right-to-repair.—As a condition of entering into or renewing a contract for the procurement of a covered product by the Department of Defense, a manufacturer or contractor shall comply with the requirements of section 1143 with respect to such covered product.

(c) Data, tools, and documentation.—Compliance under subsection (b) shall include the provision, on fair and reasonable terms, of all data, documentation, parts, tools, and software updates necessary to diagnose, maintain, or repair a covered product throughout its expected service life.

(d) Intellectual property consistency.—Compliance with this section shall not be deemed to require the disclosure of classified information or to override applicable export control laws, but intellectual property rights may not be asserted to restrict diagnosis, maintenance, or repair otherwise permitted under this subtitle.

(e) National security exception.—The Secretary of Defense may waive the requirements of this section with respect to a specific covered product upon a written determination, submitted to the congressional defense committees, that compliance would pose a substantial risk to national security and that no reasonable alternative exists.

(f) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to expand or limit enforcement authority, remedies, or causes of action under sections 1144 or 1147 beyond their express terms.

Subtitle E—Empowering the FTC

PART I—FTC AUTHORITY AND CAPACITY

SEC. 1151. APPROPRIATION OF ONE BILLION DOLLARS FOR THE FTC.

(a) Appropriation.—In addition to any other amounts appropriated or otherwise made available, there is appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, $1,000,000,000 for fiscal year 2027, to remain available until September 30, 2029, for necessary expenses of the Federal Trade Commission in carrying out the antitrust and kindred laws.

(b) Use of funds.—Amounts made available under subsection (a) shall be used to carry out the duties and authorities of the Commission under this Act, including, but not limited to, the following:

(1) investigate and enforce prohibitions on unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices;

(2) enforce antitrust laws, including prohibitions on anticompetitive mergers and collusive conduct;

(3) implement, administer, and enforce regulations including those governing algorithmic pricing, surveillance practices, and digital markets;

(4) conduct rulemaking, audits, and market studies authorized under the Federal Trade Commission Act; and

(5) hire and retain technical, economic, and legal staff, including data scientists, engineers, and competition economists.

(c) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section shall be construed—

(1) to limit Congress from appropriating amounts in excess of subsection (a); or

(2) to include amounts collected by the Commission through civil penalties, fines, fees, restitution, or disgorgement.

SEC. 1152. ESTABLISHMENT OF SUBSTANTIVE RULEMAKING AUTHORITY.

(a) Section 18 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57a) is amended—

(1) by striking the section header and inserting "Unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices rulemaking authority."; and

(2) by striking the existing text and inserting the following—

"(a) Substantive rulemaking authority.—The Commission is authorized to promulgate substantive rules for carrying out this Act and, to the extent not otherwise specifically provided by law, any other Act administered by the Commission, including rules that define, interpret, or prohibit unfair methods of competition and unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices.

"(b) Relationship to section 5.—Rules promulgated under this section may define, specify, or prohibit conduct that constitutes a violation of section 5 of this Act, and such rules may be issued without regard to whether such conduct has previously been addressed through adjudication.

"(c) Force and effect of law.—A rule promulgated under this section shall have the force and effect of law, and a violation of such rule shall be treated as a violation of this Act.

"(d) Scope of application.—Rules promulgated under this section may apply to classes of persons, classes of conduct, classes of industries, or classes of markets, and may be economy-wide in scope.

"(e) Procedure and judicial review.—Except as otherwise expressly provided by law, rules promulgated under this section shall be issued in accordance with section 553 of title 5, United States Code, and shall be subject to judicial review under chapter 7 of title 5, United States Code. No procedure in addition to those specified in the preceding sentence shall be required for the promulgation of a rule under this section.

"(f) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the Commission's authority under any other provision of this Act or other applicable law, or to require the Commission to proceed exclusively by rulemaking or exclusively by adjudication.".

(b) Conforming amendment.—Any reference in Federal law to a rule promulgated under section 18 of the Federal Trade Commission Act, or to rulemaking procedures under such section, shall be deemed to refer to a rule promulgated under section 18 of such Act as amended by this section.

SEC. 1153. CONFIRMATION OF AUTHORITY.

Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45), as amended by this Act, is further amended by inserting after subsection (a)(4) the following—

"(5) Clarification of unfair methods of competition.—

"(A) Independent authority.—The authority of the Commission under this section to prevent unfair methods of competition is independent of, and not limited by, the scope, standards, requirements, or judicial interpretations of the Sherman Act, the Clayton Act, or the Robinson-Patman Act.

"(B) Covered conduct.—Unfair methods of competition may include conduct that violates the letter or the spirit of the antitrust laws, including conduct that tends to undermine competitive conditions, facilitate market concentration, entrench dominant positions, exclude rivals, or distort competitive processes, whether or not such conduct independently constitutes a violation of any other antitrust law.

"(C) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to require the Commission to establish all elements of a violation under any other antitrust law, or to limit the Commission's authority to identify and prohibit unfair methods of competition through rulemaking or adjudication under this Act.".

SEC. 1154. CONSUMER AWARENESS.

(a) Consumer awareness.—The Federal Trade Commission shall establish and maintain a publicly accessible internet website that—

(1) provides information in clear and plain language regarding—

(A) protections, obligations, prohibitions, and remedies under laws enforced by the Federal Trade Commission, including protections, obligations, prohibitions, and remedies established or amended by the POPULIST Act;

(B) the compliance obligations of persons subject to such laws; and

(C) how consumers, workers, small businesses, and other affected persons may submit complaints, reports, or requests for assistance to the Federal Trade Commission; and

(2) includes educational materials for small businesses and other persons subject to laws enforced by the Federal Trade Commission to assist with compliance with those laws.

(b) Updates.—The Federal Trade Commission shall update the website required under subsection (a) as necessary to reflect changes in law, guidance, or enforcement.

SEC. 1155. PERMANENT AUTHORIZATION OF U.S. SAFE WEB ACT.

(a) Repeal of sunset.—Section 13 of the U.S. SAFE WEB Act of 2006 (Public Law 109–455; 15 U.S.C. 44 note) is repealed.

(b) Permanent effect.—Notwithstanding section 13 of Public Law 109–455 (as in effect before the date of enactment of this Act), the U.S. SAFE WEB Act of 2006 (Public Law 109–455) and the amendments made by that Act shall continue in effect as permanent provisions of law.

(c) Ratification and validation.—For the avoidance of doubt, any action taken, assistance provided, disclosure made, or information obtained, used, or shared by the Federal Trade Commission in reliance on the authorities enacted by the U.S. SAFE WEB Act of 2006 during the period beginning October 1, 2020, and ending October 20, 2020, is hereby ratified, approved, and confirmed as if the authorities had remained continuously in effect during such period.

(d) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to expand or limit any authority of the Federal Trade Commission beyond making permanent the authorities provided by the U.S. SAFE WEB Act of 2006 and validating actions described in subsection (c).

SEC. 1156. OFFICE OF COMPETITION ADVOCATE.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Agency.—The term "agency" has the meaning given the term in section 551 of title 5, United States Code.

(2) Chair.—The term "Chair" means the Chair of the Commission.

(3) Commission.—The term "Commission" means the Federal Trade Commission.

(4) Covered company.—The term "covered company" means any company that has, at any time, been required to make a filing under section 7A of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 18a).

(5) Office.—The term "Office" means the Office of the Competition Advocate established under subsection (b).

(b) Establishment.—There is established within the Federal Trade Commission the Office of the Competition Advocate.

(c) Competition Advocate.—

(1) In general.—The head of the Office shall be the Competition Advocate, who shall—

(A) report directly to, and be under the supervision of, the Chair, but the Chair shall not prevent or prohibit the Competition Advocate from initiating, carrying out, or completing any of their duties under this section;

(B) be appointed by the Chair with the approval of the Commission, including at least 1 Commissioner who is not a member of the same political party as the Chair, from among individuals having experience in advocating for the promotion of competition; and

(C) serve a term of 7 years and shall not be removable except upon a unanimous vote of the Commission.

(2) Compensation.—The annual rate of pay for the Competition Advocate shall be equal to the highest rate of annual pay for other senior executives who report to the Chair of the Commission.

(3) Limitation on service.—An individual who serves as the Competition Advocate may not be employed by the Commission—

(A) during the 2-year period ending on the date of appointment as Competition Advocate; and

(B) during the 5-year period beginning on the date on which the person ceases to serve as the Competition Advocate.

(d) Staff of Office.—The Commission shall allocate funds from the Commission budget to the Office of the Competition Advocate sufficient for the Competition Advocate to retain or employ such counsel, research staff, and service staff necessary to carry out the functions, powers, and duties of the Office.

(e) Duties and powers.—The Competition Advocate shall—

(1) recommend processes or procedures that will allow the Federal Trade Commission and the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice to improve the ability of each agency to solicit reports from consumers, small businesses, and workers about possible anticompetitive practices or adverse effects of concentration;

(2) provide recommendations to other agencies about agency actions that may have anticompetitive effects and the potential harm to competition;

(3) provide recommendations to other agencies about agency actions that may have procompetitive effects and the potential benefit to competition;

(4) publish periodic reports on—

(A) the effects of remedies required by the Department of Justice or the Federal Trade Commission in consent decrees;

(B) the effects of law enforcement actions, whether successful or not, including settlements, preliminary injunctions, court-mandated remedies, or any other remedy imposed by a court or agreed to by the Department of Justice or Federal Trade Commission;

(C) the effects of a decision by the Department of Justice or the Federal Trade Commission to allow any merger or transaction to move forward without a consent decree or bringing a law enforcement action;

(D) the effects of decisions and opinions issued by State and Federal courts related to the antitrust laws on competition and the future enforcement of the antitrust laws; and

(E) the effects of other agency actions, including rulemakings, on competition;

(5) provide recommendations to the Federal Trade Commission and Department of Justice about the effectiveness of policy statements, guidelines, or practices to improve the enforcement of the antitrust laws;

(6) report any evidence the Competition Advocate obtains that any person, partnership, or corporation has engaged in transactions or conduct that may constitute a violation of the antitrust laws, or any settlement, agreement, or consent decree related to a potential violation of the antitrust laws, to the Commission, which may institute further investigation, initiate enforcement proceedings, or refer such evidence to the Attorney General;

(7) request such information or assistance as may be necessary for carrying out the duties and powers described in this subsection from any agency or unit thereof, including the Commission. The head of any agency shall, insofar as is practicable and not in contravention of any existing statutory restriction or regulation of the agency from which the information is requested, furnish to the Competition Advocate such information or assistance;

(8) have discretion to decide whether to release the recommendations of the Competition Advocate publicly;

(9) have access to all information and data collected and retained by the Office of Market Analysis and Data; and

(10) submit all recommendations or reports to the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate and the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives.

(f) Subpoena authority.—

(1) In general.—The Competition Advocate may either accept voluntary submissions of periodic and other reports from any covered company, or compel the production of such a report by subpoena for the purpose of carrying out its duties and powers under subsection (e).

(2) Independent subpoena authority.—Upon a finding that a covered company will not submit, or has not submitted, a sufficient report voluntarily, the Competition Advocate may, under its own independent authority, and notwithstanding any jurisdictional limitations in the Federal Trade Commission Act applicable to the Commission's investigative authority, compel the submission of a periodic or other report from any covered company by issuing a subpoena.

(3) Enforcement.—The Competition Advocate shall have independent authority to bring an action in any appropriate Federal court to enforce any subpoena issued under this subsection.

(4) Written finding.—Before issuing a subpoena to collect the information described in paragraph (1), the Competition Advocate shall make a written finding that—

(A) the data is required to carry out the functions of the Competition Advocate; and

(B) the information is not available from a public source, from the covered company on a voluntary basis, or another agency.

(5) Mitigation of report burden.—Before requiring the submission of a report from any covered company, the Competition Advocate shall—

(A) coordinate with other agencies or authorities; and

(B) whenever possible, rely on information available from such agencies or authorities.

(6) Confidentiality.—Information reported to or otherwise obtained by the Competition Advocate shall be subject to the same confidentiality requirements and protection applicable to information reported to or otherwise obtained by the Commission.

(g) Post-proceeding data.—Section 7A of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 18a), as amended by section 1123(d) of this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following:

"(m) Post-proceeding data.—

"(1) In general.—Each person who resolves a proceeding brought under the antitrust laws by the Federal Trade Commission or the United States by entering into an agreement or by final judgment in a Federal or administrative court regarding an acquisition with respect to which notification is required under this section shall, on an annual basis during the 5-year period beginning on the date on which the agreement is entered into or the final judgment is entered, as applicable, file with the Federal Trade Commission or the Assistant Attorney General, as applicable, and the Competition Advocate, information sufficient for the Federal Trade Commission or the United States, as applicable, to assess the competitive impact of the acquisition, including—

"(A) the pricing, availability, and quality of any product or service, or inputs thereto, in any market, that was covered by the agreement or final judgment;

"(B) the source, and the resulting magnitude and extent, of any cost-saving efficiencies or any benefits to consumers or trading partners that were claimed as a benefit of the acquisition, and the extent to which any cost savings were passed on to consumers or trading partners; and

"(C) the effectiveness of any divestitures or any conditions placed on the acquisition in fully restoring competition.

"(2) Inclusion in resolution.—The requirement to provide the information described in paragraph (1) shall be included in an agreement or final judgment described in that paragraph.

"(3) Rulemaking.—The Federal Trade Commission, with the concurrence of the Assistant Attorney General, by rule in accordance with section 553 of title 5, United States Code, and consistent with the purposes of this subsection—

"(A) shall require that the information described in paragraph (1) be in such form and contain such documentary material and information relevant to an acquisition as is necessary and appropriate to enable the Federal Trade Commission and the Assistant Attorney General to assess the competitive impact of the acquisition under paragraph (1); and

"(B) may—

"(i) define the terms used in this subsection;

"(ii) exempt, from the requirements of this subsection, information not relevant in assessing the competitive impact of the acquisition under paragraph (1); and

"(iii) prescribe such other rules as may be necessary and appropriate to carry out the purposes of this subsection.

"(4) Certification.—The chief executive officer, chief financial officer, general counsel, or a corporate officer of similar authority, or, if the person has no such officer, an individual with equivalent responsibility and authority, shall certify, under penalty of perjury, the accuracy of a report under this subsection.".

SEC. 1157. OFFICE OF MARKET ANALYSIS AND DATA.

(a) Establishment.—There is established, within the Federal Trade Commission, an Office of Market Analysis and Data.

(b) Duties.—The Office of Market Analysis and Data shall, in consultation with the Bureau of Economics, assist the Federal Trade Commission in—

(1) collecting, validating, and maintaining data obtained from agencies, as defined in section 551 of title 5, United States Code, commercial data providers, publicly available data sources, any company that has, at any time, been required to make a filing under section 7A of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 18a), and any data obtained by the Commission pursuant to its authority under section 6(b) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 46(b)), for the purpose of carrying out the functions in paragraphs (2) through (6);

(2) preparing and publishing, in a manner that is easily accessible to the public—

(A) a concentration database;

(B) a merger enforcement database; and

(C) any other database that the Commission determines is necessary to carry out the duties of the Office;

(3) collecting and publishing data regarding concentration levels across industries and the impact and degree of antitrust enforcement;

(4) standardizing the types and formats of data reported and collected, including standards for reporting financial transaction and position data;

(5) publishing reports regarding competitive conditions and dynamics affecting markets or industry sectors, in the United States, local geographic markets, different demographic and socioeconomic groups, including the effects that market concentration, mergers and acquisitions, certain types of agreements, and other forms of business conduct have on competition, consumers, workers, innovation, the economic competitiveness of the United States, economic resilience, and national security; and

(6) publishing reports concerning the competitive effects of acquisitions, which shall include recommendations concerning appropriate enforcement action to remedy any anticompetitive effects discovered, and may include assessments of—

(A) the conditions of the relevant markets affected by the acquisition, over the period since the acquisition was consummated, including the potential impact that the acquisition has had on—

(i) the prices of goods or services, including wages in any affected labor markets;

(ii) the output and quality of goods and services;

(iii) the entry or exit of competitors;

(iv) innovation;

(v) consumer choice and product variety;

(vi) the opportunity of suppliers and vendors to sell their products or services;

(vii) coordinated interaction between competitors; and

(viii) subsequent mergers and acquisitions activity;

(B) whether the acquiring person or its successors in interest—

(i) complied with all obligations under any agreement with the Federal Trade Commission, the United States, or State law enforcement authorities to resolve a proceeding brought under the antitrust laws; and

(ii) achieved measurable, transaction-specific efficiencies, which did not arise from anticompetitive reductions of output, as a result of the acquisition; and

(C) whether any agreements with the Federal Trade Commission or the United States, or remedies imposed by a Federal court to resolve a proceeding brought under the antitrust laws regarding the acquisition, were effective in mitigating the anticompetitive effects from the acquisition.

(c) Information security.—The Commission shall ensure that data collected and maintained by the Office of Market Analysis and Data is kept secure and protected against unauthorized disclosure.

(d) Regulations.—The Commission may, under section 553 of title 5, United States Code, promulgate regulations relating to the collection and standardizing of data under subsection (b).

PART II—UNSTACKING COURT RESTRAINTS

SEC. 1161. UNSTACKING NEW YORK V. META PLATFORMS.

(a) Amendment.—Section 4C of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 15c) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(e) Timeliness of actions brought by State attorneys general.—

"(1) An action brought by a State attorney general under this section shall not be dismissed or limited on the basis of laches, acquiescence, or any other equitable doctrine premised solely on the passage of time.

"(2) For purposes of equitable defenses relating to timeliness, a State attorney general bringing an action under this section shall be treated in the same manner as the United States.

"(3) Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to alter any applicable statute of limitations expressly provided by law.".

(b) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to expand or contract the substantive antitrust standards applicable to any action.

SEC. 1162. UNSTACKING AMG CAPITAL MANAGEMENT V. FTC.

(a) In general.—Section 13 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 53) is amended—

(1) In subsections (a) and (b) to read as follows—

"(a) Power of Commission; jurisdiction of courts.—

"(1) Cause of action.—Whenever the Commission has reason to believe—

"(A) that any person, partnership, or corporation is engaged in, or is about to engage in, the dissemination or the causing of the dissemination of any advertisement in violation of section 52 of this title; and

"(B) that the enjoining thereof would be to the interest of the public, the Commission by any of its attorneys designated by it for such purpose may bring suit in a district court of the United States or in the United States court of any Territory, to enjoin the dissemination or the causing of the dissemination of such advertisement.

"(2) Preliminary relief.—Upon proper showing a temporary injunction or restraining order shall be granted without bond pending the issuance of a complaint by the Commission under section 45 of this title, and until such complaint is dismissed by the Commission or set aside by the court on review, or the order of the Commission to cease and desist made thereon has become final within the meaning of section 45 of this title.

"(b) Temporary restraining orders; preliminary injunctions.—

"(1) Cause of action.—Whenever the Commission has reason to believe that any person, partnership, or corporation has violated, is violating, or is about to violate, any provision of law enforced by the Federal Trade Commission, and that prohibiting or restraining such conduct would be in the interest of the public, the Commission may bring suit in a district court of the United States to enjoin any such act or practice.

"(2) Preliminary relief.—Upon a proper showing that, weighing the equities and considering the Commission's likelihood of ultimate success, such action would be in the public interest, and after notice to the defendant, a temporary restraining order or a preliminary injunction shall be granted without bond, pending the issuance of a complaint by the Commission and until such complaint is dismissed by the Commission or set aside by the court on review, or until the order of the Commission made thereon has become final. Relief under this subsection may be sought before, during, or after the initiation of an administrative proceeding under section 45.

"(3) Formal complaint required.—If no complaint is filed within such period (not exceeding 20 days) as may be specified by the court after issuance of the temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction, the order or injunction shall be dissolved by the court and be of no further force and effect. The issuance or dissolution of a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction shall not be construed to limit the authority of the court to grant permanent relief under this subsection.

"(4) Equitable relief.—In any action brought under this subsection, the court may grant, in addition to injunctive relief, any equitable relief necessary to redress violations of law enforced by the Federal Trade Commission, including restitution, disgorgement, refund of money, return of property, rescission or reformation of contracts, and any other relief the court determines appropriate to prevent unjust enrichment and to restore injured parties.

"(5) Limitations period.—

"(A) In general.—A court may not order equitable relief under this subsection with respect to any violation occurring before the period that begins on the date that is 10 years before the date on which the Commission files the suit in which such relief is sought.

"(B) Calculation.—For purposes of calculating the beginning of the period described in subparagraph (A), any time during which an individual against whom the equitable relief is sought is outside of the United States shall not be counted."; and

(2) by inserting at the end the following new subsection—

"(e) Proceedings.—

"(1) Any suit under this section may be brought where such person, partnership, or corporation resides or transacts business, or wherever venue is proper under section 1391 of title 28.

"(2) The court may, if the court determines that the interests of justice require that any other person, partnership, or corporation should be a party in such suit, cause such other person, partnership, or corporation to be added as a party without regard to whether venue is otherwise proper in the district in which the suit is brought.

"(3) In any suit under this section, process may be served on any person, partnership, or corporation wherever it may be found.".

(b) Applicability.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to any actions or proceedings that are pending on, or commenced on or after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 1163. UNSTACKING BELL ATLANTIC V. TWOMBLY AND ASHCROFT V. IQBAL.

(a) In general.—The Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 12 et seq.), as amended by this Act, is further amended by inserting after section 27A the following:

"Sec. 27B. Pleading in antitrust and competition actions.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Antitrust laws.—The term 'antitrust laws' has the meaning given it in subsection (a) of section 12 of this title, except that such term includes section 45 of this title to the extent that such section 45 applies to unfair methods of competition.

"(2) Covered action.—The term 'covered action' means any civil action in a United States district court arising under the antitrust laws.

"(b) Sufficiency of pleading.—A complaint in a covered action shall be sufficient if it sets forth a short and plain statement giving the defendant fair notice of the claim and the grounds upon which it rests. A complaint under this section need not plead evidentiary matter.

"(c) Sherman Act section 1 claims.—In a covered action arising under section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 1), allegations of parallel conduct, together with factual allegations from which agreement may reasonably be inferred, shall be sufficient to state a claim. A complaint under this subsection need not exclude the possibility of independent action.

"(d) Construction.—In ruling on a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim in a covered action, the court shall accept the factual allegations of the complaint as true and draw reasonable inferences in favor of the pleader. A complaint may not be dismissed on the ground that an alternative explanation appears more likely.

"(e) Other statutes.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to displace a heightened pleading standard expressly imposed by another Act of Congress.".

(b) Applicability.—Section 27B of the Clayton Act shall govern notwithstanding any judicial decision interpreting Rule 8(a)(2) or Rule 9(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure to impose a contrary pleading standard in a covered action.

SEC. 1164. UNSTACKING VOLVO TRUCKS V. REEDER-SIMCO.

The Robinson-Patman Act (15 U.S.C. 13), as amended by this Act, is further amended in subsection (a) by inserting at the end the following—

"(4) Competitive injury.—For purposes of paragraph (1)(C)(ii), competition may be shown by direct or circumstantial evidence and need not be shown by proof that a purchaser described in subparagraph (C)(ii)(I)(bb) and another purchaser competed for the same customer, the same bid, or the same transaction.".

SEC. 1165. UNSTACKING UNITED STATES V. BREWBAKER.

The Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 1 et seq.) is amended by inserting after section 1 the following:

"Sec. 1A. Bid rigging in competitive bidding processes.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Actual or potential competitor.—The term 'actual or potential competitor' means a person that submitted, could submit, or was reasonably capable of submitting an independent bid in the same competitive bidding process.

"(2) Bid.—The term 'bid' means a bid, proposal, quotation, offer, or other response submitted in a competitive bidding process.

"(3) Competitive bidding process.—The term 'competitive bidding process' means any process, whether conducted by a governmental entity or a private person, through which a contract, project, concession, license, franchise, supply arrangement, or other commercial opportunity is awarded, in whole or in part, on the basis of price or other material terms in response to bids.

"(4) Bid rigging.—The term 'bid rigging' means any agreement, arrangement, or understanding between 2 or more actual or potential competitors with respect to the same competitive bidding process to—

"(A) manipulate any material term of a bid;

"(B) refrain from seriously competing, including by not submitting a bid or submitting an intentionally noncompetitive bid;

"(C) allocate the award, customer, territory, or other commercial opportunity; or

"(D) otherwise manipulate the competitive bidding process in a manner that substantially lessens competition.

"(5) Teaming arrangement.—The term 'teaming arrangement' means an arrangement between 2 or more persons that—

"(A) is disclosed in writing to the soliciting entity prior to or simultaneously with the submission of a bid;

"(B) identifies the participants and the material terms of the arrangement; and

"(C) combines complementary capabilities or capacity in order to pursue the commercial opportunity at issue.

"(b) Unlawful conduct.—It shall be unlawful for any person to knowingly enter into, participate in, or carry out bid rigging.

"(c) Effect and enforcement.—A violation of subsection (b)—

"(1) shall be conclusively deemed an unreasonable restraint of trade under section 1;

"(2) shall constitute a violation of the antitrust laws;

"(3) shall constitute an unfair method of competition under section 5(a)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(1)); and

"(4) shall not be defeated by the fact that parties to the bid-rigging agreement also stood in a vertical relationship to each other.

"(d) Safe harbor for qualifying teaming arrangements.—

"(1) In general.—A teaming arrangement shall not violate subsection (b) if—

"(A) the teaming arrangement was reasonably necessary to pursue or perform the commercial opportunity at issue;

"(B) the teaming arrangement was not used as a pretext to suppress, distort, or eliminate competition; and

"(C) the participants could not practicably compete independently in the same competitive bidding process.

"(2) Burden of proof.—The burden of establishing paragraph (1) shall be on the person asserting the applicability of such paragraph.".

SEC. 1166. UNSTACKING SPECTRUM SPORTS, INC. V. MCQUILLAN.

Section 2 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 2), as amended by this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following:

"(c) Attempt to monopolize.—For purposes of subsection (a), a person shall be liable for attempt to monopolize if the person engages in predatory or exclusionary conduct with the specific intent to monopolize. Proof that the person had a dangerous probability of achieving monopoly power, proof of market share, or proof of a relevant market shall not be required.".

SEC. 1167. UNSTACKING MATSUSHITA ELECTRIC V. ZENITH RADIO.

Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. 1) is amended—

(1) by striking "Every contract" and inserting "(a) Every contract"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(b) Summary judgment in civil actions.—In any civil action brought under this section in which the plaintiff alleges an agreement, combination, or conspiracy in restraint of trade—

"(1) the plaintiff shall not be required at the summary judgment stage to present evidence that tends to exclude the possibility of independent action; and

"(2) the court may not grant summary judgment merely because independent action is also plausible if the evidence, viewed in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, permits a reasonable inference of concerted action.".

SEC. 1168. UNSTACKING CREDIT SUISSE SECURITIES V. BILLING.

The Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. 12 et seq.), as amended by this Act, is further amended by inserting after section 27B the following:

"Sec. 27C. Limitations on implied immunity from the antitrust laws.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section, the term 'antitrust laws' has the meaning given such term in section 1(a) of this Act, except that such term includes section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45) to the extent that such section applies to unfair methods of competition.

"(b) In general.—In any action or proceeding to enforce the antitrust laws with respect to conduct that is regulated under Federal statute, no court or adjudicatory body may find that the Federal statute, or any rule or regulation promulgated in accordance with the Federal statute, implicitly precludes application of the antitrust laws to the conduct unless—

"(1) a Federal agency or department actively regulates the conduct under the Federal statute;

"(2) the Federal statute does not include any provision preserving the claims or remedies under the applicable antitrust laws or under any area of law that includes the antitrust laws; and

"(3) Federal agency or department rules or regulations, adopted by rulemaking or adjudication, explicitly require or authorize the defendant to undertake the conduct.

"(c) Existing Federal regulation.—In any action or proceeding described in subsection (b), the antitrust laws shall be applied fully and without qualification or limitation, and the scope of the antitrust laws shall not be defined more narrowly on account of the existence of Federal rules, regulations, or regulatory agencies or departments, unless application of the antitrust laws is precluded or limited by—

"(1) an explicit exemption from the antitrust laws under a Federal statute; or

"(2) an implied immunity that satisfies the requirements of subsection (b).".

Subtitle F—Recognizing Advertising As a Net Negative in Society

SEC. 1171. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Congress has long prohibited deceptive acts or practices and false advertisements in commerce, including under sections 45, 52, and 55 of title 15, United States Code;

(2) Congress has long recognized that certain forms of advertising may be restricted or prohibited when necessary to protect public health and welfare, including cigarette advertising over certain electronic media under section 1335 of title 15, United States Code;

(3) Congress has long recognized that outdoor advertising may be regulated to protect safety, recreational value, and natural beauty, including under section 131 of title 23, United States Code;

(4) the Federal tax code should not subsidize efforts to manipulate consumer attention, bias consumer judgment, or increase demand through persuasion rather than by lowering price, improving quality, or providing useful factual information;

(5) large-scale advertising imposes cognitive burdens on the public, contributes to distraction, intrudes into homes, streets, schools, and digital environments, and reduces the practical ability of individuals to avoid unwanted commercial influence;

(6) advertising that targets children and adolescents exploits developmental vulnerabilities and undermines the ability of parents and guardians to guide the development of minors without pervasive commercial interference;

(7) advertising of addictive products and services, including tobacco products, alcoholic beverages, gambling, and other products or services designated by rule, can impose substantial public health, financial, and social harms;

(8) undisclosed sponsorships, paid endorsements, product placements, and influencer promotions can conceal the commercial nature of a communication and mislead the public;

(9) when a commercial communication includes legally required disclosures, such disclosures should inform the public and should not operate as a loophole permitting the public subsidization of promotional advertising through the Federal tax code; and

(10) it is in the interest of the United States to reduce the volume of manipulative commercial advertising, to promote truthful and readily identifiable commercial communications, and to deny Federal tax subsidies for promotional expenditures.

(b) Purpose.—The purposes of this subtitle are—

(1) to deny Federal income tax deductions for advertising and promotional expenditures, except for certain narrowly defined factual nonpromotional communications;

(2) to reduce manipulative, misleading, and intrusive advertising practices;

(3) to protect children and adolescents from targeted and developmentally exploitative commercial influence;

(4) to ensure that commercial communications are truthful, identifiable, and supported by substantiation before dissemination;

(5) to provide effective remedies for misleading advertising, including corrective advertising sufficient to counteract residual false impressions; and

(6) to liberate the mental bandwidth of the American people from the heavy tax that constant advertisement places upon it.

SEC. 1172. NO DEDUCTION FOR ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION.

(a) Amendment to section 162.—Section 162 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 162) is amended by redesignating subsection (s) as subsection (t) and by inserting before subsection (t) the following:

"(s) Advertising and promotional expenditures.—

"(1) Definitions.—For purposes of this subsection:

"(A) Advertising expenditure.—The term 'advertising expenditure' means any amount paid or incurred for the creation or dissemination of a commercial communication intended to induce the purchase, lease, use, or favorable perception of any product, service, brand, business, trade name, or line of business, except that the term does not include any amount paid or incurred for a factual nonpromotional communication.

"(B) Factual nonpromotional communication.—The term 'factual nonpromotional communication' means a communication that—"(i) is limited to 1 or more of the following:

"(I) the name, address, telephone number, email address, internet address, or hours of operation of a business;

"(II) the price, availability, objective quantity, objective dimensions, or objective technical specifications of a product or service;

"(III) a legal notice, safety warning, recall notice, operating instruction, ingredient list, label, or other disclosure expressly required by Federal, State, local, or Tribal law, or by order of a governmental authority;

"(IV) a notice regarding a job opening, procurement opportunity, or request for bids;

"(V) a communication on the premises where a product or service is offered for sale that merely identifies the business or product and states price or availability; or

"(VI) such other categories of purely factual nonpromotional communication as the Secretary may provide by regulation, in consultation with the Federal Trade Commission; and

"(ii) does not include any communication that includes—

"(I) a slogan, tagline, or brand-enhancement message;

"(II) a comparative, superiority, or preference claim;

"(III) an emotional, fear-based, or aspirational appeal;

"(IV) an endorsement, testimonial, celebrity appearance, mascot, fictional character, or influencer content;

"(V) an inducement to purchase, other than purely factual purchase instructions; or

"(VI) any other content the principal purpose of which is to persuade rather than to inform.

"(2) In general.—No deduction shall be allowed under subsection (a) for any advertising expenditure.

"(3) No alternative recovery.—No amount for which a deduction is disallowed under this subsection may be capitalized or otherwise recovered through amortization, depreciation, cost of goods sold, basis adjustment, or any other provision of this title, except to the extent expressly provided by the Secretary by regulation.

"(4) Recordkeeping.—Each taxpayer claiming that an amount was paid or incurred for a factual nonpromotional communication shall maintain such books and records as the Secretary may require, including copies of communications, contracts, invoices, and such other information as the Secretary determines appropriate.

"(5) Regulations.—The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations and other guidance as are necessary or appropriate to carry out this subsection, including regulations—

"(A) to prevent avoidance through related parties, pass-through entities, bundling, allocation, recharacterization, barter arrangements, or foreign affiliates;

"(B) to coordinate this subsection with sections 263, 263A, 274, and 482;

"(C) to provide rules for allocating amounts in the case of mixed-purpose contracts or integrated campaigns; and

"(D) to provide simplified safe harbors for small businesses.".

(b) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to amounts paid or incurred in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2026.

SEC. 1173. TRUTH IN ADVERTISING, RECORDKEEPING, AND CORRECTIVE REMEDIES.

(a) In general.—The Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.) is amended by inserting after section 15 (15 U.S.C. 55) the following:

"Sec. 15A. Truthful, identified, substantiated, and nonabusive advertising.

"(a) Definitions.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) Advertisement.—The term 'advertisement' means any commercial communication, other than labeling, disseminated by any means in or affecting commerce for the purpose of inducing, or likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase, lease, use, or favorable perception of any product, service, brand, business, trade name, or line of business.

"(2) Clearly and conspicuously.—The term 'clearly and conspicuously' means in a manner that is difficult to miss, readily understandable by an ordinary consumer, and presented in such form, timing, place, and manner as the Commission may require by rule.

"(3) Material connection.—The term 'material connection' means any financial or other relationship that a reasonable consumer would consider important in evaluating the credibility, independence, or weight of a representation.

"(4) Substantiation.—The term 'substantiation' means competent and reliable evidence sufficient, in light of the nature of the claim, the product or service, the benefits or consequences represented, and the audience to whom the advertisement is directed, to support an express or implied factual claim at the time such advertisement is first disseminated.

"(b) Unlawful acts or practices.—It shall be unlawful for any person to disseminate or cause to be disseminated in or affecting commerce any advertisement that—

"(1) contains an untrue statement of a material fact;

"(2) omits a material fact necessary in order to make a representation, in light of the circumstances under which the representation is made, not misleading;

"(3) contains an express or implied factual claim for which the advertiser lacked substantiation before first dissemination;

"(4) fails clearly and conspicuously to identify the person on whose behalf the advertisement is disseminated;

"(5) is formatted, styled, or presented in a manner likely to cause a reasonable consumer to mistake the advertisement for independent news, editorial, entertainment, search results, user-generated content, or other noncommercial content, unless the advertisement clearly and conspicuously discloses that it is an advertisement;

"(6) includes an endorsement, testimonial, review, product placement, influencer promotion, sponsored content, or other promotional content for which a material connection has not been clearly and conspicuously disclosed;

"(7) materially misrepresents that a review, endorsement, or testimonial reflects the independent opinion or experience of a person other than the advertiser or a person acting on behalf of the advertiser; or

"(8) employs a format, design, or representation the principal purpose or foreseeable effect of which is to defeat, obscure, or evade a disclosure required by this section.

"(c) Affirmative defense for certain disseminators.—

"(1) In general.—It shall be an affirmative defense to a violation of subsection (b) for a person that sells, places, transmits, distributes, publishes, or materially amplifies an advertisement on behalf of another person that—

"(A) before the first dissemination of the advertisement or campaign, obtained the certification required under subsection (d)(1);

"(B) did not create, develop, or materially alter the representation, claim, or disclosure at issue; and

"(C) did not have actual knowledge that the advertisement or campaign failed to comply with this section.

"(2) Inapplicability.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to a person described in such paragraph if such person—

"(A) materially assisted in the creation or development of an untrue or misleading representation;

"(B) knew that a required disclosure was omitted, obscured, or defeated; or

"(C) disseminated the advertisement or campaign after acquiring actual knowledge that the advertisement or campaign failed to comply with this section.

"(d) Certification.—

"(1) Advertiser certification.—Before the first dissemination of an advertisement or advertising campaign, the advertiser shall provide to each person that sells, places, transmits, distributes, publishes, or materially amplifies the advertisement on behalf of the advertiser a written certification, signed by a natural person authorized to bind the advertiser, stating that—

"(A) the advertiser has reviewed the advertisement or campaign;

"(B) the advertisement or campaign does not contain any untrue statement of a material fact;

"(C) the advertisement or campaign does not omit a material fact necessary to make the statements made, in light of the circumstances under which such statements are made, not misleading;

"(D) the advertiser possessed substantiation for each express or implied factual claim at the time of first dissemination; and

"(E) the advertisement or campaign complies with the sponsor-identification and material-connection disclosure requirements of this section.

"(2) Campaign variants.—A single certification may cover substantially similar variants within the same advertising campaign if the differences among such variants do not materially alter an express or implied claim, a required disclosure, or the target audience.

"(e) Treatment under this Act.—A violation of this section, including a failure to provide a certification required under subsection (d), shall constitute an unfair, deceptive, or abusive act or practice in or affecting commerce within the meaning of section 45(a)(1) of this title.

"(f) Rules.—The Commission may promulgate such rules as are necessary or appropriate to carry out this section, including rules establishing standardized disclosure formats, reasonable procedures for campaign-level certifications, and requirements adapted to evolving methods of dissemination.

"Sec. 15B. Corrective advertising, recordkeeping, and restorative remedies.

"(a) Covered violation.—For purposes of this section, the term 'covered violation' means a violation of sections 15A, 15B, 15C, or 15D, or of any rule promulgated under such sections.

"(b) Corrective advertising.—In any administrative proceeding under section 5(b) or any civil action brought by the Commission with respect to a covered violation, the Commission or the court, as applicable, may require the dissemination of corrective advertising or other public notification reasonably calculated to—

"(1) redress injury to consumers or other persons;

"(2) counteract lingering or residual misleading impressions caused by the covered violation; and

"(3) inform persons exposed to the advertisement of the truth.

"(c) Content and placement of corrective advertising.—Corrective advertising ordered under subsection (b) may require dissemination—

"(1) in the same or substantially similar media, format, language, geographic markets, and audience segments as the advertisement or campaign that gave rise to the covered violation;

"(2) with substantially similar prominence, placement, cadence, duration, and frequency; and

"(3) in an amount reasonably calculated to achieve not fewer than 3 times the estimated impressions or reach of the advertisement or campaign that gave rise to the covered violation, unless the Commission or the court finds that a different amount is necessary to redress injury and counteract lingering or residual misleading impressions.

"(d) Recordkeeping.—

"(1) Advertisers.—Each advertiser shall retain, for not less than 3 years after the last dissemination of an advertisement or campaign, 1 specimen copy of each substantially different advertisement or campaign and such records as are reasonably sufficient to establish—

"(A) the claims made;

"(B) the substantiation possessed at the time of first dissemination;

"(C) the dates and manner of dissemination;

"(D) the audience or targeting parameters;

"(E) the geographic scope;

"(F) the estimated impressions or reach;

"(G) the amounts paid or incurred; and

"(H) the identity of each person that sold, placed, or materially amplified the advertisement.

"(2) Disseminators.—Each person that sells, places, or materially amplifies an advertisement on behalf of another person shall retain, for not less than 3 years after the last dissemination of the advertisement or campaign—

"(A) the certification required by section 15A(d);

"(B) records sufficient to identify the advertiser;

"(C) the dates and manner of dissemination;

"(D) the audience or targeting parameters;

"(E) the geographic scope; and

"(F) the estimated impressions or reach attributable to such person.

"(3) Allocation by agreement.—2 or more persons subject to this subsection may allocate responsibility for maintaining records required under this subsection by written agreement, except that no such agreement shall relieve—

"(A) an advertiser of responsibility for maintaining substantiation records; or

"(B) a disseminator of responsibility for maintaining a certification required by section 15A(d).

"(e) Treatment under this Act.—A covered violation—

"(1) shall be treated as a violation of a rule promulgated under section 18 regarding unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices; and

"(2) shall constitute an unfair, deceptive, or abusive act or practice in or affecting commerce within the meaning of section 5(a)(1).

"(f) Rules.—The Commission may promulgate such rules as are necessary or appropriate to carry out this section, including rules establishing standardized recordkeeping formats.

"(g) Other relief preserved.—The remedies provided by this section are in addition to, and not in lieu of, any other remedy or authority available to the Commission or a court under this Act or any other provision of law.".

(b) Corrective advertising under section 19.—Section 19(b) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57b(b)), as amended by this Act, is further amended by inserting ", corrective advertising, and corrective disclosures" after "and public notification".

(c) Conforming amendment.—The table of sections in section 1 of the Federal Trade Commission Act is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 15 the following:

"15A. Truthful, identified, substantiated, and nonabusive advertising.

"15B. Corrective advertising, recordkeeping, and restorative remedies.".

(d) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on January 1, 2027.

SEC. 1174. RESTRICTING ADVERTISING OF ADDICTIVE PRODUCTS AND SERVICES.

(a) In general.—The Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.), as amended by this Act, is further amended by inserting after section 15B the following:

"Sec. 15C. Special restrictions on advertising of covered addictive products and services.

"(a) Definitions.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) Advertisement.—The term 'advertisement' has the meaning given such term in section 15A(a)(1) and includes any public sponsorship, naming rights arrangement, or other public display of a brand, product, service, or trade name in connection with any athletic, musical, artistic, social, or cultural event, venue, team, league, or program.

"(2) Covered addictive product or service.—The term 'covered addictive product or service' means—

"(A) a tobacco product, as defined in section 201(rr) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 321(rr));

"(B) an alcoholic beverage, as defined in section 214(1) of title 27, United States Code;

"(C) any gambling product or service, including—

"(i) any bet or wager, as defined in section 5362(1) of title 31, United States Code;

"(ii) any lottery;

"(iii) any gambling service or gambling establishment, as defined in section 1955 of title 18, United States Code;

"(iv) any account, platform, service, or other arrangement used to place, receive, facilitate, offer, market, or settle gambling activity, whether or not such activity constitutes a bet or wager within the meaning of clause (i); and

"(v) any prediction market, as defined in section 1601 of title 26, United States Code;

"provided that the term does not include the purchase or sale of securities, any contract of insurance or indemnity, or any deposit or other transaction with an insured depository institution; and

"(D) any other product or service designated by the Commission by rule, in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Attorney General, upon a finding that such product or service presents a substantial risk of addiction, compulsive use, or comparable public health, financial, or social harm.

"(3) Lawful minimum age.—The term 'lawful minimum age' means the minimum age applicable to the purchase or use of the covered addictive product or service under Federal, State, local, or Tribal law.

"(4) Naming rights arrangement.—The term 'naming rights arrangement' means any contract, license, sponsorship, or other arrangement under which the name of—

"(A) the brand name, trade name, trademark, or product name of a covered addictive product or service; or

"(B) any person for which not less than 50 percent of gross revenue is attributable to the manufacture, distribution, sale, or facilitation of covered addictive products or services,

"is used in the name of, or is publicly displayed as part of the name of, any event, venue, team, league, or program.

"(5) Point-of-sale factual communication.—The term 'point-of-sale factual communication' means a communication limited to the identity of the product or service, the seller, the price, availability, lawful age restrictions, and disclosures expressly required by Federal, State, local, or Tribal law that is—

"(A) located on the physical premises where a covered addictive product or service is lawfully offered; or

"(B) on an internet site, application, account page, or similar digital location owned or controlled by the seller or manufacturer and intentionally accessed by a person.

"(6) Targeted advertising.—The term 'targeted advertising' means dissemination of an advertisement selected for a specific person or audience on the basis of personal data, behavioral data, geolocation data, inferred interests, demographic characteristics, or prior online or offline activity, other than—

"(A) contextual placement based solely on the content of the page, application, or service then being viewed; or

"(B) ordinary physical placement of a non-digital advertisement in a geographic location not selected on the basis of personal data or inferences about identified or reasonably identifiable persons or audiences.

"(b) Prohibition.—Except as provided in subsection (c), it shall be unlawful for any person to disseminate or cause to be disseminated in or affecting commerce—

"(1) to the general public, any advertisement for a covered addictive product or service; or

"(2) by means of targeted advertising, any advertisement for a covered addictive product or service.

"(c) Exceptions.—Subsection (b) shall not apply to—

"(1) a point-of-sale factual communication;

"(2) a label, package, insert, medication guide, patient information, or other disclosure expressly required by Federal, State, local, or Tribal law;

"(3) a communication directed solely to manufacturers, wholesalers, distributors, retailers, or other professional or commercial intermediaries and not disseminated to the general public;

"(4) a communication made available by the manufacturer or seller on an internet site, application, account page, or similar digital location owned or controlled by such manufacturer or seller if—

"(A) access is reasonably designed to be limited to persons who have attained the lawful minimum age;

"(B) the communication is not disseminated through paid placement, paid amplification, or targeted advertising; and

"(C) the communication otherwise complies with this section and section 15A; or

"(5) a response to a direct inquiry initiated by a person who has attained the lawful minimum age, if the response is provided directly to that person and is not further disseminated to the general public.

"(d) No preemption of stricter law.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to preempt or limit any Federal, State, local, or Tribal law that provides greater restrictions against the advertising of covered addictive products or services.

"(e) Relation to other authority.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit any authority of the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Federal Communications Commission, the Attorney General, or any other Federal agency under any other provision of law.

"(f) Treatment under this Act.—A violation of this section shall constitute an unfair, deceptive, or abusive act or practice in or affecting commerce within the meaning of section 5(a)(1) of this Act.

"(g) Rules.—The Commission shall promulgate such rules as are necessary or appropriate to carry out this section, including rules to prevent evasion through affiliates, indirect compensation, data sharing, common branding, or nominally unpaid promotion.".

(b) Existing contracts contrary to public policy.—Any contract or arrangement in effect on the date of enactment of this Act that requires or authorizes conduct prohibited by section 15C of the Federal Trade Commission Act, as added by subsection (a), including any naming rights arrangement within the meaning of section 15C(a)(4) of such Act, shall be contrary to public policy, unlawful, and unenforceable on and after January 1, 2027.

(c) Conforming amendment.—The table of sections in section 1 of the Federal Trade Commission Act, as amended by this Act, is further amended by inserting after the item relating to section 15B the following:

"15C. Special restrictions on advertising of covered addictive products and services.".

(d) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on January 1, 2027.

SEC. 1175. PROHIBITION ON DIRECT-TO-CONSUMER PRESCRIPTION DRUG ADS.

(a) Findings and purpose.—

(1) It is the purpose of Congress by this section to prohibit direct-to-consumer advertising of prescription drugs, and Congress finds the following:

(A) Prescription drugs are available only by prescription because their use requires the supervision of a licensed health care professional and because consumers are generally not positioned to evaluate their risks, contraindications, appropriateness, or comparative clinical value without professional judgment;

(B) direct-to-consumer advertising of prescription drugs is permitted in only a tiny number of countries and is inconsistent with the ordinary understanding that prescription drugs should be selected on the basis of clinical need rather than mass-market persuasion; and

(C) the growth of direct-to-consumer broadcast advertising of prescription drugs in the United States followed regulatory and guidance changes that allowed such advertisements to rely on abbreviated risk presentation and adequate provision for dissemination of approved labeling, rather than requiring the full brief summary to be presented in the advertisement itself.

(2) Congress further finds that, because implementation of such a prohibition may be delayed by litigation or court order, reversing the regulatory and guidance changes is a prompt and practical method for restoring the prescription drug advertising landscape to its more pastoral pre-1997 setting.

(b) In general.—Section 502 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 352) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(hh) (1) If it is a drug approved under section 505 or licensed under section 351 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 262), and subject to section 503(b)(1), and the holder of the approved application under section 505 or of the license under such section 351 has conducted direct-to-consumer advertising of the drug within the most recent 30-day period.

"(2) For purposes of this section, the term 'direct-to-consumer advertising', with respect to a drug subject to section 503(b)(1), means any promotional communication targeting consumers, including through television, radio, print media, digital platforms, and social media, for purposes of marketing such a drug.".

(c) Full brief summary required for consumer-directed broadcast advertisements.—Section 502(n) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 352(n)) is amended—

(1) in the first sentence—

(A) by striking "published direct-to-consumer advertisements the following statement printed in conspicuous text" and inserting "direct-to-consumer advertising includes the following statement, clearly and conspicuously presented";

(B) by striking "except that (A)" and inserting "provided that";

(C) by striking ", and (B)" and all that follows through "title 15"; and

(2) by striking the third and fourth sentences and inserting "In the case of direct-to-consumer advertising stating the name of the drug and its conditions of use, the brief summary relating to side effects, contraindications, and effectiveness shall be presented in a clear, conspicuous, unabridged, and neutral manner.".

(d) Withdrawal of inconsistent regulations and guidance.—Not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Health and Human Services shall revise section 202.1 of title 21, Code of Federal Regulations, and shall withdraw the guidance entitled "Consumer-Directed Broadcast Advertisements Guidance for Industry", dated August 1999, and any successor guidance, policy statement, or enforcement policy, to the extent such regulation, guidance, policy statement, or enforcement policy is inconsistent with subsection (c). Pending completion of such revision or withdrawal, any such inconsistent provision shall have no force or effect.

(e) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act and shall apply with respect to any drug approved under section 505 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 355) or licensed under section 351 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 262), regardless of when the drug was approved or licensed.

SEC. 1176. OUTDOOR ADVERTISING AND DIGITAL BILLBOARD CONTROL.

(a) In general.—Subtitle D of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following new chapter:

"CHAPTER 50D—OFF-PREMISES ADVERTISING STRUCTURES.

"SEC. 5000I. Definitions.

"SEC. 5000J. Imposition of tax.

"Sec. 5000I. Definitions.

"(a) Definitions.—For purposes of this chapter:

"(1) Airplane banner.—The term 'airplane banner' means any advertising sign, banner, or similar display towed or otherwise displayed from an aircraft, and visible from the ground by members of the public.

"(2) Airplane banner hour.—The term 'airplane banner hour' means each 60-minute period or fraction thereof during which an airplane banner is displayed.

"(3) Airship advertising display.—The term 'airship advertising display' means any sign, banner, screen, or other advertising display affixed to, integrated into, or otherwise displayed by a blimp, balloon, or similar lighter-than-air craft and visible from the ground by members of the public.

"(4) Airship advertising display day.—The term 'airship advertising display day' means each calendar day or fraction thereof during which an airship advertising display is displayed.

"(5) Compliant digital advertising display.—The term 'compliant digital advertising display' means—

"(A) in the case of an off-premises advertising structure subject to section 131(u) of title 23, United States Code, a digital advertising display operated in compliance with such section; and

"(B) in the case of any other taxable advertising display, a digital advertising display that—

"(i) displays only fixed messages, each of which remains unchanged for not less than 6 seconds;

"(ii) does not use animation, scrolling, flashing, intermittent lighting effects, moving imagery, or full-motion video;

"(iii) automatically adjusts brightness in response to ambient light and is not operated at a brightness that causes glare or otherwise interferes with safe travel; and

"(iv) defaults to a single static message or a dark screen if the display malfunctions.

"(6) Digital advertising display.—The term 'digital advertising display' means any taxable advertising display that uses electronic, digital, LED, LCD, projection, or similar technology to display or change text, images, or other visual matter.

"(7) Directional sign.—The term 'directional sign' means a sign that provides only directional, distance, or location information concerning a place or facility and does not contain promotional advertising matter other than the name, logo, or identifying information of such place or facility.

"(8) Display face.—The term 'display face' means each separately viewable side, surface, screen, panel, banner face, or other distinct area on which an advertising message is displayed or may be displayed, but does not include any areas used for self-promotion by the owner.

"(9) Illuminated.—The term 'illuminated' means equipped with artificial lighting, whether internal or external, that makes a display face or message visible under conditions of darkness or reduced natural light, but does not include navigation, marker, or other safety lighting required by law that does not illuminate or form part of the advertising message.

"(10) Mobile advertising display.—The term 'mobile advertising display' means any vehicle, trailer, or other mobile device used in commerce to display advertising visible from a public right-of-way, but does not include a vehicle or trailer used for self-promotion.

"(11) Mobile advertising half-day.—The term 'mobile advertising half-day' means each 240-minute period or fraction thereof during which a mobile advertising display is operated in commerce and visible from a public right-of-way.

"(12) Mobile or airborne advertising display.—The term 'mobile or airborne advertising display' means a mobile advertising display, airplane banner, or airship advertising display.

"(13) Noncompliant digital advertising display.—The term 'noncompliant digital advertising display' means any digital advertising display that is not a compliant digital advertising display.

"(14) Off-premises advertising structure.—The term 'off-premises advertising structure' means any fixed sign, display, billboard, screen, panel, or similar structure or device designed, intended, or ordinarily used in commerce to display advertising visible from a public right-of-way, but does not include—

"(A) an on-premises sign;

"(B) an official sign or notice;

"(C) a directional sign; or

"(D) a sign advertising the sale or lease of the real property on which the sign is located.

"(15) Official sign or notice.—The term 'official sign or notice' means a sign or notice erected or required by a Federal, State, local, or Tribal government, or by a public utility, for traffic control, safety, public information, or other governmental or quasi-governmental purposes.

"(16) On-premises sign.—The term 'on-premises sign' means a sign located on the same premises as the establishment, activity, goods, or services to which the sign relates and that identifies the establishment or advertises activities conducted on, or goods produced, sold, or services rendered on, the property on which the sign is located, but does not include a noncompliant digital advertising display.

"(17) Owner.—The term 'owner' means the person operating a taxable advertising display in commerce.

"(18) Public right-of-way.—The term 'public right-of-way' means any road, street, highway, sidewalk, trail, transit way, or other right-of-way open to public travel.

"(19) Self-promotion.—The term 'self-promotion' means an advertisement for goods or services, which may contain a business name, logo, and other identifying information of the owner or affiliate, which is displayed—

"(A) on a vehicle engaged in facilitating the provision of such advertised goods or services; or

"(B) by an on-premises sign.

"(20) Taxable advertising display.—The term 'taxable advertising display' means an off-premises advertising structure or a mobile or airborne advertising display.

"(21) Taxable display area.—

"(A) In general.—The term 'taxable display area' means the total number of square feet, or fraction thereof, of all display faces of an off-premises advertising structure, determined by multiplying the greatest height by the greatest width of each display face and aggregating such amounts for all such faces, whether or not the same message is displayed on more than 1 face.

"(B) Temporary disuse or exempt content disregarded.—The taxable display area shall not be reduced because, during any period, 1 or more display faces are blank or display noncommercial content, official notices, or advertising the availability of the off-premises advertising structure.

"(C) Structural changes.—If permanent changes to an off-premises advertising structure increase or decrease the square footage calculated in subparagraph (A), the taxable display area for a taxable year shall be the calculation that results in the greatest taxable display area.".

"Sec. 5000J. Imposition of tax.

"(a) In general.—There is imposed on the owner of each taxable advertising display a tax for each calendar year equal to the product of—

"(1) the base rate determined under subsection (b);

"(2) the applicable quantity determined under subsection (c); and

"(3) the applicable multiplier determined under subsection (d).

"(b) Base rate.—For purposes of subsection (a), the base rate shall be—

"(1) $7.50, in the case of an off-premises advertising structure;

"(2) $60, in the case of a mobile advertising display;

"(3) $120, in the case of an airplane banner; and

"(4) $480, in the case of an airship advertising display.

"(c) Applicable quantity.—For purposes of subsection (a), the applicable quantity shall be—

"(1) the taxable display area, in the case of an off-premises advertising structure;

"(2) the number of mobile advertising half-days during the calendar year, in the case of a mobile advertising display;

"(3) the number of airplane banner hours during the calendar year, in the case of an airplane banner; and

"(4) the number of airship advertising display days during the calendar year, in the case of an airship advertising display.

"(d) Applicable multiplier.—For purposes of subsection (a), the applicable multiplier with respect to any taxable advertising display shall be—

"(1) 9.0, in the case of a noncompliant digital advertising display;

"(2) 4.5, in the case of a compliant digital advertising display;

"(3) 1.5, in the case of an illuminated taxable advertising display that is not a digital advertising display; or

"(4) 1.0, in any other case.

"(e) Proration for certain structures.—

"(1) In general.—In the case of an off-premises advertising structure placed in service or permanently removed from service during a calendar year, the tax imposed by this section with respect to such structure shall be prorated on a monthly basis under rules prescribed by the Secretary.

"(2) Transition rule.—In the case of an off-premises advertising structure permanently removed from service before July 1, 2027, no tax shall be imposed under this chapter for calendar year 2027 with respect to such structure.

"(f) Inflation adjustment.—

"(1) In general.—In the case of any calendar year beginning after 2027, each dollar amount in subsection (b) shall be increased by an amount equal to—

"(A) such dollar amount, multiplied by

"(B) the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for the calendar year, determined by substituting 'calendar year 2026' for 'calendar year 2016' in subparagraph (A)(ii) thereof.

"(2) Rounding.—

"(A) In the case of the dollar amount in subsection (b)(1), the amount, after adjustment under paragraph (1), shall be rounded to the nearest multiple of $0.05.

"(B) In the case of the dollar amounts in paragraphs (2), (3), and (4) of subsection (b), each such amount, after adjustment under paragraph (1), shall be rounded to the nearest whole dollar.

"(3) Publication.—Not later than December 1 of each calendar year, the Secretary shall publish the dollar amounts applicable under subsection (b) for the following calendar year.

"(g) Regulations and anti-avoidance rules.—The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations or other guidance as are necessary or appropriate to carry out this section, including regulations or other guidance—

"(1) to prevent avoidance through the use of related persons, intermediaries, temporary shutdowns, nominal noncommercial content, short-term transfers, changes in classification, changes in display characteristics, or other arrangements intended to reduce liability under this chapter;

"(2) to provide equitable rules for the treatment of mobile advertising displays that are parked, left standing, stationed, or repeatedly repositioned in substantially the same location;

"(3) to provide rules for determining when multiple display faces, structures, vehicles, banners, or devices shall be treated as a single taxable advertising display or as separate taxable advertising displays;

"(4) to provide rules for determining the taxable display area of irregularly shaped display faces and structures with multiple display faces;

"(5) to provide rules coordinating this section with section 131(u) of title 23, United States Code, and with the definitions in section 5000I; and

"(6) to provide such recordkeeping, return filing, payment, and other administrative rules as the Secretary determines appropriate.".

(b) Clerical amendment.—The table of chapters for subtitle D of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

"Chapter 50D. Off-premises advertising structures.".

(c) Changeable electronic signs.—Section 131 of title 23, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(u) Changeable electronic signs.—

"(1) In general.—A changeable electronic sign, display, or device erected or maintained pursuant to subsection (d) shall be considered consistent with this section only if—

"(A) each message remains fixed for not less than 6 seconds;

"(B) the display does not use animation, scrolling, flashing, intermittent lighting effects, moving imagery, or full-motion video;

"(C) the display automatically adjusts brightness in response to ambient light and is not operated at a brightness that causes glare, impairs the vision of a driver, or otherwise interferes with the operation of a motor vehicle;

"(D) the display defaults to a single static message or a dark screen if the display malfunctions; and

"(E) the display otherwise complies with standards prescribed by the Secretary to protect the safety of the motoring public.

"(2) Rule of construction.—A changeable electronic sign, display, or device that complies with paragraph (1) shall not be treated as containing flashing, intermittent, moving, or animated light solely because it changes from one fixed message to another at intervals permitted under paragraph (1).".

(d) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to calendar years beginning after December 31, 2026.

SEC. 1177. PROHIBITION ON ADVERTISING TO MINORS.

(a) In general.—The Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.), as amended by this Act, is further amended by inserting after section 15C the following:

"Sec. 15D. Prohibition on advertising to minors.

"(a) Definitions.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) Advertisement.—

"(A) In general.—The term 'advertisement' means any commercial communication disseminated through covered media in or affecting commerce for the purpose of inducing, or attempting to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase, lease, use, or favorable perception of any product, service, brand, business, trade name, or line of business.

"(B) Exceptions.—Such term does not include—

"(i) an individual's expression of personal opinion, experience, or play, unless such expression is—

"(I) disseminated on behalf of an advertiser; or

"(II) made in exchange for commercial consideration; or

"(ii) the mere identification of the name, trade name, trademark, logo, copyright notice, or other attribution of the publisher, developer, distributor, platform, owner, or creator of the covered media, unless such identification includes—

"(I) a product claim or comparative claim;

"(II) price information;

"(III) qualitative or promotional description, including a brand slogan; or

"(IV) a call to action, including any inducement to purchase or use a product or service.

"(2) Advertising designed to appeal primarily to minors.—The term 'advertising designed to appeal primarily to minors' means an advertisement intended or reasonably likely to appeal primarily to minors. Such determination shall be based on the totality of the circumstances, including the subject matter, visual and audio content, use of animation, language, age and appearance of characters, child-oriented activities or incentives, and use of celebrities or influencers who appeal to minors.

"(3) Blurred advertising.—The term 'blurred advertising' means an advertisement that is integrated into, disguised as, or otherwise not clearly separated from the underlying content and that is disseminated in exchange for commercial consideration, including a compensated influencer promotion, product placement, advertising presented in the form of a video, post, review, game, filter, or similar content, or any other disguised commercial content.

"(4) Child-directed advertising.—The term 'child-directed advertising' means—

"(A) advertising designed to appeal primarily to minors;

"(B) blurred advertising in child-directed content; or

"(C) any advertisement disseminated before, during, after, or adjacent to child-directed content, other than sponsorship identification.

"(5) Child-directed content.—The term 'child-directed content' means content disseminated through covered media that—

"(A) is identified by the platform or creator as directed primarily to minors or as made for children; or

"(B) based on the totality of the circumstances, including the subject matter, visual and audio content, use of animation, language, age and appearance of characters, child-oriented activities or incentives, and use of celebrities or influencers who appeal to minors, or other competent and reliable empirical evidence regarding the intended or actual audience, is directed primarily to minors.

"(6) Commercial consideration.—The term 'commercial consideration' means money, free products, discounts, revenue sharing, affiliate compensation, sponsorship, product placement consideration, or any other thing of value provided, directly or indirectly, in connection with the dissemination of content.

"(7) Covered media.—The term 'covered media' means audio, audiovisual, or interactive content disseminated by electronic means, including through broadcast television, cable television, satellite television, streaming services, internet sites, applications, social media services, video-sharing platforms, podcasts, games, or similar services or platforms.

"(8) Minor.—The term 'minor' means an individual under 17 years of age.

"(9) Sponsorship identification.—The term 'sponsorship identification' means a clearly and conspicuously disclosed acknowledgment that content was funded by, paid for by, or sponsored by a sponsor, if such acknowledgment—

"(A) is limited to the name or trade name of the sponsor and a brief nonpromotional statement of support;

"(B) does not include a product claim, comparative claim, price information, qualitative or promotional description, brand slogan, call to action, or inducement to purchase or use a product or service; and

"(C) is clearly separated from the surrounding content.

"(b) Prohibited acts.—It shall be unlawful for any person to disseminate, or cause to be disseminated, in or affecting commerce any child-directed advertising.

"(c) Treatment under this Act.—A violation of this section shall constitute an unfair, deceptive, or abusive act or practice in or affecting commerce within the meaning of section 5(a)(1) of this Act.

"(d) Rules.—The Commission shall promulgate such rules as are necessary or appropriate to carry out this section, including rules establishing disclosure, formatting, separation, and identification requirements for sponsorship identification and standards for determining when content constitutes blurred advertising, child-directed content, or advertising designed to appeal primarily to minors.

"(e) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to authorize any targeted advertising, surveillance advertising, or use of personal information for advertising purposes that is otherwise prohibited by this Act or any other provision of law.".

(b) Conforming amendment.—The table of sections in section 1 of the Federal Trade Commission Act, as amended by this Act, is further amended by inserting after the item relating to section 15C the following:

"15D. Prohibition on advertising to minors.".

(c) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on January 1, 2027.

SEC. 1178. RULEMAKING, ENFORCEMENT, AND RELATION TO OTHER LAW.

(a) In general.—The Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.), as amended by this Act, is further amended by inserting after section 15D the following:

"Sec. 15E. Enforcement by States.

"(a) Civil action.—In any case in which the attorney general of a State, or other authorized State officer, has reason to believe that an interest of the residents of that State has been or is threatened or adversely affected by any person that violates section 15A, 15B, 15C, or 15D, or any rule promulgated under any such section, the attorney general of the State, or other authorized State officer, as parens patriae, may bring a civil action on behalf of the residents of the State in a district court of the United States of appropriate jurisdiction—

"(1) to enjoin the violation;

"(2) to enforce compliance with this Act;

"(3) to obtain damages, restitution, refunds, corrective advertising, public notification, or other compensation or relief authorized under this Act; and

"(4) to obtain civil penalties, if authorized by law.

"(b) Notice.—Before filing an action under subsection (a), the attorney general of a State, or other authorized State officer, shall provide written notice to the Commission and shall provide the Commission with a copy of the complaint to be filed, except that if prior notice is not feasible, the attorney general of the State, or other authorized State officer, shall provide such notice immediately upon instituting the action.

"(c) Intervention by Commission.—Upon receiving notice under subsection (b), the Commission shall have the authority—

"(1) to intervene in the action;

"(2) upon intervening, to be heard on all matters arising in the action; and

"(3) to file petitions for appeal.

"(d) Preservation of State powers.—Nothing in this section shall be construed—

"(1) to prevent the attorney general of a State, or other authorized State officer, from exercising the powers conferred by the laws of that State to conduct investigations, administer oaths or affirmations, or compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of documentary and other evidence; or

"(2) to prohibit the attorney general of a State, or other authorized State officer, from proceeding in State or Federal court on the basis of an alleged violation of any civil or criminal statute of that State.

"(e) Limitation during pendency of Federal action.—No separate action may be brought under this section during the pendency of an action by the Commission or the United States against the same defendant for the same violation.

"(f) Service of process.—In an action brought under subsection (a), process may be served in any district in which the defendant is an inhabitant or may be found.

"(g) Venue.—Any action brought under subsection (a) may be brought in any district court of the United States that meets the applicable requirements of section 1391 of title 28, United States Code.".

(b) Conforming amendment.—The table of sections in section 1 of the Federal Trade Commission Act, as amended by this Act, is further amended by inserting after the item relating to section 15D the following:

"15E. Enforcement by States.".

(c) FTC rulemaking procedure.—

(1) In general.—Rules promulgated by the Commission under section 15A(f), 15B(f), 15C(g), or 15D(d) of the Federal Trade Commission Act, as added by this subtitle, shall be promulgated in accordance with section 18 of such Act (15 U.S.C. 57a), as amended by this Act.

(2) Early rulemaking authorized.—The Commission may promulgate regulations and take such other administrative actions as are necessary to implement the amendments made by this subtitle before January 1, 2027, except that no such regulation shall take effect before January 1, 2027.

(d) Enforcement notwithstanding jurisdictional exclusions.—Notwithstanding section 5(a)(2) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(2)), the Commission is empowered and directed to enforce sections 15A through 15E of such Act, and any rule promulgated under any such section, with respect to any person subject to such sections.

(e) Relation to other law.—Nothing in sections 15A through 15E of the Federal Trade Commission Act, as added by this subtitle, or in this subtitle, shall be construed—

(1) to preempt or limit any Federal, State, local, or Tribal law that provides equal or greater protection against deceptive, manipulative, misleading, abusive, or intrusive advertising practices; or

(2) to limit any authority of the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Federal Communications Commission, the Attorney General, the Secretary of Transportation, or any other Federal agency under any other provision of law.

(f) Effective date.—The amendments made by this section shall take effect on January 1, 2027.

Subtitle G—Refriendlying the Skies

SEC. 1181. PROHIBITION ON SURVEILLANCE-BASED PRICE SETTING BY AIR CARRIERS AND TICKET AGENTS.

(a) In general.—Section 41712 of title 49, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(d) Prohibition on surveillance-based price setting.—It shall be an unfair or deceptive practice under subsection (a) for an air carrier, foreign air carrier, or ticket agent to engage in surveillance-based price setting, as prohibited under section 1134 of the POPULIST Act.".

(b) No preemption of consumer protection claims.—Section 41713(b)(4) of title 49, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(D) No preemption of surveillance-based price setting claims.—Nothing in subparagraphs (A) through (C) may be construed—

"(i) to preempt, displace, or supplant any action for civil damages or injunctive relief based on a violation of section 1134 of the POPULIST Act; or

"(ii) to restrict the authority of any government entity, including a State attorney general, from bringing a legal claim on behalf of the residents of the State with respect to any such violation.".

SEC. 1182. ENFORCEMENT BY STATE ATTORNEYS GENERAL.

(a) In general.—Chapter 461 of title 49, United States Code, is amended by inserting after section 46107 the following:

"Sec. 46107A. Enforcement by State attorneys general.

"(a) In general.—Any attorney general of a State may bring a civil action in the name of such State, as parens patriae on behalf of natural persons residing in such State, in a district court of the United States against a person to enforce this part or a requirement or regulation prescribed, or an order or any term of a certificate or permit issued, under this part.

"(b) Venue.—An action under this section may be brought in the judicial district in which the person against whom the action is brought does business or in which the violation occurred.

"(c) Relief.—In a civil action under this section, the court may grant all appropriate relief, including injunctive relief and civil penalties, as authorized under this part.

"(d) Notice.—Before filing an action under subsection (a), the attorney general of a State shall provide written notice to the Secretary and the Attorney General and shall provide each such official with a copy of the complaint to be filed, except that if prior notice is not feasible, the attorney general of the State shall provide such notice immediately upon instituting the action.

"(e) Intervention by United States.—Upon receiving notice under subsection (d), the United States may intervene as of right in the action. If the United States intervenes, the United States shall have the authority—

"(1) to be heard on all matters arising in the action; and

"(2) to file a petition for appeal.

"(f) Limitation during pendency of Federal action.—No separate action may be brought or maintained under this section during the pendency of an action by the Secretary or the United States against the same defendant for the same violation.

"(g) Federal certificates and permits.—In an action under this section, a court may not suspend, revoke, modify, or transfer a certificate or permit issued under this part, except that the court may enforce compliance with a requirement, order, or term of such certificate or permit and may grant any other relief authorized under subsection (c).".

(b) Clerical amendment.—The table of contents for chapter 461 of title 49, United States Code, is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 46107 the following:

"46107A. Enforcement by State attorneys general.".

SEC. 1183. PROMOTING COMPETITION IN AVIATION REGULATION.

(a) Promoting competition.—Section 40101(d) of title 49, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(8) promoting competition.".

(b) Maintaining and enhancing competition in slot allocation.—Section 40103(b)(1) of title 49, United States Code, is amended by inserting "In doing so, the Administrator shall consider the need to maintain or enhance competition in the air transportation system." after "efficient use of airspace.".

(c) Ensuring reasonable access.—

(1) In general.—Section 47107(a)(1) of title 49, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"(1) the airport will be available for public use—

"(A) on reasonable conditions and without unjust discrimination; and

"(B) with the airport proprietor taking all practicable steps to accommodate requests for reasonable access (as defined in subsection (z)) to terminal facilities;".

(2) Standards for reasonable access.—Section 47107 of title 49, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(z) Written assurances on lease agreements.—

"(1) The Secretary of Transportation may approve an application under this subchapter for an airport development project grant only if the Secretary receives written assurances, satisfactory to the Secretary, that, with respect to any airport serving 0.25 percent or more of the total annual enplanements in the United States (calculated on a rolling 5-year average) and with more than 50 percent of passengers (calculated on a rolling 5-year average) handled by 2 air carriers or fewer, the airport owner shall submit to the Secretary any proposed lease, lease amendment, or lease extension (including carryover provisions) for advance approval, as well as a statement detailing how such proposed lease, lease amendment, or lease extension maintains or enhances competition in the air transportation system.

"(2) In this section, the following definitions apply:

"(A) Common use.—The term 'common use' means nonexclusive use in common by air carriers and other duly authorized users of the airport.

"(B) Reasonable access.—The term 'reasonable access' means, with respect to terminal facilities, that—

"(i) not less than 25 percent of terminal facilities at an airport are available for common use; and

"(ii) not more than 50 percent of terminal facilities are reserved for exclusive use by a single air carrier.

"(C) Terminal facilities.—The term 'terminal facilities' means facilities within the terminal of an airport, including gates, ticket counters, baggage claim areas, and baggage make up system spaces.".

(d) Competition plans.—Section 40117(d) of title 49, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (3), by striking "and";

(2) in paragraph (4), by striking the period at the end and inserting "; and"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(5) beginning in fiscal year 2027, in the case of an application for a terminal project, the project will provide for reasonable access (as defined in section 47107(z)) to terminal facilities.".

(e) Competition disclosure.—Section 47107(r) of title 49, United States Code, is amended by striking paragraph (3).

SEC. 1184. CODIFICATION OF CERTAIN RULES RELATING TO AIRLINES.

(a) Incorporation of specified regulations.—The provisions of the following final regulations promulgated by the Secretary of Transportation under section 41712 of title 49, United States Code, and related statutory authorities, as published in the Federal Register, are incorporated into this Act and shall be treated as though such provisions are set forth in this subsection:

(1) The final rules entitled "Refunds and Other Consumer Protections," published in the Federal Register on April 26, 2024 (89 Fed. Reg. 32760) and August 12, 2024 (89 Fed. Reg. 65534).

(2) The final rule entitled "Clarification of Formal Enforcement Procedures for Unfair and Deceptive Practices," published in the Federal Register on June 16, 2023 (88 Fed. Reg. 39352).

(3) The final rule entitled "Defining Unfair or Deceptive Practices," published in the Federal Register on December 7, 2020 (85 Fed. Reg. 78707).

(4) The final rule entitled "Enhancing Transparency of Airline Ancillary Service Fees," published in the Federal Register on April 30, 2024 (89 Fed. Reg. 34620).

(5) The final rule entitled "Ensuring Safe Accommodations for Air Travelers with Disabilities Using Wheelchairs," published in the Federal Register on December 17, 2024 (89 Fed. Reg. 102398).

(b) Effect of incorporation.—The regulations incorporated under subsection (a) may be altered only by means of an Act of Congress. To the extent that any provision of such regulations does not conform to any other statutory provision of law enacted before the date of enactment of this Act, the provisions of this Act shall govern.

(c) Definition of regulation.—In this section, the term "regulation" means any rule, regulation, guideline, interpretation, order, or requirement of general applicability prescribed by any officer or employee of the executive branch.

(d) (1) Requirement to issue final rule.—Not later than June 30, 2027, the Secretary of Transportation shall publish in the Federal Register a final rule addressing the subject matter of the proposed rule titled "Airline Passenger Rights," published in the Federal Register on December 11, 2024 (89 Fed. Reg. 99760), including provisions to ensure that passengers experiencing significant flight disruptions receive clear, prompt, and adequate compensation, rebooking, amenities, information, and other protections. Such final rule shall define the classes of disruptions covered, a schedule of minimum compensation obligations, and procedures for claim submission and payment.

(2) Procedure.—In promulgating the final rule under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall consider the comments previously submitted to docket number DOT-OST-2024-0062 and any additional comments received on or after the date of enactment of this Act, and ensure that the final rule is consistent with the statutory authority provided by title 49, United States Code.

SEC. 1185. SEATING YOUNG CHILDREN ADJACENT TO AN ADULT PASSENGER.

(a) In general.—Subchapter I of chapter 417 of title 49, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 41730. Seating young children adjacent to an accompanying adult on aircraft.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Accompanying adult.—The term 'accompanying adult' means an individual age 14 or older on the date of scheduled departure who is on the same reservation record as a young child.

"(2) Adjacent.—The term 'adjacent' means next to in the same row of the aircraft and not separated by an aisle.

"(3) Available.—The term 'available', when used with respect to seats or seat assignments, means capable of assignment by the carrier without upgrading class of service and without displacing another passenger with an assigned seat.

"(4) Class of service.—The term 'class of service' means first class, business class, premium economy, or general economy, including basic economy.

"(5) No additional cost.—The term 'no additional cost' means no added charge beyond the fare.

"(6) Young child.—The term 'young child' means an individual age 13 or under on the date of scheduled departure.

"(b) General requirement.—

"(1) An air carrier or foreign air carrier that assigns seats, or allows individuals to select seats, in advance of the date of departure of a flight shall seat each young child adjacent to an accompanying adult, provided that adjacent seat assignments are available and an exception in subsection (f) does not apply.

"(2) An air carrier or foreign air carrier that does not assign seats or allow individuals to select seats in advance of the date of departure shall board passengers in a manner that ensures each young child is seated adjacent to an accompanying adult, provided that an exception in subsection (f) does not apply.

"(3) An air carrier or foreign air carrier may not charge a fee or impose additional cost to seat a young child adjacent to an accompanying adult within the same class of service.

"(4) Every class of service offered by an air carrier or foreign air carrier shall allow for seating of a young child adjacent to an accompanying adult.

"(5) An air carrier or foreign air carrier may not limit the availability of adjacent seats in a manner that results in an undue burden on the ability of a young child to receive an advance seat assignment adjacent to an accompanying adult.

"(c) Additional requirements for advance seating.—

"(1) An air carrier or foreign air carrier that assigns seats or allows individuals to select seats at the time of booking shall, not later than 48 hours after issuance of a ticket for each young child—

"(A) provide a seat assignment adjacent to an accompanying adult at no additional cost, if available; or

"(B) if not available, provide the accompanying adult a choice between—

"(i) a full refund of all tickets on the reservation; or

"(ii) waiting for adjacent seat assignments.

"(2) If adjacent seat assignments do not become available before boarding, the carrier shall, at the choice of the accompanying adult—

"(A) rebook the reservation on the next available flight at no additional cost; or

"(B) transport the passengers on the original flight in non-adjacent seats, if seats are available.

"(d) Remedies for violation.—An air carrier or foreign air carrier that violates subsection (b) or (c) shall, at the choice of the accompanying adult—

"(1) rebook the reservation on the next available flight at no additional cost;

"(2) provide a full refund of all tickets on the reservation and return transportation to the origination airport if applicable; or

"(3) transport the passengers on the original flight in non-adjacent seats, if seats are available.

"(e) Applicability.—The requirements of this section apply to each scheduled flight segment to or from any airport in the United States.

"(f) Exceptions.—Subsections (b) and (c) shall not apply to the extent that—

"(1) the young child does not have an accompanying adult;

"(2) the accompanying adult declines an adjacent seat offered at no additional cost;

"(3) aircraft configuration makes compliance impossible; or

"(4) an exception established by final rule of the Secretary applies.

"(g) Regulations.—The Secretary may issue regulations to implement this section.".

(b) Clerical amendment.—The analysis of chapter 417 of title 49, United States Code, is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 41729 the following:

"41730. Seating young children adjacent to an accompanying adult on aircraft.".

(c) Effective date.—Section 41730 of title 49, United States Code, as added by subsection (a), shall take effect on January 1, 2027.

(d) Repeal of FAA Extension, Safety, and Security Act of 2016 family seating provision.—Section 2309 of the FAA Extension, Safety, and Security Act of 2016 (49 U.S.C. 42301 note) is repealed.

SEC. 1186. LIMITATIONS ON AIR CARRIER CONCENTRATION AT AIRPORTS.

(a) In general.—Subchapter I of chapter 417 of title 49, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 41731. Limitations on excessive air carrier concentration at covered airports.

"(a) Covered airports.—In this section, the term 'covered airport' means an airport that—

"(1) accounts for not less than 1 percent of total annual passenger enplanements in the United States, calculated on a rolling 3-year average; or

"(2) is designated by the Secretary of Transportation as a high-concentration airport based on market dominance by 1 or more air carriers.

"(b) Concentration limitation.—Except as provided in subsection (d), it shall be unlawful for an air carrier, together with any affiliate, to operate more than 30 percent of the aggregate number of scheduled departures from and scheduled arrivals at a covered airport during any calendar year.

"(c) Measurement.—For purposes of subsection (b), the aggregate number of scheduled departures and arrivals shall be measured using publicly reported schedule data filed with the Department of Transportation, as determined by the Secretary.

"(d) Transition and waivers.—

"(1) Initial transition waiver.—The Secretary may, on a case-by-case basis and for good cause shown, waive the application of subsection (b) with respect to a covered airport until a date not later than July 1, 2028, if the Secretary determines that additional time is necessary to permit the orderly implementation of this section. A waiver under this paragraph shall require a written compliance plan and may not be renewed or extended beyond July 1, 2028.

"(2) Essential air service waiver.—The Secretary may grant a temporary waiver of subsection (b) for a period not to exceed 2 calendar years, if the Secretary determines that—

"(A) compliance would result in significant harm to essential air service; and

"(B) the waiver includes enforceable conditions to promote entry by competing carriers.

"(3) Renewal limitation.—No waiver under paragraph (2) may be renewed more than once.

"(e) Enforcement.—A violation of this section constitutes an unfair method of competition for purposes of section 41712 of this title.

"(f) Regulations.—Not later than July 1, 2027, the Secretary shall issue regulations to carry out this section, including regulations addressing divestiture, schedule adjustments, and slot reallocation.".

(b) Clerical amendment.—The analysis of chapter 417 of title 49, United States Code, is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 41730 the following:

"41731. Limitations on excessive air carrier concentration at covered airports.".

(c) Effective date.—Except as provided in the following sentence, this section shall take effect on January 1, 2028. Subsection (f) of section 41731 of title 49, United States Code, as added by subsection (a), shall take effect on the date of enactment of this Act.

Subtitle H—Fair Franchise Relationships

SEC. 1191. SHORT TITLE, FINDINGS, AND PURPOSE.

(a) Short title.—This subtitle may be cited as the "Fair Franchise Relationships Act".

(b) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Franchise businesses represent a large and growing segment of the Nation's retail and service businesses and involve a joint enterprise between the franchisor and franchisees in which each party has a vested interest in the success of the franchised business.

(2) Prospective franchisees often lack bargaining power and invest substantial amounts of their own money, take loans that may be secured by their homes or retirement accounts or guaranteed by the Small Business Administration, and enter into long-term commercial leases and other obligations to support themselves and their families.

(3) Franchise agreements frequently reflect a profound imbalance of contractual power in favor of the franchisor and fail to give due regard to the legitimate business interests of the franchisee because the franchisor reserves one-sided and pervasive contractual authority over the franchise relationship. Franchise systems may also separate operational control from legal and financial responsibility, allowing a franchisor to prescribe the brand, methods, technology, suppliers, fees, and other material conditions of the business while shifting capital costs, debt, and operating risk to franchisees.

(4) Franchisees may suffer substantial financial losses when a franchisor does not provide truthful or complete information regarding the franchise opportunity or does not act in good faith, with due care, or in a commercially reasonable manner in the performance of the franchise agreement. Mandatory sourcing requirements, undisclosed vendor payments, opaque advertising funds, excessive fees, territorial encroachment, arbitrary termination, and restraints on association or public discussion can further permit a franchisor to extract value from a franchisee without providing a corresponding benefit to the franchised business.

(5) Unlike an investment in securities, an investment in a franchise may lead to losses beyond the initial capital investment, and a franchisee generally cannot simply resign and leave the franchised business without substantial continuing liabilities. Traditional common-law doctrines and contractual remedies have not evolved sufficiently to protect franchisees from fraudulent or unfair practices in the sale and operation of franchise businesses.

(6) The Federal Government has a substantial interest in regulating franchising, protecting fair competition and honest trade, and ensuring that franchisors accept responsibility commensurate with the authority they possess or exercise within a franchise system.

(c) Purpose.—The purposes of this subtitle are—

(1) to promote fair business relations between franchisees and franchisors;

(2) to protect franchisees against deceptive sales practices, coercive contract terms, arbitrary treatment, and the abuse of superior economic and bargaining power, and to provide effective rights and remedies;

(3) to preserve and strengthen the ability of States to provide greater protection to franchisees; and

(4) to unstack franchise relationships by ensuring that economic and legal responsibility follows the authority and control exercised within a franchise system.

SEC. 1192. DEFINITIONS.

(a) Definitions.—In this subtitle:

(1) Affiliate.—The term "affiliate" has the meaning given the term in section 436.1(b) of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, as in effect on the date of enactment of this Act.

(2) Commission.—The term "Commission" means the Federal Trade Commission.

(3) Disclosure document.—The term "disclosure document" means the disclosure document required under part 436 of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, or an offering format allowed or required by State or local law.

(4) Franchise.—The term "franchise" has the meaning given the term in section 436.1(h) of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, as in effect on the date of enactment of this Act, but does not include a contract otherwise regulated by the Petroleum Marketing Practices Act (15 U.S.C.

2801 et seq.), except with respect to a franchise relationship that does not involve the sale of petroleum products.

(5) Franchise agreement.—The term "franchise agreement" means a contract or agreement, whether written or oral, that governs a franchise or any material aspect of a franchise relationship, including an agreement ancillary or collateral to a franchise.

(6) Franchise seller.—The term "franchise seller" has the meaning given the term in section 436.1(j) of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, as in effect on the date of enactment of this Act.

(7) Franchisee.—The term "franchisee" has the meaning given the term in section 436.1(i) of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, as in effect on the date of enactment of this Act.

(8) Franchisor.—The term "franchisor" has the meaning given the term in section 436.1(k) of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, as in effect on the date of enactment of this Act.

(9) Material; material fact.—The terms "material" and "material fact" include—

(A) a fact, circumstance, or set of conditions that a reasonable franchisee or prospective franchisee would consider important in making a significant decision relating to entering into, remaining in, transferring, renewing, or abandoning a franchise relationship; and

(B) a fact, circumstance, or set of conditions that has or may have a significant financial impact on a franchisor, franchisee, or prospective franchisee.

(10) Nonrenewal; nonrenew.—The terms "nonrenewal" and "nonrenew" mean that a franchisor fails or refuses to extend the franchisor-franchisee relationship at the end of the existing term of the franchise agreement, irrespective of whether the agreement contains a contractual renewal term.

(11) Offer; offering.—The terms "offer" and "offering" mean an effort to offer or dispose of, or a solicitation of an offer to buy, a franchise or an interest in a franchise for value.

(12) Outlet.—The term "outlet" means a point of sale, whether temporary or permanent, fixed or mobile, from which goods or services are offered for sale.

(13) Prospective franchisee.—The term "prospective franchisee" has the meaning given the term in section 436.1(r) of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, as in effect on the date of enactment of this Act.

(14) State.—The term "State" means a State, the District of Columbia, and any territory or possession of the United States.

(15) Trade secret.—The term "trade secret" means information, including a formula, pattern, compilation, program, device, method, technique, or process, that—

(A) derives independent economic value, actual or potential, from not being generally known to, and not being readily ascertainable through proper means by, another person who can obtain economic value from its disclosure or use; and

(B) is the subject of efforts that are reasonable under the circumstances to maintain its secrecy.

SEC. 1193. FAIR FRANCHISE SALES AND DISCLOSURE.

(a) Fraudulent sales practices.—In connection with the advertising, offering, sale, or promotion of a franchise, it shall be unlawful for any person, directly or indirectly, to—

(1) employ a device, scheme, or artifice to defraud;

(2) engage in an act, practice, course of business, or pattern of conduct that operates or is intended to operate as a fraud upon a prospective franchisee; or

(3) obtain property, or assist another person to obtain property, by making an untrue statement of material fact or failing to state a material fact.

(b) Disclosure required.—Notwithstanding an exemption under section 436.8 of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, a franchise seller shall furnish each prospective franchisee a disclosure document that complies with this subtitle and part 436 of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, at the time and in the manner required under that part.

(c) Misrepresentations in required disclosures.—In connection with a disclosure document, notice, or report required by Federal, State, or local law, it shall be unlawful for a franchise seller, directly or indirectly, to—

(1) make an untrue statement of material fact;

(2) fail to state a material fact;

(3) fail to state a fact necessary to prevent a required statement or disclosure from being untrue or misleading;

(4) fail to furnish a prospective franchisee with all information required to be disclosed by law at the time and in the manner required; or

(5) fail, before a prospective franchisee signs a franchise agreement or makes a required payment, to disclose any material change known to the franchise seller that occurred after delivery of the disclosure document and that renders a statement in the disclosure document materially inaccurate or misleading.

(d) Historical financial performance data.—A franchisor shall include in the disclosure document historical financial performance data, including sales, expenses, and profitability data, sufficient to permit a prospective franchisee to make an informed assessment of the actual financial performance of the franchise system.

(e) Consistency of representations.—It shall be unlawful for a franchise seller to make an oral, written, visual, or electronic claim or representation to a prospective franchisee that is inconsistent with or contradicts the disclosure document or for which the franchise seller lacks a reasonable basis and written substantiation at the time the claim or representation is made.

(f) Renewal statement.—A franchise seller shall furnish a prospective franchisee with a written statement specifying prominently and in not less than 14-point type whether the proposed franchise agreement provides a renewal term and the conditions that apply to renewal.

(g) Relation to Franchise Rule.—The requirements of this section are in addition to, and not in lieu of, the requirements of part 436 of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations.

SEC. 1194. UNFAIR FRANCHISE PRACTICES AND STANDARDS OF CONDUCT.

(a) Prohibited practices.—In connection with the performance, enforcement, renewal, transfer, or termination of a franchise agreement, it shall be unlawful for a franchisor, directly or indirectly, to—

(1) engage in an act, practice, course of business, or pattern of conduct that operates as a fraud upon any person;

(2) discriminate against a franchisee by imposing a requirement not imposed on other similarly situated franchisees, unless the franchisor establishes that the distinction is reasonable, based on a legitimate business reason, and not arbitrary or intended to benefit the franchisor at the expense of the franchisee;

(3) charge a renewal fee prohibited under section 1196(b)(2);

(4) terminate, cancel, fail to renew, threaten, penalize, or otherwise take adverse action against a franchisee because the franchisee—

(A) refuses to participate in a promotional campaign that is not reasonable, implemented in good faith, and reasonably expected to promote the profitability of the franchisee's business;

(B) fails to meet a sales quota not expressly set forth in the franchise agreement;

(C) refuses to sell a product or service at a price suggested or required by the franchisor, an affiliate, or an approved supplier;

(D) refuses to operate during hours that are unprofitable to the franchisee, including between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m., unless the business is commonly recognized as an extended-hour business or the initial signed franchise agreement expressly required operation during those hours; or

(E) refuses to provide financial records that are unrelated or unnecessary to the performance of the franchisee's express obligations under the franchise agreement;

(5) require or prohibit a change in the management of a franchise except for good cause stated in writing and based on a violation of a material, reasonable, and reasonably necessary express provision of the franchise agreement;

(6) impose a standard of conduct or performance unless the franchisor establishes that the standard is reasonable, necessary, uniformly enforced, and uniformly applied throughout the franchise system, including to franchisor-owned outlets and licensees;

(7) sell, rent, or offer to sell to a franchisee, or require a franchisee to buy, a product or service for more than a fair and reasonable price or without a reasonable expectation that the transaction will support the profitable operation of the franchised business;

(8) discriminate among franchisees in charges for royalties, goods, services, equipment, rentals, advertising services, or another business dealing, unless the franchisor establishes that the distinction is reasonable, necessary to meet competition or reflect a material difference in circumstances, and does not adversely affect another franchisee;

(9) require or demand that a franchisee pay liquidated or other post-termination damages in excess of the average monthly royalty fees paid by the franchisee during the preceding 12 full calendar months, or the shorter period during which the outlet operated, multiplied by the lesser of—

(A) 6; or

(B) the number of months remaining in the term of the franchise agreement; or

(10) accomplish through a parent, subsidiary, affiliate, supplier, agent, or other intermediary any act prohibited by this subtitle.

(b) Duty of good faith.—

(1) A franchise agreement imposes on each party a duty to act in good faith in the performance and enforcement of the agreement.

(2) The duty of good faith shall—

(A) obligate a party to refrain from conduct that destroys or injures the ability of the other party to obtain and receive the expected fruits of the agreement;

(B) obligate a party to perform the acts required under the agreement to accomplish its purposes; and

(C) require honesty in fact and observance of reasonable standards of fair dealing in the trade.

(3) A provision of a franchise agreement may not be interpreted or enforced to obscure, avoid, or waive the duty to act reasonably and in good faith.

(c) Duty of due care.—

(1) A franchise agreement imposes on the franchisor a duty of due care. The franchisor shall exercise the skill and knowledge normally possessed by franchisors in good standing in the same or a similar type of business with respect to each undertaking the franchisor assumes or performs and each area in which the franchisor represents that it possesses skill or knowledge. A franchisor may conspicuously state that it does not provide advice or expertise in a specified area, but such a statement does not limit the duty of due care with respect to an undertaking the franchisor actually assumes or performs.

(2) For purposes of paragraph (1), skill or knowledge includes expertise resulting from—

(A) training and experience in the business licensed under the franchise agreement or extensive experience with the goods, services, or operating system of that business;

(B) experience organizing a franchise system and providing training, assistance, and services to franchisees; and

(C) written or oral commitments and representations upon which a prospective franchisee would reasonably rely.

(3) A franchisor may establish compliance with this subsection by showing that the franchisor contracted for, hired, or purchased the expertise necessary to perform its undertaking and incorporated, communicated, or provided that expertise to the franchisee.

(4) The duty imposed by this subsection may not be waived by agreement or conduct.

SEC. 1195. PROCEDURAL FAIRNESS AND FRANCHISEE ASSOCIATION.

(a) Franchisee association.—A franchisor may not, directly or indirectly—

(1) restrict a franchisee from associating with other franchisees or from forming, joining, leading, or participating in a trade association or other franchisee association for a lawful purpose;

(2) interfere with communications between franchisees concerning the franchise system or their common business interests; or

(3) retaliate or threaten to retaliate against a franchisee for conduct protected under paragraph (1) or (2).

(b) Unlawful contract terms.—It shall be unlawful for a franchisor, directly or indirectly, to require a term or condition in a franchise agreement or in an agreement ancillary or collateral to a franchise that directly or indirectly violates this subtitle.

(c) Waivers and releases.—

(1) A franchisor may not require a franchisee to assent to a disclaimer, waiver, release, stipulation, or other provision that purports—

(A) to relieve a person from a duty imposed by this subtitle, except as part of a settlement of a preexisting bona fide dispute; or

(B) to protect a person from liability under this subtitle arising from willful misconduct, bad faith, gross negligence, or reckless disregard of an obligation or duty.

(2) Except as provided in paragraph (1)(A), a condition, stipulation, provision, or term that purports to waive or restrict a protection or remedy under this subtitle is void and unenforceable.

(d) Gag clauses prohibited.—A franchisor may not require a franchisee, including in connection with operation, termination, cancellation, forfeiture, repurchase, resale, or departure from a franchise system, to assent to a provision that purports to prevent the franchisee from making an oral or written statement relating to the franchise business, operation of the franchise system, or the franchisee's experience with the franchise business.

(e) Applicable law and forum.—A franchise agreement or an agreement ancillary or collateral to a franchise may not—

(1) deprive a franchisee of the application and benefits of this subtitle, another Federal law, or the law of a State in which the franchisee resides or the franchised business is located; or

(2) deprive a franchisee of the ability to commence an action against the franchisor for a violation of this subtitle or breach of an applicable agreement in a court in the State in which the franchisee's principal place of business is located.

(f) Collective proceedings.—A franchise agreement or an agreement ancillary or collateral to a franchise may not prevent a franchisee from bringing or participating in—

(1) a consolidated action;

(2) a mass action;

(3) a class action under rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure; or

(4) a similar consolidated, mass, or class proceeding permissible under Federal or State law.

(g) Integration clauses and evidence outside the agreement.—

(1) No avoidance.—An integration clause may not waive, excuse, or avoid compliance with this subtitle or an applicable State franchise law.

(2) Evidence outside the agreement.—In an action under this subtitle or an applicable State franchise law, an integration clause or the parol evidence rule may not be used to exclude consideration of a representation, omission, or circumstance solely because it is not contained in the franchise agreement.

(3) Other evidentiary rules preserved.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), nothing in this subsection alters the application of any rule of evidence.

SEC. 1196. TRANSFER, RENEWAL, TERMINATION, AND EFFECT OF TERMINATION.

(a) Transfer by franchisee.—

(1) Transfer permitted.—A franchisee may assign an interest in a franchised business or franchise to a transferee that satisfies the reasonable qualifications then generally applied by the franchisor in the offer and sale of franchises. A qualification is reasonable only if it is based on a legitimate business reason.

(2) Written grounds for refusal.—A franchisor may refuse to permit a transfer only if the refusal is not arbitrary or capricious and the franchisor states the grounds for refusal in writing.

(3) Notice and implied consent.—A franchisee shall give the franchisor not less than 60 days' written notice of a proposed transfer. The transfer shall be considered approved 60 days after submission unless the franchisor provides a written refusal that complies with paragraph (2).

(4) Permissible conditions.—A franchisor may condition a transfer on—

(A) successful completion by the transferee of a reasonable training program;

(B) payment of a reasonable transfer fee that reimburses the franchisor for reasonable and actual expenses directly attributable to the transfer;

(C) payment or reasonable provision for payment of an amount due to the franchisor or an affiliate that is not subject to a bona fide dispute; or

(D) satisfaction by the transferee of the franchisor's current, reasonable financial qualifications for franchisees.

(5) Prohibited conditions.—A franchisor may not condition consent to a transfer on—

(A) forfeiture by the franchisee of an existing protection or remedy;

(B) a release of claims broader than a counterpart release offered by the franchisor; or

(C) a capital improvement, reinvestment, or purchase greater than the franchisor could reasonably require under the existing franchise agreement.

(6) Existing term preserved.—A franchisor may not require a franchisee or transferee to enter into an agreement with materially different terms or financial requirements as a condition of assigning the unexpired term of the franchise agreement.

(7) Transactions not requiring consent.—The following shall not be treated as a transfer requiring the consent of the franchisor, and the franchisor may not impose a fee exceeding its actual cost to review the matter:

(A) succession upon the death or disability of a franchisee or owner to a surviving spouse or heir, or to a partner active in management, unless the successor fails within 1 year to meet the franchisor's then current reasonable qualifications;

(B) incorporation of a proprietorship franchisee, except that the franchisor may require a personal guarantee of obligations relating to the franchise;

(C) a transfer within an existing ownership group if more than 50 percent of the franchise remains held by persons who meet the franchisor's reasonable current qualifications;

(D) a transfer of less than a controlling interest to the spouse or child of the franchisee if more than 50 percent of the franchise remains held by persons who meet the franchisor's reasonable current qualifications; or

(E) a grant or retention of a security interest in the franchised business, its assets, or an ownership interest in the franchisee, if the secured party is obligated to provide the franchisor notice of an intended foreclosure and a reasonable opportunity to satisfy the secured obligation in exchange for an assignment of the secured obligation and security interest.

(8) Post-transfer covenant.—After transfer of the transferor's complete interest, a franchisor may not enforce a covenant that prohibits the transferor from engaging in a lawful occupation or enterprise, except a covenant protecting a trade secret, trademark, trade dress, or other intellectual property of the franchisor.

(b) Renewal.—

(1) Good cause required.—A franchisor may not fail to renew a franchise except for good cause based on a legitimate business reason, including a franchisee's refusal or failure during the preceding year substantially to comply with a material, reasonable, and reasonably necessary express obligation of the franchise agreement.

(2) Renewal fee.—A renewal fee shall not be unreasonable and shall be considered reasonable if it does not exceed 50 percent of the average initial franchise fee or other required payment then being charged to new franchisees in the same market.

(3) Notice and cure.—Before nonrenewal, the franchisor shall give the franchisee written notice at least 90 days in advance. The notice shall state each reason constituting good cause and provide the franchisee not less than 60 days to cure a claimed discrepancy and reinstate eligibility for renewal.

(4) Terms of renewal.—If a franchisor requires a new franchise agreement as a condition of renewal, the renewed agreement shall preserve the royalties, advertising fees, other fees, and protected territory in the expiring agreement and may not impose a new fee.

(c) Termination.—

(1) Good cause required.—A franchisor may not terminate or cancel a franchise, or substantially change the competitive circumstances of the franchisee, except for good cause.

(2) Cross-default prohibited.—A default under one franchise agreement does not constitute a default under another franchise agreement to which the franchisee or an affiliate is a party. A contrary cross-default provision is void and unenforceable.

(3) Notice and cure.—Except as provided in paragraphs (4) through (6), before termination or cancellation, the franchisor shall give the franchisee written notice at least 90 days in advance. The notice shall state each reason constituting good cause and provide the franchisee not less than 60 days to cure each claimed default.

(4) Abandonment.—If the ground for termination is voluntary abandonment of the franchise relationship, the franchisor may give notice 15 days before termination or cancellation.

(5) Nonpayment.—If the ground for termination is nonpayment of an amount due under the franchise agreement, the franchisee shall receive written notice and not less than 15 days to cure. A franchisee may exercise the cure provided by this paragraph not more than 3 times during any 12-month period.

(6) Imminent danger.—If the ground for termination is a violation of law or regulation that creates an imminent danger to public health or safety, the franchisee shall receive immediate written notice and 24 hours after receipt to cure the violation.

(7) Certain final convictions.—A franchisor may terminate upon written notice after a franchisee is convicted by final judgment of an offense punishable by imprisonment for more than 1 year that is directly related to operation of the franchised business or materially impairs the goodwill of the franchise or franchised trademark. The franchisor may not collect a penalty or fee as a consequence of the conviction.

(8) Termination by franchisee.—A franchisee may terminate a franchise agreement for good cause without liability for the termination, lost future royalties, or the unexpired term of the agreement, but remains liable for an accrued obligation that is not subject to a bona fide dispute. Good cause includes a change to the franchise system or competitive circumstances that causes a substantial negative impact or substantial financial hardship in operation of the franchise.

(d) Effect of termination.—

(1) Compensation.—Except in the case of voluntary relinquishment or abandonment by the franchisee or expiration where the franchisee does not elect to renew, the franchisor shall fairly compensate the franchisee or the franchisee's estate for—

(A) the fair market value at termination of inventory, supplies, equipment, and furnishings purchased from the franchisor or an approved source and reasonably required in operation of the franchised business; and

(B) the fair market value of the going-concern value and goodwill of the business, if any.

(2) Offset.—A franchisor may offset an amount mutually agreed upon and owed by the franchisee that is not subject to a bona fide dispute.

(e) Transfer by franchisor.—A franchisor may not transfer, by sale or otherwise, its interest in a franchise system unless—

(1) not less than 30 days before the effective date, the franchisor provides every franchisee notice of the proposed transfer;

(2) the notice includes a complete description of the business and financial terms of the proposed transfer; and

(3) the person assuming the franchisor's obligations has the business experience and financial means to perform all obligations of the franchisor in the ordinary course of business.

(f) Post-expiration competition.—A franchisor may not prohibit or enforce a prohibition against a former franchisee engaging in a business at any location after expiration or lawful termination of the franchise agreement or using the customer list and telephone numbers associated with the franchised business, to the extent permitted by applicable privacy law and consistent with any express customer direction regarding use or disclosure of the customer's information, except that the franchisor may enforce a provision reasonably requiring the former franchisee to—

(1) cease using a trademark, trade secret, trade dress, or other intellectual property owned by the franchisor or an affiliate;

(2) alter the appearance of the business premises to avoid substantial similarity to the standard design, decor, trade dress, or motif of the franchise system; or

(3) modify the manner or mode of operations to avoid substantial confusion with methods unique to the franchisor and commonly used by franchisees in the same market.

SEC. 1197. INDEPENDENT SOURCING, ADVERTISING, AND ENCROACHMENT.

(a) Independent sourcing.—Except as provided in subsection (e), a franchisor, directly or indirectly through an affiliate or another person, may not prohibit or restrict a franchisee from obtaining equipment, fixtures, supplies, goods, or services used in the establishment or operation of the franchised business from a source chosen by the franchisee, except that the franchisor may require such equipment, fixtures, supplies, goods, or services to meet reasonable, established, and uniformly enforced systemwide quality standards.

(b) Approved vendors.—If a franchisor approves vendors of equipment, fixtures, supplies, goods, or services—

(1) the franchisor shall provide and continuously update an inclusive list of approved vendors;

(2) the franchisor shall promptly and objectively evaluate and respond to a reasonable request by a franchisee for approval of a competitive source; and

(3) the franchisor shall approve not fewer than 2 vendors for each required category of equipment, fixture, supply, good, or service unless the franchisor and franchisees operating a majority of the outlets subject to the requirement agree otherwise.

(c) Vendor payments and benefits.—

(1) A franchisor and each affiliate shall fully disclose each rebate, commission, payment, discount, or other benefit received from a vendor as a result of a purchase of goods or services by a franchisee.

(2) A rebate, commission, payment, discount, or other benefit described in paragraph (1) shall be distributed directly to the franchisee whose purchase generated the benefit.

(d) Annual report.—Not less frequently than annually, a franchisor shall report, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, the amount of revenue and profit earned by the franchisor and each affiliate from the sale or provision of equipment, fixtures, supplies, goods, or services to franchisees.

(e) Intellectual property exception.—Subsection (a) does not apply to a reasonable quantity of equipment, fixtures, supplies, goods, or services that the franchisor requires a franchisee to obtain from the franchisor or an affiliate if the item or service is central to the franchised business and incorporates a trade secret, patent, copyright, trademark, or other intellectual property owned or lawfully controlled by the franchisor or affiliate. A trademark, trade name, logo, or other source-identifying matter applied to an otherwise substitutable item does not, by itself, satisfy this subsection.

(f) Advertising, marketing, and promotional funds.—

(1) Fiduciary duty.—A franchisor has a fiduciary duty in the administration or supervision of an advertising, marketing, or promotional fund or program to which franchisees are required or routinely expected to contribute.

(2) Separate account.—A franchisor that administers or supervises a fund or program described in paragraph (1) shall keep all franchisee contributions in a separate account.

(3) Independent audit.—Not later than 60 days after the close of each fiscal year, the franchisor shall provide each contributing franchisee an audit conducted by an independent certified public accountant of the fund or program. The audit shall disclose each fee, expense, or other payment from the account to the franchisor or to a subsidiary, affiliate, or other entity controlled in whole or in part by the franchisor.

(4) Payments to fund.—The franchisor shall disclose the source and amount of, and deliver to the fund or program, each discount, rebate, compensation, or payment received from a person with whom the fund or program transacts.

(5) Use of funds.—Amounts in a fund or program described in paragraph (1) may be used only for the purposes represented to franchisees and may not be used to promote the sale of new franchises unless that use is separately disclosed and approved by a majority of contributing franchisees.

(g) Encroachment.—

(1) Prohibition.—A franchisor may not place, or license another person to place, a new outlet for a franchised business in unreasonable proximity to an established outlet of a similar kind if—

(A) the intent or probable effect is to diminish the gross sales of the established outlet by more than 5 percent during the first 12 months of public operation of the new outlet; and

(B) the established outlet offers goods or services identified by the same trademark as the new outlet or has premises identified by the same trademark.

(2) Compensation alternative.—Paragraph (1) does not apply if, before the new outlet begins public operation, the franchisor offers in writing to pay each affected franchisee an amount equal to 50 percent of the gross sales of the new outlet, net of sales taxes, returns, and allowances, during the first 24 months of public operation if the sales of the established outlet decline by more than 5 percent during the first 12 months of public operation of the new outlet as a consequence of the new outlet.

(3) Burden of proof.—The franchisor bears the burden of establishing whether and to what extent a decline in sales occurred for a reason other than establishment of the new outlet.

(4) Measurement period.—For purposes of this subsection, a period measured from the public operation of a new outlet begins on the date on which the outlet first offers goods or services for sale to the public and may not include any period before that date.

(h) No evasion.—It shall be unlawful for a franchisor to evade or attempt to evade this section through an affiliate, designated supplier, purchasing cooperative, intermediary, common ownership arrangement, or other device.

SEC. 1198. ENFORCEMENT, APPLICABILITY, AND RELATION TO OTHER LAW.

(a) Enforcement by Commission.—

(1) Treatment under Federal Trade Commission Act.—A violation of sections 1193 through 1197, or a regulation promulgated under this subtitle, shall be treated as—

(A) an unfair, deceptive, or abusive act or practice and an unfair method of competition under section 5(a)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 45(a)(1)); and

(B) a violation of a rule under section 18 of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 57a).

(2) Powers.—The Commission shall enforce sections 1193 through 1197 and any regulation promulgated under this subtitle in the same manner, by the same means, and with the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties as though all applicable terms and provisions of the Federal Trade Commission Act (15 U.S.C. 41 et seq.) were incorporated into and made a part of this subtitle.

(b) Enforcement by States.—

(1) Civil action.—If the attorney general of a State, or another authorized State officer, has reason to believe that an interest of the residents of the State has been or is threatened or adversely affected by a violation of this subtitle, the attorney general or officer may bring a civil action on behalf of the residents of the State in an appropriate State court or district court of the United States to—

(A) enjoin the violation;

(B) enforce compliance with this subtitle;

(C) obtain damages, restitution, refunds, or other compensation; or

(D) obtain any other relief the court considers appropriate.

(2) State powers preserved.—Nothing in this subsection shall prevent an attorney general or other authorized State officer from exercising powers conferred by State law to conduct investigations, administer oaths or affirmations, compel attendance of witnesses or production of evidence, or proceed under a civil or criminal statute of the State.

(c) Private cause of action.—

(1) In general.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a person harmed by a violation or threatened violation of this subtitle or part 436 of title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, may bring a civil action in a State court of competent jurisdiction or a district court of the United States to—

(A) recover actual damages;

(B) obtain rescission, restitution, injunctive relief, and other equitable relief the court considers appropriate; and

(C) recover reasonable attorney's fees, expert witness fees, and costs.

(2) No exhaustion.—A plaintiff is not required to exhaust an administrative remedy before bringing an action under this subsection.

(d) Controlling-person liability.—A person that directly or indirectly controls a person liable under this subtitle, a partner in a firm so liable, a principal executive officer or director of a corporation so liable, a person performing a similar function, and an employee who materially aids the act or transaction constituting the violation shall be jointly and severally liable to the same extent, unless the person establishes that the person had no knowledge of, or reasonable grounds to know of, the facts giving rise to liability.

(e) Limitations period.—An action under subsection (c) may be commenced not later than the later of—

(1) 5 years after the date on which the violation occurred; or

(2) 3 years after the date on which the violation was discovered or reasonably should have been discovered.

(f) Venue and service.—

(1) Private action.—A private action may be brought in a State in which the claimant resides or the franchised business is located.

(2) State action.—A State action brought in a district court of the United States may be brought in a district in which the defendant is found, is an inhabitant, or transacts business, or wherever venue is proper under section 1391 of title 28, United States Code. Process may be served in any district in which the defendant is an inhabitant or may be found.

(g) Remedies cumulative.—The protections and remedies provided by this subtitle are in addition to, and not in lieu of, any protection or remedy available under Federal or State law.

(h) No preemption of stronger law.—Nothing in this subtitle shall be construed to preempt, displace, or limit a Federal, State, Tribal, or local law that provides equal or greater protection to a franchisee or prospective franchisee.

(i) Rulemaking.—

(1) Initial rules.—Not later than July 1, 2027, the Commission shall promulgate rules under section 553 of title 5, United States Code, necessary to carry out this subtitle, including rules governing historical financial performance data under section 1193(d), encroachment under section 1197(g), and prevention of evasion.

(2) Continuing authority.—The Commission may thereafter revise or supplement rules promulgated under paragraph (1) and may maintain or establish requirements that provide equal or greater protection than the protections provided by this subtitle, but may not by rule, guidance, or interpretation weaken, narrow, or create an exemption from a protection established by this subtitle unless expressly authorized by an Act of Congress enacted after the date of enactment of this Act.

(3) Statutory effectiveness.—Failure to promulgate a rule by the deadline under paragraph (1) shall not delay or otherwise affect the effective date, applicability, or enforceability of this subtitle.

(j) Effective date and applicability.—

(1) Effective date.—This subtitle shall take effect on January 1, 2027.

(2) Existing agreements.—This subtitle shall apply to conduct occurring on or after January 1, 2027, with respect to any franchise agreement in effect on or after that date, without regard to the date on which the agreement was entered into, amended, exchanged, transferred, assigned, or renewed.

(3) Early administrative action.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), beginning on the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission may promulgate rules and take other administrative actions necessary to implement this subtitle, except that no such rule may take effect before January 1, 2027.

(4) No retroactive liability.—Nothing in this subtitle shall create liability for conduct completed before January 1, 2027.

SEC. 1201. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds that—

(1) The Preamble to the Constitution of the United States establishes a Constitutional duty for the people of the United States to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity.

(2) The posterity of the United States includes America's children, grandchildren, and generations not yet born. Those future generations are set to inherit the consequences of choices made by the United States today.

(3) The United States has too often permitted pollution, waste, monopoly power, and short-term extraction to shift costs onto children, communities, ratepayers, taxpayers, and future generations.

(4) Plastic pollution, microplastics, perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances, methane waste emissions, carbon pollution, contaminated water, degraded ecosystems, and other persistent harms threaten public health and the inheritance of future generations.

(5) The electric grid of the United States is aging, congested, and insufficiently prepared for the scale of electrification, renewable generation, extreme weather, and industrial modernization required in the coming decades. Electrification presents an opportunity to lower household costs, reduce pollution, improve public health, strengthen energy independence, and build a cleaner and more resilient economy.

(6) Utility customers are frequently burdened by monopoly returns, political expenses, lobbying costs, investor relations costs, luxury executive expenses, or other nonservice costs that frequently fail to provide reliable and affordable utility service.

(7) Public lands, coastal ecosystems, working waterfronts, fisheries, rivers, watersheds, and water supplies are public inheritance systems. They should be managed for long-term public benefit rather than short-term extraction or neglect.

(8) Research funded by and through the people of the United States should produce public benefit, broad access, domestic capacity, competition, affordability, and practical application for the public good.

(9) Sustainability requires not scarcity or retreat, but the disciplined use of American ingenuity, public investment, fair markets, and responsible stewardship to build systems that can endure.

(b) Purpose.—The purpose of this title is to align public policy with the Constitutional duty to leave the United States cleaner, healthier, more resilient, and more abundant than it was when inherited, by stacking sustainability.

SEC. 1202. RESIDUAL RISK REVIEW CLARIFICATION.

Section 112(f)(2) of the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7412(f)(2)) is amended by inserting after the final sentence the following: "The Administrator shall conduct additional residual risk assessments at reasonable intervals thereafter, including whenever updated data indicate that emissions from a source category may result in risks exceeding the acceptable risk levels applied by the Administrator under this subsection.".

SEC. 1203. COASTAL VESSEL FUEL TRANSITION AND ECOSYSTEM RESILIENCE.

(a) Transition to alternative fuel commercial fishing vessels.—

(1) Definitions.—In this subsection:

(A) Administrator.—The term "Administrator" means the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(B) Alternative fuel commercial fishing vessel.—The term "alternative fuel commercial fishing vessel" means a commercial fishing vessel that runs on an energy source other than an energy source that is exclusively derived from petroleum, including a hybrid energy source.

(C) Commercial fishing vessel.—The term "commercial fishing vessel" has the meaning given the term "fishing vessel" in section 2101 of title 46, United States Code.

(D) Necessary shoreside infrastructure.—The term "necessary shoreside infrastructure" means shoreside infrastructure necessary to facilitate the transition of commercial fishing vessels to alternative fuel commercial fishing vessels, including charging stations for electric alternative fuel commercial fishing vessels and refueling stations for alternative fuel commercial fishing vessels.

(E) Pilot program.—The term "pilot program" means the pilot program established under paragraph (2)(A).

(2) Pilot program.—

(A) Establishment.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator, in consultation with the Commandant of the Coast Guard, shall establish a pilot program to facilitate the transition of United States-flagged commercial fishing vessels to alternative fuel commercial fishing vessels.

(B) Use of funds.—In carrying out the pilot program, the Administrator may make loans—

(i) to facilitate the transition from commercial fishing vessels using energy sources exclusively derived from petroleum to alternative fuel commercial fishing vessels, including loans for the building of new alternative fuel commercial fishing vessels or retrofitting existing commercial fishing vessels into alternative fuel commercial fishing vessels; and

(ii) for research and development of alternative fuel technologies for commercial fishing vessels and necessary shoreside infrastructure.

(C) Regulations.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator and the Commandant of the Coast Guard shall each promulgate regulations necessary for the implementation of the pilot program.

(3) Study.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator, jointly with the Commandant of the Coast Guard, shall carry out, and submit to Congress a report describing the results of, a study on—

(A) methods to further develop alternative fuels for use with commercial fishing vessels;

(B) how to improve existing alternative fuel technologies in commercial fishing vessels;

(C) the fuel sources available for commercial fishing vessels, and the limitations of those fuel sources; and

(D) opportunities for the use of hybrid technologies in commercial fishing vessels.

(4) Authorizations of appropriations.—

(A) In general.—There is authorized to be appropriated to the Administrator $20,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2027 through 2031 to carry out paragraph (2).

(B) Allocation of funding.—Of the amounts made available under subparagraph (A) for each fiscal year—

(i) not more than 5 percent may be used for administrative expenses of the pilot program;

(ii) 50 percent of the amounts remaining after application of clause (i) shall be used to make loans described in paragraph (2)(B)(i); and

(iii) 50 percent of the amounts remaining after application of clause (i) shall be used to make loans described in paragraph (2)(B)(ii).

(b) Vegetated coastal ecosystems and Great Lakes ecosystems.—

(1) Definitions.—In this subsection:

(A) Administrator.—The term "Administrator" means the Under Secretary of Commerce for Oceans and Atmosphere in the Under Secretary's capacity as the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(B) Indian Tribe.—The term "Indian Tribe" has the meaning given that term in section 4 of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (25 U.S.C. 5304).

(C) Interagency Working Group.—The term "Interagency Working Group" means the Interagency Working Group on Vegetated Coastal Ecosystems and Great Lakes Ecosystems established under paragraph (2)(A).

(D) Natural infrastructure.—The term "natural infrastructure" has the meaning given that term in section 101(a) of title 23, United States Code.

(E) Nonprofit organization.—The term "nonprofit organization" means an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and exempt from taxation under section 501(a) of that Code.

(F) State.—The term "State" means each State of the United States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, American Samoa, Guam, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, the Virgin Islands of the United States, and any other territory or possession of the United States.

(G) Vegetated coastal ecosystems.—The term "vegetated coastal ecosystems" includes mangroves, tidal marshes, seagrasses, kelp forests, and other tidal, freshwater, or salt-water wetlands.

(2) Interagency Working Group on vegetated coastal ecosystems and Great Lakes ecosystems.—

(A) Establishment.—The Subcommittee on Ocean Science and Technology of the National Science and Technology Council shall establish an interagency working group to be known as the "Interagency Working Group on Vegetated Coastal Ecosystems and Great Lakes Ecosystems".

(B) Membership.—The Interagency Working Group shall be comprised of the Ocean Policy Committee established by section 8932 of title 10, United States Code.

(C) Chairperson.—The Interagency Working Group shall be chaired by the Administrator.

(D) Responsibilities.—The Administrator, in consultation with the Interagency Working Group, shall produce, update, maintain, and use a map and inventory of vegetated coastal ecosystems and Great Lakes ecosystems as described in paragraph (3).

(3) National-level map and inventory of vegetated coastal ecosystems and Great Lakes ecosystems.—

(A) In general.—The Interagency Working Group shall produce, update, and maintain a national-level map and inventory of vegetated coastal and Great Lakes ecosystems that includes—

(i) the types of habitats and the species in such ecosystems;

(ii) the condition of such ecosystems, including whether an ecosystem is degraded, drained, eutrophic, or tidally restricted;

(iii) the type of public or private ownership and any protected status of such ecosystems;

(iv) the size of such ecosystems;

(v) the salinity boundaries of such ecosystems;

(vi) the tidal boundaries of such ecosystems;

(vii) an assessment of carbon sequestration potential, methane production, and net greenhouse gas reductions with respect to such ecosystems, including consideration of—

(I) quantification;

(II) verifiability;

(III) comparison to a historical baseline as available; and

(IV) permanence of those benefits;

(viii) the potential for landward migration within such ecosystems as a result of sea level rise;

(ix) any upstream restrictions of such ecosystems that are detrimental to the watershed process and conditions, such as dams, dikes, levees, and other water management practices;

(x) the conversion of such ecosystems to other land uses and the cause of such conversion; and

(xi) a depiction of the effects of climate change, including sea level rise, environmental stressors, and other stressors on the sequestration rate, carbon storage, and potential of such ecosystems.

(B) Data incorporation; engagement.—In carrying out subparagraph (A), the Interagency Working Group shall—

(i) incorporate, to the extent practicable, data collected—

(I) by Federal agencies, State agencies, Indian Tribes, or local agencies through research that is funded, in whole or in part, by the Federal Government; and

(II) through peer-reviewed published works; and

(ii) engage regional experts, State agencies, Indian Tribes, and additional data and information resources in order to accurately account for regional differences in vegetated coastal ecosystems and Great Lakes ecosystems.

(C) Use of map and inventory.—The Interagency Working Group shall use the national-level map and inventory produced under subparagraph (A)—

(i) to assess the carbon sequestration potential of different vegetated coastal ecosystems and Great Lakes ecosystems and account for any regional differences;

(ii) to assess and quantify emissions from degraded and destroyed vegetated coastal ecosystems and Great Lakes ecosystems;

(iii) to develop regional assessments in partnership with, or to provide technical assistance to—

(I) regional, State, and local government agencies;

(II) Indian Tribes; and

(III) regional coastal observing systems, as defined in section 12303(6) of the Integrated Coastal and Ocean Observation System Act of 2009 (33 U.S.C. 3602(6));

(iv) to assess degraded vegetated coastal ecosystems and Great Lakes ecosystems and the potential for restoration of such ecosystems, including developing scenario modeling to identify vulnerable land areas and living shorelines where management, conservation, and restoration efforts should be focused;

(v) to produce predictions relating to carbon sequestration rates in the context of climate change, environmental stressors, and other stressors;

(vi) to inform how and where coastal vegetation can serve as natural infrastructure to most effectively protect coastlines from storm surges and climate hazards; and

(vii) to further understand which types of coastal and Great Lakes vegetation can be used as natural infrastructure to protect coastlines in different climates, especially cold climates, including the Arctic region.

(4) Grants for pilot projects and research on coastal natural infrastructure in cold climates.—

(A) In general.—During fiscal years 2027 and 2028, the Administrator shall award grants through the national sea grant college program, on a competitive basis, to eligible entities to support—

(i) the implementation of coastal natural infrastructure pilot projects in cold climates, including the Arctic region of the United States, that will protect the coastline from storm surges, hazards caused by climate change, erosion, and permafrost melt; and

(ii) research on how effective coastal natural infrastructure projects can be in protecting coastlines in cold climates, including the Arctic region.

(B) Eligibility.—To be eligible to receive a grant under subparagraph (A), an entity shall be—

(i) a State or local government;

(ii) an Indian Tribe;

(iii) an academic institution;

(iv) a nonprofit organization; or

(v) a combination of entities described in clauses (i) through (iv).

(C) Authorization of appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this paragraph $3,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2027 and 2028.

(D) National sea grant college program defined.—In this paragraph, the term "national sea grant college program" means the national sea grant college program maintained under section 204 of the National Sea Grant College Program Act (33 U.S.C. 1123).

(c) Ocean acidification.—

(1) Definitions in Federal Ocean Acidification Research and Monitoring Act of 2009.—Section 12403 of the Federal Ocean Acidification Research and Monitoring Act of 2009 (33 U.S.C. 3702) is amended—

(A) by striking paragraph (4);

(B) by redesignating paragraphs (2), (3), and (5) as paragraphs (4), (5), and (6), respectively;

(C) by inserting after paragraph (1) the following:

"(2) Indian Tribe.—The term 'Indian Tribe' has the meaning given that term in section 4 of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (25 U.S.C. 5304).

"(3) Community-based coastal resource organization.—The term 'community-based coastal resource organization' means a nonprofit organization, fishing or seafood cooperative, community acidification network, coastal resource management organization, working waterfront organization, or other community-based organization with experience in coastal resource stewardship, coastal adaptation, fisheries, aquaculture, seafood infrastructure, ocean acidification, coastal acidification, or coastal ecosystem resilience.";

(D) in paragraph (4), as redesignated by subparagraph (B), by inserting "an increase of" before "carbon dioxide"; and

(E) by adding at the end the following:

"(7) Subcommittee.—The term 'Subcommittee' means the National Science and Technology Council Subcommittee on Ocean Science and Technology.

"(8) United States.—The term 'United States' means the States, collectively.".

(2) Improvement of collaboration on ocean acidification.—

(A) Ongoing input mechanism.—Section 12404(c)(2) of the Federal Ocean Acidification Research and Monitoring Act of 2009 (33 U.S.C. 3703(c)(2)) is amended—

(i) in subparagraph (B), by striking "; and" and inserting a semicolon;

(ii) in subparagraph (C), by striking the period at the end and inserting "; and"; and

(iii) by adding at the end the following:

"(D) establish an ongoing mechanism, such as a liaison or other contact of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, standing meetings, or an online platform, to engage affected industry members, coastal stakeholders, community acidification networks, fishery management councils and commissions, Indian Tribes, Tribal organizations, Tribal consortia, community-based coastal resource organizations, non-Federal resource managers, and scientific experts not employed by the Federal Government to provide input on research, data, and monitoring that is necessary to support on-the-ground management, decision making, and adaptation related to ocean acidification and coastal acidification and the impacts of ocean acidification and coastal acidification.".

(B) Advisory board membership.—Section 12404(c)(3) of the Federal Ocean Acidification Research and Monitoring Act of 2009 (33 U.S.C. 3703(c)(3)) is amended—

(i) by redesignating subparagraphs (G) through (Q) as subparagraphs (H) through (R), respectively;

(ii) by inserting after subparagraph (F) the following:

"(G) 2 representatives from Indian Tribes, Tribal organizations, Tribal consortia, or community-based coastal resource organizations affected by ocean acidification and coastal acidification."; and

(iii) in subparagraph (H), as redesignated by clause (i), by striking "Six" and inserting "Four".

(C) Appointment of advisory board members.—Section 12404(c)(4)(C) of the Federal Ocean Acidification Research and Monitoring Act of 2009 (33 U.S.C. 3703(c)(4)(C)) is amended by inserting "Indian Tribes and community-based coastal resource organizations," after "managers,".

(D) Engagement and coordination with Indian Tribes and community-based coastal resource organizations.—Paragraph (9) of section 12404(c) of the Federal Ocean Acidification Research and Monitoring Act of 2009 (33 U.S.C. 3703(c)) is amended to read as follows:

"(9) Engagement and coordination with Indian Tribes and community-based coastal resource organizations.—

"(A) Policy required.—Not later than 1 year after the date on which the Advisory Board is established, the Advisory Board shall develop and commence maintaining a policy for engagement and coordination with Indian Tribes and community-based coastal resource organizations affected by ocean acidification and coastal acidification.

"(B) Consultation.—In developing the policy under subparagraph (A), the Advisory Board shall consult with Indian Tribes and community-based coastal resource organizations affected by ocean acidification and coastal acidification.".

(E) Collaboration on vulnerability assessments, research planning, and similar activities.—Section 12404(e)(4)(A) of the Federal Ocean Acidification Research and Monitoring Act of 2009 (33 U.S.C. 3703(e)(4)(A)) is amended—

(i) by redesignating clauses (ix) and (x) as clauses (x) and (xi), respectively; and

(ii) by inserting after clause (viii) the following:

"(ix) identifies the efforts of the Secretary to collaborate with State and local governments, Indian Tribes, and community-based coastal resource organizations on community vulnerability assessments, research planning, and similar activities, pursuant to section 12406(e);".

(F) Contents of strategic research plan.—Section 12405(b) of the Federal Ocean Acidification Research and Monitoring Act of 2009 (33 U.S.C. 3704(b)) is amended—

(i) in paragraph (10), by striking "section 12404(c)(4)" and inserting "section 12404(e)(4)"; and

(ii) in paragraph (11), by striking "potentially affected industry members, coastal stakeholders, fishery management councils and commissions, Tribal governments, non-Federal resource managers, and scientific experts" and inserting "affected industry members, coastal stakeholders, community acidification networks, fishery management councils and commissions, Indian Tribes, community-based coastal resource organizations, non-Federal resource managers, and scientific experts not employed by the Federal Government".

(G) Improving collaboration on NOAA ocean acidification activities.—Section 12406 of the Federal Ocean Acidification Research and Monitoring Act of 2009 (33 U.S.C. 3705) is amended—

(i) in subsection (a)—

(I) in paragraph (1)—

(aa) in subparagraph (D), by adding a semicolon at the end; and

(bb) in subparagraph (F), by striking "Tribal governments" and inserting "Indian Tribes and community-based coastal resource organizations";

(II) in paragraph (4), by striking "industry members, coastal stakeholders, fishery management councils and commissions, non-Federal resource managers, community acidification networks, indigenous knowledge groups, and scientific experts" and inserting "affected industry members, coastal stakeholders, community acidification networks, fishery management councils and commissions, Indian Tribes, community-based coastal resource organizations, non-Federal resource managers, and scientific experts not employed by the Federal Government";

(ii) in subsection (c)—

(I) in paragraph (1), by striking "State, local, and Tribal governments" and inserting "State and local governments, Indian Tribes, and community-based coastal resource organizations,";

(II) in paragraph (2)—

(aa) in subparagraph (A), by striking "; or" and inserting a semicolon;

(bb) by redesignating subparagraph (B) as subparagraph (C);

(cc) by inserting after subparagraph (A) the following:

"(B) on ocean acidification and coastal acidification research, data, and monitoring from affected industry members, coastal stakeholders, community acidification networks, fishery management councils and commissions, Indian Tribes, community-based coastal resource organizations, non-Federal resource managers, and scientific experts not employed by the Federal Government; or"; and

(dd) in subparagraph (C), as redesignated by item (bb), by striking "State governments, local governments, Tribal governments" and inserting "State and local governments, Indian Tribes, and community-based coastal resource organizations";

(iii) in subsection (d)(1)(C), by striking "Tribes or Tribal governments" and inserting "Indian Tribes, Tribal organizations, Tribal consortia, and community-based coastal resource organizations"; and

(iv) by adding at the end the following:

"(e) Better collaboration on vulnerability assessments, research planning, and similar activities.—

"(1) In general.—In carrying out the program under subsection (a), and in support of vulnerability assessments transmitted under section 12404(e)(4) and recommendations included in the strategic research plan described in section 12405(b)(10), the Secretary shall build upon existing activities and collaborate with State and local governments and Indian Tribes that are conducting or have completed vulnerability assessments, research planning, climate action plans, or other similar activities related to ocean acidification and coastal acidification and the impacts of ocean acidification and coastal acidification on coastal communities, for the purpose of—

"(A) supporting collaborative interagency relationships and information sharing at the State, local, and Tribal levels; and

"(B) assisting State and local governments and Indian Tribes in—

"(i) improving existing systems and programs to better address ocean acidification and coastal acidification; and

"(ii) identifying whether such activities can be used as a model for other communities.

"(2) Indian Tribes, Tribal organizations, Tribal consortia, and community-based coastal resource organizations.—In carrying out the program under subsection (a), and in support of vulnerability assessments transmitted under section 12404(e)(4) and recommendations included in the strategic research plan described in section 12405(b)(10), the Secretary may build upon existing activities and collaborate with Indian Tribes, Tribal organizations, Tribal consortia, and community-based coastal resource organizations that are conducting or have completed vulnerability assessments, research planning, climate action plans, or other similar activities related to ocean acidification and coastal acidification and the impacts of ocean acidification and coastal acidification on coastal communities.".

(3) Technical corrections.—The Federal Ocean Acidification Research and Monitoring Act of 2009 (33 U.S.C. 3701 et seq.) is amended—

(A) in section 12402 (33 U.S.C. 3701)—

(i) in paragraph (1), by striking "development coordination and implementation" and inserting "development, coordination, and implementation"; and

(ii) in paragraph (4), by striking "research adaptation strategies and mitigating the impacts" and inserting "research on adaptation strategies and mitigation of the impacts";

(B) in section 12404 (33 U.S.C. 3703)—

(i) in subsection (b)(5), by striking "; and" and inserting a period;

(ii) in subsection (c)(2)(A)—

(I) in clause (i), by striking "subsection (d)(2)" and inserting "subsection (e)(2)"; and

(II) in clause (ii), by striking "subsection (d)(3)" and inserting "subsection (e)(3)";

(iii) in subsection (d)(3), by striking "this section" and inserting "this subsection"; and

(iv) in subsection (e)—

(I) in paragraph (2)(B), by striking "interagency" and inserting "the"; and

(II) in paragraph (3), by striking "years until 2031 thereafter" and inserting "years thereafter until 2031";

(C) in section 12406(d)(2) (33 U.S.C. 3705(d)(2)), by striking "The Secretary to," and inserting "The Secretary, to".

(d) Coastal aquatic invasive species mitigation grant program and mitigation fund.—

(1) Transfer.—

(A) In general.—Subsection (f) of section 903 of the Vessel Incidental Discharge Act of 2018 (16 U.S.C. 4729) is—

(i) transferred to section 1202 of the Nonindigenous Aquatic Nuisance Prevention and Control Act of 1990 (16 U.S.C. 4722);

(ii) redesignated as subsection (l) of that section 1202; and

(iii) added at the end of that section 1202.

(B) Availability of appropriations.—Paragraph (1) shall not affect the availability of amounts made available in appropriation Acts for the purpose of carrying out the program transferred by subparagraph (A) to the Nonindigenous Aquatic Nuisance Prevention and Control Act of 1990 (16 U.S.C. 4701 et seq.).

(2) Amendments.—Subsection (l) of section 1202 of the Nonindigenous Aquatic Nuisance Prevention and Control Act of 1990 (16 U.S.C. 4722), as transferred and redesignated under paragraph (1), is amended—

(A) in paragraph (1)—

(i) by striking subparagraph (D); and

(ii) by redesignating subparagraphs (E), (F), and (G) as subparagraphs (D), (E), and (F), respectively;

(B) in paragraph (2)—

(i) in subparagraph (A), by striking "and the Foundation" both places the term appears;

(ii) in subparagraph (C)(i)—

(I) in subclause (I), by striking "programs, including permissible State ballast water" and inserting "programs for Federal and State agencies, territories of the United States, Tribal governments or organizations, and interstate organizations, including permissible ballast water";

(II) by striking subclause (III);

(III) by redesignating subclauses (IV) and (V) as subclauses (III) and (IV), respectively; and

(IV) in subclause (IV), as redesignated by subclause (III), by striking "infrastructure, such as hydroelectric infrastructure, from aquatic invasive species" and inserting "aquaculture and associated infrastructure from aquatic invasive species with particular emphasis on underserved communities";

(iii) in subparagraph (D), by striking "Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Foundation, in consultation with the Secretary" and inserting "Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of the POPULIST Act, the Secretary";

(iv) in subparagraph (F), by striking "and the Foundation are" and inserting "is";

(C) in paragraph (3)—

(i) by striking subparagraph (B) and inserting the following:

"(B) Authorization of appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated to the Fund $5,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2027 through 2031."; and

(ii) in subparagraph (C), by striking "and the Foundation".

(3) Conforming amendment.—Section 903 of the Vessel Incidental Discharge Act of 2018 (16 U.S.C. 4729), as amended by paragraph (1), is further amended by redesignating subsections (g) and (h) as subsections (f) and (g), respectively.

SEC. 1204. PUBLIC ACCESS AND RETURN ON FEDERALLY FUNDED RESEARCH.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Exclusive license.—The term "exclusive license" means any license, assignment, option, or other agreement that grants to 1 person, or to a limited class of persons, the exclusive right to make, use, sell, offer for sale, import, distribute, sublicense, commercialize, or otherwise exploit a federally supported research product.

(2) Federal research or development support.—The term "Federal research or development support" means any grant, cooperative agreement, contract, loan, loan guarantee, prize, facility access, data access, technical assistance, in-kind contribution, or other Federal financial or technical assistance for research or development.

(3) Federally supported research product.—The term "federally supported research product" means any invention, technology, software, data set, database, model, material, process, method, device, diagnostic, drug, energy technology, environmental technology, or other product developed in whole or in substantial part with Federal research or development support.

(4) Federally supported research result.—The term "federally supported research result" means any peer-reviewed manuscript, final published article, data set, software, model, protocol, method, research tool, or other research output produced in whole or in substantial part with Federal research or development support.

(5) Funding agency.—The term "funding agency" means any Federal agency that awards, administers, funds, or otherwise supports research or development.

(6) Practical application.—The term "practical application" has the meaning given such term in section 201 of title 35, United States Code.

(7) Reasonable public access.—The term "reasonable public access" means availability to the public on reasonable terms, including reasonable price, sufficient supply, nondiscriminatory access, and terms that reflect the contribution of Federal research or development support.

(b) Policy.—Each funding agency shall administer Federal research or development support to maximize public access, public benefit, domestic production, competition, affordability, and broad diffusion of knowledge and technology developed with support from the people of the United States.

(c) Public access to research results.—

(1) In general.—Each funding agency shall require, as a condition of Federal research or development support, that federally supported research results be made publicly available in a freely accessible digital repository.

(2) Peer-reviewed manuscripts and articles.—A federally supported research result consisting of a peer-reviewed manuscript or final published article shall be made publicly available not later than the date of publication.

(3) Data and supporting materials.—A federally supported research result consisting of data, software, models, protocols, methods, or other supporting research output shall be made publicly available not later than—

(A) the date of publication of a related peer-reviewed manuscript or final published article, if the federally supported research result is necessary to validate or replicate the findings in such manuscript or article; or

(B) a reasonable date established by the funding agency, if no related peer-reviewed manuscript or final published article is published.

(4) Federal license.—Each funding agency shall require each recipient of Federal research or development support to grant to the United States a nonexclusive, irrevocable, paid-up license to make federally supported research results publicly available under this subsection.

(5) Exceptions.—A funding agency may limit public access under this subsection to the extent necessary to protect—

(A) classified information;

(B) national security;

(C) cybersecurity;

(D) trade secrets or confidential commercial information not developed with Federal research or development support;

(E) personal privacy;

(F) human subjects research protections;

(G) Tribal cultural resources, sacred sites, or sensitive Tribal information;

(H) sensitive environmental, habitat, or species-location information; or

(I) any other category of information for which withholding is required by Federal law.

(d) Fair licensing of federally supported research products.—

(1) In general.—Each funding agency shall require, as a condition of Federal research or development support, that any exclusive license for a federally supported research product include terms sufficient to protect the public interest.

(2) Required terms.—Terms required under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) a requirement that the federally supported research product be made available to the public on reasonable terms;

(B) a requirement that the licensee make diligent efforts to achieve practical application;

(C) a requirement that the licensee avoid unreasonable pricing, unreasonable scarcity, or unreasonable restrictions on access;

(D) a requirement that the licensee report such pricing, supply, sublicensing, and commercialization information as the funding agency determines necessary to enforce this section;

(E) authority sufficient to allow the funding agency to require additional licensing under subsection (f); and

(F) a requirement that domestic manufacturing and domestic supply chains be used to the maximum extent practicable.

(3) Preference for nonexclusive licensing.—A funding agency shall prefer nonexclusive licensing for research tools, enabling technologies, standards-essential technologies, platform technologies, and other federally supported research products for which broad access would materially advance competition, follow-on innovation, public health, environmental protection, energy affordability, or public safety.

(e) Reasonable pricing and anti-gouging.—

(1) Access plan.—Before entering into or approving an exclusive license for a federally supported research product, a funding agency shall require the licensee to submit a public access and reasonable pricing plan.

(2) Contents.—A plan required under paragraph (1) shall describe—

(A) the Federal research or development support used to develop the federally supported research product;

(B) the expected public uses and public benefits of the federally supported research product;

(C) the expected price, pricing methodology, and supply plan for the federally supported research product;

(D) any expected sublicensing terms;

(E) any expected domestic manufacturing or domestic supply-chain commitments; and

(F) any measures necessary to ensure reasonable public access.

(3) Determination.—A funding agency may determine that a price, licensing term, supply practice, or commercialization practice is unreasonable after considering—

(A) the amount and importance of Federal research or development support;

(B) the cost of development, manufacturing, distribution, and regulatory compliance;

(C) the price charged to the Federal Government, State governments, consumers, researchers, small businesses, hospitals, schools, public utilities, or other affected users;

(D) the price charged in comparable foreign markets;

(E) the availability of competing products or substitute technologies;

(F) the need to permit a reasonable return on private investment not supplied by the Federal Government; and

(G) the effect of the price, term, or practice on public health, environmental protection, energy affordability, competition, public safety, or broad public access.

(f) Public interest protections.—

(1) In general.—If a funding agency determines that a recipient of Federal research or development support, contractor, assignee, or licensee has failed to provide reasonable public access to a federally supported research product, the funding agency may take 1 or more of the actions described in paragraph (2).

(2) Actions.—A funding agency may—

(A) require corrective action;

(B) require additional public reporting;

(C) require nonexclusive, partially exclusive, or exclusive licensing to responsible applicants on reasonable terms;

(D) modify or terminate an exclusive license issued by the funding agency;

(E) require sublicensing as a condition of continued Federal support;

(F) exercise march-in rights under section 203 of title 35, United States Code, if applicable;

(G) deny, suspend, or condition future Federal research or development support; or

(H) refer the matter to the Federal Trade Commission, the Attorney General, or another appropriate Federal or State enforcement authority.

(3) Procedures.—Before taking an action under paragraph (2), a funding agency shall provide notice and an opportunity to cure, except where the funding agency determines that immediate action is necessary to protect public health, safety, national security, energy reliability, environmental protection, or substantial public resources.

(g) Relation to Bayh-Dole Act.—

(1) Additional protections.—The protections, conditions, and authorities established by this section are in addition to those available to the United States under chapter 18 of title 35, United States Code.

(2) No limitation.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the authority of a Federal agency to exercise march-in rights under section 203 of title 35, United States Code, require preference for United States industry under section 204 of title 35, United States Code, or impose public interest conditions under any other provision of law.

(h) Regulations.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy, in consultation with the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Energy, the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Director of the National Science Foundation, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, and the heads of other funding agencies, shall issue guidance and model funding-agreement terms to carry out this section.

SEC. 1205. PLASTIC POLLUTION AND MICROPLASTICS CONTROL.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Administrator.—The term "Administrator" means the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

(2) Plastic facility.—The term "plastic facility" means a facility that—

(A) manufactures, processes, handles, stores, or transports plastic feedstock;

(B) manufactures ethylene, propylene, or another petrochemical feedstock for conversion into plastic feedstock;

(C) manufactures, processes, or produces any plastic polymer, monomer, resin, or preproduction plastic material;

(D) depolymerizes, chemically recycles, pyrolyzes, gasifies, combusts, or otherwise chemically breaks down plastic polymers; or

(E) expands the production capacity, storage capacity, or preproduction plastic material handling capacity of a facility described in subparagraphs (A) through (D).

(3) Plastic feedstock.—The term "plastic feedstock" means ethylene, propylene, and raw plastic material in any form, including pellets, resin, nurdles, powder, flakes, and any plastic polymer identified by the Administrator.

(4) Preproduction plastic material.—The term "preproduction plastic material" means plastic resin, plastic pellets, nurdles, powders, flakes, powdered coloring for plastics, or any other plastic material intended for use in manufacturing, compounding, packaging, transporting, or processing plastic products.

(5) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Agriculture.

(6) Temporary pause period.—The term "temporary pause period" means the period—

(A) beginning on the date of enactment of this Act; and

(B) ending on the date on which the Administrator certifies that the final rules required under subsection (c) are in effect.

(b) Temporary pause on new and expanded plastic facilities.—

(1) In general.—During the temporary pause period, the Administrator may not issue, and may not approve a State or local permitting authority to issue, any new permit, renewed permit, modified permit, or other authorization under the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7401 et seq.) or the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1251 et seq.) that would authorize the construction of a new plastic facility or the expansion of production capacity, storage capacity, or preproduction plastic material handling capacity at an existing plastic facility.

(2) Section 404 permits.—During the temporary pause period, the Secretary of the Army, acting through the Chief of Engineers, may not issue any permit under section 404 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1344) for the construction of a new plastic facility or the expansion of production capacity, storage capacity, or preproduction plastic material handling capacity at an existing plastic facility.

(3) State permits.—During the temporary pause period, the Administrator shall object to any State-issued permit described in paragraph (1) if the permit would authorize the construction of a new plastic facility or the expansion of production capacity, storage capacity, or preproduction plastic material handling capacity at an existing plastic facility.

(4) Exceptions.—This subsection shall not apply to—

(A) a material recovery facility;

(B) a mechanical recycling facility;

(C) a compost facility;

(D) a repair, maintenance, monitoring, remediation, pollution-control, or safety project that does not increase production capacity, storage capacity, or preproduction plastic material handling capacity; or

(E) a modification that the Administrator determines is necessary to prevent or reduce emissions, discharges, releases, spills, fires, explosions, or other hazards.

(c) Air, water, and fenceline protections for plastic facilities.—

(1) Rulemaking.—Not later than January 1, 2029, the Administrator shall promulgate final rules under the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7401 et seq.), the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1251 et seq.), and any other applicable Federal environmental law to reduce emissions, discharges, releases, and cumulative impacts from plastic facilities.

(2) Requirements.—The rules promulgated under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) requirements for fenceline monitoring and public reporting of air pollutants, water pollutants, preproduction plastic materials, and other hazardous releases from plastic facilities;

(B) enforceable limits on emissions, discharges, leaks, spills, and releases of pollutants and preproduction plastic materials;

(C) requirements for cumulative-impact analysis before issuance, renewal, or modification of a permit for a plastic facility;

(D) requirements for financial assurance sufficient to remediate spills, releases, contamination, and closure obligations;

(E) requirements for emergency response planning, public notice, and community notification for releases, fires, explosions, and other incidents;

(F) requirements to prevent discharge of preproduction plastic materials into wastewater, stormwater, drainage systems, runoff, or waters of the United States; and

(G) requirements to protect schools, residences, daycare centers, nursing homes, hospitals, parks, playgrounds, community centers, drinking water sources, and other sensitive community locations from the cumulative impacts of plastic facilities.

(3) No end of pause before rules are effective.—The temporary pause period may not end until the rules required under paragraph (1) are in effect.

(d) Microplastics research and mitigation.—

(1) Food and beverage study.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs, in consultation with the Administrator, shall conduct and submit to Congress a study on—

(A) the presence of microplastics and nanoplastics in food, beverages, drinking water, food-contact materials, and food packaging;

(B) the sources and pathways through which microplastics and nanoplastics enter food, beverages, drinking water, food-contact materials, and food packaging;

(C) potential human exposure to microplastics and nanoplastics through ingestion and inhalation; and

(D) recommendations for reducing microplastics and nanoplastics in food, beverages, drinking water, food-contact materials, and food packaging.

(2) Environmental Protection Agency pilot program.—

(A) Establishment.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall establish a pilot program to test, evaluate, and deploy technologies and practices to prevent, capture, remove, or reduce microplastics and nanoplastics in wastewater, stormwater, drinking water, surface water, sediment, and industrial discharges.

(B) Priority.—In carrying out the pilot program under subparagraph (A), the Administrator shall prioritize projects that—

(i) reduce microplastics and nanoplastics near plastic facilities, wastewater treatment plants, stormwater outfalls, ports, rail transfer facilities, and other likely release points;

(ii) can be implemented by public water systems, publicly owned treatment works, local governments, Indian Tribes, or regional water authorities; and

(iii) generate data that can be used to develop best practices or regulatory standards.

(3) National Institutes of Health research.—The Director of the National Institutes of Health shall support research on human exposure to microplastics and nanoplastics, including research on—

(A) the presence of microplastics and nanoplastics in human tissue, organs, blood, urine, breastmilk, stool, and other biospecimens;

(B) the effects of microplastics and nanoplastics on reproductive health, fetal development, child development, immune function, endocrine function, cardiovascular health, neurological health, and cancer risk;

(C) the role of additives, absorbed pollutants, and degradation products associated with microplastics and nanoplastics; and

(D) methods to reduce human exposure to microplastics and nanoplastics.

(e) Reducing single-use plastics in agriculture.—

(1) Conservation practice.—For purposes of programs administered by the Secretary through the Natural Resources Conservation Service, including the environmental quality incentives program under chapter 4 of subtitle D of title XII of the Food Security Act of 1985 (16 U.S.C. 3839aa et seq.), the replacement of plastic weed barriers, plastic mulch, plastic weed mitigants, or other single-use on-farm plastic materials with nonplastic, reusable, or biodegradable alternatives shall be treated as an eligible conservation practice.

(2) Grant program.—

(A) Establishment.—The Secretary shall establish a grant program to support producers, producer cooperatives, agricultural associations, and other eligible agricultural entities in reducing or eliminating single-use plastics from post-production distribution packaging.

(B) Uses.—A grant under this paragraph may be used for—

(i) replacing plastic clamshells, bags, liners, trays, wraps, pallet wraps, cushioning, containers, labels, or other single-use post-production distribution packaging with nonplastic, reusable, recyclable, compostable, or biodegradable alternatives;

(ii) purchasing equipment necessary to package, aggregate, store, transport, or distribute agricultural products without single-use plastics;

(iii) redesigning distribution practices to reduce single-use plastic packaging;

(iv) testing and verifying the performance of alternatives to single-use plastic packaging; and

(v) providing technical assistance to producers seeking to reduce single-use plastic packaging.

(C) Amount and term.—A grant under this paragraph may not exceed $250,000 and may be made for a period of not more than 3 years.

(D) Priority.—In awarding grants under this paragraph, the Secretary shall give priority to applications that—

(i) achieve the greatest measurable reduction in single-use plastic packaging per dollar of Federal assistance;

(ii) are submitted by a beginning farmer or rancher;

(iii) support organic or regenerative agricultural production;

(iv) are submitted by a producer cooperative or other aggregation of small or mid-sized producers; or

(v) create a replicable model for reducing single-use plastic packaging in regional food systems.

(E) Authorization of appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this paragraph $25,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2027 through 2031.

(f) Plastic pellet-free waters.—

(1) Prohibition.—Beginning on the date of enactment of this Act, no person may discharge, spill, release, or allow the discharge, spill, or release of plastic pellets or other preproduction plastic material—

(A) into waters of the United States;

(B) into wastewater, stormwater, runoff, drainage systems, or other conveyances that discharge or may reasonably be expected to discharge into waters of the United States; or

(C) from any plastic facility, point source, transportation facility, packaging facility, transfer facility, port, rail facility, warehouse, or other facility that makes, uses, packages, stores, transports, or handles plastic pellets or other preproduction plastic material.

(2) Permit requirements.—The Administrator shall require each permit issued under section 402 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1342), and each other applicable Federal permit for a facility described in paragraph (1)(C), to include requirements sufficient to achieve zero discharge of plastic pellets and other preproduction plastic material.

(3) Interim final rule.—Not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall issue an interim final rule to implement this subsection.

(4) Final rule.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall, after notice and opportunity for public comment, issue a final rule to implement this subsection.

(5) Minimum requirements.—The rules issued under paragraphs (3) and (4) shall include—

(A) best management practices for preventing the discharge, spill, or release of plastic pellets and other preproduction plastic material;

(B) containment, capture, filtration, inspection, housekeeping, loading, unloading, storage, packaging, transportation, and stormwater-control requirements;

(C) monitoring, recordkeeping, reporting, and public disclosure requirements;

(D) requirements for prompt reporting and cleanup of any discharge, spill, or release;

(E) requirements for employee training and written spill-prevention plans; and

(F) requirements for third-party transporters, packagers, warehouses, ports, rail facilities, and transfer facilities that handle plastic pellets or other preproduction plastic material.

(g) Enforcement.—

(1) Clean Water Act enforcement.—A violation of subsection (f) or a rule issued under subsection (f) shall be treated as a violation of section 301 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1311) and shall be subject to enforcement under sections 309 and 505 of that Act (33 U.S.C. 1319, 1365).

(2) Minimum civil penalties.—In addition to any penalty otherwise authorized by law, any person that violates subsection (f) shall be subject to a civil penalty of not less than $5,000 for each day on which the violation occurs.

(3) Failure to report or remediate.—In addition to any penalty otherwise authorized by law, any person that knowingly fails to report or remediate a discharge, spill, or release of plastic pellets or other preproduction plastic material shall be subject to a civil penalty of not less than $25,000 for each day on which the failure continues.

(4) Untaxed released resin.—If plastic pellets or other preproduction plastic material released in violation of subsection (f) have not been subject to the tax imposed under section 5000L of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as added by section 1243, the person responsible for the release shall be subject to an additional civil penalty equal to 10 times the tax that would have been imposed if the released material had been sold on the date of release or September 30, 2027, whichever is later.

SEC. 1206. E15 REID VAPOR PRESSURE PARITY.

(a) Existing waivers.—Section 211(f)(4) of the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7545(f)(4)) is amended—

(1) by striking "(4) The Administrator, upon" and inserting the following:

"(4) Waivers.—

"(A) In general.—The Administrator, on";

(2) in subparagraph (A), as so designated—

(A) in the first sentence—

(i) by striking "of this subsection" each place it appears; and

(ii) by striking "if he determines" and inserting "if the Administrator determines"; and

(B) in the second sentence, by striking "The Administrator" and inserting the following:

"(B) Final action.—The Administrator"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following:

"(C) Reid vapor pressure.—A fuel or fuel additive may be introduced into commerce if—

"(i) the Administrator determines that—

"(I) the fuel or fuel additive is substantially similar to a fuel or fuel additive utilized in the certification of any model year vehicle pursuant to paragraph (1)(A); or

"(II) the fuel or fuel additive has been granted a waiver under subparagraph (A) and meets all of the conditions of that waiver other than any limitation of the waiver with respect to the Reid vapor pressure of the fuel or fuel additive; and

"(ii) the fuel or fuel additive meets all other applicable Reid vapor pressure requirements under subsection (h).".

(b) Reid vapor pressure limitation.—Section 211(h) of the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7545(h)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (4), in the matter preceding subparagraph (A), by striking "10 percent" and inserting "10 to 15 percent"; and

(2) in paragraph (5)(A), by striking "10 percent" and inserting "10 to 15 percent".

Subtitle A—Power to the People

PART I—POWER GENERATION, PERMITTING, AND RATEPAYER PROTECTION

SEC. 1211. UTILITY PROFIT AND RATEPAYER PROTECTION.

(a) Federal Power Act utility profit and ratepayer protection.—Section 205 of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 824d) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(h) Utility profit and ratepayer protection.

"(1) Definitions.—In this subsection:

"(A) Adjusted lowest market return.—The term 'adjusted lowest market return' means the lowest return on equity in the range of reasonableness established under subparagraph (H), after the downward adjustment required under subparagraph (I). Until the Commission first establishes the adjusted lowest market return, the adjusted lowest market return shall be deemed equal to the risk-free administrative rate.

"(B) Applicable benchmark return.—The term 'applicable benchmark return' means the lower of—

"(i) the risk-free administrative rate; and

"(ii) the adjusted lowest market return.

"(C) Financial academic.—The term 'financial academic' means an accredited, full-time finance teaching program that regularly publishes United States equity market expected return data and provides a curriculum in business administration or finance.

"(D) Financial institution.—The term 'financial institution' means an entity that manages not less than $2,000,000,000,000 in combined assets and regularly publishes United States equity market expected return data.

"(E) Global systemically important bank.—The term 'global systemically important bank' means an entity classified as a global systemically important bank by the Financial Stability Board that regularly publishes United States equity market expected return data.

"(F) Guaranteed cost recovery.—The term 'guaranteed cost recovery' means the regulatory framework under which a public utility is permitted to recover operating expenses and capital costs, including an authorized return on investment, through Commission-approved rates.

"(G) Prohibited cost.—The term 'prohibited cost' means any direct or indirect cost associated with—

"(i) membership dues or sponsorship fees paid, or contributions made, to an organization described in section 501(c)(6) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986;

"(ii) lobbying or legislative action, including any expense for the purpose of directly or indirectly influencing—

"(I) the adoption, repeal, or modification of Federal, State, or local regulations, legislation, or ordinances;

"(II) elections, appointments of public officials, or referenda;

"(III) the approval, modification, or revocation of utility franchises;

"(IV) public opinion with respect to Federal, State, or local regulations, legislation, ordinances, elections, referenda, or utility rate setting; or

"(V) the decisions of Federal, State, or local government officials;

"(iii) advertising, marketing, or communications that seek to influence public opinion, unless such advertising, marketing, communications, or related cost is specifically approved or ordered by the Commission, the Secretary of Energy, or the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency for a public health, safety, reliability, energy-efficiency, or conservation purpose;

"(iv) travel, lodging, or food and beverage expenses for the board of directors or officers of the public utility, the public utility's holding company, or any associated company or affiliate;

"(v) entertainment or gifts;

"(vi) any owned, leased, or chartered aircraft for the board of directors or officers of the public utility, the public utility's holding company, or any associated company or affiliate;

"(vii) investor relations;

"(viii) attendance in, participation in, preparation for, or appeal of any rate proceeding conducted before the Commission pursuant to this section or section 206, including attorneys' fees, expert-witness fees, consultant fees, the portion of employee salaries associated with such attendance, participation, preparation, or appeal, and related costs identified by the Commission;

"(ix) contributions made to an organization described in paragraph (3) or (4) of section 501(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986;

"(x) contributions to political candidates, political parties, campaign committees, issue committees, independent expenditure committees, political action committees, or other political expenses;

"(xi) products or services not regulated by the Commission, including marketing, administration, or customer service for such products or services;

"(xii) penalties or fines, including tax penalties or fines, issued against the public utility; or

"(xiii) payments to outside attorneys or experts representing, testifying on behalf of, or otherwise supporting the participation of the public utility in any Commission proceeding, except to the extent the Commission determines that such payments are necessary to protect reliability, public safety, or the integrity of Commission proceedings.

"(H) Range of reasonableness.—The term 'range of reasonableness' means the range of reasonableness for return on equity established by the Commission, which shall be comprised of 3 data points, each of which represents a current average expected 10-year total or large-cap United States equity market return or equivalent measure, determined as follows:

"(i) The first data point shall be determined by identifying the midpoint expected 10-year total or large-cap United States equity market return or equivalent measure estimated by financial academics for each of the previous 5 years and using the average of such midpoints.

"(ii) The second data point shall be determined by identifying the midpoint expected 10-year total or large-cap United States equity market return or equivalent measure estimated by financial institutions for each of the previous 5 years and using the average of such midpoints.

"(iii) The third data point shall be determined by identifying the midpoint expected 10-year total or large-cap United States equity market return or equivalent measure estimated by global systemically important banks for each of the previous 5 years and using the average of such midpoints.

"(I) Required downward adjustment.—The Commission shall adjust the range of reasonableness downward to account for the reduced risks of the public utility due to, as applicable—

"(i) operating as a regulated monopoly;

"(ii) guaranteed cost recovery;

"(iii) the use of formula rates, riders, trackers, regulatory assets, securitization, contemporaneous cost recovery, or other alternatives to traditional cost-of-service ratemaking;

"(iv) the provision of Federal loans, loan guarantees, grants, tax credits, credit support, or other Federal financial assistance for assets included in rate base;

"(v) participation in, or exemption from, a regional transmission planning process;

"(vi) the availability of captive ratepayers or nonbypassable charges;

"(vii) the approval or allowance of any measure that reduces the risk that the public utility will not recover prudently incurred capital investments; and

"(viii) any other factor that materially reduces the risk of the public utility relative to an entity operating in a competitive market.

"(J) Risk-free administrative rate.—The term 'risk-free administrative rate' means a baseline rate of return appropriate for an enterprise operating as a regulated monopoly with guaranteed cost recovery. The risk-free administrative rate—

"(i) shall be equal to 3 percent per annum beginning on the date of enactment of this subsection; and

"(ii) may be, by rule, adjusted periodically by the Commission to reflect long-term changes in economic conditions, provided that any such adjustment is supported by substantial evidence that considers—

"(I) capital availability for regulated public utilities;

"(II) productivity trends affecting the provision of regulated utility service;

"(III) tax liability on returns;

"(IV) the risk profile of regulated public utilities as compared to other regulated monopolies; and

"(V) inflation, solely as a contextual factor relevant to the timing and necessity of review, and not as an independent basis for increasing the risk-free administrative rate.

"(K) Utility affiliate terms.—The terms 'affiliate', 'associate company', and 'holding company' have the meanings given such terms in section 366.1 of title 18, Code of Federal Regulations, or any successor regulation.

"(2) Unreasonable return on equity.—For purposes of this section and section 206, in any proceeding in which a public utility seeks to include a return on equity in any rate, charge, classification, rule, regulation, practice, or contract subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, such return shall be subject to a rebuttable presumption that it is unjust and unreasonable if it exceeds the applicable benchmark return.

"(3) Rebuttal.—

"(A) In general.—A public utility may rebut the presumption under paragraph (2) only by demonstrating, by clear and convincing evidence, that a return on equity exceeding the applicable benchmark return is necessary to address specific and material risks not otherwise mitigated through guaranteed cost recovery, any risk-reduction mechanism described in paragraph (1)(I), or any other Federal, State, local, or regulatory mechanism that shifts risk from shareholders to ratepayers or taxpayers.

"(B) Evaluation of evidence.—In evaluating evidence under subparagraph (A), the Commission shall consider—

"(i) the extent to which the public utility's costs are recoverable through rates;

"(ii) the stability of the public utility's revenue stream;

"(iii) whether the asserted risks are specific and material to the public utility seeking the higher return;

"(iv) whether the asserted risks are already mitigated by rates, riders, trackers, regulatory assets, securitization, grants, loans, loan guarantees, tax credits, or other cost-recovery or risk-reduction mechanisms; and

"(v) whether the higher return would require ratepayers to compensate shareholders for risks the shareholders do not bear.

"(4) Corrupt rate recovery ban.—

"(A) In general.—No public utility may recover a prohibited cost through any rate, charge, classification, rule, regulation, practice, or contract subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission.

"(B) No indirect recovery.—A public utility may not recover a prohibited cost through a rider, tracker, formula rate, regulatory asset, affiliate transaction, management fee, service company charge, general administrative account, settlement, or any other direct or indirect mechanism.

"(5) Cost-saving transmission investments.—

"(A) In general.—For purposes of this section and section 206, the Commission may consider a capital expenditure by a public utility for a transmission project prudent only if the public utility provides substantial evidence that—

"(i) the public utility prioritized grid-enhancing technologies, reconductoring, advanced conductors, advanced power-flow control, dynamic line ratings, energy storage, distributed energy resources, demand response, and other lower-cost alternatives in the planning process for the transmission project; and

"(ii) the transmission project was subject to a regional planning process determined by the Commission to be in compliance with applicable orders of the Commission, unless the Commission determines that emergency reliability needs made such process impracticable.

"(B) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed to require the Commission to approve any capital expenditure that is imprudent, unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential.

"(6) Savings clause.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to require the Commission to approve any rate that is not just and reasonable or to deny a public utility a reasonable opportunity to earn a return sufficient to maintain financial integrity.

"(7) Regulations.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this subsection, the Commission shall issue regulations to carry out this subsection.

"(8) Effective date.—This subsection shall apply to any rate, charge, classification, rule, regulation, practice, or contract filed, proposed, demanded, charged, collected, approved, reviewed, or modified on or after the date of enactment of this subsection.".

(b) Eliminating FERC candy.—

(1) Repeal.—The Federal Power Act is amended by striking section 219 (16 U.S.C. 824s).

(2) Conforming amendments.—The Federal Power Act is amended—

(A) in section 201(b)(2), by striking "219," each place it appears; and

(B) in section 201(e), by striking "219,".

(c) Investor-owned utility ratepayer protection.—

(1) In general.—Title VI of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2601 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 610. Investor-owned utility ratepayer protection.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Applicable benchmark return.—The term 'applicable benchmark return' means the lower of—

"(A) the risk-free administrative rate under section 205(h)(1)(J) of the Federal Power Act; and

"(B) the adjusted lowest market return determined under section 205(h)(1)(A) of the Federal Power Act, except that, for purposes of applying such section to an investor-owned utility, each reference to the Commission shall be treated as a reference to the applicable State regulatory authority and each reference to a public utility shall be treated as a reference to the investor-owned utility.

"(2) Guaranteed cost recovery.—The term 'guaranteed cost recovery' has the meaning given such term in section 205(h)(1)(F) of the Federal Power Act.

"(3) Investor-owned utility.—

"(A) In general.—The term 'investor-owned utility' means a utility enterprise that—"(i) is owned, in whole or in part, by private investors;

"(ii) is engaged in the production, transmission, distribution, sale, or delivery of electricity or natural gas for use by the public; and

"(iii) is subject to rate regulation by a State regulatory authority.

"(B) Exclusions.—The term 'investor-owned utility' does not include—

"(i) an electric cooperative;

"(ii) a gas cooperative;

"(iii) an electric utility that is owned or operated by a State or political subdivision of a State;

"(iv) a gas utility that is owned or operated by a State or political subdivision of a State;

"(v) the Tennessee Valley Authority;

"(vi) a Federal power marketing administration; or

"(vii) any other Federal entity.

"(4) Prohibited cost.—The term 'prohibited cost' has the meaning given such term in section 205(h)(1)(G) of the Federal Power Act, except that, for purposes of applying such section to an investor-owned utility—

"(A) each reference to the Commission shall be treated as a reference to the applicable State regulatory authority, except with respect to costs associated with a Commission proceeding;

"(B) each reference to a public utility shall be treated as a reference to the investor-owned utility;

"(C) each reference to section 206 of the Federal Power Act shall be treated as including a rate proceeding before the applicable State regulatory authority; and

"(D) the term shall include any cost identified by the Commission by regulation as substantially similar to a cost described in section 205(h)(1)(G) of the Federal Power Act.

"(5) State.—The term 'State' means each State, the District of Columbia, each territory or possession of the United States, and each federally recognized Indian Tribe with ratemaking authority over an investor-owned utility.

"(6) State regulatory authority.—The term 'State regulatory authority' has the meaning given such term in section 3.

"(b) Return on equity limitation.—

"(1) In general.—An investor-owned utility may not file, demand, charge, collect, or receive any retail rate that includes a return on equity exceeding the applicable benchmark return.

"(2) Rebuttal.—

"(A) In general.—An investor-owned utility may rebut the limitation under paragraph (1) only by demonstrating, by clear and convincing evidence, that a return on equity exceeding the applicable benchmark return is necessary to address specific and material risks not otherwise mitigated through guaranteed cost recovery, any risk-reduction mechanism described in section 205(h)(1)(I) of the Federal Power Act, or any other Federal, State, local, or regulatory mechanism that shifts risk from shareholders to ratepayers or taxpayers.

"(B) Evaluation of evidence.—In evaluating evidence under subparagraph (A), the applicable State regulatory authority shall consider—

"(i) the extent to which the investor-owned utility's costs are recoverable through rates;

"(ii) the stability of the investor-owned utility's revenue stream;

"(iii) whether the asserted risks are specific and material to the investor-owned utility seeking the higher return;

"(iv) whether the asserted risks are already mitigated by rates, riders, trackers, regulatory assets, securitization, grants, loans, loan guarantees, tax credits, or other cost-recovery or risk-reduction mechanisms; and

"(v) whether the higher return would require ratepayers to compensate shareholders for risks the shareholders do not bear.

"(3) Public disclosure.—If an investor-owned utility seeks to include a return on equity exceeding the applicable benchmark return in a retail rate, the investor-owned utility shall make publicly available—

"(A) the applicable benchmark return;

"(B) the return on equity sought by the investor-owned utility;

"(C) the clear and convincing evidence relied on by the investor-owned utility under paragraph (2);

"(D) a quantification of the difference in the investor-owned utility's requested revenue requirement using the return on equity sought by the investor-owned utility compared to the applicable benchmark return; and

"(E) a quantification of the impact on the average residential monthly bill of using the return on equity sought by the investor-owned utility compared to the applicable benchmark return.

"(c) Corrupt rate recovery ban.—

"(1) In general.—No investor-owned utility may recover a prohibited cost through any retail rate.

"(2) No indirect recovery.—An investor-owned utility may not recover a prohibited cost through a rider, tracker, formula rate, regulatory asset, affiliate transaction, management fee, service company charge, general administrative account, settlement, or any other direct or indirect mechanism.

"(d) Enforcement.—

"(1) Federal enforcement.—A violation of this section shall be treated as a violation of a provision of part II of the Federal Power Act and enforced in accordance with section 316A of such Act.

"(2) State enforcement.—A State regulatory authority, State attorney general, or other authorized State officer may enforce this section, and any State law, regulation, order, or ratemaking requirement that is not inconsistent with this section, in any administrative or judicial proceeding.

"(e) Regulations.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this section, the Commission shall issue regulations to carry out this section.

"(f) Collective bargaining agreement.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to preempt, diminish, or interfere with a collective bargaining agreement that is in place on the date of enactment of this section.

"(g) Savings clause.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to require any State regulatory authority to approve any rate that is not just and reasonable or to deny an investor-owned utility a reasonable opportunity to earn a return sufficient to maintain financial integrity, subject to the requirements of this section.

"(h) No preemption of stronger State law.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to preempt or limit any State law, regulation, order, or ratemaking practice that establishes a lower authorized return on equity, a stricter cost-recovery limitation, or a stronger ratepayer protection than the protection established under this section.".

(2) Table of contents.—The table of contents in section 1(b) of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 608 the following:

"Sec. 609. Rural and remote communities electrification grants.

"Sec. 610. Investor-owned utility ratepayer protection.".

SEC. 1212. RESTORING POWER GENERATION TAX CREDITS.

(a) Restoration of residential clean energy credit.—Section 25D of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 25D) is amended—

(1) in subsection (g), by striking paragraph (3) and by inserting after paragraph (2) the following new paragraphs:

"(3) in the case of property placed in service after December 31, 2021, and before January 1, 2033, 30 percent,

"(4) in the case of property placed in service after December 31, 2032, and before January 1, 2034, 26 percent, and

"(5) in the case of property placed in service after December 31, 2033, and before January 1, 2035, 22 percent."; and

(2) in subsection (h), by striking "with respect to any expenditures made after December 31, 2025" and inserting "to property placed in service after December 31, 2034".

(b) Restoration of clean electricity production credit for wind and solar.—Section 45Y of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 45Y) is amended—

(1) by striking the second subsection (b)(1)(E), described as "Material assistance from prohibited foreign entities.";

(2) by striking subsection (b)(2)(C)(iii);

(3) in subsection (d)—

(A) in paragraph (1), by striking "Subject to paragraph (4), the amount of" and inserting "The amount of";

(B) by striking paragraph (4); and

(4) by striking subsections (g) and (h).

(c) Restoration of clean electricity investment credit for wind and solar.—Section 48E of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 48E) is amended—

(1) in subsection (e)(1), by striking "Subject to paragraph (4), the amount of" and inserting "The amount of";

(2) by striking subsection (e)(4); and

(3) by striking subsection (i).

(d) Repeal of accuracy-related penalty for disallowed clean electricity credits.—Section 6662 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 6662) is amended by striking subsection (m).

(e) Restoration of energy efficient home improvement credit.—Section 25C of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 25C) is amended—

(1) in subsection (i), by striking "December 31, 2025" and inserting "December 31, 2032";

(2) in subsection (d)(2), by striking subparagraph (C) and inserting the following:

"(C) Any oil furnace or hot water boiler which—

"(i) is placed in service after December 31, 2022, and before January 1, 2027, and—

"(I) meets or exceeds 2021 Energy Star efficiency criteria, and

"(II) is rated by the manufacturer for use with fuel blends at least 20 percent of the volume of which consists of an eligible fuel, or

"(ii) is placed in service after December 31, 2026, and—

"(I) achieves an annual fuel utilization efficiency rate of not less than 90, and

"(II) is rated by the manufacturer for use with fuel blends at least 50 percent of the volume of which consists of an eligible fuel.".

(f) Restoration of alternative fuel vehicle refueling property credit.—Section 30C(g) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 30C(g)) is amended by striking "December 31, 2025" and inserting "December 31, 2032".

(A) in subsection (b)(3), by striking subparagraphs (C), (D), and (E) and inserting the following:

"(C) Exception.—For purposes of determining the amount under this subsection with respect to any applicable critical mineral, this paragraph shall not apply."; and

(B) in subsection (d)—

(i) by striking the second paragraph (4), relating to restrictions relating to prohibited foreign entities; and

(ii) by amending the first paragraph (4), relating to sale of integrated components, to read as follows:

"(4) Sale of integrated components.—For purposes of this section, a person shall be treated as having sold an eligible component to an unrelated person if such component is integrated, incorporated, or assembled into another eligible component which is sold to an unrelated person.".

(2) Delayed amendment.—Section 70514(a) of Public Law 119–21 is repealed, and the amendment made by that subsection shall not take effect and shall have no force or effect.

SEC. 1213. STANDARDIZING AND EXPEDITING PERMITTING.

(a) NEPA reform.—Section 2 of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321) is amended—

(1) by striking "The purposes" and inserting "(a) The purposes"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(b) This Act is a purely procedural statute intended to ensure Federal agencies consider the environmental impacts of their actions during the decision making process. This Act does not mandate particular results, and only prescribes a process. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to mandate any specific environmental outcome or result, nor shall this Act be interpreted to confer substantive rights or impose substantive duties beyond procedural requirements.".

(b) Procedure for determination of level of review.—Section 106 of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4336) is amended—

(1) in the heading, by inserting "; SCOPE OF REVIEW" after "LEVEL OF REVIEW";

(2) in subsection (a)—

(A) in paragraph (3), by striking "or";

(B) in paragraph (4), by striking "action." and inserting "action;"; and

(C) by adding at the end the following:

"(5) the agency determines the proposed agency action is an action for which such agency's compliance with another statute's requirements serves the function of agency compliance with this Act with respect to such action; or

"(6) the proposed agency action relates to a project or action that has already been reviewed pursuant to a State environmental review statute or a Tribal environmental review statute, ordinance, resolution, regulation, or formally adopted policy and the lead agency determines such review serves the function of agency compliance with this Act.";

(3) in subsection (b)—

(A) in paragraph (2), by striking "does not" and inserting "is not likely to"; and

(B) in paragraph (3), by amending subparagraph (B) to read as follows:

"(B) is not required to—

"(i) undertake new scientific or technical research unless the new scientific or technical research is essential to a reasoned choice among alternatives, and the overall costs and time frame of obtaining it are not unreasonable; or

"(ii) undertake new scientific or technical research after the receipt of an application, as applicable, with respect to a proposed agency action."; and

(4) by adding at the end the following:

"(c) Scope of review.—In preparing an environmental document for a proposed agency action, a Federal agency—

"(1) may consider only those effects that share a reasonably close causal relationship to, and are proximately caused by, the immediate project or action under consideration; and

"(2) may not consider effects that are speculative, attenuated from the project or action, separate in time or place from the project or action, or in relation to separate existing or potential future projects or actions.

"(d) Certainty.—

"(1) Environmental documents.—A Federal agency may not rescind, withdraw, amend, alter, or otherwise render ineffective any environmental document completed under this Act for a project or action where there is an applicant unless the Federal agency has been so ordered by a court or the applicant has agreed in writing to such rescission, withdrawal, amendment, or alteration.

"(2) Authorizations.—

"(A) In general.—Except as provided in this subsection or existing law, a Federal agency may not revoke, rescind, withdraw, terminate, suspend, amend, alter, or take any other action to interfere with an authorization unless—

"(i) the Federal agency is required to take such action by order of a court of competent jurisdiction;

"(ii) the holder of the authorization has materially breached the terms of the authorization, or otherwise violated applicable law;

"(iii) the authorization was obtained through fraud, intentional concealment, or material misrepresentation;

"(iv) such action is necessary to prevent specific, immediate, substantial, and proximate harm or damage to life, property, national security, or defense that was not considered in the underlying environmental review process or final agency action for the authorization; or

"(v) the Federal agency has received a request from the holder of the authorization or project sponsor to take such action.

"(B) Requirement.—The actions described in subparagraph (A) shall be, as appropriate and where feasible, supported by clear and convincing evidence and reasonably limited in duration and scope by the agency to address the specific issue such action is intended to address.

"(C) Notice.—Before an agency takes an action described in subparagraph (A), the agency shall notify the holder of the authorization and the project sponsor in writing of such action, including by providing a detailed explanation of the action, identifying the statutory authority relied upon for the action, and providing the evidence supporting the action.

"(D) Judicial review.—

"(i) In general.—An action described in subparagraph (A) shall be subject to judicial review under chapter 7 of title 5, United States Code.

"(ii) Venue.—A person seeking judicial review of an action described in subparagraph (A) may only obtain review of such action in the United States court of appeals for any circuit wherein the project for which the authorization was issued is located.

"(iii) Petitions by Federal agencies.—No Federal agency may petition a court for vacatur or voluntary remand of an authorization unless the holder of the authorization or the project sponsor consents in writing to such a petition.

"(E) Savings clause.—Nothing in subparagraph (A) shall be construed to provide any Federal agency new, enhanced, or expanded authority concerning any authorization.

"(e) Presumption of negative impacts of taking no action relating to Tribal trust resources.—For any proposed agency action carried out on, or directly affecting, tribal trust resources (including lands and minerals) that is initiated by the federally recognized Indian Tribe for which the United States holds the affected resources in trust, and for which an environmental document was prepared that included consideration of a no action alternative, there shall be a presumption that the effects of taking no action will be negative for the federally recognized Indian Tribe.

"(f) Effect of threshold determinations on other agencies.—If a lead agency determines an environmental document is not required to be prepared with respect to a proposed agency action under subsection (a), another agency may not prepare an environmental document with respect to such proposed agency action.".

(c) Timely and unified Federal reviews.—Section 107 of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4336a) is amended—

(1) Lead agency.—Section 107(a) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4336a(a)) is amended—

(A) in paragraph (2)—

(i) in subparagraph (B), by striking "at the earliest practicable time" and inserting "in accordance with subsection (g)(2)";

(ii) in subparagraph (D), by striking "carry out the proposed agency action" and inserting "carry out the proposed agency action in compliance with the deadlines outlined in subsection (g)"; and

(iii) in subparagraph (E)—

(I) by striking "a review" and inserting "an environmental review"; and

(II) by striking "such review" and inserting "such environmental review"; and

(B) in paragraph (3)—

(i) by inserting "(including counties, boroughs, parishes, and other political subdivisions of a State)" after "local agency"; and

(ii) by adding at the end "Such comments from Federal cooperating agencies shall be limited to matters relating to the proposed agency action with respect to which such Federal cooperating agency has jurisdiction by law.".

(2) One document.—Section 107(b) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4336a(b)) is amended—

(A) by striking "To the extent practicable," and inserting the following:

"(1) Document.—To the extent practicable,"; and

(B) by adding at the end the following:

"(2) Consideration timing.—

"(A) In general.—In preparing an environmental document for a proposed agency action, no Federal agency shall be required to consider any scientific or technical research that becomes publicly available after the earlier of, as applicable—

"(i) the date of receipt of an application with respect to such proposed agency action; and

"(ii) the date of publication of a notice of intent or decision to prepare such environmental document for such proposed agency action.

"(B) Applicability to other law.—This paragraph does not affect any review of information required under subchapter II of chapter 5 of title 5, United States Code, with respect to comments received during the public comment period as applicable.

"(C) Delay.—A Federal agency may not delay the issuance of an environmental document or a final agency action, including any decision or determination, on the basis of awaiting new scientific or technical research or information that was not available as of the earlier of the dates described in subparagraph (A).";

(3) Statement of purpose and need.—Section 107(d) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4336a(d)) is amended by striking "action." and inserting "action. Where applicable, the statement of purpose and need shall meet the goals of the applicant.".

(4) Deadlines.—Section 107(g) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4336a(g)) is amended—

(A) by redesignating paragraphs (1), (2), and (3) as paragraphs (3), (5), and (6), respectively;

(B) by inserting before paragraph (3) (as so redesignated) the following:

"(1) Applications for authorizations.—

"(A) Notification of complete or incomplete application.—Unless a shorter deadline is specified by law, in connection with a proposed agency action for which an applicant submitted an application for an authorization to an agency, not later than 60 days after the date on which the applicant submits the application to the agency, the agency shall document the receipt of the application and—

"(i) notify the applicant that the application is complete; or

"(ii) notify the applicant that the application is incomplete and request in writing any additional information that the agency needs to determine that the application is complete and begin preparation of an environmental document.

"(B) Agency determination.—

"(i) Complete determination.—If an agency determines an application is complete under subparagraph (A)(i), the agency shall, not later than 60 days after the date on which the agency makes such determination—

"(I) notify the applicant that the agency has determined that the proposed agency action is excluded pursuant to one of the agency's categorical exclusions, is not a major Federal action, or that no further agency action is required;

"(II) issue a notice of intent to prepare an environmental impact statement for such proposed agency action; or

"(III) notify the applicant that the agency has determined that preparation of an environmental assessment is necessary.

"(ii) Incomplete determination.—If the agency requests additional information under subparagraph (A)(ii), the deadline described in clause (i) shall be based on the date on which the agency receives the additional information instead of the date on which the determination is made.

"(2) Cooperating agencies.—

"(A) In general.—Not later than 21 days after a lead agency issues a notice of intent under paragraph (1)(B)(i)(II) or notifies an applicant under paragraph (1)(B)(i)(III) with respect to a proposed agency action, the lead agency shall—

"(i) identify all agencies that are likely to have environmental review, authorization, or other responsibilities with respect to the proposed agency action; and

"(ii) invite each such agency to become a cooperating agency.

"(B) Deadline to accept invitation.—Not later than 21 days after an agency receives an invitation to become a cooperating agency under subparagraph (A)(ii), such agency shall accept or deny the invitation.

"(C) Convening of cooperating agencies.—Not later than 7 days after the deadline described in subparagraph (B) has passed for each agency that received an invitation to become a cooperating agency under subparagraph (A)(ii), the lead agency that sent each such invitation shall convene each agency that accepts such an invitation to coordinate on developing the schedule under subsection (a)(2)(D) for the applicable proposed agency action.

"(D) Unidentified agencies.—In the event that an agency that has jurisdiction by law or special expertise with respect to any environmental impact involved in a proposed agency action is not identified under subparagraph (A)(i), the lead agency with respect to the proposed agency action shall—

"(i) invite such unidentified agency to become a cooperating agency by not later than 7 days after becoming aware that the agency has jurisdiction by law or special expertise; and

"(ii) if such agency accepts the invitation, incorporate such agency into the schedule developed under subsection (a)(2)(D) and update such schedule accordingly by not later than 14 days after the date on which such agency accepts the invitation.";

(C) in paragraph (3) (as so redesignated)—

(i) by striking "In general" and inserting "Review timeline"; and

(ii) by striking "paragraph (2)" and inserting "paragraph (5)";

(D) by inserting after paragraph (3) (as so redesignated) the following:

"(4) Deadline for final agency action.—For any proposed agency action for which an applicant submitted an application for an authorization to an agency, not later than 30 days after completing an environmental impact statement or an environmental assessment that results in a finding of no significant impact for the proposed agency action, the lead agency, and any cooperating agency, shall issue a final agency action. The agency issuing such final agency action shall include in the final agency action a performance schedule for the completion of any other outstanding authorizations.";

(E) in paragraph (5) (as so redesignated)—

(i) by striking "the deadline described in paragraph (1)" and inserting "a deadline described in this subsection"; and

(ii) by striking ", in consultation with the applicant, to" and inserting "if the applicant approves such extension. If the applicant approves such extension, the lead agency shall";

(F) in paragraph (6) (as so redesignated)—

(i) by striking "A project sponsor may" and inserting "Except as provided in subparagraph (C), a project sponsor may"; and

(ii) by adding at the end the following:

"(C) Exception.—A project sponsor that approved an extension of a deadline under paragraph (5) may not obtain judicial review of a failure to act in accordance with such deadline under subparagraph (A) unless the lead agency fails to meet the new deadline or is delaying for reasons other than those necessary to complete its review."; and

(G) by adding at the end the following:

"(7) Concurrent review.—In carrying out an environmental review, the lead agency and each cooperating agency shall carry out the obligations of that agency under other applicable laws concurrently, and in conjunction, with other required reviews for the proposed agency action, pursuant to the requirements of applicable law, including, if applicable, under this Act.".

(d) Programmatic environmental documents.—Section 108 of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4336b) is amended—

(1) by striking "When an agency prepares" and inserting the following:

"(a) Programmatic environmental documents.—When an agency prepares";

(2) in paragraph (1), by striking "5" and inserting "10";

(3) in paragraph (2), by striking "5" and inserting "10"; and

(4) by adding at the end the following:

"(b) Reliance on previously completed environmental reviews.—

"(1) Actions that are substantially the same.—A lead agency may satisfy the requirements of this Act with respect to a major Federal action by relying on an environmental assessment, environmental impact statement, or a categorical exclusion determination that the lead agency, another Federal agency, or a project sponsor under the supervision of a Federal agency completed for another major Federal action if the lead agency determines that—

"(A) the new major Federal action is substantially the same as the other major Federal action or, if applicable, an alternative analyzed in such environmental assessment or environmental impact statement; and

"(B) if applicable, the effects of the new major Federal action are substantially the same as the effects analyzed in such environmental assessment or environmental impact statement.

"(2) Actions that are not substantially the same.—If a new major Federal action is not substantially the same as another major Federal action or an alternative analyzed in an environmental assessment or environmental impact statement completed by the lead agency, another Federal agency, or a project sponsor under the supervision of a Federal agency, the lead agency may modify or augment any such previously completed environmental assessment or environmental impact statement as necessary to satisfy the requirements of this Act with respect to the new major Federal action. The lead agency shall make such modified environmental assessment or environmental impact statement publicly available as a new environmental assessment or environmental impact statement.".

(e) Adoption of categorical exclusions.—Section 109 of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4336c) is amended in the text preceding paragraph (1), by inserting ", or that was legislatively enacted by Congress," after "procedures".

(f) Definitions.—Section 111 of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4336e) is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraphs (1) through (13) as paragraphs (2) through (14), respectively;

(2) by inserting before paragraph (2) (as so redesignated) the following:

"(1) Authorization.—The term 'authorization' means any lease, right-of-way, easement, license, permit, approval, finding, determination, or other administrative decision issued by an agency or any interagency consultation that is required or authorized under Federal law in order to construct, modify, or operate a project.";

(3) in paragraph (2) (as so redesignated), by inserting ", or Congress deems by statute," after "Federal agency has determined";

(4) in paragraph (11) (as so redesignated)—

(A) in subparagraph (B)—

(i) in clause (iii)—

(I) by inserting "grants (including capitalization grants), cost share awards," after "loan guarantees,";

(II) by striking "sufficient" and inserting "complete"; and

(III) by striking "subsequent use of such financial assistance or the";

(ii) by redesignating clauses (iv) through (vii) as clauses (vi) through (ix), respectively; and

(iii) by inserting after clause (iii) the following:

"(iv) farm ownership loans and operating loan guarantees by the Farm Service Agency pursuant to sections 305 and 311 through 319 of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act;

"(v) the issuance of an authorization by an agency where the effects of the action or project being permitted or authorized were previously evaluated by another agency in compliance with this Act;"; and

(B) by adding at the end the following:

"(C) Additional exclusions.—An agency action may not be determined to be a major Federal action solely on the basis of the provision of Federal funds, including a grant, loan, loan guarantee, and funding assistance."; and

(5) by adding at the end the following:

"(15) Reasonably foreseeable.—The term 'reasonably foreseeable', with respect to environmental effects of a proposed agency action—

"(A) means effects that share a reasonably close causal relationship to, and are proximately caused by, the immediate project or action under consideration; and

"(B) does not include effects that are—

"(i) speculative;

"(ii) attenuated from the proposed agency action;

"(iii) separate in time or place from the proposed agency action; or

"(iv) in relation to separate existing or potential future projects.".

(g) Duties.—Section 204 of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4344) is amended in paragraph (4) by inserting "energy," after "health,".

(h) Judicial review.—Title I of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4331 et seq.) is amended—

(1) by redesignating section 112 as section 110A and moving such section so as to appear after section 110; and

(2) by inserting before section 111 the following:

"Sec. 110B. Judicial review.

"(a) Role of the court.—In reviewing a claim of whether a final agency action complies with the requirements of this Act, a court—

"(1) shall afford substantial deference to the agency; and

"(2) may not substitute its judgment for that of the agency regarding the environmental effects included in the final agency action or included in the environmental document.

"(b) Remand.—

"(1) In general.—If a court holds, under section 706(2)(A) of title 5, United States Code, that a final agency action does not comply with the requirements of this Act, the only remedy the court may order, notwithstanding chapter 7 of title 5, United States Code, is to remand, without vacatur or injunction, the final agency action to the agency with—

"(A) specific instruction to correct the errors or deficiencies found by the court; and

"(B) a reasonable schedule and deadline to correct such errors or deficiencies, which such deadline may not exceed—

"(i) with regard to an order entered on or after the date of enactment of this section, the date that is 180 days after the date on which the order was entered; and

"(ii) with regard to an order entered before the date of enactment of this section, the date that is 180 days after the date of enactment of this section.

"(2) Continued effect of final agency action.—A final agency action remanded under paragraph (1) shall remain in effect while the Federal agency corrects any errors or deficiencies found by the court.

"(c) Limitations on claims.—

"(1) In general.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law (except as provided in subparagraph (A) with respect to a shorter deadline), a claim described in subsection (a) shall be barred unless—

"(A) such claim is filed not later than 150 days after the final agency action is made public, unless a shorter deadline is specified under law;

"(B) in the case of a final agency action for which there was a public comment period on an environmental document, such claim—

"(i) is filed by a party that submitted a substantive and unique comment during such public comment period by the noticed comment deadline for the environmental document and such comment was sufficiently detailed to put the applicable Federal agency on notice of the issue upon which the party seeks review; and

"(ii) concerns the same subject matter raised in the comment submitted during the public comment period;

"(C) such claim is filed by a party that has suffered or imminently will suffer direct harm from the final agency action; and

"(D) such claim does not challenge the establishment of a categorical exclusion.

"(2) Supplemental environmental documents.—If an agency issues a supplemental environmental document in response to a court order remanding a final agency action, the 150-day period described in paragraph (1)(A) shall begin on the date on which the agency makes public the agency action for which the supplemental environmental document is prepared. A claim for review of such final agency action shall be limited to information contained in the final supplemental environmental document that was not contained in a previous environmental document for the final agency action.

"(3) Actions for use of tribal trust resources.—For any final agency action that authorizes or affects the use of lands, minerals, or other resources already held in trust at the time of the final agency action by the United States for the benefit of a federally recognized Indian Tribe—

"(A) except as provided in subparagraph (B), there shall be no administrative or judicial review of such final agency action based on a claim of failure to comply with the requirements of this Act; and

"(B) subparagraph (A) shall not apply to actions for administrative or judicial review—

"(i) brought by the federally recognized Indian Tribe for which the United States holds the lands, minerals, or other resources in trust; or

"(ii) that involve reasonably foreseeable effects of the final agency action that occur outside the lands, minerals, or other resources held in trust by the United States for the benefit of a federally recognized Indian Tribe.

"(d) Deadline for resolution.—

"(1) In general.—A court shall issue a final judgment on a claim described in subsection (a)—

"(A) as expeditiously as practicable; and

"(B) unless a shorter deadline is specified under Federal law, not later than the date that is 180 days after the date on which the agency record for the review is filed with the reviewing court, which shall not be more than 60 days after the filing of the claim.

"(2) Accelerated deadlines.—Nothing in this subsection may be construed to prevent a court from further expediting review of a claim described in subsection (a).

"(3) Appeals.—

"(A) Filing.—A notice of appeal of a final judgment described in this subsection shall be filed not later than 60 days after such final judgment is issued. In the case of a final agency action remanded under subsection (b), the agency and, if applicable, the applicant, may appeal during the pendency of the remand.

"(B) Deadline for review.—A court shall issue a final decision on an appeal filed under subparagraph (A)—

"(i) as expeditiously as practicable; and

"(ii) not later than the date that is 180 days after the date on which the appeal is filed.

"(e) No effect on review of compliance with other deadlines.—This section shall not affect the availability of review under section 107(g)(6).".

SEC. 1214. PUBLIC LAND RENEWABLE ENERGY DEVELOPMENT.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Covered land.—The term "covered land" means land that is—

(A) Federal land;

(B) not excluded from the development of geothermal, solar, or wind energy under—

(i) a land use plan; or

(ii) other Federal law; and

(C) not included in an area—

(i) that is subject to the Desert Renewable Energy Conservation Plan developed by the California Energy Commission, the California Department of Fish and Wildlife, the Bureau of Land Management, and the United States Fish and Wildlife Service; or

(ii) for which the Secretary determines existing wind and solar energy land use planning meets or exceeds the standards established under subsection (c).

(2) Energy storage project.—The term "energy storage project" means equipment that—

(A) receives, stores, and delivers energy using batteries, compressed air, pumped hydropower, hydrogen storage (including hydrolysis), thermal energy storage, regenerative fuel cells, flywheels, capacitors, superconducting magnets, or other technologies identified by the Secretary of Energy; and

(B) has a storage capacity of not less than 5 kilowatt hours.

(3) Exclusion area.—The term "exclusion area" means covered land that is identified by the Bureau of Land Management as not suitable for development of renewable energy projects.

(4) Federal land.—The term "Federal land" means—

(A) public land; and

(B) National Forest System lands administered by the Department of Agriculture through the Forest Service where the Secretary has authority to issue leases for the development and utilization of geothermal resources under section 3 and section 15 of the Geothermal Steam Act of 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1002, 1014).

(5) Fund.—The term "Fund" means the Renewable Energy Resource Conservation Fund established by subsection (f)(3)(A).

(6) Land use plan.—The term "land use plan" means—

(A) with respect to public land, a land use plan established under the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.); and

(B) with respect to National Forest System land, a land management plan approved, amended, or revised under section 6 of the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act of 1974 (16 U.S.C. 1604).

(7) National Forest System.—The term "National Forest System" has the meaning given the term in section 11(a) of the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act of 1974 (16 U.S.C. 1609(a)).

(8) Priority area.—The term "priority area" means covered land identified by the land use planning process of the Bureau of Land Management as being a preferred location for a renewable energy project, including an area that is identified as a designated leasing area under the rule of the Bureau of Land Management entitled "Competitive Processes, Terms, and Conditions for Leasing Public Lands for Solar and Wind Energy Development and Technical Changes and Corrections" (81 Fed. Reg. 92122 (December 19, 2016)) or a successor regulation.

(9) Public land.—The term "public land" has the meaning given the term "public lands" in section 103 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1702).

(10) Renewable energy project.—The term "renewable energy project"—

(A) means a project carried out on covered land that—

(i) uses wind, solar, or geothermal energy to generate energy; or

(ii) transmits electricity to support wind, solar, or geothermal energy generation; and

(B) may include an associated energy storage project.

(11) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

(b) Updating national goals for renewable energy production on Federal land.—Section 3104 of the Energy Act of 2020 (43 U.S.C. 3004) is amended—

(1) in subsection (b)—

(A) by striking "25" and inserting "60"; and

(B) by striking "2025" and inserting "December 31, 2030"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(c) Update.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this subsection, the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Agriculture and the heads of other relevant Federal agencies, shall update the national goals for renewable energy production on Federal land established under subsection (a).".

(c) Land use planning and updates to programmatic environmental impact statements.—

(1) Priority areas.—

(A) Establishment of priority areas; designation of areas eligible for the submission of renewable energy project applications.—

(i) In general.—For purposes of renewable energy planning, the Secretary, consistent with the requirements described in clause (ii), shall—

(I) designate areas on covered land eligible for the submission of renewable energy project applications; and

(II) consider establishing priority areas on covered land for renewable energy projects.

(ii) Requirements.—In carrying out activities under subclauses (I) and (II) of clause (i), the Secretary shall comply with—

(I) the principles of multiple use, as defined in section 103 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1702); and

(II) the national goals for renewable energy production established under section 3104 of the Energy Act of 2020 (43 U.S.C. 3004), including the minimum production goal described in subsection (b) of that section.

(B) Priority for certain applications.—In considering applications for renewable energy projects on covered land, with respect to an application for a proposed renewable energy project on covered land that is to be carried out in a priority area, the Secretary shall—

(i) prioritize the application to be carried out in any identified priority area; and

(ii) on approval of the application, provide to the applicant who submitted the application the opportunity to participate in any regional mitigation plan developed for the applicable priority area.

(C) Programmatic planning.—

(i) Solar energy implementation.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall use the Approved Resource Management Plan Amendments and Record of Decision for Utility-Scale Solar Energy Development issued by the Bureau of Land Management in December 2024 to identify, publish, and maintain a project-ready solar development list for covered land that—

(I) is available for utility-scale solar energy development under that Record of Decision;

(II) is located within 15 miles of an existing or planned transmission line with a capacity of not less than 69 kilovolts, or is previously disturbed land identified under that Record of Decision;

(III) has comparatively low resource conflict based on the exclusion criteria, avoidance criteria, programmatic design features, and environmental evaluation processes adopted in that Record of Decision;

(IV) is suitable for site-specific environmental review, interconnection review, and right-of-way application processing; and

(V) can support responsible solar energy development without eliminating the requirement for project-specific review, public comment, consultation, mitigation, and final agency approval.

(ii) Project processing report.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, and annually thereafter, the Secretary shall submit to Congress and publish on a public website a report that identifies, for covered land made available for utility-scale solar energy development under the Record of Decision described in clause (i)—

(I) the number of pending right-of-way applications;

(II) the acreage, proposed capacity, and proposed storage capacity associated with such applications;

(III) the transmission line or planned transmission line associated with each application;

(IV) the status of site-specific environmental review for each application;

(V) the expected timeline for final agency action;

(VI) any unresolved interconnection, transmission, water, wildlife, cultural-resource, Tribal consultation, or local land-use issue that may delay final agency action; and

(VII) any additional staffing, coordination, or transmission-planning action needed to convert available solar development acreage into approved, responsibly sited projects.

(iii) Wind energy implementation.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall use the Final Programmatic Environmental Impact Statement on Wind Energy Development on BLM-Administered Lands in the Western United States dated June 2005, the Record of Decision for the Wind Energy Development Programmatic Environmental Impact Statement signed in December 2005, the West-Wide Wind Mapping Project completed in 2016, and any updated transmission, wildlife, cultural-resource, Tribal consultation, military aviation, radar, and land-use data to identify, publish, and maintain a project-ready wind development list for covered land that—

(I) is available for wind energy development under the Wind Energy Development Programmatic Environmental Impact Statement and Record of Decision;

(II) is located within 15 miles of an existing or planned transmission line with a capacity of not less than 69 kilovolts, or is previously disturbed land suitable for wind energy development;

(III) has comparatively low resource conflict based on applicable exclusion criteria, avoidance criteria, best management practices, programmatic design features, and environmental evaluation processes;

(IV) is suitable for site-specific environmental review, interconnection review, and right-of-way application processing; and

(V) can support responsible wind energy development without eliminating the requirement for project-specific review, public comment, consultation, mitigation, and final agency approval.

(iv) Wind project processing report.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, and annually thereafter, the Secretary shall submit to Congress and publish on a public website a report that identifies, for covered land identified under clause (iii)—

(I) the number of pending right-of-way applications;

(II) the acreage, proposed capacity, and proposed storage capacity associated with such applications;

(III) the transmission line or planned transmission line associated with each application;

(IV) the status of site-specific environmental review for each application;

(V) the expected timeline for final agency action;

(VI) any unresolved interconnection, transmission, wildlife, cultural-resource, Tribal consultation, military aviation, radar, local land-use, or other issue that may delay final agency action; and

(VII) any additional staffing, coordination, or transmission-planning action needed to convert available wind development acreage into approved, responsibly sited projects.

(2) Review and modification.—

(A) In general.—Subject to subparagraph (B), not less frequently than once every 10 years, the Secretary shall—

(i) after an opportunity for public comment, review the adequacy of all land allocations for renewable energy projects for the purposes of—

(I) encouraging and facilitating new renewable energy projects; and

(II) consistent with a mitigation sequence of avoiding, minimizing, and compensating for adverse impacts to other public uses and values of covered land, including—

(aa) wildlife habitat;

(bb) species listed as threatened or endangered under the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.);

(cc) water resources;

(dd) cultural resources;

(ee) recreational uses;

(ff) land with wilderness characteristics;

(gg) land with special management designations; and

(hh) areas of Tribal importance; and

(ii) based on the review carried out under clause (i), add, modify, or eliminate priority areas, exclusion areas, and areas on covered land open or closed to solar or wind energy right-of-way applications or to geothermal leasing.

(B) Limitation.—Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to any covered land that the Secretary determines, after seeking public input, is subject to an existing land use plan that meets the purposes described in subparagraph (A)(i).

(C) Report.—If the Secretary determines, in an annual report required under subsection (i) of section 3102 of the Energy Act of 2020 (43 U.S.C. 3002), as redesignated by section 1216(d)(2), that the national goal for renewable energy production established under subsection (a) of section 3104 of that Act (43 U.S.C. 3004), including the minimum production goal established under subsection (b) of that section, may not be met, the Secretary shall act more frequently than otherwise required by this subsection to designate areas eligible for the submission of renewable energy project applications and establish additional priority areas for renewable energy projects.

(3) Compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.—For purposes of this subsection, compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by this Act, shall be accomplished—

(A) for geothermal energy—

(i) by updating the document entitled "Final Programmatic Environmental Impact Statement for Geothermal Leasing in the Western United States" and dated October 2008; and

(ii) by incorporating into the updated document under clause (i) any additional regional analyses completed by Federal agencies after the date on which the document described in that clause was finalized;

(B) for solar energy—

(i) by updating the document entitled "Final Programmatic Environmental Impact Statement (PEIS) for Solar Energy Development in Six Southwestern States" and dated July 2012; and

(ii) by incorporating into the updated document under clause (i) any additional regional analyses completed by Federal agencies after the date on which the document described in that clause was finalized; and

(C) for wind energy—

(i) by updating the document entitled "Final Programmatic Environmental Impact Statement on Wind Energy Development on BLM-Administered Lands in the Western United States" and dated June 2005; and

(ii) by incorporating into the updated document under clause (i) any additional regional analyses completed by Federal agencies after the date on which the document described in that clause was finalized.

(4) No effect on processing site-specific applications.—Nothing in this subsection modifies any requirement to conduct site-specific environmental reviews or process permits for proposed renewable energy projects during preparation of an updated programmatic environmental impact statement, land use plan, or amendment to a land use plan.

(5) Coordination.—In developing any update required under this subsection, the Secretary shall coordinate, on an ongoing basis, with appropriate State, Tribal, and local governments, transmission infrastructure owners, operators, and developers, renewable energy developers, and other appropriate entities to ensure that priority areas established by the Secretary under this subsection take into account—

(A) economic viability, including having access to existing or planned transmission lines;

(B) consistency with a mitigation sequence to avoid, minimize, and compensate for impacts to—

(i) fish, wildlife, or plants;

(ii) fish, wildlife, or plant habitat;

(iii) recreational uses;

(iv) land with wilderness characteristics;

(v) land with special management designations;

(vi) cultural resources;

(vii) areas of Tribal importance; and

(viii) other uses of covered land;

(C) feasibility of siting on previously disturbed land, including commercial and industrial land, mine land, and previously contaminated sites; and

(D) consistency with section 202 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1712), including subsection (c)(9) of that section (43 U.S.C. 1712(c)(9)).

(6) Transmission.—In carrying out this subsection, the Secretary shall—

(A) determine whether adequate transmission exists for renewable energy projects on covered land; and

(B) if a determination is made in the negative under subparagraph (A), in coordination with the heads of other relevant Federal agencies, review existing land use plans to determine if amendments to those land use plans would be appropriate to support adequate transmission capability.

(7) Incentives for renewable energy development in priority areas.—The Secretary may establish, by regulation, incentives to be provided to individuals carrying out renewable energy projects in priority areas established under this subsection.

(d) Improving wind and solar energy project permitting.—

(1) Role of Renewable Energy Coordination Offices.—Section 3102 of the Energy Act of 2020 (43 U.S.C. 3002) is amended—

(A) by redesignating subsections (e) and (f) as subsections (f) and (g), respectively; and

(B) by inserting after subsection (d) the following:

"(e) Processing of wind and solar energy applications.—

"(1) Delegation to State Renewable Energy Coordination Offices.—

"(A) In general.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary may delegate to a State Renewable Energy Coordination Office the authority to process applications for eligible projects proposed to be carried out on land managed by the Bureau of Land Management in the applicable State.

"(B) Roles and responsibilities of managers.—For purposes of processing applications described in subparagraph (A), the manager of the applicable State Renewable Energy Coordination Office—

"(i) shall have the authority to issue grants or leases for eligible projects;

"(ii) with the approval of the State Director of the applicable Bureau of Land Management State Office, may use other employees in field and district offices of the applicable Bureau of Land Management State Office, or hire additional experts, to assist with timely processing of applications, with the costs of hiring additional experts to be charged to applicants; and

"(iii) shall report to the State Director of the applicable Bureau of Land Management State Office.

"(2) Prohibition of delegation to employees of field or district offices.—Except as provided in paragraph (1)(B)(ii), the Secretary may not delegate to employees of field or district offices of the Bureau of Land Management the authority to process applications for eligible projects proposed to be carried out on land managed by the Bureau of Land Management.".

(2) Cost recovery agreements.—

(A) In general.—Not later than 30 days after the date on which an applicant submits a complete application for a right-of-way for a wind or solar energy project, including submission of the filing fee required under section 2804.12 of title 43, Code of Federal Regulations, or a successor regulation, the Secretary shall provide a cost recovery agreement with respect to the application.

(B) Effect.—Issuance of a cost recovery agreement under subparagraph (A) and payment of cost recovery fees shall preclude any new claims to the use of the applicable covered land during any period in which the application is active.

(C) Conflicts; studies.—

(i) Conflicts.—To be considered complete under subparagraph (A), an application described in that subparagraph shall address any known conflicts with respect to the use of the applicable covered land, as identified in scientific literature or other studies.

(ii) Additional studies.—Additional studies shall not be required for purposes of considering an application to be complete under subparagraph (A).

(3) Environmental requirements.—

(A) Notice of intent.—

(i) In general.—Not later than 180 days after the date on which the agency notifies the applicant that the application to establish a right-of-way is complete, or a later date to be established by the Secretary under clause (ii), if an environmental impact statement is determined to be necessary, the Secretary shall issue a notice of intent to prepare an environmental impact statement with respect to the application.

(ii) Extension.—The Secretary shall establish a later date by which the notice under clause (i) shall be issued, if the Secretary determines that the 180-day period under that clause should be extended due to—

(I) the application being considered a low priority under section 2804.35 of title 43, Code of Federal Regulations, or a successor regulation;

(II) project-specific circumstances, including the need for further studies, making the 180-day deadline insufficient; or

(III) the application not meeting the requirements for approval.

(B) Categorical exclusion.—As the Secretary determines to be appropriate, the Secretary may promulgate regulations providing that preliminary geotechnical work and meteorological monitoring relating to renewable energy projects shall be categorically excluded from the requirements for an environmental assessment or environmental impact statement under section 1501.4 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations, or a successor regulation.

(4) Processing priority.—In processing applications described in paragraph (2)(A), the Secretary shall—

(A) give priority to applications for renewable energy projects in priority areas; and

(B) process applications for renewable energy projects in areas that are not priority areas in the order in which the applications are received.

(5) Use of competitive process.—

(A) In general.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall not use a competitive process for the review of an application described in paragraph (2)(A), except—

(i) in a case in which 2 or more applicants file an application for the same site, or portions of the same site, not more than 15 days apart; or

(ii) as otherwise established by the Secretary through a subsequent rulemaking process delineating the instances in which the Secretary will use the competitive process.

(B) Limitation.—Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to applications for competitive right-of-way leases in priority areas.

(e) Increasing economic certainty.—

(1) Rents and fees.—

(A) In general.—In determining rental rates and other fees for renewable energy project leases or right-of-way grants, the Secretary shall ensure that the total rental rates and other fees charged do not exceed the average amount charged for similar activities on private land in the State or county in which the rental rates and other fees are charged.

(B) Individual appraisals not required.—For purposes of determining rental rates for renewable energy projects, the Secretary—

(i) shall not be required to conduct individual appraisals; and

(ii) may use average cash rents included in the Pastureland Rents Survey prepared by the National Agricultural Statistics Service, as determined for the 5-year period ending on the date on which the rental rate is determined.

(C) Increases in base rental rates.—After a base rental rate is established for a lease or right-of-way grant authorization for a renewable energy project, any increase in the base rental rate shall be limited to the percentage increase, if any, in the Gross Domestic Product: Implicit Price Deflator, as published by the Bureau of Economic Analysis of the Department of Commerce, for the most recent 12-month period for which data are available before the date of the increase.

(D) Capacity fees.—The Secretary may consider charging a capacity fee for a renewable energy project only if the Secretary determines that capacity fees are charged within the region or State in which the renewable energy project is carried out, as part of leaseholds on State or private land.

(2) Bonds.—The Secretary shall adopt a process for establishing bond requirements for decommissioning renewable energy projects that—

(A) do not establish a minimum per acre amount; and

(B) are based on the difference between—

(i) the estimated, site-specific net costs of reclamation of the covered land; and

(ii) the salvage value of materials available after decommissioning the renewable energy project.

(f) Disposition of revenues; Renewable Energy Resource Conservation Fund.—

(1) Disposition of revenues.—

(A) Availability.—Except as provided in subparagraph (C), without further appropriation or fiscal year limitation, of the amounts collected from wind and solar energy projects as bonus bids, rentals, fees, or other payments under a right-of-way, permit, lease, or other authorization—

(i) for the period beginning on January 1, 2027, and ending on December 31, 2045—

(I) 25 percent shall be paid by the Secretary of the Treasury to the State within the boundaries of which the revenue is derived;

(II) 25 percent shall be paid by the Secretary of the Treasury to the 1 or more counties within the boundaries of which the revenue is derived, to be allocated among the counties based on the percentage of land from which the revenue is derived;

(III) 15 percent shall be deposited in the Treasury and credited to the Bureau of Land Management's Renewable Energy Management account to be made available to the Secretary to carry out subsections (c) and (d), including amendments made by those subsections, including the transfer of the funds by the Bureau of Land Management to other Federal agencies and State agencies to facilitate the processing of permits for renewable energy projects, with priority given to using the amounts, to the maximum extent practicable, without detrimental impacts to emerging markets, to expedite the issuance of permits required for the development of wind and solar energy projects in the States from which the revenues are derived; and

(IV) 35 percent shall be deposited in the Fund; and

(ii) beginning on January 1, 2046—

(I) 25 percent shall be paid by the Secretary of the Treasury to the State within the boundaries of which the revenue is derived;

(II) 25 percent shall be paid by the Secretary of the Treasury to the 1 or more counties within the boundaries of which the revenue is derived, to be allocated among the counties based on the percentage of land from which the revenue is derived;

(III) 10 percent shall be deposited in the Treasury and be made available to the Secretary to carry out subsections (c) and (d), including amendments made by those subsections, including the transfer of the funds by the Bureau of Land Management to other Federal agencies and State agencies to facilitate the processing of permits for wind and solar energy projects, with priority given to using the amounts, to the maximum extent practicable, without detrimental impacts to emerging markets, to expedite the issuance of permits required for the development of renewable energy projects in the States from which the revenues are derived; and

(IV) 40 percent shall be deposited in the Fund.

(B) Rule for projects located in multiple States.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall issue a proposed rule establishing a formula for the disposition of revenues under clauses (i)(I) and (ii)(I) of subparagraph (A) in a case in which a wind and solar energy project is located in more than 1 State.

(C) Filing fees.—With respect to wind and solar energy projects—

(i) subparagraph (A) does not apply to amounts collected from application filing fees authorized under section 304 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1734); and

(ii) such application filing fees may be retained by the applicable agency to recover costs associated with issuing the right-of-way, permit, or other authorization associated with the application.

(2) Payments to States and counties.—

(A) In general.—Amounts paid to States and counties under paragraph (1)(A) shall be used consistent with section 35 of the Mineral Leasing Act (30 U.S.C. 191).

(B) Payments in lieu of taxes.—A payment to a county under subclause (II) of clause (i) or (ii) of paragraph (1)(A) shall be in addition to a payment in lieu of taxes received by the county under chapter 69 of title 31, United States Code.

(3) Renewable Energy Resource Conservation Fund.—

(A) In general.—There is established in the Treasury a fund, to be known as the "Renewable Energy Resource Conservation Fund", which shall be administered by the Secretary.

(B) Use of funds.—

(i) In general.—The Secretary may make amounts in the Fund available to Federal, State, local, and Tribal agencies for distribution in regions in which renewable energy projects are located on Federal land, for the purposes described in clause (ii).

(ii) Purposes.—The purposes referred to in clause (i) are—

(I) restoring and protecting—

(aa) fish and wildlife habitat for species affected by renewable energy projects;

(bb) fish and wildlife corridors for species affected by renewable energy projects; and

(cc) wetlands, streams, rivers, and other natural water bodies in areas affected by renewable energy projects; and

(II) preserving and improving recreational access to Federal land and water in the applicable region through an easement, right-of-way, or other instrument from willing landowners for the purpose of enhancing public access to existing Federal land and water that is inaccessible or restricted due to renewable energy projects.

(C) Cooperative agreements.—The Secretary may enter into cooperative agreements with State and Tribal agencies, nonprofit organizations, and other appropriate entities to carry out the activities described in subparagraph (B).

(D) Investment of Fund.—

(i) In general.—Any amounts deposited in the Fund shall earn interest in an amount determined by the Secretary of the Treasury on the basis of the current average market yield on outstanding marketable obligations of the United States of comparable maturities.

(ii) Use.—Any interest earned under clause (i) may be deposited into the Fund and used without further appropriation.

(E) Report to Congress.—At the end of each fiscal year, the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Natural Resources of the House of Representatives a report identifying—

(i) the amounts described in paragraph (1) that were collected during that fiscal year, organized by source;

(ii) the amount and purpose of payments made to each Federal, State, local, and Tribal agency under subparagraph (B) during that fiscal year; and

(iii) the amount remaining in the Fund at the end of the fiscal year.

(F) Intent of Congress.—It is the intent of Congress that the revenues deposited and expended from the Fund shall supplement, and not supplant, annual appropriations for activities described in subparagraph (B).

(g) Savings clause.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the Secretary and the Secretary of Agriculture shall continue to manage public land under the principles of multiple use and sustained yield in accordance with title I of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.) or the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act of 1974 (16 U.S.C. 1600 et seq.), as applicable, for the purposes of land use planning, permit processing, and conducting environmental reviews.

SEC. 1215. HYDROPOWER MAINTENANCE AND MODERNIZATION.

(a) Hydropower as an essential renewable resource.—

(1) Sense of Congress on the use of hydropower renewable resources.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(A) hydropower is a renewable resource for purposes of all Federal programs and is an essential source of energy in the United States; and

(B) the United States should protect existing hydropower resources and increase substantially the capacity and generation of clean, renewable hydropower resources to address a changing climate and improve environmental quality in the United States.

(2) Energy Policy Act of 2005.—Section 203 of the Energy Policy Act of 2005 (42 U.S.C. 15852) is amended—

(A) in subsection (a), by amending paragraphs (1) through (3) to read as follows:

"(1) Not less than 12 percent in fiscal years 2027 through 2028.

"(2) Not less than 16 percent in fiscal years 2029 through 2031.

"(3) Not less than 20 percent in fiscal year 2032 and each fiscal year thereafter.";

(B) in subsection (b)(2), by striking "or new hydroelectric generation capacity achieved from increased efficiency or additions of new capacity at an existing hydroelectric project" and inserting "or hydropower"; and

(C) in subsection (c)—

(i) by striking paragraph (1); and

(ii) by redesignating paragraph (2) as paragraph (1).

(3) Other Federal regulations, orders, and policies.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, each Federal department and agency shall submit to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives a report demonstrating that the department or agency has amended any applicable regulation, order, or other policy of the department or agency related to renewable energy to ensure treatment of hydropower by the Federal Government consistent with the amendments made by paragraph (2).

(4) Licenses for construction.—Section 4(e) of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 797(e)), as amended by this Act, is further amended, in the first sentence, by inserting "to mitigate the effects of the applicable project on such reservation, so as to provide" after "deem necessary" in the first proviso.

(5) Operation of navigation facilities.—Section 18 of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 811), as amended by this Act, is further amended by adding before the period at the end of the first sentence "to mitigate effects of the applicable project".

(b) Protecting and promoting small and next-generation hydropower projects.—

(1) Exemptions from licensing requirements for certain small hydroelectric power projects.—Section 405 of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2705) is amended by striking subsection (d) and inserting the following:

"(d) Exemptions from licensing in certain cases.—

"(1) In general.—Subject to paragraphs (2) and (3), the Commission may in its discretion, by rule or order, upon application and on a case-by-case basis or on the basis of classes or categories of projects, grant an exemption in whole or in part from the requirements, including the licensing requirements, of part I of the Federal Power Act to any small hydroelectric power project—

"(A) having a proposed installed capacity of 40 megawatts or less; or

"(B) for which a license was issued under part I of the Federal Power Act and the licensee applies for an exemption under this subsection, if—

"(i) the license was issued after the date of enactment of the Electric Consumers Protection Act of 1986;

"(ii) the Commission determines, based on information available to the Commission, that continued operation of the project is not likely to jeopardize the continued existence of any species listed as a threatened species or an endangered species under the Endangered Species Act of 1973;

"(iii) the Commission determines, based on information available to the Commission, that continued operation of the project is not likely to result in the destruction or adverse modification of an area designated as critical habitat for any species listed as a threatened species or an endangered species under the Endangered Species Act of 1973; and

"(iv) the project has an installed capacity of 40 megawatts or less.

"(2) Requirements.—An exemption granted under paragraph (1) shall be subject to the same limitations, to ensure protection for fish and wildlife as well as other environmental concerns, as those which are set forth in subsections (c) and (d) of section 30 of the Federal Power Act with respect to determinations made and exemptions granted under subsection (b) of such section 30 and subsections (c) and (d) of such section 30 shall apply with respect to actions taken and exemptions granted under this subsection.

"(3) Effects.—

"(A) In general.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the granting of an exemption to a project under this subsection shall in no case have the effect of waiving or limiting the application, to such project, of the second sentence of subsection (b) of this section.

"(B) Environmental review.—The Commission granting an exemption under paragraph (1) may not be considered a major Federal action under section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

"(4) Exemption process.—The Commission shall make a determination with respect to any application for an exemption under paragraph (1)(B) not later than 90 days after submission of such application, which period shall include notice and opportunity for public comment. Any exemption granted under paragraph (1)(B) shall become effective upon the expiration of the applicable existing license.".

(2) Expedited licensing of next-generation hydropower.—Part I of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 792 et seq.), as amended by this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 37. Expedited licensing of next-generation hydropower projects.

"(a) In general.—The Commission shall process applications for, and take final action on, licenses for next-generation hydropower projects in accordance with this section.

"(b) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Emerging hydropower technology project.—The term 'emerging hydropower technology project' means a project that the Commission determines—

"(A) will produce electricity from a generator driven by a turbine that converts the potential energy of falling or flowing water;

"(B) will utilize turbine or generating technology, an energy storage method, or a measure to protect, mitigate, or enhance environmental resources, that is not in widespread, utility-scale use in the United States as of the date of enactment of this section;

"(C) will not be, based on information available to the Commission, likely to jeopardize the continued existence of any species listed as a threatened species or an endangered species under the Endangered Species Act of 1973; and

"(D) will not be, based on information available to the Commission, likely to result in the destruction or adverse modification of an area designated as critical habitat for any species listed as a threatened species or an endangered species under the Endangered Species Act of 1973.

"(2) Next-generation hydropower project.—The term 'next-generation hydropower project' means a project that—

"(A) may be licensed under this Act;

"(B) is not—

"(i) a qualifying conduit hydropower facility under section 30; or

"(ii) exempted from licensing under—

"(I) section 30; or

"(II) section 405 of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978; and

"(C) is—

"(i) an emerging hydropower technology project;

"(ii) a qualifying facility, as defined in section 34;

"(iii) a qualifying closed-loop pumped storage project, as defined in section 35;

"(iv) a marine or hydrokinetic project, including a project that utilizes a wave technology, tidal technology, or in-river technology; or

"(v) a hydropower facility within an irrigation, water supply, industrial, agricultural, or other open or closed water conduit system.

"(c) Expedited licensing process.—

"(1) Notification of intent.—

"(A) Filing of notification.—An applicant for any next-generation hydropower project shall commence the licensing process by filing a notification of intent with the Commission.

"(B) Deadline for filing.—Notwithstanding section 15(b)(1), an applicant for a next-generation hydropower project shall file a notification of intent at least 2 years before the expiration of the existing license, if applicable.

"(2) Filing of application.—

"(A) General deadline.—An applicant for a next-generation hydropower project shall submit to the Commission an application not later than 1 year after filing the notification of intent under paragraph (1).

"(B) Existing licensee deadline.—Notwithstanding section 15(c)(1), an application for any next-generation hydropower project shall be filed with the Commission at least 1 year before the expiration of the term of the existing license, if applicable.

"(3) Deadline for issuance.—The Commission shall take final action on a license for a next-generation hydropower project under this section not later than 2 years after the applicant notifies the Commission of its intent to file an application for a license, as provided under paragraph (1).

"(d) Requirements.—In issuing a license under this section the Commission and all resource agencies with regulatory responsibilities in the licensing process shall—

"(1) maximize reliance on existing studies and information and require any person or agency requesting a new study or information to demonstrate that collection of any new data or preparation of any new study will not jeopardize the Commission's ability to meet the licensing deadline under subsection (c)(3);

"(2) consider whether obligations under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by the POPULIST Act, may be met through preparation of an environmental assessment or supplementing a previously prepared environmental assessment or environmental impact statement;

"(3) eliminate any nonessential meetings, reports, and paperwork, including interim study reports and a draft license application or similar document, without compromising effective consultation with, and participation of, Federal and State resource agencies, Indian Tribes, and the public; and

"(4) consider existing project works and other infrastructure to be included in the environmental baseline.

"(e) Rule.—Not later than 120 days after the date of enactment of this section, and after consultation with the task force described in subsection (f), which 120 days shall include public notice and opportunity for comment, the Commission shall issue a rule implementing this section. Such rule shall include a process, not to exceed 60 days, for the Commission to determine on a case-by-case basis whether a proposed or existing project qualifies as a next-generation hydropower project prior to the initiation of the licensing or relicensing process.

"(f) Task force.—The Commission shall convene a task force, with appropriate Federal and State agencies, Indian Tribes, and licensees under this part represented, to coordinate the regulatory processes associated with the authorizations required to license next-generation hydropower projects pursuant to this section.".

(c) Identifying and removing market barriers to hydropower.—

(1) Report on hydropower barriers.—

(A) In general.—Not later than 270 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, in consultation with the Secretary of Energy, shall submit to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives a report—

(i) describing any barriers to the development and proper compensation of conventional, storage, conduit, and emerging hydropower technologies caused by—

(I) rules of Transmission Organizations, as defined in section 3 of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 796);

(II) regulations or policies—

(aa) of the Commission; or

(bb) under the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 791a et seq.); or

(III) other Federal and State laws and policies unique to hydropower development, operation, and regulation, as compared to other sources of electricity;

(ii) containing recommendations of the Commission for reducing barriers described in clause (i) across regulatory and market sectors;

(iii) identifying and determining any regulatory, market, procurement, or cost recovery mechanisms that would—

(I) encourage development of conventional, storage, conduit, and emerging hydropower technologies; and

(II) properly compensate conventional, storage, conduit, and emerging hydropower technologies for the full range of services provided to the electric grid, including—

(aa) balancing electricity supply and demand;

(bb) ensuring grid reliability;

(cc) providing ancillary services;

(dd) contributing to the decarbonization of the electric grid; and

(ee) integrating intermittent power sources into the grid in a cost-effective manner; and

(iv) identifying ownership and development models that could reduce barriers to the development of conventional, storage, conduit, and emerging hydropower technologies, including—

(I) opportunities for risk-sharing mechanisms and partnerships, including co-ownership models; and

(II) opportunities to foster lease-sale and lease-back arrangements with publicly owned electric utilities.

(B) Commission proceedings.—The Commission shall base the report under subparagraph (A) on the findings of the Commission in—

(i) Docket No. AD16-20;

(ii) Docket No. RM16-23; and

(iii) any other relevant proceedings.

(C) Technical conference and public comment.—In preparing the report under subparagraph (A), the Commission shall solicit public input, including by convening a technical conference and providing an opportunity for public submission of written comments on a draft report.

(2) Definitions.—In this subsection:

(A) Ancillary services.—The term "ancillary services" means the specialty services and functions provided by the electric grid that facilitate and support the continuous flow of electricity so that supply will continually meet demand, including—

(i) autonomous dynamic voltage support;

(ii) balancing;

(iii) black start capabilities;

(iv) frequency control;

(v) load following;

(vi) operating, flexibility, contingency, and other reserves;

(vii) reactive power; and

(viii) synchronized regulation.

(B) Conventional, storage, conduit, and emerging hydropower technologies.—The term "conventional, storage, conduit, and emerging hydropower technologies" means hydropower in all its forms and modes of operation, including—

(i) the use of dams or similar infrastructure to store water in a reservoir or divert flows from a waterway, and to release stored or diverted water through a turbine to generate electricity according to any mode of operation, such as run-of-river, peaking, reregulating, storage, or load following;

(ii) a configuration of 2 water reservoirs at different elevations that can generate power as water moves down through a turbine, and pump water back to the upper reservoir when the turbine operations are reversed, including both closed- and open-loop systems;

(iii) marine and hydrokinetic technologies, including wave, tidal, and in-river systems;

(iv) mini- and micro-hydropower facilities within irrigation, water supply, industrial, agricultural, or other open or closed water conduit systems; and

(v) other facilities that produce electricity from generators driven by turbines that convert the potential energy of falling or flowing water.

(d) Modernizing hydropower licensing.—Part I of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 792 et seq.), as amended by this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 38. Licensing process coordination and improvement.

"(a) Definition of Federal authorization.—In this section, the term 'Federal authorization' means any authorization required under Federal law, including any license, condition of any license by a Secretary under section 4(e), prescription submitted by a Secretary under section 18, permit, special use authorization, certification, opinion, consultation, determination, or other approval, with respect to an application for a license under this part.

"(b) Designation as lead agency.—

"(1) In general.—The Commission shall act as the lead agency for purposes of all applicable Federal authorizations, including for purposes of complying with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended by the POPULIST Act, and for purposes of coordinating with any required State or local environmental reviews.

"(2) Other agencies.—Each Federal, State, and local government agency considering an aspect of an application for a Federal authorization shall coordinate with the Commission and comply with the deadline established in the schedule developed for the license under this part, in accordance with the rule issued under subsection (d)(2)(C).

"(c) Use of existing studies.—

"(1) In general.—To the maximum extent practicable and in accordance with the best available science, the Commission and other Federal and State agencies with a responsibility for a Federal authorization shall—

"(A) use relevant existing studies and data; and

"(B) avoid duplicating current, existing studies that are applicable to the relevant project.

"(2) Demonstration.—When requiring any new study or collection of information, the Commission or other Federal or State agency with a responsibility for a Federal authorization shall—

"(A) explain how the new study or other information is necessary to support the agency's decision making with respect to the Federal authorization;

"(B) identify how existing information reasonably available to the agency is inadequate to support the agency's decision making with substantial evidence; and

"(C) include an analysis of how the value of the required new study or other information outweighs the cost of producing it.

"(d) Schedule.—

"(1) Timing for issuance.—It is the sense of Congress that, except as otherwise provided in this part, all Federal authorizations required for a project should be issued within a reasonable time, so as to facilitate a final Commission licensing decision within 2 years after the date on which the license application for the project under this part is considered to be complete by the Commission.

"(2) Commission schedule.—

"(A) In general.—The Commission, in accordance with the rule issued under subparagraph (C), shall—

"(i) establish a schedule for—

"(I) all filings and issuances necessary and appropriate for its issuance of a license issued under this part; and

"(II) the issuance of all Federal authorizations for the applicable project; and

"(ii) issue such schedule when the Commission determines that the license application for the project is ready for environmental analysis.

"(B) Requirements.—In establishing the schedule under subparagraph (A), the Commission shall—

"(i) consult and cooperate with the Federal and State agencies responsible for a Federal authorization;

"(ii) ensure the expeditious completion of all proceedings relating to a Federal authorization; and

"(iii) comply with applicable schedules established by Federal law with respect to a Federal authorization.

"(C) Rulemaking.—

"(i) Commission rulemaking to establish process to set schedule.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this section, the Commission, in consultation with appropriate Federal and State agencies and after providing notice and opportunity for public comment, shall issue a final rule establishing a process for setting a schedule under subparagraph (A).

"(ii) Considerations.—In issuing a rule under this subparagraph, the Commission shall ensure that the schedule for each Federal authorization—

"(I) includes deadlines for actions by—

"(aa) any Federal or State agency with responsibilities for a Federal authorization;

"(bb) the applicant;

"(cc) the Commission; and

"(dd) other agencies and participants in a proceeding;

"(II) is developed in consultation with the applicant and any Federal or State agency with responsibility for the applicable Federal authorization;

"(III) provides an opportunity for any Federal or State agency with responsibility for a Federal authorization to identify and resolve issues of concern, consistent with subsections (e) and (f);

"(IV) complies with applicable schedules established under Federal law;

"(V) ensures expeditious completion of all proceedings required under Federal and State law, to the maximum extent practicable; and

"(VI) facilitates completion of Federal and State agency studies, reviews, and any other procedures required prior to, or concurrent with, the preparation of the environmental document of the Commission required under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended by the POPULIST Act, to the maximum extent practicable.

"(3) Adherence to schedule.—

"(A) In general.—The Commission, Federal, and State agencies with responsibility for a Federal authorization, the license applicant, and all other agencies and other participants in proceedings for Federal authorizations for the project shall meet the deadlines established by the schedule developed under paragraph (2).

"(B) Extension of schedule deadlines.—

"(i) Federal authorizations.—A Federal or State agency that is unable to complete its disposition of a Federal authorization by the deadline set forth in the schedule established by the Commission under paragraph (2) shall, not later than 30 days prior to such deadline, file for an extension with the Commission. The Commission shall issue a one-time extension of up to 90 days to any such Federal or State agency upon a demonstration of good cause.

"(ii) Other extensions.—The Commission may grant extensions requested by the license applicant or other licensing participants to facilitate settlement, address unforeseen circumstances, or accommodate other showings of good cause if the Commission determines that any such extension would reduce the overall time period for decision making on required Federal authorizations for the project, increase the administrative efficiency of the processes for Federal authorizations, or improve the quality of information available to Federal and State agencies with a responsibility for a Federal authorization.

"(iii) Reissuance of schedule.—If the Commission grants an extension under this paragraph, the Commission shall reissue the schedule and applicable deadlines to reflect the extension of time granted.

"(C) Limitation.—Notwithstanding the Commission's authority to extend the schedule as provided in subparagraph (B), the Commission shall not grant any extension that would increase by 1 year or longer the time period in the original schedule issued under paragraph (2) for obtaining all Federal authorizations for the applicable project.

"(4) Failure to meet schedule deadlines.—

"(A) In general.—Subject to subparagraph (C), if a Federal or State agency fails to complete its disposition of a Federal authorization in accordance with the schedule deadline established under paragraph (2), as may be extended under paragraph (3)—

"(i) in the case of a Federal agency, $5,000 of unobligated funds shall be rescinded; or

"(ii) in the case of a State agency, $5,000 of unobligated funds shall be rescinded from Federal fish and wildlife or water resources funding programs to the State.

"(B) Subsequent rescission.—Subject to subparagraph (C), for each additional week after any deadline established by the Commission under paragraph (2), as may be extended under paragraph (3), remains uncompleted by a Federal or State agency with a responsibility for a Federal authorization, an additional rescission of $5,000 shall occur as provided in subparagraph (A).

"(C) Maximum annual rescission.—For each individual Federal authorization for a project, the total amounts rescinded under subparagraphs (A) and (B) shall not exceed, in any fiscal year, $100,000.

"(D) Limitation.—No head of a Federal or State department or agency shall reprogram funds from another Federal account or program for the loss of the funds under this paragraph. No head of a Federal or State agency shall report or include any rescinded funds as an administrative cost for purposes of annual charges under section 10(e).

"(E) Administration.—

"(i) Certification.—The Commission shall certify in writing each failure described in subparagraph (A) and each additional 7-day period described in subparagraph (B) to the Director of the Office of Management and Budget and the head of each relevant Federal agency.

"(ii) Federal agency rescissions.—For a failure by a Federal agency, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall identify unobligated balances otherwise available for salaries and expenses of that agency and shall direct the head of the agency to execute the applicable rescission from those balances.

"(iii) State agency rescissions.—For a failure by a State agency, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, in consultation with the heads of the relevant Federal agencies, shall identify unobligated Federal fish and wildlife or water resources assistance otherwise available to that State agency and shall direct the head of the administering Federal agency to execute the applicable rescission from that assistance.

"(iv) Public notice.—The Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall publish notice of each rescission under this paragraph, including the missed deadline, the amount rescinded, and the account or program from which the rescission was made.

"(e) Inconsistent or conflicting license terms.—

"(1) Consultation to resolve inconsistency or conflict.—

"(A) In general.—If a term or condition of a Federal authorization submitted for inclusion in a license under this part conflicts or is otherwise inconsistent with another such term or condition, the Commission shall initiate and facilitate consultation between the Federal or State resource agencies submitting conflicting or inconsistent terms or conditions, to attempt to resolve the inconsistency or conflict, including with any such conditions recommended for inclusion in the license by the Commission.

"(B) Meetings.—The consultation period under this subsection shall extend up to 90 days and shall include at least 1 technical conference or similar meeting. The Commission shall issue notice of any such conference or other consultation meeting, which shall be open to participation by the license applicant, other agencies, and other licensing participants.

"(C) Amendment and reissuance.—If the agencies submitting the terms or conditions resolve the inconsistency or conflict, the Commission and other consulting agencies shall set a reasonable schedule and deadline, that is not later than 90 days after the conclusion of the consultation, for the agencies to amend and reissue their Federal authorizations to reflect the resolution, as appropriate.

"(2) Resolution of inconsistency or conflict.—

"(A) Statements.—If agencies are unable to resolve an inconsistency or conflict under paragraph (1), not later than 30 days after the conclusion of the consultation process under such paragraph, the agencies shall submit to the public record maintained by the Commission a statement that identifies the inconsistency or conflict, explains the position taken by each agency causing the inconsistency or conflict, and provides an analysis, supported by information in the public record, of the factual basis for the inconsistent or conflicting position taken by each agency.

"(B) Referral.—Following such submission, the Commission shall refer the matter for resolution as provided in subsection (f).

"(f) Resolution of interagency disputes.—

"(1) Referral to OMB.—For any dispute under subsection (c), (d), or (e) among Federal and State agencies with responsibility for a Federal authorization, as well as any dispute between any such agency and the license applicant, the Commission may, upon its own motion or the request of the head of any such agency or the license applicant, refer the matter to the Director of the Office of Management and Budget.

"(2) Action by OMB.—With respect to any dispute referred to the Director under paragraph (1), the Director, in consultation with the Chair of the Council on Environmental Quality, shall act as appropriate—

"(A) to ensure timely participation;

"(B) to ensure a timely decision;

"(C) to mediate the dispute; or

"(D) to refer the matter to the President.

"(3) Participation.—The license applicant and other interested participants shall be provided the opportunity to participate in the resolution of any issues under this subsection.".

(e) Hydropower development at existing nonpowered dams and closed-loop pumped storage.—

(1) Promoting hydropower development at existing nonpowered dams.—Section 34 of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 823e), as amended by this Act, is further amended—

(A) by amending subsection (a) to read as follows:

"(a) In general.—The Commission may issue a license under section 37 for any facility the Commission determines is a qualifying facility.";

(B) by striking subsections (b) and (c); and

(C) by redesignating subsections (d), (e), and (f) as subsections (b), (c), and (d), respectively.

(2) Closed-loop pumped storage projects.—Section 35 of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 823f), as amended by this Act, is further amended—

(A) by amending subsection (a) to read as follows:

"(a) In general.—The Commission may issue a license under section 37 for any project the Commission determines is a qualifying closed-loop pumped storage project.";

(B) by striking subsections (b), (c), (e), (g), and (h);

(C) by redesignating subsections (d) and (f) as subsections (b) and (c), respectively; and

(D) by adding at the end the following:

"(d) No license required for certain projects.—Notwithstanding section 23(b), a closed-loop pumped storage project shall not be required to be licensed under this part if the closed-loop pumped storage project—

"(1) is not located upon any part of the public lands or reservations of the United States; and

"(2) does not use a federally owned dam or reservoir.

"(e) Definitions.—For purposes of this section:

"(1) Closed-loop pumped storage project.—The term 'closed-loop pumped storage project' means a project for the generation of electric power—

"(A) that—

"(i) is configured to use 2 or more natural or artificial reservoirs or other water bodies at different elevations; and

"(ii) can generate electric power as water moves down through a turbine and recharge by pumping water to the upper reservoir;

"(B) that will be constructed, operated, and maintained for the generation of electric power in a manner that ensures that the upper and lower reservoirs or other water bodies do not impound any stream channel of any surface body of water over which Congress has jurisdiction under its authority to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several States; and

"(C) in which any infrastructure connecting a project reservoir and a natural surface waterway is used for the sole purpose of the initial fill and periodic recharge of reservoirs needed for project operation.

"(2) Qualifying closed-loop pumped storage project.—The term 'qualifying closed-loop pumped storage project' means a closed-loop pumped storage project that, as of the date of enactment of the POPULIST Act, is not licensed under, or exempted from the license requirements contained in, this part.

"(f) Savings clauses.—Nothing in this section affects—

"(1) any requirement of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.), the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1251 et seq.), or the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by the POPULIST Act, that may apply to the construction, operation, or maintenance of a closed-loop pumped storage project; or

"(2) except as provided in subsection (d), any authority of the Commission to license a closed-loop pumped storage project under this part.".

(f) Credit for maintaining and enhancing hydroelectric facilities.—

(1) In general.—Subpart E of part IV of subchapter A of chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by inserting after section 48E the following new section:

"Sec. 48F. Credit for maintaining and enhancing hydroelectric facilities.

"(a) In general.—For purposes of section 46, the credit for maintaining and enhancing hydroelectric facilities for any taxable year is an amount equal to 30 percent of the basis of any hydropower improvement property placed in service during such taxable year.

"(b) Certain progress expenditure rules made applicable.—Rules similar to the rules of subsections (c)(4) and (d) of section 46, as in effect on the day before the date of the enactment of the Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1990, shall apply for purposes of subsection (a).

"(c) Hydropower improvement property.—In this section, the term 'hydropower improvement property' means property which—

"(1) adds or improves fish passage at a qualified dam,

"(2) maintains or improves the quality of the water retained or released by a qualified dam,

"(3) promotes downstream sediment transport processes and habitat maintenance with respect to a qualified dam,

"(4) is part of a marine energy technology project or a marine energy project, or

"(5) places into service an approved remote dam.

"(d) Other definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Approved remote dam.—The term 'approved remote dam' means—

"(A) a hydroelectric dam which—

"(i) exclusively services communities not interconnected to the Electric Reliability Council of Texas, the Eastern Interconnection, or the Western Interconnection,

"(ii) does not contribute to atmospheric pollution, and

"(iii) has a maximum net output of not greater than 40 megawatts, and

"(B) any interconnection property associated with a dam described in subparagraph (A).

"(2) Commission.—The term 'Commission' means the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

"(3) Fish passage.—The term 'fish passage' means, with respect to any qualified dam, any new or upgraded turbine, fishway, or other fish passage technology which improves fish migration and survival rates.

"(4) Interconnection property.—The term 'interconnection property' means any tangible property—

"(A) (i) with respect to any dam described in paragraph (1)(A), to enable the delivery of electricity from such dam to any customer, or

"(ii) with respect to any project described in paragraph (5)(A) or (6)(A), to enable the delivery of electricity from such project to any customer, and

"(B) which satisfies the requirements under clauses (ii) and (iii) of section 48(a)(8)(B).

"(5) Marine energy project.—The term 'marine energy project' means—

"(A) a project which produces electricity from—

"(i) waves, tides, and currents in oceans, estuaries, and tidal areas,

"(ii) free flowing water in rivers, lakes, streams, and man-made channels,

"(iii) differentials in salinity and pressure gradients, or

"(iv) differentials in water temperature, including ocean thermal energy conversion, and

"(B) any interconnection property associated with a project described in subparagraph (A).

"(6) Marine energy technology project.—The term 'marine energy technology project' means—

"(A) a project which the Commission determines—

"(i) will produce electricity from a generator that converts the potential energy of flowing water,

"(ii) will utilize a generating technology that is not in widespread, utility-scale use in the United States as of the date of enactment of this section,

"(iii) will not be, based on information available to the Commission, likely to jeopardize the continued existence of any species listed as a threatened species or an endangered species under the Endangered Species Act of 1973, and

"(iv) will not be, based on information available to the Commission, likely to result in the destruction or adverse modification of an area designated as critical habitat for any species listed as a threatened species or an endangered species under such Act, and

"(B) any interconnection property associated with a project described in subparagraph (A).

"(7) Qualified dam.—The term 'qualified dam' means a hydroelectric dam that is licensed by the Commission or legally operating without such a license before the date of enactment of this section.".

(2) Elective payment and transfer of credit.—

(A) Elective payment.—Section 6417 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended—

(i) in subsection (b), by adding at the end the following:

"(13) The credit for maintaining and enhancing hydroelectric facilities under section 48F.";

(ii) in subsection (d)(1)—

(I) in subparagraph (E), by striking "(C), or (D)" each place it appears and inserting "(C), (D), or (E)";

(II) by redesignating subparagraph (E), as amended by subclause (I), as subparagraph (F); and

(III) by inserting after subparagraph (D) the following:

"(E) Election with respect to credit for maintaining and enhancing hydroelectric facilities.—If a taxpayer other than an entity described in subparagraph (A) makes an election under this subparagraph with respect to any taxable year in which such taxpayer has, after December 31, 2022, placed in service hydropower improvement property, as defined in section 48F(c), such taxpayer shall be treated as an applicable entity for purposes of this section for such taxable year, but only with respect to the credit described in subsection (b)(13).".

(B) Transfer.—Section 6418(f)(1)(A) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(xiii) The credit for maintaining and enhancing hydroelectric facilities under section 48F.".

(C) Basis reduction and recapture notification.—Section 6418(g)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended, in the matter preceding subparagraph (A), by striking "clauses (ix) through (xi)" and inserting "clauses (ix) through (xi) and (xiii)".

(3) Conforming amendments.—

(A) Section 46 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended—

(i) in paragraph (6), by striking "and" at the end;

(ii) in paragraph (7), by striking the period at the end and inserting ", and"; and

(iii) by adding at the end the following:

"(8) the credit for maintaining and enhancing hydroelectric facilities.".

(B) Section 49(a)(1)(C) of such Code is amended—

(i) in clause (vii), by striking "and" at the end;

(ii) in clause (viii), by striking the period at the end and inserting ", and"; and

(iii) by adding at the end the following:

"(ix) the basis of any hydropower improvement property under section 48F.".

(C) Section 50 of such Code is amended—

(i) in subsection (a)(2)(E), as amended by section 13702(b) of Public Law 117-169, by striking "or 48E(e)" and inserting "48E(e), or 48F(b)"; and

(ii) in subsection (d)(2)—

(I) in the matter preceding subparagraph (A), by inserting "or any hydropower improvement property, as defined in section 48F(c)," after "any energy storage technology (as defined in section 48(c)(6))"; and

(II) in subparagraph (B), by striking "energy storage technology" each place it appears and inserting "energy storage technology or hydropower improvement property".

(D) The table of sections for subpart E of part IV of subchapter A of chapter 1 of such Code is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 48E the following new item:

"Sec. 48F. Credit for maintaining and enhancing hydroelectric facilities.".

(4) Effective date.—The amendments made by this subsection shall apply to property placed in service after December 31, 2022.

SEC. 1216. GEOTHERMAL AND RENEWABLE ENERGY PERMITTING REFORM.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Eligible project.—The term "eligible project" has the meaning given the term in section 3101 of the Energy Act of 2020 (43 U.S.C. 3001).

(2) Previously disturbed or developed.—The term "previously disturbed or developed" has the meaning given the term in section 1021.410(g)(1) of title 10, Code of Federal Regulations, or successor regulations.

(b) Deadline for consideration of applications for rights-of-way.—

(1) Completeness of review.—

(A) In general.—Not later than 30 days after the date on which the Secretary of the Interior or the Secretary of Agriculture, as applicable, receives an application for a right-of-way under section 501 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1761) for an eligible project, the applicable Secretary shall—

(i) notify the applicant that the application is complete; or

(ii) notify the applicant that information is missing from the application and specify any information that is required to be submitted for the application to be complete.

(B) Environmental impact statement.—For an eligible project that requires an environmental impact statement for an application submitted under subparagraph (A), the Secretary of the Interior or the Secretary of Agriculture, as applicable, shall issue a notice of intent not later than 90 days after the date on which the applicable Secretary determines that an application is complete under subparagraph (A).

(2) Cost recovery and issuance or deferral.—

(A) In general.—Not later than 30 days after the date on which an applicant submits a complete application for a right-of-way under paragraph (1), the Secretary of the Interior or the Secretary of Agriculture, as applicable, shall, if a cost recovery agreement is required under section 2804.14 of title 43, Code of Federal Regulations, or successor regulations, or section 251.58 of title 36, Code of Federal Regulations, or successor regulations, issue a cost recovery agreement.

(B) Decision.—Not later than 30 days after the date on which an applicant submits a complete application for a right-of-way under paragraph (1), the Secretary of the Interior or the Secretary of Agriculture, as applicable, shall—

(i) grant or deny the application, if the requirements under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by this Act, and any other applicable law have been completed; or

(ii) defer the decision on the application and provide to the applicant notice—

(I) that specifies steps that the applicant can take for the decision on the application to be issued; and

(II) of a list of actions that need to be taken by the agency in order to comply with applicable law, and timelines and deadlines for completing those actions.

(c) Low-disturbance activities for renewable energy projects.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, to facilitate timely permitting of eligible projects, the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture shall each develop or adopt 1 or more categorical exclusions, including allowing for extraordinary circumstances under which the categorical exclusion shall not be available, under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by this Act, for low-disturbance activities necessary for renewable energy projects.

(2) Activities described.—Low-disturbance activities referred to in paragraph (1) are the following:

(A) Individual surface disturbances of less than 5 acres that have undergone site-specific analysis in a document prepared pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by this Act, that has been previously completed.

(B) Activities at a location at which the same type of activity has previously occurred within 5 years prior to the date of commencement of the activity.

(C) Activities on previously disturbed or developed land for which an approved land use plan or any environmental document prepared pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by this Act, analyzed such activity as reasonably foreseeable, so long as such plan or document was approved within 5 years prior to the date of the activity.

(D) The installation, modification, operation, or removal of commercially available solar photovoltaic systems located on—

(i) a building or other structure, including a rooftop, parking lot, or facility, or mounted to signage, lighting, gates, or fences; or

(ii) previously disturbed or developed land comprising less than 10 acres.

(E) Maintenance of a building or facility, other than construction or a major renovation.

(F) Preliminary geotechnical investigations.

(G) The construction and removal of meteorological evaluation towers.

(d) Renewable energy project review standards.—Section 3102 of the Energy Act of 2020 (43 U.S.C. 3002), as amended by this Act, is further amended—

(1) in subsection (a), in the second sentence, by inserting "sufficient to achieve goals for renewable energy production on Federal land established under section 3104" before the period at the end;

(2) by redesignating subsections (f) and (g), as redesignated by section 1214(d)(1)(A), as subsections (h) and (i), respectively; and

(3) by inserting after subsection (e), as added by section 1214(d)(1)(B), the following:

"(f) Renewable energy project review standards.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this subsection, for the purpose of encouraging standardized reviews and facilitating the permitting of eligible projects, the National Renewable Energy Coordination Office of the Bureau of Land Management shall promulgate renewable energy project review standards to be adopted by regional renewable energy coordination offices.

"(g) Clarification of existing authority.—Under section 307 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1737), the Secretary may accept donations from renewable energy companies to improve community engagement for the permitting of energy projects.".

(e) Preliminary geothermal activities.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture shall each develop or adopt 1 or more categorical exclusions, including allowing for extraordinary circumstances under which the categorical exclusion shall not be available, under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by this Act, for individual disturbances of less than 10 acres for activities required to test, monitor, calibrate, explore, or confirm geothermal resources, provided those activities do not involve—

(1) the commercial production of geothermal resources;

(2) the use of geothermal resources for commercial operations; or

(3) construction of permanent roads.

(f) Annual leasing.—Section 4(b) of the Geothermal Steam Act of 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1003(b)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (2), by striking "every 2 years" and inserting "per year"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(5) Replacement sales.—If a lease sale under this section for a year is cancelled or delayed, the Secretary shall conduct a replacement sale not later than 180 days after the date of the cancellation or delay, as applicable, and the replacement sale may not be cancelled or delayed.".

(g) Deadlines for consideration of geothermal drilling permits.—Section 4 of the Geothermal Steam Act of 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1003) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(h) Deadlines for consideration of geothermal drilling permits.—

"(1) In general.—Not later than 10 days after the date on which the Secretary receives an application for any geothermal drilling permit, the Secretary shall—

"(A) provide written notice to the applicant that the application is complete; or

"(B) notify the applicant that information is missing from the application and specify any information that is required to be submitted for the application to be complete.

"(2) Decision.—Not later than 30 days after the date on which an applicant submits a complete application for a geothermal drilling permit under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall—

"(A) grant or deny the application, if the requirements under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by this Act, and any other applicable law have been completed; or

"(B) defer the decision on the application and provide to the applicant notice—

"(i) that specifies steps that the applicant can take for the decision on the application to be issued; and

"(ii) of a list of actions that need to be taken by the agency in order to comply with applicable law, and timelines and deadlines for completing those actions.".

(h) Cost recovery authority.—Section 24 of the Geothermal Steam Act of 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1023) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"The Secretary shall, not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of the POPULIST Act, promulgate rules for cost recovery, to be paid by permit applicants or lessees, to facilitate the timely coordination and processing of leases, permits, and authorizations and to reimburse the Secretary for all reasonable administrative costs incurred from the inspection and monitoring of activities thereunder.".

(i) Federal permitting process.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Interior shall promulgate regulations and establish a Federal permitting process to allow for simultaneous, concurrent consideration of multiple phases of a geothermal project, including—

(1) surface exploration;

(2) geophysical exploration, including well drilling;

(3) production well drilling; and

(4) use of geothermal resources, including power plant construction.

(j) Geothermal production parity.—Section 390 of the Energy Policy Act of 2005 (42 U.S.C. 15942) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)—

(A) by striking "(NEPA)" and inserting "(42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.) (referred to in this section as 'NEPA')";

(B) by inserting "(30 U.S.C. 181 et seq.)" after "Mineral Leasing Act"; and

(C) by inserting ", or the Geothermal Steam Act of 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1001 et seq.) for the purpose of exploration or development of geothermal resources" before the period at the end; and

(2) in subsection (b)—

(A) in paragraph (2), by striking "oil or gas" and inserting "oil, gas, or geothermal resources"; and

(B) in paragraph (3), by striking "oil or gas" and inserting "oil, gas, or geothermal resources".

(k) Geothermal Ombudsman and Permitting Task Force.—

(1) Definitions.—In this subsection:

(A) Geothermal authorization.—The term "geothermal authorization" means any license, permit, approval, finding, determination, or other administrative decision issued by the Bureau of Land Management and any interagency consultation that is required or authorized under Federal law in order to site, construct, reconstruct, or commence operations of a geothermal energy project administered by the Bureau of Land Management.

(B) Geothermal energy project.—The term "geothermal energy project" means a project wholly or partially located on public land that uses geothermal energy to generate heat or electricity.

(C) Public land.—The term "public land" means land subject to geothermal leasing under section 3 of the Geothermal Steam Act of 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1002).

(D) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

(E) Task Force.—The term "Task Force" means the Geothermal Permitting Task Force established under paragraph (3).

(2) Geothermal Ombudsman.—

(A) In general.—Not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall appoint from within the Bureau of Land Management a Geothermal Ombudsman.

(B) Duties.—The Geothermal Ombudsman appointed under subparagraph (A) shall—

(i) act as a liaison between—

(I) the individual field, district, and State offices of the Bureau of Land Management;

(II) the Division Chief of the National Renewable Energy Coordination Office of the Bureau of Land Management; and

(III) the Director of the Bureau of Land Management;

(ii) provide dispute resolution services between the individual field, district, and State offices of the Bureau of Land Management and applicants for geothermal authorizations;

(iii) monitor and facilitate permit processing practices and timelines across individual field offices of the Bureau of Land Management;

(iv) develop best practices for the permitting and leasing process for geothermal resources; and

(v) coordinate with the Federal Permitting Improvement Steering Council.

(3) Geothermal Permitting Task Force.—

(A) Establishment.—Not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall establish within the Bureau of Land Management a Geothermal Permitting Task Force.

(B) Leadership.—The Task Force shall be headed by the Geothermal Ombudsman appointed under paragraph (2).

(C) Permitting support.—The Task Force shall support the duties of the Geothermal Ombudsman appointed under paragraph (2).

(D) Cross-office personnel assignments.—

(i) In general.—In their capacity as head of the Task Force, the Geothermal Ombudsman may coordinate with any Departmental bureau or office to assign personnel with relevant expertise to assist with completion of geothermal authorizations in field, district, or State offices other than the official duty station where such personnel are located if—

(I) the Departmental bureau or office determines that such assignment will not materially delay ongoing completion of authorizations within the office where the employee is located; and

(II) approval is received from the head of the official duty station where the assigned employee is located.

(ii) Assigned personnel requirements.—Departmental personnel assigned to assist with completion of geothermal authorizations under clause (i) shall—

(I) work in-person full-time at an official Departmental office;

(II) if necessary as determined by the Geothermal Ombudsman, travel to the Bureau of Land Management field, district, or State office with jurisdiction over the geothermal authorization to which the employee has been assigned by the Geothermal Ombudsman;

(III) participate as part of the team of personnel working on geothermal authorizations to which the employee has been assigned by the Geothermal Ombudsman; and

(IV) regularly report to the head of the field, district, or State office of the Bureau of Land Management with jurisdiction over geothermal authorizations to which the employee has been assigned by the Geothermal Ombudsman.

(iii) Retention allowances.—

(I) In general.—Subject to the availability of appropriations, the Geothermal Ombudsman may pay a retention allowance to an employee assigned to assist with the completion of geothermal authorizations under clause (i). Retention allowances—

(aa) shall be stated as the percentage of the rate of basic pay of an employee, and may not exceed 25 percent of such rate of basic pay;

(bb) may not be considered to be part of the basic pay of an employee, and the reduction or elimination of a retention allowance may not be appealed; and

(cc) shall be paid at the same time and in the same manner as the employee's basic pay is paid.

(II) Considerations.—In exercising the retention allowance authority described in subclause (I), the Geothermal Ombudsman shall consider—

(aa) an employee's specialized expertise related to geothermal authorizations;

(bb) the demonstrated need to retain an employee to meet the performance improvement objectives for geothermal authorization timelines and develop best practices for completion of geothermal authorizations; and

(cc) the difficulty in recruiting or replacing qualified personnel with relevant expertise related to geothermal authorizations.

(iv) Savings clause.—Cross-office personnel assignments carried out under this subparagraph shall not alter the underlying jurisdiction of other offices of the Bureau of Land Management over applicable geothermal authorizations.

(4) Report.—The Geothermal Ombudsman shall submit to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate and the Committee on Natural Resources of the House of Representatives an annual report that describes the activities of the Task Force and evaluates the effectiveness of geothermal permit processing during the preceding 1-year period.

SEC. 1217. ADVANCED NUCLEAR FLEET LICENSING.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Advanced nuclear reactor.—The term "advanced nuclear reactor" has the meaning given such term in section 3 of the Nuclear Energy Innovation and Modernization Act (42 U.S.C. 2215 note; Public Law 115–439).

(2) Approved standard design.—The term "approved standard design" means a standard design for a nuclear reactor that has received a standard design approval, standard design certification, manufacturing license, or other approval from the Commission under the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 (42 U.S.C. 2011 et seq.) or regulations issued under that Act that expressly resolves generic design issues for repeated construction, manufacturing, deployment, or operation.

(3) Commission.—The term "Commission" means the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

(4) Complete application.—The term "complete application" means an application that the Commission determines contains sufficient information for the Commission to begin safety, security, environmental, and technical review.

(5) Fleet license.—The term "fleet license" means a license, approval, permit, certification, or other authorization issued by the Commission that authorizes, or establishes a standardized process for authorizing, construction or operation of multiple nuclear reactors using the same approved standard design.

(6) Material safety information.—The term "material safety information" means information that was not available to the Commission at the time an approved standard design was approved and that demonstrates a specific and significant risk to public health, safety, common defense and security, or the environment.

(7) Site-specific safety review.—The term "site-specific safety review" means the portion of Commission review that evaluates whether a nuclear reactor using an approved standard design may be safely and securely constructed or operated at a particular site.

(8) Standard design.—The term "standard design" means a nuclear reactor design intended for repeated construction, manufacturing, deployment, or operation at more than 1 site.

(b) Fleet licensing pathway.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall establish, by rule, order, guidance, or other appropriate regulatory action, a fleet licensing pathway for advanced nuclear reactors using an approved standard design.

(2) Requirements.—The fleet licensing pathway established under paragraph (1) shall—

(A) allow an applicant to seek approval for multiple reactors using the same approved standard design;

(B) allow an applicant to reference an approved standard design in an application for a construction permit, operating license, combined license, manufacturing license, early site permit, standard design approval, standard design certification, or other authorization;

(C) establish standardized application requirements for repeat deployment of an approved standard design;

(D) identify the generic design issues that shall be resolved through approval of the standard design;

(E) identify the site-specific issues that shall remain subject to site-specific safety review;

(F) minimize duplication of review for reactors using an approved standard design;

(G) provide for coordinated review of related applications submitted by the same applicant or by affiliated applicants; and

(H) preserve the authority of the Commission to impose any condition necessary to protect public health, safety, common defense and security, or the environment.

(3) Nonproliferation and fuel-cycle considerations.—In establishing and implementing the fleet licensing pathway under paragraph (1), the Commission shall, consistent with the protection of public health, safety, common defense and security, and the environment, consider whether an approved standard design minimizes weapons-proliferation risk, safeguards-sensitive material handling, and unnecessary production, separation, or accumulation of weapons-usable nuclear material.

(c) Design-once rule.—

(1) In general.—In reviewing an application for a reactor using an approved standard design, the Commission may not require relitigation, reconsideration, duplication, or repetition of a generic design issue resolved in the approval of the approved standard design.

(2) Exception.—The Commission may reconsider a generic design issue described in paragraph (1) only if the Commission determines, based on material safety information and supported by substantial evidence, that reconsideration is necessary to protect public health, safety, common defense and security, or the environment.

(3) Scope.—Nothing in this subsection shall limit the authority of the Commission to conduct a site-specific safety review.

(d) Site-specific review preserved.—

(1) In general.—Each reactor authorized through the fleet licensing pathway established under subsection (b) shall remain subject to a site-specific safety review.

(2) Contents.—A site-specific safety review under paragraph (1) shall include review of—

(A) seismic, flooding, wildfire, extreme weather, hydrological, geological, and other site hazards;

(B) emergency planning and emergency preparedness requirements applicable to the site;

(C) physical security, cybersecurity, and common defense and security requirements applicable to the site;

(D) cooling, water availability, water discharge, and thermal-impact issues applicable to the site;

(E) offsite power, electrical interconnection, and grid-reliability issues relevant to safe construction or operation of the reactor at the site;

(F) environmental impacts required to be considered under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by this Act;

(G) population, land use, evacuation, and surrounding-infrastructure characteristics applicable to the site; and

(H) any other site-specific matter the Commission determines necessary to protect public health, safety, common defense and security, or the environment.

(e) Licensing deadlines.—

(1) Completeness determination.—Not later than 60 days after receiving an application under the fleet licensing pathway established under subsection (b), the Commission shall determine whether the application is complete.

(2) Final action.—Except as provided in paragraph (3), not later than 18 months after determining that an application under paragraph (1) is complete, the Commission shall issue a final decision approving, approving with conditions, or denying the application.

(3) Extension.—The Commission may extend the deadline under paragraph (2) for not more than 180 days if the Commission determines, in writing and based on substantial evidence, that additional time is necessary to resolve a specific safety, security, environmental, or technical issue that cannot reasonably be resolved within the deadline under paragraph (2).

(4) Applicant delay.—Any period during which the Commission is unable to proceed because the applicant has failed to provide information requested by the Commission shall not count toward the deadline under paragraph (2).

(f) Use of Federal demonstration and testing information.—

(1) In general.—In reviewing an application under this section, the Commission shall, to the maximum extent practicable, rely on safety, security, performance, fuel, materials, operational, and testing information developed through a reactor demonstration, test reactor, prototype, pilot project, or fuel qualification activity carried out by or in partnership with the Department of Energy, the Department of Defense, a National Laboratory, or another Federal agency.

(2) Limitation.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to require the Commission to accept information that the Commission determines is inadequate, incomplete, unreliable, or insufficient to protect public health, safety, common defense and security, or the environment.

(g) Environmental review coordination.—

(1) Generic environmental issues.—The Commission shall, to the maximum extent practicable, resolve generic environmental issues associated with an approved standard design through programmatic environmental documents, generic environmental impact statements, environmental assessments, or other reusable environmental review documents.

(2) Site-specific environmental issues.—The Commission shall limit site-specific environmental review for a reactor using an approved standard design to environmental issues that are specific to the site or that were not previously resolved in a document described in paragraph (1).

(3) No waiver of environmental law.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to waive the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended by this Act, or any other Federal environmental law.

(h) No safety override.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the authority of the Commission to deny, condition, suspend, modify, or revoke any license, permit, certification, approval, or other authorization if the Commission determines such action is necessary to protect public health, safety, common defense and security, or the environment.

(i) Annual report.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, and annually thereafter, the Commission shall submit to Congress and make publicly available a report that—

(1) identifies each application submitted under the fleet licensing pathway established under subsection (b);

(2) identifies each application approved, approved with conditions, denied, withdrawn, or pending during the preceding calendar year;

(3) identifies the average and median time required for completeness determinations and final decisions;

(4) identifies each instance in which the Commission extended a deadline under subsection (e)(3);

(5) identifies the principal causes of delay in licensing reactors using approved standard designs;

(6) identifies staffing, technical, regulatory, fuel, supply-chain, or other barriers to timely review of applications under this section; and

(7) recommends any administrative or legislative action necessary to improve safe and timely deployment of advanced nuclear reactors using approved standard designs.

PART II—TRANSMISSION, GRID MODERNIZATION, AND DISTRIBUTED POWER

SEC. 1221. STREAMLINING INTERSTATE TRANSMISSION OF ELECTRICITY.

Part II of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 824 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 224. Siting of certain interstate electric transmission facilities.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Affected landowner.—

"(A) In general.—The term 'affected landowner' includes each owner of a property interest in land or other property described in subparagraph (B), including—

"(i) the Federal Government;

"(ii) a State or local government; and

"(iii) each owner noted in the most recent county or city tax record as receiving the relevant tax notice with respect to that interest.

"(B) Land and other property described.—The land or other property referred to in subparagraph (A) is any land or other property—

"(i) that is or will be crossed by the energy transmission facility proposed to be constructed or modified under the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity;

"(ii) that is or will be used as a facility site with respect to the energy transmission facility proposed to be constructed or modified under the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity;

"(iii) that abuts any boundary of an existing right-of-way or other facility site that—

"(I) is owned by an electric utility; and

"(II) is located not more than 500 feet from the energy transmission facility to be constructed or modified under the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity;

"(iv) that abuts the boundary of a proposed facility site for the energy transmission facility proposed to be constructed or modified under the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity;

"(v) that is crossed by, or abuts any boundary of, an existing or proposed right-of-way that—

"(I) will be used for the energy transmission facility to be constructed or modified under the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity; and

"(II) is located not more than 500 feet from the proposed location of that energy transmission facility; or

"(vi) on which a residence is located not more than 500 feet from the boundary of any right-of-way for that energy transmission facility.

"(2) Alternating current transmission facility.—The term 'alternating current transmission facility' means a transmission facility that uses alternating current for the bulk transmission of electric energy.

"(3) Energy transmission facility.—The term 'energy transmission facility' means, as applicable—

"(A) an alternating current transmission facility; or

"(B) a high-voltage, direct current transmission facility.

"(4) Facility site.—The term 'facility site' includes—

"(A) a right-of-way;

"(B) an access road;

"(C) a contractor yard; and

"(D) any temporary workspace.

"(5) High-voltage, direct current transmission facility.—The term 'high-voltage, direct current transmission facility' means a transmission facility that uses direct current for the bulk transmission of electric energy.

"(6) Tribal land.—The term 'Tribal land' has the meaning given the term 'Indian land' in section 2601 of the Energy Policy Act of 1992 (25 U.S.C. 3501).

"(b) Certificate of public convenience and necessity.—

"(1) In general.—On receipt of an application under subsection (c)(1) relating to an energy transmission facility described in paragraph (2), the Commission, after making the finding described in paragraph (3) with respect to that energy transmission facility, shall issue to any person, by publication in the Federal Register, a certificate of public convenience and necessity for the construction, modification, operation, or abandonment of that energy transmission facility, subject to such reasonable terms and conditions as the Commission determines to be appropriate.

"(2) Energy transmission facility described.—An energy transmission facility referred to in paragraph (1) is an energy transmission facility that—

"(A) traverses or, on construction or modification in accordance with a certificate of public convenience and necessity issued under that paragraph, will traverse not fewer than 2 States; and

"(B) is not less than 1,000 megawatts or 1,000 megavolt-amperes in power capacity.

"(3) Finding described.—The finding referred to in paragraph (1) is a finding that—

"(A) the applicant for a certificate of public convenience and necessity is able and willing—

"(i) to carry out the activities and perform the services proposed in the application in a manner determined to be appropriate by the Commission; and

"(ii) to achieve compliance with the applicable requirements of—

"(I) this part; and

"(II) any rules and regulations promulgated by the Commission pursuant to this part;

"(B) the energy transmission facility to be constructed, modified, or operated under the certificate of public convenience and necessity will—

"(i) traverse not fewer than 2 States;

"(ii) be used for the transmission of electric energy in interstate commerce; and

"(iii) have a power capacity of not less than 1,000 megawatts or 1,000 megavolt-amperes; and

"(C) operation of the energy transmission facility as proposed in the application—

"(i) will—

"(I) enable the use of renewable energy;

"(II) reduce congestion;

"(III) improve the reliability of the transmission system; or

"(IV) increase interregional transfer capability;

"(ii) will maximize, to the extent reasonable and economical, the use of—

"(I) existing facility sites; and

"(II) the transmission capabilities of existing energy transmission facilities; and

"(iii) will, to the extent practicable, minimize the use of eminent domain.

"(4) Rulemaking.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this section, the Commission shall issue rules specifying—

"(A) a pre-filing process during which a person described in subsection (c)(1) and the Commission shall consult with—

"(i) the appropriate State agencies, State public utility commissions, and State energy offices in each State the proposed project traverses;

"(ii) appropriate Federal agencies; and

"(iii) each Indian Tribe that may be affected by the proposed project;

"(B) the form of, and information to be contained in, an application submitted under subsection (c)(1);

"(C) requirements for determining whether the applicable energy transmission facility will be constructed or modified—

"(i) to traverse not fewer than 2 States;

"(ii) to be used for the transmission of electric energy in interstate commerce; and

"(iii) to have a power capacity of not less than 1,000 megawatts or 1,000 megavolt-amperes;

"(D) criteria for determining the reasonable and economical use of—

"(i) existing rights-of-way; and

"(ii) the transmission capabilities of existing towers or structures;

"(E) the manner in which an application submitted under subsection (c)(1) and any proposal for the construction or modification of an energy transmission facility shall be considered, which, to the extent practicable, shall be consistent with State statutory and regulatory policies concerning generation and retail sales of electricity in the States in which the electric energy transmitted by the energy transmission facility will be generated or sold; and

"(F) the manner in which the Commission will consider the needs of communities that will be impacted directly by the proposed energy transmission facility, including how any impacts of the proposed energy transmission facility could be mitigated or offset.

"(5) Public notice, comment, and opportunity for a hearing on certain draft documents.—

"(A) In general.—The Commission shall provide not less than 90 days for public comment on any initial scoping document or draft environmental impact statement prepared for an energy transmission facility with respect to which an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity has been submitted under subsection (c)(1).

"(B) Notice and opportunity for hearing.—The Commission shall—

"(i) publish in the Federal Register a notice of the filing of each draft scoping document or draft environmental impact statement described in subparagraph (A); and

"(ii) provide to the individuals and entities described in paragraph (6)(B) notice and reasonable opportunity for the presentation of any views and recommendations with respect to the initial scoping document or draft environmental impact statement.

"(C) Tribal consent.—With respect to an Indian Tribe that may be affected by a potential project, the Commission—

"(i) shall provide notice to the appropriate Tribal officials and an opportunity for public comment in accordance with subparagraph (A); and

"(ii) shall not approve a scoping document or draft environmental impact statement unless consent has been obtained from the proper Tribal officials in a manner consistent with the requirements of section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1948 (62 Stat. 18, chapter 45; 25 U.S.C. 324).

"(6) Notice and opportunity for a hearing on applications.—

"(A) In general.—In any proceeding before the Commission to consider an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity under this section, the Commission shall—

"(i) publish a notice of the application in the Federal Register; and

"(ii) provide to the individuals and entities described in subparagraph (B) a notice and reasonable opportunity for the presentation of any views and recommendations with respect to the need for, and impact of, the construction or modification of the energy transmission facility proposed to be constructed or modified under the certificate.

"(B) Individuals and entities described.—The individuals and entities referred to in subparagraph (A) are—

"(i) an agency, selected by the Governor (or equivalent official) of the applicable State, of each State in which the energy transmission facility proposed to be constructed or modified under the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity is or will be located;

"(ii) each affected landowner; and

"(iii) as determined by the Commission—

"(I) each affected Federal agency; and

"(II) each Indian Tribe that may be affected by the proposed construction or modification.

"(C) Prohibition.—The Commission may not—

"(i) require an applicant for a certificate of public convenience and necessity under this section to provide any notice required under this section; or

"(ii) enter into a contract to provide any notice required under this section with—

"(I) the applicant for the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity; or

"(II) any other person that has a financial interest in the project proposed in the application for that certificate.

"(c) Applications.—

"(1) In general.—A person desiring a certificate of public convenience and necessity under this section shall submit to the Commission an application at such time, in such manner, and containing such information as the Commission may require.

"(2) Requirement.—An application submitted to the Commission under paragraph (1) shall include all information necessary for the Commission to make the finding described in subsection (b)(3).

"(d) Notice to affected landowners.—

"(1) In general.—The Commission shall provide written notice of an application submitted under subsection (c)(1) to all affected landowners in accordance with this subsection.

"(2) Requirements.—Any notice provided to an affected landowner under paragraph (1) shall include the following:

"(A) The following statement in 14-point bold typeface:

"'The [name of applicant] has proposed building power lines that will cross your property, and may also require building transmission towers on your property. If the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission approves [applicant]'s proposed project, then [applicant] may be authorized to build transmission towers on, and power lines over, your property, or use your property to construct the proposed project, subject to paying you just compensation for the loss of your property. If you want to raise objections to this, or otherwise comment on this project, you can do so by submitting written comments to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission Docket No. [___]. You can do this electronically or by mail. To do so electronically [to be inserted by the Commission]. To do so by mail [to be inserted by the Commission].'.

"(B) A description of the proposed project, including—

"(i) the location of the proposed project (including a general location map);

"(ii) the purpose of the proposed project; and

"(iii) the timing of the proposed project.

"(C) The name of, and the location in the docket of the Commission at which may be found, each submission by the applicant to the Commission relating to the proposed project.

"(D) A general description of what the applicant will need from the landowner if the proposed project is approved, including the activities the applicant may undertake and the facilities that the applicant may seek to construct on the property of the landowner.

"(E) A description of how the landowner may contact the applicant, including—

"(i) a website; and

"(ii) a local or toll-free telephone number and the name of a specific person to contact who is knowledgeable about the proposed project.

"(F) A description of how the landowner may contact the Commission, including—

"(i) a website; and

"(ii) a local or toll-free telephone number and the name of a specific person to contact who is knowledgeable about the proposed project.

"(G) A summary of the protections and remedies available to the landowner—

"(i) before the Commission; and

"(ii) in other proceedings under—

"(I) the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure; and

"(II) the eminent domain rules of the relevant State.

"(H) Any other information that the Commission determines to be appropriate.

"(3) Obligation of applicant.—An applicant for a certificate of public convenience and necessity under this section shall submit to the Commission, together with the application for the certificate, the name and address of each affected landowner.

"(e) Regulatory jurisdiction.—

"(1) In general.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), the Commission shall have exclusive jurisdiction over, and no State shall regulate any aspect of, the siting or permitting of an energy transmission facility constructed, modified, or operated under a certificate of public convenience and necessity issued under this section.

"(2) Savings clause.—Nothing in this section affects the authority of States under—

"(A) the Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972 (16 U.S.C. 1451 et seq.);

"(B) the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1251 et seq.);

"(C) the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7401 et seq.); or

"(D) division A of subtitle III of title 54, United States Code (formerly known as the 'National Historic Preservation Act').

"(f) Judicial review.—

"(1) In general.—Any person aggrieved by an order issued by the Commission under this section may obtain review of the order in—

"(A) the court of appeals of the United States for any judicial circuit in which the energy transmission facility to be constructed or modified under the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity is or will be located; or

"(B) the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

"(2) Petition for review.—

"(A) In general.—A person may obtain review under paragraph (1) by filing in the applicable court a written petition praying that the order of the Commission be modified or set aside in whole or in part.

"(B) Timing.—A petition under subparagraph (A) shall be filed by not later than 60 days after the date on which the applicable order of the Commission is published in the Federal Register.

"(3) Person aggrieved.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this Act, a person aggrieved by an order of the Commission issued under this section need not—

"(A) have been a party to the proceedings before the Commission in which that order was issued in order to obtain judicial review of the order under this subsection; or

"(B) have requested rehearing before the Commission prior to seeking judicial review.

"(g) Power of eminent domain for energy transmission facilities.—

"(1) In general.—The holder of a certificate of public convenience and necessity may acquire through the exercise of the power of eminent domain in a court described in paragraph (2) any right-of-way, land, or other property that is necessary to construct, modify, operate, or maintain an energy transmission facility in accordance with that certificate if the holder—

"(A) cannot acquire the necessary right-of-way, land, or other property by contract;

"(B) is unable to agree with the owner of the right-of-way, land, or other property with respect to the compensation to be paid for that right-of-way, land, or other property; or

"(C) cannot clear defective title with respect to the right-of-way, land, or other property.

"(2) Court described.—A court referred to in paragraph (1) is—

"(A) the district court of the United States for the district in which the applicable land or other property is located; or

"(B) the appropriate State court.

"(3) Notice of decision to issue certificate.—The holder of a certificate of public convenience and necessity may not exercise the power of eminent domain under this subsection with respect to any property covered by the certificate unless the Commission has first, in addition to publishing the notice of certificate of public convenience and necessity in the Federal Register, provided all affected landowners with notice of—

"(A) the decision of the Commission to grant the certificate; and

"(B) the procedures for obtaining judicial review of that decision under subsection (f), including a description of the time period for seeking judicial review under that subsection.

"(h) Condemnation procedures.—

"(1) Appraisals.—

"(A) In general.—A holder of, or applicant for, a certificate of public convenience and necessity shall have any property that the holder or applicant seeks to acquire through the exercise of the power of eminent domain under subsection (g) appraised in accordance with generally accepted appraisal standards by an appraiser selected by the owner of the property, subject to subparagraph (D).

"(B) Requirements.—

"(i) Costs.—The applicable holder of, or applicant for, a certificate of public convenience and necessity shall pay for each appraisal carried out under subparagraph (A).

"(ii) Inspections.—The owner of the applicable property (or a designated representative of the owner) shall be given the opportunity to accompany the appraiser during any inspection of the property that is part of an appraisal under subparagraph (A).

"(C) Timing.—An appraisal under subparagraph (A) shall be carried out before the holder of, or applicant for, the certificate of public convenience and necessity—

"(i) makes an offer of just compensation under paragraph (2); or

"(ii) commences an action or proceeding to exercise the power of eminent domain under subsection (g).

"(D) Selection of appraiser.—If the owner of the applicable property does not select an appraiser under subparagraph (A) by the date that is 60 days after the date on which the holder of, or applicant for, the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity requests that the owner do so, the holder or applicant may select the appraiser.

"(2) Offers of just compensation.—

"(A) In general.—Any offer of just compensation made to an affected landowner of property that is covered by a certificate of public convenience and necessity—

"(i) shall be made in writing;

"(ii) may not be for an amount less than the fair market value of the property, as determined by an appraisal carried out under paragraph (1); and

"(iii) shall include compensation for—

"(I) any lost income from the property; and

"(II) any damages to any other property of the owner.

"(B) Timing.—The holder of, or applicant for, a certificate of public convenience and necessity may not make an offer of just compensation to an affected landowner until the date that is 30 days after the date on which the Commission provides a notice to the affected landowner under subsection (g)(3).

"(3) Jurisdictional limitations.—

"(A) Minimum jurisdictional amount.—A district court of the United States shall only have jurisdiction of an action or proceeding to exercise the power of eminent domain under subsection (g) if the amount claimed by the owner of the property to be condemned exceeds $3,000.

"(B) State ownership interests.—

"(i) In general.—Except as provided in clause (ii), a district court of the United States shall have no jurisdiction to condemn any interest owned by a State.

"(ii) Exception.—Notwithstanding clause (i), a district court of the United States shall have jurisdiction—

"(I) to condemn any existing utility or transportation easement or right-of-way that—

"(aa) is on State property; or

"(bb) is on private property and is owned by a State; and

"(II) to condemn any real property conveyed to a State for the purpose of obstructing the construction, modification, or operation of an energy transmission facility in accordance with a certificate of public convenience and necessity issued under this section.

"(C) Tribal land.—A district court of the United States shall have no jurisdiction to condemn any interest in Tribal land.

"(4) Limitation on condemnation.—In any action or proceeding to exercise the power of eminent domain under subsection (g), a court—

"(A) may condemn an interest in property only to the extent necessary for the specific facilities described in the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity; and

"(B) may not—

"(i) condemn any other interest; or

"(ii) condemn an interest for any purpose not described in that certificate.

"(5) Surrender of possession.—With respect to any action or proceeding to exercise the power of eminent domain under subsection (g), an owner of property covered by the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity shall not be required to surrender possession of that property unless the holder of the certificate—

"(A) has paid to the owner the award of compensation in the action or proceeding; or

"(B) has deposited the amount of that award with the court.

"(6) Litigation costs.—

"(A) In general.—A holder of a certificate of public convenience and necessity that commences an action or proceeding to exercise the power of eminent domain under subsection (g) shall be liable to the owner of any property condemned in that proceeding for the costs described in subparagraph (B) if the amount awarded to that owner for the property condemned is more than 125 percent of the amount offered to the owner by the holder before the commencement of that action or proceeding.

"(B) Costs described.—The costs referred to in subparagraph (A) are litigation costs incurred for the action or proceeding described in that subparagraph by the owner of the property condemned, including—

"(i) reasonable attorney fees; and

"(ii) expert witness fees and costs.

"(i) Enforcement of conditions.—

"(1) In general.—An affected landowner the property of which has been acquired by eminent domain under subsection (g) may—

"(A) to enforce any condition in the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity; and

"(B) to seek damages for a violation of any condition described in subparagraph (A).

"(2) Jurisdiction.—The district courts of the United States shall have jurisdiction over any action arising under paragraph (1).

"(j) Other landowner protections and remedies.—

"(1) Failure to timely complete projects.—

"(A) Surrender of condemned property.—

"(i) In general.—An individual or entity from which an interest in property is acquired through the exercise of the power of eminent domain under subsection (g) by the holder of a certificate of public convenience and necessity that is issued for the construction, modification, or operation of an energy transmission facility may demand that the holder of the certificate surrender that interest to that individual or entity if—

"(I) (aa) the energy transmission facility is not in operation (as modified, in the case of a modification of an energy transmission facility) by the date specified in the certificate (including any modification of the certificate by the Commission); and

"(bb) there is no request for the extension of that date pending before the Commission; or

"(II) subject to clause (ii), the holder of the certificate, with the approval of the Commission, abandons the portion of the energy transmission facility that is located on the applicable property relating to that interest.

"(ii) Requirement.—The Commission may not approve in a certificate of public convenience and necessity issued under this section or in any subsequent proceeding the abandonment of all or any part of an energy transmission facility unless the Commission requires the holder of the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity to offer to each individual or entity described in clause (i) the option of having the property acquired from that individual or entity as described in that clause restored to the condition that the property was in prior to the issuance of the certificate.

"(B) Repayment of condemnation award.—If an individual or entity described in subparagraph (A)(i) demands the surrender of an interest under that subparagraph, the holder of the applicable certificate of public convenience and necessity shall be entitled to repayment of an amount equal to not more than 50 percent of the condemnation award relating to the interest.

"(C) Jurisdiction.—The district courts of the United States shall have jurisdiction over any action arising under this paragraph.

"(2) Material misrepresentations.—

"(A) Rescission of transaction.—

"(i) In general.—An affected landowner that proves, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the affected landowner has granted a right-of-way or any other interest based on a material misrepresentation made by or on behalf of an applicant for, or holder of, a certificate of public convenience and necessity under this section may rescind the transaction.

"(ii) Jurisdiction.—The district courts of the United States shall have jurisdiction over any action arising under clause (i).

"(B) Civil penalties.—

"(i) In general.—If an applicant for, or holder of, a certificate of public convenience and necessity makes a material misrepresentation, or if a material misrepresentation is made on behalf of such an applicant or holder, to an affected landowner concerning the energy transmission facility to be constructed or modified under the certificate, the applicant or holder shall be subject to a civil penalty, to be assessed by the Commission, in an amount not to exceed $10,000 per affected landowner to which the misrepresentation was made.

"(ii) Procedure.—The penalty described in clause (i) shall be assessed by the Commission after providing notice and an opportunity for a public hearing.

"(iii) Requirement.—In determining the amount of a penalty under clause (i), the Commission shall take into consideration the nature and seriousness of the violation.".

SEC. 1222. INTERREGIONAL TRANSFER CAPACITY AND GRID MODERNIZATION.

(a) Minimum interregional transfer capabilities and requirements.—Part II of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 824 et seq.), as amended by this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 225. Interregional reliability.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Coincident interregional transfer capability.—The term 'coincident interregional transfer capability', with respect to an interregional transmission planning region, means the ability of the interconnected electrical system to coincidently move electric energy reliably between the interregional transmission planning region in question and the rest of the interconnected electrical system.

"(2) Commission.—The term 'Commission' means the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

"(3) Interregional transfer capability.—The term 'interregional transfer capability' means the ability of the interconnected electrical system to move electric energy reliably between 2 or more interregional transmission planning regions.

"(4) Interregional transmission planning region.—The term 'interregional transmission planning region' means a region for which electric energy transmission planning is appropriate, as determined by the Commission, such as a region approved by the Commission to meet the requirements of the final rule of the Commission entitled Transmission Planning and Cost Allocation by Transmission Owning and Operating Public Utilities (Docket No. RM10-23).

"(5) Minimum interregional transfer capability.—The term 'minimum interregional transfer capability' means, as applicable—

"(A) the coincident interregional transfer capability described in subsection (b)(1)(A); or

"(B) a higher coincident interregional transfer capability established in accordance with subsection (b)(1)(B).

"(6) Minimum interregional transfer requirement.—The term 'minimum interregional transfer requirement' means any requirement to meet or maintain a minimum interregional transfer capability.

"(b) Establishment of minimum interregional transfer capabilities.—

"(1) In general.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this section, the Commission shall promulgate a final rule that—

"(A) requires each interregional transmission planning region to establish or increase interregional transfer capabilities such that the coincident interregional transfer capability of each interregional transmission planning region is not less than the lesser of—

"(i) 30 percent of its own present-day coincident peak load; and

"(ii) the sum obtained by adding—

"(I) the present-day coincident interregional transfer capability of the interregional transmission planning region; and

"(II) 15 percent of its own present-day coincident peak load;

"(B) on a showing of net benefits, may require 1 or more interregional transmission planning regions to meet or maintain a coincident interregional transfer capability that exceeds the applicable minimum interregional transfer capability described in subparagraph (A);

"(C) based on the applicable minimum interregional transfer capability, shall govern the establishment of minimum interregional transfer requirements for interconnections between interregional transmission planning regions;

"(D) calculates the present-day coincident interregional transfer capabilities of the interregional transmission planning regions by—

"(i) defining the present-day coincident interregional transfer capability of each interregional transmission planning region as being equal to the greater of—

"(I) the coincident import capability of the interregional transmission planning region; and

"(II) the coincident export capability of the interregional transmission planning region;

"(ii) defining the coincident import capability of each interregional transmission planning region as being equal to the absolute value of the first 1/10 of the first percentile (0.1th percentile) of the coincident hourly electrical transfers of that interregional transmission planning region;

"(iii) defining the coincident export capability of the interregional transmission planning region as being equal to the absolute value of the last 1/10 of the 99th percentile (99.9th percentile) of the coincident hourly electrical transfers of that interregional transmission planning region;

"(iv) defining the coincident hourly electrical transfers of each interregional transmission planning region as being equal to the sum obtained by adding, with respect to each hour, the hourly electrical transfers of all balancing authorities that, in the determination of the Commission, most closely correspond to the interregional transmission planning region in question using data from Form EIA-930 of the Energy Information Administration for the 5-year period ending on—

"(I) for each plan described in subparagraph (G) that is required to be submitted by the date described in that subparagraph, the date that is 1 year before the date of enactment of this section; and

"(II) for each plan submitted under paragraph (4)(A) and each updated plan submitted under paragraph (4)(B), the date that is 1 year before the deadline for submission of that plan; and

"(v) defining the hourly electrical transfers of each interregional transmission planning region as being equal to, for each hour—

"(I) the hourly exports of that interregional transmission planning region; minus

"(II) the hourly imports of that interregional transmission planning region;

"(E) calculates the present-day coincident peak loads of the interregional transmission planning regions by—

"(i) defining the present-day coincident peak load of each interregional transmission planning region as being equal to the last 1/10 of the 99th percentile (99.9th percentile) of the coincident hourly load of that interregional transmission planning region; and

"(ii) defining the coincident hourly load of each interregional transmission planning region as being equal to the sum obtained by adding, with respect to each hour, the hourly loads of all balancing authorities that, in the determination of the Commission, most closely correspond to the interregional transmission planning region in question using data from Form EIA-930 of the Energy Information Administration for the 5-year period ending on—

"(I) for each plan described in subparagraph (G) that is required to be submitted by the date described in that subparagraph, the date that is 1 year before the date of enactment of this section; and

"(II) for each plan submitted under paragraph (4)(A) and each updated plan submitted under paragraph (4)(B), the date that is 1 year before the deadline for submission of that plan;

"(F) for purposes of determining the adequacy of a plan described in subparagraph (G) to provide for the achievement of the minimum interregional transfer capability applicable to an interregional transmission planning region, describes and employs a clear methodology for calculating anticipated changes to the coincident peak load and coincident interregional transfer capability of an interregional transmission planning region designed to correspond approximately to what would be reasonably expected to be calculated under subparagraphs (D) and (E) at a future date based on—

"(i) the construction or modification of new or existing transmission facilities, including facilities built between interregional transmission planning regions and facilities within interregional transmission planning regions that impact the ability of the interregional transmission planning regions to move electric energy between themselves and neighboring interregional transmission planning regions;

"(ii) the use of nontransmission alternatives, including grid-enhancing technologies;

"(iii) changes to generation or load within interregional transmission planning regions, including energy efficiency and demand response programs; and

"(iv) other changes to the bulk-power system, as defined in section 215(a), or the operation of the bulk-power system that are expected to meaningfully alter coincident peak loads or coincident interregional transfer capabilities, as determined by the Commission;

"(G) establishes a process for each interregional transmission planning region to submit, jointly with each other interregional transmission planning region with which the interregional transmission planning region has, or plans to establish, an interregional transfer capability, not later than 2 years after the effective date of the final rule, a plan that—

"(i) designates 1 or more entities for construction of new facilities or modification of existing facilities to achieve the applicable minimum interregional transfer capability in an efficient and timely manner for the benefit of ultimate consumers;

"(ii) allocates the costs of the facilities described in clause (i); and

"(iii) includes a timeline for the construction of the facilities described in clause (i)—

"(I) by December 31, 2035; or

"(II) if any construction will extend beyond that date, that includes an explanation of the reasons for that construction extending beyond that date; and

"(H) explains how the Commission will designate 1 or more entities to construct or modify, and how the Commission will allocate the costs of, the facilities described in clause (i) of subparagraph (G) in the event that an interregional transmission planning region fails to submit a plan in accordance with that subparagraph.

"(2) Presumptions; consultation.—In establishing the methodology under paragraph (1)(F), the Commission may—

"(A) establish and use simplified, rebuttable presumptions relating to the extent to which coincident interregional transfer capabilities or coincident peak loads will be anticipated to be altered by facilities, technologies, or programs described in clauses (i) through (iv) of that paragraph; and

"(B) consult with appropriate officials of the Department of Energy.

"(3) Considerations.—In carrying out paragraph (1), the Commission shall consider and determine the role of transfer capabilities between interregional transmission planning regions and other electrical systems in North America in meeting the requirements of that paragraph.

"(4) Plans.—

"(A) New interregional transmission planning regions.—Not later than 2 years after the establishment of any new interregional transmission planning region, the new interregional transmission planning region and each interregional transmission planning region with which the new interregional transmission planning region has, or plans to establish, an interregional transfer capability, shall jointly submit to the Commission a plan described in paragraph (1)(G) to meet the minimum interregional transfer capability applicable to that new interregional transmission planning region.

"(B) Updates.—

"(i) In general.—The Commission shall require each plan submitted in accordance with paragraph (1)(G) or subparagraph (A) to be updated, and the updated plan submitted to the Commission, every 5 years after the deadline for submission of the initial plan.

"(ii) Requirement.—An updated plan submitted in accordance with clause (i) shall, at a minimum, account for any changes in regional coincident peak load since the most recent previous submission.

"(C) Review.—The Commission shall review each plan submitted in accordance with paragraph (1)(G) or subparagraph (A) or (B) in a manner consistent with—

"(i) the principles described in subsection (g); and

"(ii) sections 205 and 206, with respect to the requirement that all rates, charges, terms, and conditions be just and reasonable and not unduly discriminatory or preferential.

"(c) Equal application.—In carrying out this section, including with respect to the imposition of, and assessing compliance with, any minimum interregional transfer requirement, the Commission shall apply all provisions of this section, and any regulations promulgated under this section, equally to all interregional transmission planning regions, including by using the same terms, definitions, and standards with respect to each interregional transmission planning region.

"(d) Commission jurisdiction.—The Commission shall have jurisdiction within the United States over all transmitting utilities for the purposes of establishing minimum interregional transfer capabilities in accordance with this section and establishing and enforcing compliance with minimum interregional transfer requirements.

"(e) Electric Reliability Council of Texas.—

"(1) In general.—The Public Utility Commission of Texas may, at its sole discretion, choose to support the reliability and affordability of the ERCOT system by voluntarily complying with a minimum interregional transfer requirement relating to a coincident interregional transfer capability that is equal to a percentage, determined by ERCOT, of the coincident peak load of ERCOT.

"(2) Savings clause.—

"(A) In general.—The construction or operation of an interregional facility, or the allocation of costs for that construction, to meet a minimum interregional transfer capability shall not affect the jurisdiction of the Commission with respect to—

"(i) ERCOT; or

"(ii) any ERCOT utility.

"(B) Not public utilities.—The construction or operation of a facility described in subparagraph (A), or the allocation of costs for that construction, shall not render ERCOT or any ERCOT utility a public utility.

"(f) Data quality.—

"(1) In general.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this section, the Administrator of the Energy Information Administration shall submit to the Commission an updated version of the data from Form EIA-930 for use in accordance with subparagraphs (D) and (E) of subsection (b)(1).

"(2) Errors.—In updating the Form EIA-930 data for purposes of paragraph (1), the Administrator of the Energy Information Administration, to the maximum extent practicable, shall control for the quality of the data by—

"(A) identifying any suspected erroneous values; and

"(B) removing those suspected erroneous values or overwriting those suspected erroneous values with data that, in the determination of the Administrator, is likely to be more accurate.

"(g) Requirement.—In carrying out this section, the Commission shall endeavor—

"(1) to improve the reliability and resilience of the electric grid of the United States, including during—

"(A) extreme weather scenarios;

"(B) physical attacks; and

"(C) cyber attacks; and

"(2) to reduce the cost of delivered power to ultimate consumers by increasing access to low-cost generating resources.".

(b) Electric grid and storage categorical exclusions.—

(1) Definition of previously disturbed or developed.—In this subsection, the term "previously disturbed or developed" has the meaning given the term in section 1021.410(g)(1) of title 10, Code of Federal Regulations, or successor regulations.

(2) Rulemaking.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, to facilitate timely permitting, the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Agriculture shall each develop or adopt 1 or more categorical exclusions, including allowing for extraordinary circumstances under which the categorical exclusion shall not be available, under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), as amended by this Act, for the following activities:

(A) Placement of an electric transmission or distribution facility in an approved right-of-way corridor, if the corridor was approved during the 5-year period ending on the date of placement of the facility.

(B) Any repair, maintenance, replacement, upgrade, modification, optimization, or minor relocation of, or addition to, an existing electric transmission or distribution facility or associated infrastructure, including electrical substations, within an existing right-of-way or on otherwise previously disturbed or developed land, including reconductoring and installation of grid-enhancing technologies.

(C) Construction, operation, upgrade, or decommissioning of a battery or other energy storage technology on previously disturbed or developed land.

(c) Conforming amendments.—Section 201 of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 824) is amended—

(1) in subsection (b)(2)—

(A) in the first sentence—

(i) by striking "section 201(f)" and inserting "subsection (f)"; and

(ii) by striking "and 222" and inserting "222, 224, and 225"; and

(B) in the second sentence, by striking "or 222" and inserting "222, 224, or 225"; and

(2) in subsection (e)—

(A) by striking "206(f),"; and

(B) by striking "or 222" and inserting "222, 224, or 225".

SEC. 1223. NATIONAL HIGH-VOLTAGE DIRECT CURRENT CORRIDORS.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Associated interconnection facility.—The term "associated interconnection facility" means any alternating-current transmission facility, substation, switchyard, control system, communications system, grid-enhancing technology, protection system, or other facility necessary to interconnect an eligible high-voltage direct current project with the bulk-power system.

(2) Commission.—The term "Commission" means the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

(3) Converter station.—The term "converter station" means a facility that converts electric energy between alternating current and direct current for purposes of transmitting electric energy through a high-voltage direct current transmission facility.

(4) Covered Federal land.—The term "covered Federal land" means any land or interest in land owned by the United States, administered by a Federal agency, or subject to a right-of-way, easement, lease, permit, reservation, or other authorization issued by a Federal agency.

(5) Eligible high-voltage direct current project.—The term "eligible high-voltage direct current project" means a high-voltage direct current transmission facility that—

(A) is located substantially within, or has a substantial segment located within, a national high-voltage direct current corridor designated under subsection (b);

(B) is designed to transmit electric energy in interstate commerce;

(C) has a power capacity of not less than 1,000 megawatts; and

(D) includes any converter station or associated interconnection facility necessary to construct, interconnect, operate, or maintain such facility.

(6) High-voltage direct current transmission facility.—The term "high-voltage direct current transmission facility" has the meaning given such term in section 224(a) of the Federal Power Act.

(7) Indian Tribe.—The term "Indian Tribe" has the meaning given that term in section 4 of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (25 U.S.C. 5304).

(8) National high-voltage direct current corridor.—The term "national high-voltage direct current corridor" means a geographic area designated by the Secretary under subsection (b) as a priority area for the siting, permitting, construction, operation, and maintenance of eligible high-voltage direct current projects.

(9) National Transmission Needs Study.—The term "National Transmission Needs Study" means the most recent study issued by the Department of Energy identifying transmission needs, congestion, reliability constraints, or transfer-capacity limitations in the United States.

(10) National Transmission Planning Study.—The term "National Transmission Planning Study" means the most recent national transmission planning study issued by the Department of Energy to evaluate interregional transmission, transfer capacity, reliability, resilience, and resource adequacy needs in the United States.

(11) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Energy.

(b) Designation of national high-voltage direct current corridors.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary, in consultation with the Commission, the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Defense, affected Indian Tribes, affected States, and affected transmission planning entities, shall designate national high-voltage direct current corridors sufficient to advance the purposes described in subsection (c).

(2) Basis for designation.—In designating national high-voltage direct current corridors under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall consider—

(A) the National Transmission Planning Study;

(B) the National Transmission Needs Study;

(C) minimum interregional transfer requirements established under section 225 of the Federal Power Act;

(D) existing or proposed National Interest Electric Transmission Corridors;

(E) renewable energy priority areas on Federal land;

(F) regions with substantial solar, wind, geothermal, hydropower, or other low-cost generation potential;

(G) major load centers and regions with substantial projected load growth;

(H) interconnection seams between regions of the bulk-power system;

(I) existing transmission congestion, curtailment, and reliability constraints;

(J) opportunities to co-locate new transmission with existing transmission, highway, rail, pipeline, utility, or other infrastructure corridors;

(K) opportunities to use previously disturbed or developed land; and

(L) impacts to Indian Tribes, landowners, local communities, habitat, water resources, cultural resources, military readiness, and other public uses and values.

(3) Priority corridors.—In carrying out paragraph (1), the Secretary shall prioritize designation of corridors that—

(A) connect high-quality renewable energy resource areas to major load centers;

(B) increase interregional transfer capability;

(C) reduce transmission congestion and curtailment;

(D) improve grid reliability and resilience during extreme weather, physical attacks, cyber attacks, or fuel-supply disruptions;

(E) connect or strengthen the Eastern Interconnection, Western Interconnection, ERCOT, or other regional electric systems, to the extent authorized by law;

(F) enable development of renewable energy projects on covered Federal land; or

(G) reduce the delivered cost of electric energy to ultimate consumers.

(4) Updates.—Not less frequently than once every 5 years, the Secretary shall review and, as appropriate, update the designations made under this subsection.

(c) Purposes.—The purposes of national high-voltage direct current corridors are—

(1) to create a national backbone for long-distance bulk transmission of electric energy;

(2) to connect low-cost generation resources with regions of high demand;

(3) to increase interregional transfer capability;

(4) to reduce congestion, curtailment, and reliability constraints;

(5) to support development of renewable energy and energy storage resources on covered Federal land;

(6) to improve the reliability, resilience, and affordability of the electric grid; and

(7) to reduce the cost of delivered power to ultimate consumers.

(d) Federal land rights-of-way.—

(1) Priority for covered Federal land.—The Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Defense, and the head of any other Federal agency with jurisdiction over covered Federal land shall prioritize, expedite, and coordinate consideration of any right-of-way, easement, lease, permit, or other authorization necessary for an eligible high-voltage direct current project located within a national high-voltage direct current corridor.

(2) Co-location preference.—In carrying out paragraph (1), each Federal agency shall, to the maximum extent practicable, prioritize routing that co-locates an eligible high-voltage direct current project with existing transmission, highway, rail, pipeline, utility, or other infrastructure corridors, or with previously disturbed or developed land.

(3) Corridor coordination.—Not later than 1 year after the date on which a national high-voltage direct current corridor is designated under subsection (b), the Secretary, in consultation with the heads of relevant Federal land management agencies, shall identify covered Federal land within the corridor that may be suitable for rights-of-way for eligible high-voltage direct current projects.

(4) Military readiness and national security.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to require the Secretary of Defense to approve any right-of-way, easement, lease, permit, or other authorization if the Secretary of Defense determines that such approval would materially impair military readiness, national security, installation operations, training, testing, or operational security.

(5) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to waive any requirement for consultation with an Indian Tribe or to authorize the taking of Tribal land without the consent of the affected Indian Tribe.

(e) Converter stations and associated interconnection facilities.—

(1) Treatment as part of project.—For purposes of Federal siting, permitting, environmental review, financing, and the application of any Commission-approved cost-allocation rule, tariff, or order, a converter station or associated interconnection facility shall be treated as part of the eligible high-voltage direct current project with which such converter station or associated interconnection facility is associated.

(2) Standardized review.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission, in consultation with the Secretary, shall establish standardized procedures for review of converter stations and associated interconnection facilities needed for eligible high-voltage direct current projects.

(f) Coordination with Federal Power Act certificate process.—

(1) Priority processing.—The Commission shall prioritize the processing of an application under section 224 of the Federal Power Act for an eligible high-voltage direct current project located within a national high-voltage direct current corridor.

(2) Presumption of interregional benefit.—For purposes of section 224(b)(3)(C)(i) of the Federal Power Act, an eligible high-voltage direct current project located within a national high-voltage direct current corridor shall be presumed to enable renewable energy use, reduce congestion, improve reliability, or increase interregional transfer capability.

(3) Preservation of certificate standards.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to require the Commission to issue a certificate under section 224 of the Federal Power Act for a project that does not satisfy the requirements of that section.

(g) Federal financing eligibility.—

(1) In general.—An eligible high-voltage direct current project shall be deemed to be an infrastructure project of national significance and shall be eligible for Federal financing, credit support, loan guarantees, grants, or other assistance under any otherwise applicable Federal infrastructure, energy, transmission, resilience, or economic development program.

(2) Specific eligibility.—An eligible high-voltage direct current project shall be eligible for assistance under the National Infrastructure Bank, the American Industrial Reconstruction Trust Fund, and any successor Federal infrastructure financing program, to the extent otherwise authorized by law.

(3) No limitation.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to limit the eligibility of an eligible high-voltage direct current project for any other Federal financing, credit support, loan guarantee, grant, tax credit, or other assistance.

(h) Annual report.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, and annually thereafter, the Secretary, in consultation with the Commission, shall submit to Congress and make publicly available a report that—

(1) identifies each national high-voltage direct current corridor designated under subsection (b);

(2) identifies each eligible high-voltage direct current project proposed, permitted, under construction, or placed in service within each such corridor;

(3) identifies the number of miles of high-voltage direct current transmission facilities permitted, under construction, and placed in service during the preceding calendar year;

(4) estimates the interregional transfer capability added during the preceding calendar year;

(5) estimates congestion reductions, curtailment reductions, reliability benefits, and delivered-cost savings attributable to eligible high-voltage direct current projects;

(6) identifies barriers to timely siting, permitting, financing, construction, interconnection, or operation of eligible high-voltage direct current projects; and

(7) recommends any administrative or legislative action necessary to accelerate development of national high-voltage direct current corridors.

SEC. 1224. EXPEDITING GENERATOR INTERCONNECTION PROCEDURES.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Commission.—The term "Commission" means the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

(2) Energy storage project.—The term "energy storage project" means—

(A) any equipment that receives, stores, and delivers energy using batteries, compressed air, pumped hydropower, hydrogen storage (including hydrolysis), thermal energy storage, regenerative fuel cells, flywheels, capacitors, superconducting magnets, or other technologies identified by the Commission; and

(B) any project for the construction or modification of equipment described in subparagraph (A) as part of an effort to build-out transmission interconnection opportunities.

(3) Generation project.—The term "generation project" means—

(A) any facility—

(i) that generates or injects electricity; and

(ii) for which an interconnection request is subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission; and

(B) any project for the construction or modification of a facility described in subparagraph (A).

(4) Interconnection customer.—The term "interconnection customer" means a person or entity that has submitted an interconnection request.

(5) Interconnection request.—The term "interconnection request" means a request submitted to a public utility to interconnect a new generation project or energy storage project to the electric system of a public utility for the purposes of transmission of electric energy in interstate commerce or the sale of electric energy at wholesale.

(6) Public utility.—The term "public utility" has the meaning given the term in section 201(e) of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 824(e)).

(7) Transmission facility.—The term "transmission facility" means a facility that is used for the transmission of electric energy in interstate commerce.

(8) Transmission provider.—The term "transmission provider" means a public utility that owns, operates, or controls 1 or more transmission facilities.

(9) Transmission system.—The term "transmission system" means a network of transmission facilities used for the transmission of electric energy in interstate commerce.

(b) Rulemaking to expedite generator interconnection procedures.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall initiate a rulemaking—

(A) to address the inefficiencies and ineffectiveness of existing procedures for processing interconnection requests to ensure that new generation projects and energy storage projects can interconnect quickly, cost-effectively, and reliably; and

(B) to revise the pro forma Large Generator Interconnection Procedures and, as appropriate, the pro forma Large Generator Interconnection Agreement, promulgated pursuant to section 35.28(f) of title 18, Code of Federal Regulations, or successor regulations, to require transmission providers—

(i) to develop and employ modeling assumptions for each resource type based on actual operating abilities and practices, for the purposes of studying an interconnection request;

(ii) to study interconnection requests in a manner consistent with the risk tolerance of the interconnection customer;

(iii) to select, as appropriate, 1 or more cost-effective solutions to address network reliability needs that may be identified while studying an interconnection request;

(iv) to provide sufficient information to interconnection customers for the interconnection customers to understand how a transmission provider has implemented the assumptions and solutions described in clauses (i) and (iii);

(v) to share and employ, as appropriate, queue management best practices, including with respect to the use of advanced computing technologies, automation, and standardized study criteria, in evaluating interconnection requests, in order to expedite study results; and

(vi) to implement transparency and performance-enhancing measures to ensure timely and cost-conscious construction of necessary network upgrades once an interconnection agreement has been executed.

(2) Deadline for final rule.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall promulgate a final rule to complete the rulemaking initiated under paragraph (1).

(3) Savings clause.—Nothing in this subsection alters, or may be construed to alter, the allocation of costs of the transmission system pursuant to the ratemaking authority of the Commission under section 205 of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 824d).

SEC. 1225. GRID-ENHANCING TECHNOLOGIES AND CONGESTION TRANSPARENCY.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Commission.—The term "Commission" means the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

(2) Grid-enhancing technology.—The term "grid-enhancing technology" means any hardware or software that—

(A) increases the capacity, efficiency, reliability, resilience, or safety of transmission facilities and transmission technologies; and

(B) is installed in addition to transmission facilities and transmission technologies—

(i) to give operators of the transmission facilities and transmission technologies more situational awareness and control over the electric grid;

(ii) to make the transmission facilities and transmission technologies more efficient; or

(iii) to increase the transfer capacity of the transmission facilities and transmission technologies.

(3) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Energy.

(b) Shared savings incentive for grid-enhancing technologies.—

(1) Definition of developer.—In this subsection, the term "developer", with respect to grid-enhancing technology, means the entity that pays to install the grid-enhancing technology.

(2) Establishment of shared savings incentive.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall promulgate a final rule providing a shared savings incentive that returns a portion of the savings attributable to an investment in grid-enhancing technology to the developer of that grid-enhancing technology, in accordance with this subsection.

(3) Requirements.—

(A) In general.—The Commission shall determine the percentage of savings attributable to an investment in grid-enhancing technology that can be returned to the developer of that grid-enhancing technology pursuant to the shared savings incentive established under paragraph (2), subject to the conditions that the percentage—

(i) is not less than 10 percent and not more than 25 percent;

(ii) is not determined on a per-project, per-investment, or case-by-case basis; and

(iii) is applied consistently to all investments in grid-enhancing technology eligible for the shared savings incentive, regardless of the type of grid-enhancing technology installed.

(B) Time period for recovery.—The shared savings incentive established under paragraph (2) shall return a percentage, determined in accordance with subparagraph (A), of the applicable savings to the developer of the applicable grid-enhancing technology over a period of 3 years.

(4) Eligibility.—Subject to paragraph (5), the shared savings incentive established under paragraph (2) shall apply with respect to—

(A) any developer, with respect to the investment of that developer in grid-enhancing technology that is installed as described in subsection (a)(2)(B); and

(B) any grid-enhancing technology, including—

(i) grid-enhancing technology that relates to new transmission facilities or transmission technologies; and

(ii) grid-enhancing technology that relates to existing transmission facilities or transmission technologies.

(5) Limitations.—

(A) Minimum savings.—

(i) In general.—The shared savings incentive established under paragraph (2) shall apply with respect to an investment in grid-enhancing technology only if the expected savings attributable to the investment over the 3-year period described in paragraph (3)(B), as determined by the Commission, are at least 4 times the cost of the investment.

(ii) Determination.—The Commission shall determine how to quantify the cost of an investment and the expected savings attributable to an investment for purposes of clause (i).

(iii) Costs.—For purposes of clause (i), the cost of an investment may include any costs associated with the permitting, installation, or purchase of the applicable grid-enhancing technology.

(B) Already installed grid-enhancing technologies.—The shared savings incentive established under paragraph (2) may not be applied with respect to grid-enhancing technology that is already installed as of the date of enactment of this Act.

(C) Consumer protection.—The Commission shall determine appropriate consumer protections for the shared savings incentive established under paragraph (2).

(6) Evaluation and sunset of shared savings incentive.—

(A) Evaluation.—Not earlier than 7 years, and not later than 10 years, after the shared savings incentive is established under paragraph (2), the Commission shall—

(i) evaluate the necessity and efficacy of the shared savings incentive; and

(ii) determine whether to maintain, revise, or suspend the shared savings incentive.

(B) Consideration of Order No. 1920.—In conducting the evaluation under subparagraph (A)(i), the Commission shall consider—

(i) how the shared savings incentive aligns with the requirement that grid-enhancing technologies be considered in long-term regional transmission planning under Order No. 1920 of the Commission, entitled "Building for the Future Through Electric Regional Transmission Planning and Cost Allocation" (89 Fed. Reg. 49280 (June 11, 2024)), or a successor order;

(ii) whether and how the shared savings incentive should be revised to further align with that requirement; and

(iii) whether, in light of that requirement, the shared savings incentive should be maintained or suspended.

(C) Public comment.—In conducting the evaluation under subparagraph (A)(i), the Commission shall provide an opportunity for public comment, including by stakeholders.

(c) Congestion reporting.—

(1) Annual reports.—

(A) In general.—Beginning on the date that is 1 year after the effective date of the rule promulgated under paragraph (2), all operators of transmission facilities or transmission technologies shall submit to the Commission annual reports containing data on the costs associated with congestion management with respect to the transmission facilities or transmission technologies, including all relevant constraints.

(B) Requirement.—Each annual report submitted under subparagraph (A) shall identify—

(i) with respect to each reported constraint that caused more than $500,000 in associated costs—

(I) the cause of the constraint, including physical infrastructure and transient disruptions; and

(II) the next limiting element type and its identified rating limit; and

(ii) each constraint that will be addressed by planned future upgrades to infrastructure and facilities.

(2) Rulemaking.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commission shall promulgate a final rule establishing a universal metric and protocol for the measuring and reporting of data under paragraph (1).

(3) Uses of data.—

(A) Analyses.—

(i) In general.—The Commission and the Secretary shall each use the data submitted under paragraph (1) to conduct analyses, as the Commission or the Secretary, as applicable, determines to be appropriate.

(ii) Coordination.—The Commission and the Secretary may coordinate with respect to any analyses conducted using the data submitted under paragraph (1).

(B) Map.—The Commission and the Secretary, acting jointly, shall—

(i) use the data submitted under paragraph (1) to create a map of costs associated with congestion management in the transmission system; and

(ii) update that map not less frequently than once each year.

(4) Publication of data and map.—The Commission and the Secretary shall make the data submitted under paragraph (1) and the map described in paragraph (3)(B) publicly available on the websites of—

(A) the Commission; and

(B) the Department of Energy.

(d) Grid-enhancing technology application guide.—

(1) Definition of developer.—In this subsection, the term "developer" means a developer of transmission facilities or transmission technologies, including a developer of transmission facilities or transmission technologies that pays to install grid-enhancing technology with respect to those transmission facilities or transmission technologies.

(2) Establishment of application guide.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall establish an application guide for utilities and developers seeking to implement grid-enhancing technologies.

(3) Updates.—The guide established under paragraph (2) shall be reviewed and updated annually.

(4) Technical assistance.—

(A) In general.—On request of a utility or developer using the guide established under paragraph (2), the Secretary shall provide technical assistance to that utility or developer with respect to the use of grid-enhancing technologies for particular applications.

(B) Clearinghouse.—In carrying out subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall establish a clearinghouse of previously completed grid-enhancing technology projects that the Secretary, utilities, and developers may use to identify issues and solutions relating to the use of grid-enhancing technologies for particular applications.

(5) Authorization of appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection, to remain available until expended—

(A) $5,000,000 for fiscal year 2027; and

(B) $1,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2028 through 2036.

SEC. 1226. COMMUNITY SOLAR CONSUMER CHOICE.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Community solar facility; community solar program; subscriber.—The terms "community solar facility", "community solar program", and "subscriber" have the meanings given those terms in paragraph (22)(A) of section 111(d) of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2621(d)), as added by subsection (d).

(2) National Laboratory.—The term "National Laboratory" has the meaning given the term in section 2 of the Energy Policy Act of 2005 (42 U.S.C. 15801).

(3) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Energy.

(b) Establishment of community solar consumer choice program.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall establish a program to increase access to community solar programs for—

(A) individuals, particularly individuals that do not have regular access to onsite solar, including low- and moderate-income individuals;

(B) businesses;

(C) nonprofit organizations; and

(D) States and local and Tribal governments.

(2) Alignment with existing Federal programs.—The Secretary shall align the program established under paragraph (1) with existing Federal programs that serve low-income communities.

(3) Assistance to State, local, and Tribal governments.—In carrying out the program established under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall—

(A) provide technical assistance to State, local, and Tribal governments, and other entities, for projects to increase access to community solar programs;

(B) assist State, local, and Tribal governments in the development of new and innovative financial and business models, including affordable rate structures, that leverage competition in the energy marketplace in order to serve subscribers; and

(C) use National Laboratories to collect and disseminate data to assist private entities in the financing of, subscription to, and operation of community solar facilities and community solar programs.

(c) Federal Government participation in community solar programs.—The Secretary, to the extent practicable, shall expand the existing grant, loan, and financing programs of the Department of Energy to include community solar programs.

(d) Establishment of community solar programs.—

(1) In general.—Section 111(d) of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2621(d)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(22) Community solar programs.—

"(A) Definitions.—In this paragraph:

"(i) Community solar facility.—The term 'community solar facility' means a solar photovoltaic system that—

"(I) allocates electricity to multiple electric consumers served by an electric utility;

"(II) is connected to local distribution infrastructure of the electric utility;

"(III) is located either on or off the property of 1 or more subscribers; and

"(IV) may be owned by an electric utility, 1 or more subscribers, or a third party.

"(ii) Community solar program.—The term 'community solar program' means a service provided by an electric utility to an electric consumer served by the electric utility through which the value of electricity generated by a community solar facility may be used to offset charges billed to the electric consumer by the electric utility.

"(iii) Subscriber.—The term 'subscriber' means an electric consumer who participates in a community solar program.

"(B) Standard.—

"(i) Non-Tribal utilities.—Each electric utility that is not a Tribal utility shall offer a community solar program to which all ratepayers of the electric utility, including low-income ratepayers, have equitable and demonstrable access.

"(ii) Tribal utilities.—

"(I) In general.—A Tribal utility may offer a community solar program.

"(II) Resources.—A Tribal utility that offers a community solar program may leverage resources made available under Federal law to carry out that community solar program.

"(C) Ownership of community solar facilities.—A community solar program established pursuant to this paragraph shall include a mechanism to allow electric utilities, non-utilities, and other appropriate entities to assume complete or partial ownership of relevant community solar facilities, as necessary to deliver customer benefits and mitigate the impacts of market concentration.

"(D) Technical assistance and other guidance.—The Secretary shall provide technical assistance and other guidance necessary to carry out a community solar program pursuant to this paragraph, including to State, local, and Tribal governments, as appropriate.".

(2) Compliance.—

(A) Time limitations.—Section 112(b) of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2622(b)) is amended—

(i) by indenting paragraphs (4) through (8), and any subparagraphs within those paragraphs, appropriately; and

(ii) by adding at the end the following:

"(9) (A) Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this paragraph, each State regulatory authority, with respect to each electric utility for which the State has ratemaking authority, and each nonregulated electric utility shall commence consideration under section 111, or set a hearing date for consideration, with respect to the standard established by paragraph (22) of section 111(d).

"(B) Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this paragraph, each State regulatory authority, with respect to each electric utility for which the State has ratemaking authority, and each nonregulated electric utility shall complete the consideration and make the determination under section 111 with respect to the standard established by paragraph (22) of section 111(d).".

(B) Failure to comply.—Section 112(c) of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2622(c)) is amended—

(i) in the first sentence, by striking "subsection (b)(2)" and inserting "subsection (b)"; and

(ii) by adding at the end the following: "In the case of the standard established by paragraph (22) of section 111(d), the reference contained in this subsection to the date of enactment of this Act shall be deemed to be a reference to the date of enactment of that paragraph (22).".

(C) Prior State actions.—Section 112 of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2622) is amended—

(i) in subsection (h), in the subsection heading, by striking "Other"; and

(ii) by adding at the end the following:

"(i) Prior State actions.—Subsections (b) and (c) shall not apply to the standard established by paragraph (22) of section 111(d) in the case of any electric utility in a State if, before the date of enactment of this subsection—

"(1) the State has implemented for the electric utility the standard, or a comparable standard;

"(2) the State regulatory authority for the State or the relevant nonregulated electric utility has conducted a proceeding to consider implementation of the standard, or a comparable standard, for the electric utility; or

"(3) the State legislature has voted on the implementation of the standard, or a comparable standard, for the electric utility.".

(D) Cross-reference.—Section 124 of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2634) is amended by adding at the end the following: "In the case of the standard established by paragraph (22) of section 111(d), the reference contained in this section to the date of enactment of this Act shall be deemed to be a reference to the date of enactment of that paragraph (22).".

(e) Federal contracts for public utility services.—Section 501(b)(1) of title 40, United States Code, is amended by striking subparagraph (B) and inserting the following:

"(B) Public utility contracts.—A contract under this paragraph for public utility services may be for a period of not more than 30 years.".

SEC. 1227. RENEWABLE ENERGY FOR UNITED STATES TERRITORIES.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Covered entity.—The term "covered entity" means a not-for-profit organization determined eligible by the Secretary for purposes of this section.

(2) Department of Energy National Laboratories.—The term "Department of Energy National Laboratories" has the same meaning as the term "National Laboratory" under section 2 of the Energy Policy Act of 2005 (42 U.S.C. 15801).

(3) Microgrid.—The term "microgrid" means an electric system—

(A) that serves the local community with a power generation and distribution system; and

(B) that has the ability—

(i) to disconnect from a traditional electric grid; and

(ii) to operate autonomously when disconnected.

(4) Renewable energy; renewable energy system.—The terms "renewable energy" and "renewable energy system" have the meanings given those terms in section 9001 of the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 (7 U.S.C. 8101).

(5) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Agriculture.

(6) Smart grid.—The term "smart grid" means an intelligent electric grid that uses digital communications technology, information systems, and automation to, while maintaining high system reliability—

(A) detect and react to local changes in usage;

(B) improve system operating efficiency; and

(C) reduce operating costs.

(7) Territory of the United States.—The term "territory of the United States" means the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, the United States Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands.

(b) Renewable energy grant program.—

(1) Establishment.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall establish a renewable energy program under which the Secretary may award grants to covered entities to facilitate projects, in territories of the United States, described in subsection (c).

(2) Applications.—To be eligible for a grant under the program established under paragraph (1), a covered entity shall submit to the Secretary an application at such time, in such form, and containing such information as the Secretary may require.

(c) Grant uses.—

(1) In general.—A covered entity receiving a grant under the program established under subsection (b) may use grant funds for a project, in a territory of the United States—

(A) to develop or construct a renewable energy system;

(B) to carry out an activity to increase energy efficiency;

(C) to develop or construct an energy storage system or device for—

(i) a system developed or constructed under subparagraph (A); or

(ii) an activity carried out under subparagraph (B);

(D) to develop or construct—

(i) a smart grid; or

(ii) a microgrid; or

(E) to train residents of the territory of the United States to develop, construct, maintain, or operate a renewable energy system.

(2) Limitation.—A covered entity receiving a grant under the program established under subsection (b) may not use grant funds to develop or construct a facility that generates electricity using energy derived from—

(A) fossil fuels; or

(B) nuclear power.

(d) Technical assistance.—The Secretary of Energy shall ensure that Department of Energy National Laboratories offer to provide technical assistance to each covered entity carrying out a project assisted with a grant under the program established under subsection (b).

(e) Report.—Not later than 2 years after the establishment of the program under subsection (b), and on an annual basis thereafter, the Secretary shall submit to Congress a report containing—

(1) an estimate of the amount of funds disbursed under the program;

(2) an estimate of the energy conservation achieved as a result of the program;

(3) a description of challenges encountered in implementing projects described in subsection (c)(1); and

(4) recommendations as to additional legislative measures to increase the use of renewable energy in territories of the United States, as appropriate.

(f) GAO study and report.—

(1) Study and report.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General of the United States shall—

(A) conduct a study regarding renewable energy and energy efficiency in territories of the United States; and

(B) submit to Congress a report containing—

(i) the findings of the study; and

(ii) related recommendations.

(2) Components.—The study conducted under paragraph (1) shall consider, in relation to each territory of the United States, the potential—

(A) to modify existing electric power systems to use renewable energy sources;

(B) to expand the use of microgrids; and

(C) to improve energy resiliency.

(3) Authorization of appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated $1,500,000 to carry out this subsection.

(g) Authorization of appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this section.

SEC. 1228. STREAMLINING HOME INSTALLATION OF NEW ENERGIES.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Authority having jurisdiction.—The term "authority having jurisdiction" means any State, county, local, or Tribal office or official with jurisdiction—

(A) to issue permits relating to qualifying distributed energy systems;

(B) to conduct inspections to enforce the requirements of a relevant code or standard relating to qualifying distributed energy systems; or

(C) to approve the installation of, or the equipment and materials used in the installation of, qualifying distributed energy systems.

(2) Electric utility.—The term "electric utility" has the meaning given the term in section 3 of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2602).

(3) Nationally recognized testing laboratory.—The term "nationally recognized testing laboratory" means a testing laboratory recognized under section 1910.7 of title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, or successor regulations.

(4) Notice-only registration.—The term "notice-only registration" means an online registration that is required solely to record the installation and operation of plug-in solar systems and to inform the applicable electric utility, authority having jurisdiction, or residential property controller.

(5) Plug-in solar system.—The term "plug-in solar system" means photovoltaic equipment that—

(A) is intended for connection to a premises wiring system through a cord-and-plug connection to an existing receptacle;

(B) does not require modification of premises wiring for installation or operation;

(C) has an alternating-current output of not more than 1.2 kilowatts, or such higher output as the Secretary determines appropriate by rule; and

(D) is certified by a nationally recognized testing laboratory to comply with UL 3700, UL 1741, or a successor safety standard recognized by the Secretary.

(6) Residential property controller.—The term "residential property controller" means a landlord, homeowners' association, condominium association, cooperative housing corporation, manufactured housing community owner, property manager, or other person with authority under a lease, covenant, deed restriction, master deed, declaration, bylaw, rule, regulation, or other governing document to prohibit, approve, or restrict the placement or use of a plug-in solar system on or within residential premises.

(7) Qualifying distributed energy system.—The term "qualifying distributed energy system" means any equipment or materials installed in, on, or near a residential building to support onsite or local energy use, including—

(A) to generate electricity from distributed renewable energy sources, including from—

(i) solar photovoltaic systems or similar solar energy technologies, including plug-in solar systems; and

(ii) wind power systems;

(B) to store and discharge electricity from batteries with a capacity of at least 2 kilowatt hours;

(C) to charge a plug-in electric drive vehicle at a power rate of at least 2 kilowatts; or

(D) to refuel a hydrogen fuel cell electric vehicle.

(8) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Energy.

(b) Program.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary, in consultation with trade associations and other entities representing distributed energy system installers and organizations representing State, local, and Tribal governments engaged in permitting, shall carry out a program to further develop, expand, and support the adoption of a voluntary streamlined permitting and inspection process for authorities having jurisdiction to use for the permitting of qualifying distributed energy systems.

(c) Activities of the program.—In carrying out the program established under subsection (b), the Secretary shall—

(1) further develop and expand an exemplary streamlined permitting process that includes an online permitting platform—

(A) for expediting, standardizing, and streamlining permitting; and

(B) that authorities having jurisdiction may voluntarily use to receive, review, and approve permit applications relating to qualifying distributed energy systems;

(2) establish targets for the adoption of a streamlined, expedited permitting process by authorities having jurisdiction;

(3) provide technical assistance and training directly or indirectly to authorities having jurisdiction on using and adopting the exemplary streamlined permitting process described in paragraph (1), including the adoption of any necessary building codes;

(4) develop a voluntary inspection protocol and related tools to expedite, standardize, and streamline the inspection of qualifying distributed energy systems, including—

(A) by investigating the potential for using remote inspections;

(B) by investigating the potential for sample-based inspection for distributed energy system installers with a demonstrated track record of high-quality work; and

(C) by investigating opportunities to integrate the voluntary inspection protocol into the online permitting platform described in paragraph (1) and the platforms of government software providers;

(5) develop voluntary model permitting, inspection, safety, and interconnection guidance for plug-in solar systems, including guidance addressing equipment certification, labeling, receptacle compatibility, anti-islanding protection, ground-fault protection, export limitation, consumer notice, and circumstances under which no modification of premises wiring is required; and

(6) take any other action to expedite, standardize, streamline, or improve the process for permitting, inspecting, or interconnecting qualifying distributed energy systems.

(d) Support services.—The Secretary shall—

(1) support the provision of technical assistance to authorities having jurisdiction, any administrator of the online permitting platform described in subsection (c)(1), government software providers, and any other entity determined appropriate by the Secretary in carrying out the activities described in subsection (c); and

(2) provide such financial assistance as the Secretary determines appropriate from any funds appropriated to carry out this section.

(e) Authority having jurisdiction certification program.—

(1) In general.—The Secretary may certify authorities having jurisdiction that implement the exemplary streamlined permitting process described in subsection (c)(1).

(2) Process.—The Secretary may confer a certification under paragraph (1) through existing programs within the Department of Energy.

(3) Prizes.—The Secretary may award prizes to authorities having jurisdiction, using funds appropriated to the Secretary to carry out this section, to encourage authorities having jurisdiction to adopt the exemplary streamlined permitting process or the voluntary inspection protocol established under paragraphs (1) and (4) of subsection (c), respectively.

(f) Plug-in solar systems.—

(1) Authority to install and operate.—A person may install and operate plug-in solar systems in accordance with this subsection without obtaining a permit, inspection, interconnection study, interconnection application approval, equipment upgrade approval, or other discretionary approval from an authority having jurisdiction or electric utility.

(2) Notice-only registration.—

(A) In general.—An authority having jurisdiction, electric utility, or residential property controller may require notice-only registration for plug-in solar systems.

(B) Contents.—A notice-only registration under subparagraph (A) may require only—

(i) the installation address;

(ii) the rated alternating-current output;

(iii) the inverter or system certification;

(iv) the electric utility account number;

(v) the meter number, if known to the customer; and

(vi) owner or operator contact information.

(C) Timing.—A notice-only registration under subparagraph (A) may be submitted before or after installation, except that an authority having jurisdiction, electric utility, or residential property controller may require submission not later than 7 days after the date on which the plug-in solar system begins operation.

(D) No discretionary approval.—A notice-only registration under subparagraph (A) shall not be treated as a request for discretionary approval.

(3) Prohibition on obstruction.—An authority having jurisdiction or electric utility may not prohibit, delay, or impose materially more burdensome permitting, inspection, notification, registration, interconnection, equipment, operation, or fee requirements on plug-in solar systems that comply with this subsection, including by requiring additional controls, dedicated circuits, equipment, customer charges, or other requirements not required by the product listing, an applicable safety standard, or this subsection, unless the authority having jurisdiction or electric utility identifies a documented, site-specific safety or reliability risk that cannot be addressed by compliance with this subsection.

(4) Utility notice and meter treatment.—

(A) Utility notice.—If a notice-only registration is submitted to an authority having jurisdiction other than the applicable electric utility, the authority having jurisdiction shall transmit the registration information to the applicable electric utility.

(B) Meter replacement.—If operation of a plug-in solar system requires replacement of an electric meter to accurately record electricity consumption or reverse power flows, the applicable electric utility shall replace the meter without charge to the customer.

(C) No delay.—An electric utility may not prohibit or delay installation or operation of a plug-in solar system pending replacement of an electric meter unless the utility identifies a documented, site-specific safety or reliability risk that cannot be addressed by compliance with this subsection.

(5) Ordinary safety enforcement.—Nothing in this subsection shall limit the authority of an authority having jurisdiction or electric utility to enforce generally applicable safety requirements against plug-in solar systems that are installed, modified, or operated in a manner that does not comply with this subsection.

(6) Private restrictions.—

(A) In general.—A residential property controller may not prohibit, unreasonably delay, or impose materially more burdensome restrictions on the placement or use of a plug-in solar system that complies with this subsection.

(B) Reasonable restrictions.—A residential property controller may impose reasonable restrictions concerning the physical dimensions, placement, attachment, manner of placement, safety, or removal of a plug-in solar system, if such restrictions do not effectively prohibit use of the plug-in solar system or require installation, modification, or operation inconsistent with the product listing, an applicable safety standard, or this subsection.

(C) Void restrictions.—Any lease term, covenant, deed restriction, master deed, declaration, bylaw, rule, regulation, or other governing document inconsistent with this paragraph shall be void and unenforceable.

(D) Liability and damage.—A residential property controller may require a tenant, unit owner, or occupant to be responsible for damage to the premises caused by negligent installation, maintenance, removal, or use of a plug-in solar system by the tenant, unit owner, occupant, or the contractor or agent of such tenant, unit owner, or occupant.

(7) Guidance.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall publish guidance to assist authorities having jurisdiction, electric utilities, residential property controllers, renters, multifamily housing owners, manufacturers, and consumers in carrying out this subsection.

(g) Authorization of appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated to the Secretary to carry out this section $20,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2027 through 2030.

Subtitle B—Addressing PFAS

SEC. 1231. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) are a class of synthetic chemicals that have been used in firefighting foam, carpeting, packaging, cookware, textiles, furniture, industrial processes, and other products since the 1940s.

(2) PFAS persist in the environment, can accumulate in the human body, and have been detected in air, water, soil, food, biosolids, consumer products, wildlife, and human blood.

(3) PFAS are not naturally occurring and enter the environment through manufacturing, processing, distribution, use, release, disposal, and degradation of substances and products containing such chemicals.

(4) Exposure to PFAS has been associated with serious health risks, including cancer, reproductive and developmental harms, immune system effects, liver and kidney effects, and low infant birthweight.

(5) PFAS have been detected in drinking water used by millions of individuals in the United States.

(6) Federal regulation of PFAS has expanded, but remains incomplete, fragmented across multiple environmental statutes, and insufficient to address the full lifecycle of production, use, release, exposure, treatment, destruction, and accountability.

(7) Regulatory action, cleanup, exposure reduction, safer alternatives, and medical monitoring depend on scientific analysis of toxicity, exposure pathways, environmental fate and transport, treatment methods, destruction methods, and health effects.

(8) Federal research efforts relating to PFAS have been fragmented across agencies and should be coordinated to support public health, environmental protection, safer substitutes, treatment technology, destruction technology, and implementation by Federal, State, Tribal, and local governments.

(9) Removing PFAS from water imposes significant capital, operation, maintenance, monitoring, disposal, and compliance costs on community water systems, treatment works, schools, households, and affected communities.

(10) Such costs are currently borne in significant part by public water systems, treatment works, taxpayers, and ratepayers, even though such contamination resulted from the manufacture, processing, distribution, use, release, and disposal of PFAS in commerce.

(11) Manufacturers and other responsible parties should bear a fair share of the costs of testing, monitoring, treatment, cleanup, disposal, medical monitoring, research, and public accountability associated with PFAS.

(12) Individuals significantly exposed to PFAS should have access to appropriate legal and equitable remedies, including medical monitoring where warranted.

(b) Purposes.—The purposes of this subtitle are—

(1) to reduce exposure to PFAS in air, water, soil, food, consumer products, workplaces, schools, and communities;

(2) to codify, preserve, and strengthen Federal protections for drinking water, cleanup, testing, disclosure, treatment, and control of PFAS;

(3) to require testing, analytical standards, reporting, and controls for PFAS throughout their lifecycle;

(4) to protect drinking water systems, treatment works, schools, households, and disproportionately exposed communities from PFAS;

(5) to reduce Federal procurement and food-packaging exposure to PFAS;

(6) to ensure that manufacturers and responsible parties bear a fair share of the costs of contamination, treatment, cleanup, medical monitoring, research, and accountability; and

(7) to coordinate Federal research, development, and implementation of safer alternatives, treatment methods, destruction methods, exposure protections, and health protections.

SEC. 1232. SUPERFUND DESIGNATION AND CLEANUP ACCOUNTABILITY.

(a) Codification of CERCLA hazardous substance designation for PFOA and PFOS.—

(1) Incorporation of rule.—The provisions of the final rule promulgated by the Environmental Protection Agency, entitled "Designation of Perfluorooctanoic Acid (PFOA) and Perfluorooctanesulfonic Acid (PFOS) as CERCLA Hazardous Substances", as published in the Federal Register on May 8, 2024 (89 Fed. Reg. 39124), are incorporated into this Act and shall be treated as though such provisions are set forth in this subsection.

(2) Effect of incorporation.—The regulations incorporated under paragraph (1) are established as minimum hazardous substance designations by this Act, and may be weakened only by means of an Act of Congress. To the extent that any provision of such regulations does not conform with this Act, the provisions of this Act shall govern.

(3) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to limit any existing authority of the Environmental Protection Agency to designate additional perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances as hazardous substances under section 102(a) of the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 (42 U.S.C. 9602(a)) or to impose stricter cleanup, reporting, remediation, or enforcement requirements.

(b) Deadline for additional determinations.—Not later than July 1, 2029, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall determine whether to designate all perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances, other than those perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances designated pursuant to subsection (a), as hazardous substances under section 102(a) of the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 (42 U.S.C. 9602(a)) individually or in groups.

(c) Review.—

(1) In general.—Not later than July 1, 2029, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report containing a review of actions by the Environmental Protection Agency to clean up contamination of the substances designated pursuant to subsection (a).

(2) Matters included.—The report under paragraph (1) shall include an assessment of cleanup progress and effectiveness, including the following:

(A) The number of sites where the Environmental Protection Agency has acted to remediate contamination of the substances designated pursuant to subsection (a).

(B) Which types of chemicals relating to such substances were present at each site and the extent to which each site was contaminated.

(C) An analysis of discrepancies in cleanup between Federal and non-Federal contamination sites.

(D) Any other elements the Administrator may determine necessary.

(3) Appropriate congressional committees defined.—In this subsection, the term "appropriate congressional committees" means the following:

(A) The Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives.

(B) The Committee on the Environment and Public Works of the Senate.

SEC. 1233. TESTING, ANALYTICAL STANDARDS, AND CHEMICAL CONTROLS.

(a) Testing requirements.—Section 4(a) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2603(a)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(5) Perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances rule.—

"(A) Rule.—Notwithstanding paragraphs (1) through (3), the Administrator shall, by rule, require that comprehensive toxicity testing be conducted on all chemical substances that are perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances.

"(B) Requirements.—In issuing a rule under subparagraph (A), the Administrator—

"(i) may establish categories of perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances based on hazard characteristics or chemical properties;

"(ii) shall require the development of information relating to perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances that the Administrator determines is likely to be useful in evaluating the hazard and risk posed by such substances in land, air, and water (including drinking water and water used for agricultural purposes), as well as in products; and

"(iii) may allow for varied or tiered testing requirements based on hazard characteristics or chemical properties of perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances or categories of perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances.

"(C) Deadlines.—The Administrator shall issue—

"(i) a proposed rule under subparagraph (A) not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this paragraph; and

"(ii) a final rule under subparagraph (A) not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this paragraph.".

(b) Persons subject to rule.—Section 4(b)(3) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2603(b)(3)) is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (A), by striking "subparagraph (B) or (C)" and inserting "subparagraph (B), (C), or (D)"; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(D) A rule under subsection (a)(5) shall require the development of information by any person who manufactures or processes, or intends to manufacture or process, a chemical substance that is a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance.".

(c) Perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances.—Section 4 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2603) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(i) Perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances.—

"(1) Testing requirement rule.—

"(A) Protocols and methodologies.—In determining the protocols and methodologies to be included pursuant to subsection (b)(1) in a rule under subsection (a)(5), the Administrator shall allow for protocols and methodologies that test chemical substances that are perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances as a class.

"(B) Period.—In determining the period to be included pursuant to subsection (b)(1) in a rule under subsection (a)(5), the Administrator shall ensure that the period is as short as possible while allowing for completion of the required testing.

"(2) Exemptions.—In carrying out subsection (c) with respect to a chemical substance that is a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance, the Administrator—

"(A) may only determine under subsection (c)(2) that information would be duplicative if the chemical substance with respect to which the application for exemption is submitted is in the same category, as established under subsection (a)(5)(B)(i), as a chemical substance for which information has been submitted to the Administrator in accordance with a rule, order, or consent agreement under subsection (a) or for which information is being developed pursuant to such a rule, order, or consent agreement; and

"(B) shall publish a list of all such chemical substances for which an exemption under subsection (c) is granted.

"(j) Analytical reference standards for PFAS.—

"(1) Submission.—

"(A) In general.—Not later than April 1, 2027, the Administrator shall, by order or rule, require persons who manufacture or process a covered chemical substance to—

"(i) submit to the Administrator an analytical reference standard for, or sample of, such covered chemical substance, including any such covered chemical substance manufactured or processed by the person during the 10-year period ending on the date of enactment of this subsection; and

"(ii) periodically resubmit such an analytical reference standard or sample, as determined appropriate by the Administrator.

"(B) Mixtures.—The Administrator may, by order or rule, require persons who manufacture or process a mixture containing a covered chemical substance to submit to the Administrator an analytical reference standard for, or sample of, such mixture.

"(2) Uses.—The Administrator may use an analytical reference standard or sample submitted under this subsection or provide an analytical reference standard or sample submitted under this subsection to a State, research institution, or another Federal agency, for—

"(A) the development of information, protocols, and methodologies, which may be carried out by an entity determined appropriate by the Administrator; and

"(B) activities relating to the implementation or enforcement of Federal or State requirements.

"(3) Prioritization.—In carrying out this subsection, the Administrator shall—

"(A) prioritize covered chemical substances that are included in the list of toxic chemicals subject to the requirements of section 313(c) of the Emergency Planning and Community Right-To-Know Act of 1986 (42 U.S.C. 11023(c)); and

"(B) for covered chemical substances not described in subparagraph (A), prioritize covered chemical substances based on production volume.

"(4) Prohibition.—No person receiving an analytical reference standard or sample submitted under this subsection may use or transfer the analytical reference standard or sample for a commercial purpose.

"(5) Definition.—In this subsection, the term 'covered chemical substance' means a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance with at least one fully fluorinated carbon atom that is included in the chemical substance list compiled and published under section 8(b).".

(d) Manufacturing and processing notices for perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances.—Section 5 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2604) is amended—

(1) in subsection (h), by adding at the end the following:

"(7) PFAS.—

"(A) In general.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), this subsection does not apply to any chemical substance that is a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance.

"(B) Drugs and devices.—Paragraph (3) applies to a chemical substance that is a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance which is manufactured or processed, or proposed to be manufactured or processed, solely for purposes of—

"(i) scientific experimentation or analysis with respect to a drug or device (as such terms are defined in section 201 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act) or personal protective equipment (as such term is defined in section 20005 of the CARES Act); or

"(ii) chemical research on, or analysis of, such a chemical substance for the development of a drug or device (as such terms are defined in section 201 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act) or personal protective equipment (as such term is defined in section 20005 of the CARES Act).''; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(j) Perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances.—

"(1) Determination.—For a period of 5 years beginning on the date of enactment of this subsection, any chemical substance that is a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance for which a notice is submitted under subsection (a) shall be deemed to have been determined by the Administrator to present an unreasonable risk of injury to health or the environment under paragraph (3)(A) of such subsection.

"(2) Order.—Notwithstanding subsection (a)(3)(A), for a chemical substance described in paragraph (1) of this subsection, the Administrator shall issue an order under subsection (f)(3) to prohibit the manufacture, processing, and distribution in commerce of such chemical substance.''.

(e) PFAS data call.—Section 8(a)(7) of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2607(a)(7)) is amended by inserting "that contains at least 1 fully fluorinated carbon atom," after "perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance".

SEC. 1234. DRINKING WATER PROTECTIONS AND COMMUNITY ASSISTANCE.

(a) Codification of PFAS national primary drinking water regulation.—

(1) Incorporation of rule.—The provisions of the final rule promulgated by the Environmental Protection Agency, entitled "PFAS National Primary Drinking Water Regulation", as published in the Federal Register on April 26, 2024 (89 Fed. Reg. 32532), are incorporated into this Act and shall be treated as though such provisions are set forth in this subsection.

(2) Effect of incorporation.—The regulations incorporated under paragraph (1) are established as the minimum national primary drinking water regulation for PFAS by this Act, and may be weakened only by means of an Act of Congress. To the extent that any provision of such regulations does not conform with this Act, the provisions of this Act shall govern.

(3) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to limit any existing authority of the Environmental Protection Agency to impose stricter national primary drinking water regulations, monitoring requirements, treatment requirements, public notification requirements, health advisories, or other requirements relating to perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances under the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300f et seq.).

(b) Additional PFAS drinking water regulations and health advisories.—

(1) Regulation of additional substances.—

(A) Determination.—The Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall make a determination under section 1412(b)(1)(A) of the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300g–1(b)(1)(A)), using the criteria described in clauses (i) through (iii) of that section, whether to regulate a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances not subject to the national primary drinking water regulation incorporated under subsection (a) not later than 18 months after the later of—

(i) the date on which the perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances is listed on the list of contaminants for consideration of regulation under section 1412(b)(1)(B)(i) of the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300g–1(b)(1)(B)(i)); and

(ii) the date on which—

(I) the Administrator has received the results of monitoring under section 1445(a)(2)(B) of the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300j–4(a)(2)(B)) for the perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances; or

(II) the Administrator has received reliable water data or water monitoring surveys for the perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances from a Federal or State agency that the Administrator determines to be of a quality sufficient to make a determination under section 1412(b)(1)(A) of the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300g–1(b)(1)(A)).

(B) Primary drinking water regulations.—

(i) In general.—For each perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances that the Administrator determines to regulate under subparagraph (A), the Administrator—

(I) not later than 18 months after the date on which the Administrator makes the determination, shall propose a national primary drinking water regulation for the perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances; and

(II) may publish the proposed national primary drinking water regulation described in subclause (I) concurrently with the publication of the determination to regulate the perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances.

(ii) Deadline.—

(I) In general.—Not later than 1 year after the date on which the Administrator publishes a proposed national primary drinking water regulation under clause (i)(I), and subject to subclause (II), the Administrator shall take final action on the proposed national primary drinking water regulation.

(II) Extension.—The Administrator, on publication of notice in the Federal Register, may extend the deadline under subclause (I) by not more than 6 months.

(2) Health advisory.—

(A) In general.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the Administrator shall publish a health advisory under section 1412(b)(1)(F) of the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300g–1(b)(1)(F)) for a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances not subject to a national primary drinking water regulation not later than 1 year after the later of—

(i) the date on which the Administrator finalizes a toxicity value for the perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances; and

(ii) the date on which the Administrator validates an effective quality control and testing procedure for the perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances.

(B) Waiver.—The Administrator may waive the requirements of subparagraph (A) with respect to a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances if the Administrator determines that there is a substantial likelihood that the perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance or class of perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substances will not occur in drinking water with sufficient frequency to justify the publication of a health advisory, and publishes such determination, including the information and analysis used, and basis for, such determination, in the Federal Register.

(c) Assistance to Territories for addressing emerging contaminants, with a focus on perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances.—Section 1452(t) of the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300j–12(t)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (1), by striking "Amounts" and inserting "Subject to paragraph (2)";

(2) by redesignating paragraph (2) as paragraph (3); and

(3) by inserting after paragraph (1) the following new paragraph:

"(2) Assistance to territories.—The Administrator shall reserve not less than 2 percent of the amounts made available under this subsection to provide grants to the Virgin Islands, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, American Samoa, and Guam for the purpose of addressing emerging contaminants, with a focus on perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances.".

(d) Establishment of PFAS infrastructure grant program.—Part E of the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300j et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"Sec. 1459H. Assistance for community water systems affected by PFAS.

"(a) Establishment.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this section, the Administrator shall establish a program to award grants to affected community water systems to pay for capital costs associated with the implementation of eligible treatment technologies.

"(b) Applications.—

"(1) Guidance.—Not later than 12 months after the date of enactment of this section, the Administrator shall publish guidance describing the form and timing for community water systems to apply for grants under this section.

"(2) Required information.—The Administrator shall require a community water system applying for a grant under this section to submit—

"(A) information showing the presence of PFAS in water of the community water system; and

"(B) except in the case of an application solely for capital costs described in subsection (f)(2), a certification that the treatment technology in use by the community water system at the time of application is not sufficient to meet all applicable Federal and State standards, and all applicable health advisories published pursuant to section 1412(b)(1)(F), for PFAS.

"(c) List of eligible treatment technologies.—Not later than 150 days after the date of enactment of this section, and every 2 years thereafter, the Administrator shall publish a list of treatment technologies that the Administrator determines are the most effective at removing PFAS from drinking water.

"(d) Priority for funding.—In awarding grants under this section, the Administrator shall prioritize an affected community water system that—

"(1) serves a disadvantaged community;

"(2) will provide at least a 10-percent cost share for the cost of implementing an eligible treatment technology;

"(3) demonstrates the capacity to maintain the eligible treatment technology to be implemented using the grant; or

"(4) is located within an area with respect to which the Administrator has published a determination under the first sentence of section 1424(e) relating to an aquifer that is the sole or principal drinking water source for the area.

"(e) No increased bonding authority.—Amounts awarded to affected community water systems under this section may not be used as a source of payment of, or security for (directly or indirectly), in whole or in part, any obligation the interest on which is exempt from the tax imposed under chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

"(f) Authorization of appropriations.—

"(1) In general.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $500,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2027 through 2031.

"(2) Special rule.—Of the amounts authorized to be appropriated by paragraph (1), $25,000,000 are authorized to be appropriated for each of fiscal years 2027 and 2028 for grants under subsection (a) to pay for capital costs associated with the implementation of eligible treatment technologies during the period beginning on October 1, 2017, and ending on the date of enactment of this section.

"(g) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Affected community water system.—The term 'affected community water system' means a community water system that is affected by the presence of PFAS in the water in the community water system.

"(2) Disadvantaged community.—The term 'disadvantaged community' has the meaning given that term in section 1452.

"(3) Eligible treatment technology.—The term 'eligible treatment technology' means a treatment technology included on the list published under subsection (c).

"(4) PFAS.—The term 'PFAS' means a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance with at least one fully fluorinated carbon atom.".

(e) School drinking water testing and filtration grant program.—Part F of the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300j–21 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 1466. School PFAS testing and filtration grant program.

"(a) In general.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this section, the Administrator shall establish a program to make grants to States and Indian Tribes to assist local educational agencies, public water systems that serve schools and child care programs under the jurisdiction of those local educational agencies, and qualified nonprofit organizations in—

"(1) testing for perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances in drinking water at such schools and child care program facilities that is conducted by a qualified entity, as determined by the Administrator or the applicable State;

"(2) installation, maintenance, and repair of water filtration systems effective for reducing perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances in drinking water at such schools and child care program facilities that contain a level of any perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance that exceeds—

"(A) an applicable maximum contaminant level established by the Administrator under section 1412; or

"(B) an applicable standard established by the applicable State that is more stringent than the level described in subparagraph (A); or

"(3) safe disposal of spent water filtration equipment used to reduce perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances in drinking water at schools and child care program facilities.

"(b) Direct grants.—The Administrator may make a grant for activities described in subsection (a) directly available to—

"(1) a local educational agency or public water system that is located in a State that does not participate in the grant program established under subsection (a); or

"(2) a qualified nonprofit organization, as determined by the Administrator.

"(c) Application.—To be eligible to receive a grant under this section, a State, Indian Tribe, local educational agency, public water system, or qualified nonprofit organization shall submit to the Administrator an application at such time, in such manner, and containing such information as the Administrator may require.

"(d) Guidance; public availability.—As a condition of receiving a grant under this section, a State, Indian Tribe, local educational agency, public water system, or qualified nonprofit organization shall—

"(1) expend grant funds in accordance with any applicable State regulation or guidance regarding the reduction of perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances in drinking water at schools or child care program facilities that is not less stringent than any applicable guidance issued by the Administrator;

"(2) make publicly available, including, to the maximum extent practicable, on the website of the State, Indian Tribe, local educational agency, public water system, or qualified nonprofit organization, a copy of the results of any testing carried out with grant funds received under this section; and

"(3) notify parent, teacher, and employee organizations of the availability of the results described in paragraph (2).

"(e) Limitation.—Not more than 5 percent of the grant funds accepted by a State, Indian Tribe, local educational agency, public water system, or qualified nonprofit organization for a fiscal year under this section may be used to pay the administrative costs of carrying out activities described in subsection (a).

"(f) Definitions.—In this section, the terms 'child care program' and 'local educational agency' have the meaning given such terms in section 1464(d).

"(g) Authorization of appropriation.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $100,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2027 through 2031, to remain available until expended.".

(f) Household well water testing website.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall establish a website containing information relating to the testing of household well water.

(2) Contents.—The Administrator shall include on the website established under paragraph (1) the following:

(A) Information on how to have an inspector, who is certified by a qualified third party, test the groundwater that is the source for a household water well.

(B) A list of laboratories that analyze water samples and are certified by a State or the Administrator.

(C) State-specific information, developed in coordination with each State, on naturally occurring and human-induced contaminants.

(D) Information that, using accepted risk communication techniques, clearly communicates whether a test result value exceeds a level determined by the Administrator or the applicable State to pose a health risk.

(E) Information on treatment options, including information relating to water treatment systems certified to the relevant NSF/ANSI American National Standard for drinking water treatment units by a third-party certification body accredited by the ANSI National Accreditation Board.

(F) A directory of whom to contact to report a test result value that exceeds a level determined by the Administrator or the applicable State to pose a health risk.

(G) Information on financial assistance that is available for homeowners to support water treatment, including grants under section 306E of the Consolidated Farm and Rural Development Act (7 U.S.C. 1926e) and State resources.

(H) Information about the health risks associated with consuming water contaminated with perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances as well as recommendations for individuals who believe they may have consumed such contaminated water.

(I) Any other information the Administrator considers appropriate.

(3) Access.—The Administrator shall ensure information on the website established under paragraph (1) is presented in a manner that provides meaningful access to such information for individuals with limited English proficiency.

(4) Coordination.—The Administrator shall coordinate with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Secretary of Agriculture, and appropriate State agencies in carrying out this subsection.

(5) Authorization of appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this subsection $1,000,000 for fiscal year 2027.

SEC. 1235. AIR, WASTEWATER, DISPOSAL, AND INDUSTRIAL DISCLOSURE.

(a) Listing of perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances as hazardous air pollutants.—

(1) Listing.—

(A) Initial listing.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall issue a final rule adding perfluorooctanoic acid and its salts, and perfluorooctanesulfonic acid and its salts, to the list of hazardous air pollutants under section 112(b) of the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7412(b)).

(B) Additional listings.—Not later than 5 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall determine whether to issue, in accordance with section 112 of the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7412), any final rules adding perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances, other than those perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances listed pursuant to subparagraph (A), to the list of hazardous air pollutants under section 112(b) of such Act.

(2) Source categories.—Not later than 365 days after any final rule is issued pursuant to paragraph (1), the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall revise the list under section 112(c)(1) of the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7412(c)(1)) to include categories and subcategories of major sources and area sources of perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances listed pursuant to such final rule.

(b) Prohibition on unsafe waste incineration of PFAS.—Section 3004 of the Solid Waste Disposal Act (42 U.S.C. 6924) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(z) PFAS wastes.—

"(1) Firefighting foam.—Not later than 6 months after the date of enactment of this subsection, the Administrator shall promulgate regulations requiring that when materials containing perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances are disposed or are designated for disposal—

"(A) all incineration is conducted in a manner that eliminates perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances while also minimizing perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances emitted into the air to the extent feasible;

"(B) all such materials that are designated for disposal are stored in accordance with the requirement under part 264 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations; and

"(C) all incineration is conducted at a facility that has been permitted to receive waste regulated under this subtitle.

"(2) Penalties.—For purposes of section 3008(d), a material subject to a requirement under this subsection shall be considered a hazardous waste identified or listed under this subtitle.".

(c) Disclosure of introductions of PFAS.—

(1) In general.—The introduction of any perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance by the owner or operator of an industrial source shall be unlawful unless such owner or operator first notifies the owner or operator of the applicable treatment works of—

(A) the identity and quantity of such substance;

(B) whether such substance is susceptible to treatment by such treatment works; and

(C) whether such substance would interfere with the operation of the treatment works.

(2) Violations.—A violation of this subsection shall be treated in the same manner as a violation of a regulation promulgated under subsection 307(b) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1317(b)).

(3) Definitions.—In this subsection:

(A) Introduction.—The term "introduction" means the introduction of pollutants into treatment works, as described in section 307(b) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1317(b)).

(B) Treatment works.—The term "treatment works" has the meaning given that term in section 212 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1292).

(d) Risk-communication strategy.—The Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall develop a risk-communication strategy to inform the public about the hazards or potential hazards of perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances, or categories of perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances, by—

(1) disseminating information about the risks or potential risks posed by such substances or categories in land, air, water (including drinking water and water used for agricultural purposes), and products;

(2) notifying the public about exposure pathways and mitigation measures through outreach and educational resources; and

(3) consulting with States that have demonstrated effective risk-communication strategies for best practices in developing a national risk-communication strategy.

(e) Clean Water Act effluent limitations guidelines and standards and water quality criteria for PFAS.—

(1) Deadlines.—

(A) Water quality criteria.—Not later than 3 years after the date of enactment of this subsection, the Administrator shall publish in the Federal Register human health water quality criteria under section 304(a)(1) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1314) for each measurable perfluoroalkyl substance, polyfluoroalkyl substance, and class of such substances.

(B) Effluent limitations guidelines and standards for priority industry categories.—As soon as practicable, but not later than 4 years after the date of enactment of this subsection, the Administrator shall publish in the Federal Register a final rule establishing, for each priority industry category, effluent limitations guidelines and standards, in accordance with the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, for the discharge (including a discharge into a publicly owned treatment works) of each measurable perfluoroalkyl substance, polyfluoroalkyl substance, and class of such substances.

(2) Notification.—The Administrator shall notify the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Environment and Public Works of the Senate of each publication made under this subsection.

(3) Implementation assistance for publicly owned treatment works.—

(A) In general.—The Administrator shall award grants to owners and operators of publicly owned treatment works, to be used to implement effluent limitations guidelines and standards developed by the Administrator for a perfluoroalkyl substance, polyfluoroalkyl substance, or class of such substances.

(B) Authorization of appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated to the Administrator to carry out this paragraph $200,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2027 through 2031, to remain available until expended.

(4) No increased bonding authority.—Amounts awarded to an owner or operator of a publicly owned treatment works under this subsection may not be used as a source of payment of, or security for (directly or indirectly), in whole or in part, any obligation the interest on which is exempt from the tax imposed under chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(5) Definitions.—In this subsection:

(A) Administrator.—The term "Administrator" means the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

(B) Effluent limitation.—The term "effluent limitation" has the meaning given that term in section 502 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1362).

(C) Measurable.—The term "measurable" means, with respect to a chemical substance or class of chemical substances, capable of being measured using test procedures established under section 304(h) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1314).

(D) Perfluoroalkyl substance.—The term "perfluoroalkyl substance" means a chemical of which all of the carbon atoms are fully fluorinated carbon atoms.

(E) Polyfluoroalkyl substance.—The term "polyfluoroalkyl substance" means a chemical containing at least 1 fully fluorinated carbon atom and at least 1 carbon atom that is not a fully fluorinated carbon atom.

(F) Priority industry category.—The term "priority industry category" means the following point source categories:

(i) Organic chemicals, plastics, and synthetic fibers, as identified in part 414 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations (or successor regulations).

(ii) Pulp, paper, and paperboard, as identified in part 430 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations (or successor regulations).

(iii) Textile mills, as identified in part 410 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations (or successor regulations).

(iv) Electroplating, as identified in part 413 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations (or successor regulations).

(v) Metal finishing, as identified in part 433 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations (or successor regulations).

(vi) Leather tanning and finishing, as identified in part 425 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations (or successor regulations).

(vii) Paint formulating, as identified in part 446 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations (or successor regulations).

(viii) Electrical and electronic components, as identified in part 469 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations (or successor regulations).

(ix) Plastics molding and forming, as identified in part 463 of title 40, Code of Federal Regulations (or successor regulations).

(G) Treatment works.—The term "treatment works" has the meaning given that term in section 212 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1292).

(f) Investigation of prevention of contamination by GenX.—The Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall investigate methods and means to prevent contamination by GenX of ground and surface waters, including source waters used for drinking water purposes.

SEC. 1236. PFAS-FREE PRODUCTS STANDARDS AND FEDERAL PROCUREMENT.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Covered item.—The term "covered item" means—

(A) nonstick cookware and a cooking utensil; and

(B) furniture, carpet, and any rug treated with stain-resistant coating.

(2) Covered product.—The term "covered product" means—

(A) a pot;

(B) a pan;

(C) a cooking utensil;

(D) carpet;

(E) a rug;

(F) clothing;

(G) upholstered furniture;

(H) a stain resistant, water resistant, or grease resistant coating not subject to requirements under section 409 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act;

(I) food packaging material;

(J) an umbrella;

(K) luggage; or

(L) a cleaning product.

(3) Executive agency.—The term "executive agency" has the meaning given the term in section 133 of title 41, United States Code.

(4) PFAS.—The term "PFAS" means a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance with at least 1 fully fluorinated carbon atom.

(5) PFOA.—The term "PFOA" means perfluorooctanoic acid.

(6) PFOS.—The term "PFOS" means perfluorooctane sulfonate.

(b) Label for PFAS-free products.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall—

(1) revise the Safer Choice Standard of the Safer Choice Program to identify the requirements for a covered product to meet in order to be labeled with a Safer Choice label, including a requirement that any such covered product does not contain any PFAS; or

(2) establish a voluntary label that is available to be used by any manufacturer of any covered product that the Administrator has reviewed and found does not contain any PFAS.

(c) Prohibition against food packaging containing intentionally added PFAS.—

(1) In general.—Section 301 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 331) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(fff) (1) The introduction or delivery for introduction into interstate commerce of food packaging containing intentionally added PFAS.

"(2) The term 'PFAS' means a perfluoroalkyl substance or a polyfluoroalkyl substance that is man-made with at least 1 fully fluorinated carbon atom.".

(2) Applicability.—The amendment made by paragraph (1) applies beginning on July 1, 2027.

(d) Prohibition on procurement of certain items containing PFOS or PFOA.—

(1) Prohibition.—The head of an executive agency may not renew or enter into a contract for the procurement of a covered item that contains PFOS or PFOA.

(2) Priority procurement of products not containing PFAS.—The head of an executive agency shall prioritize the procurement of covered items, where available and practicable, that do not contain PFAS.

(3) Federal facility contracts.—A contract entered into by the head of an executive agency for the operation, management, maintenance, food service, custodial service, or supply of a Federal facility shall require the contractor to comply with paragraphs (1) and (2) with respect to any covered item purchased, supplied, used, or made available under the contract.

(4) Effective date.—This subsection shall take effect on April 1, 2027.

SEC. 1237. RESEARCH, EVALUATION, AND COORDINATION.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) National Academies.—The term "National Academies" means the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine.

(2) PFAS.—The term "PFAS" means per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances, including mixtures of such substances.

(b) PFAS interagency working group.—Section 332(b) of William M. (Mac) Thornberry National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2021 (15 U.S.C. 8963(b)) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (19), by striking "and" at the end;

(2) by redesignating paragraph (20) as paragraph (21); and

(3) by inserting after paragraph (19) the following:

"(20) the Consumer Product Safety Commission; and".

(c) Research assessments of PFAS.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 90 days after the date on which amounts are appropriated for fiscal year 2027 to carry out this subsection, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, in consultation with the Director of the National Science Foundation, the Secretary of Defense, the Director of the National Institutes of Health, and other Federal agencies with expertise relevant to understanding PFAS exposure, behavior, and toxicity, shall enter into an agreement with the National Academies to conduct a study and submit a report in accordance with this subsection to further address research and knowledge gaps identified by the Federal Government Human Health PFAS Research Workshop held on October 26 and 27, 2020, and identify research and development needed to identify, categorize, evaluate, and address individual or total PFAS.

(2) Study and report on human exposure estimation.—

(A) In general.—The study required to be conducted under paragraph (1) shall, at a minimum—

(i) consider lifecycle information on the manufacture, use, and disposal of PFAS-containing products to identify potential human exposure sources, including occupational exposures, and potential exposure pathways for the public;

(ii) evaluate the fate and transport of PFAS and their breakdown products;

(iii) if feasible, estimate human exposure to individual or total PFAS to determine relative source contributions for various exposure pathways (such as air, water, soil, or food);

(iv) determine the range of solubility, stability, and volatility of PFAS most likely to be found in the environment and the resulting prevalence in animals and humans;

(v) give consideration as to whether chemical category-based approaches would be appropriate for evaluating PFAS toxicity and exposure;

(vi) identify research needed to advance exposure estimation to individual or total PFAS; and

(vii) identify research needed to advance toxicity and hazard assessment of individual or total PFAS.

(B) Report.—Not later than 540 days after the date on which the agreement described in paragraph (1) is finalized, the National Academies shall submit to Congress a report containing the findings and recommendations of the study described in subparagraph (A) and shall make such report available on a publicly accessible website.

(d) Research assessment of management and treatment alternatives for PFAS contamination in the environment.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 90 days after the date on which amounts are appropriated for fiscal year 2027 to carry out this subsection, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and the Director of the National Science Foundation, in consultation with the Secretary of Defense and other Federal agencies with expertise relevant to the development of PFAS alternatives and the management and treatment of PFAS, shall jointly enter into an agreement with the National Academies to conduct a study and submit a report in accordance with this subsection to better understand the research and development needed to advance the understanding of the extent and implications of human and environmental contamination by PFAS, how to manage and treat such contamination, and the development of safe alternatives.

(2) Scope of study.—The study described in paragraph (1) shall, at a minimum, include the following:

(A) An assessment of the best available strategies for PFAS treatment, site remediation, and safe disposal, including demonstration or pilot projects related to destruction methods and alternative materials or tools for firefighters.

(B) A description of the research gaps relating to such issues, including consideration of emerging or future PFAS and potential classification methods.

(C) Recommendations on how the Federal Government can best address the research needs identified pursuant to subparagraph (B) through increased collaboration or coordination of existing and new programs.

(D) Recommendations on how research can best incorporate considerations of socioeconomic issues into the development of research proposals and the conduct of research.

(3) Report.—Not later than 540 days after the date on which the agreement described in paragraph (1) is finalized, the National Academies shall submit to Congress a report containing the findings and recommendations of the study described in paragraph (2) and shall make such report available on a publicly accessible website.

(e) Implementation plan.—Not later than 180 days after submission to Congress of the latest of the National Academies reports under subsections (c) and (d), the Director of the Office of Science and Technology Policy, in coordination with all relevant Federal agencies, shall submit to Congress an implementation plan for increased collaboration and coordination of Federal PFAS research, development, and demonstration activities. In preparing such an implementation plan, the Director shall take into consideration the recommendations included in the reports under subsections (c) and (d).

(f) Authorization of appropriations for National Academies reports.—There is authorized to be appropriated for fiscal year 2027 $3,000,000 to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency to carry out subsections (c) and (d).

(g) Extension of authorization for PFAS research and development.—Section 7362(b) of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2020 (15 U.S.C. 8962(b)) is amended by striking "2024" and inserting "2030".

SEC. 1238. MANUFACTURER USER FEES AND TREATMENT TRUST FUND.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Administrator.—The term "Administrator" means the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

(2) Affected facility.—The term "affected facility" means—

(A) a community water system that has operation and maintenance costs associated with the removal of PFAS from water of the community water system; or

(B) a treatment works that has operation and maintenance costs associated with the removal of PFAS from effluent prior to discharge from the treatment works.

(3) Community water system.—The term "community water system" has the meaning given that term in section 1401 of the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300f).

(4) Disadvantaged community.—The term "disadvantaged community" has the meaning given that term in section 1452 of the Safe Drinking Water Act (42 U.S.C. 300j–12).

(5) Manufacture.—The term "manufacture" has the meaning given that term in section 3 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (15 U.S.C. 2602).

(6) PFAS.—The term "PFAS" means a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance with at least one fully fluorinated carbon atom.

(7) Treatment works.—The term "treatment works" has the meaning given that term in section 212 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 U.S.C. 1292).

(b) PFAS manufacturer user fee.—

(1) In general.—The Administrator shall, by rule, establish fees for the manufacture of PFAS, which shall be assessed to each person manufacturing PFAS based on the amount of PFAS manufactured by the person.

(2) Initial fee.—Not later than 12 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall establish fees under paragraph (1) that are sufficient to ensure the collection of not less than $2,000,000,000 per year.

(3) Review and update.—Not less frequently than every 2 years, the Administrator shall review the fees established under paragraph (1) and update such fees as necessary to ensure that the fee collections are—

(A) not less than the amount required under paragraph (2); and

(B) sufficient to cover at least 25 percent of the operation and maintenance costs associated with the removal of PFAS by affected facilities.

(c) PFAS Treatment Trust Fund.—

(1) Establishment.—There is established in the Treasury of the United States a trust fund to be known as the "PFAS Treatment Trust Fund", consisting of such amounts as may be appropriated to such Trust Fund.

(2) Transfer to Trust Fund of amounts equivalent to user fees.—There are hereby appropriated to the PFAS Treatment Trust Fund amounts equivalent to the fees collected under subsection (b).

(3) Expenditures from Trust Fund.—Amounts in the PFAS Treatment Trust Fund shall be available, without further appropriation, only for purposes of making expenditures to carry out subsection (d).

(d) Support for operation and maintenance of community water systems and treatment works.—

(1) Grants.—The Administrator shall make grants to affected facilities to pay for operation and maintenance costs associated with the removal of PFAS.

(2) Applications.—

(A) Guidance.—Not later than 12 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Administrator shall publish guidance describing the form and timing for affected facilities to apply for grants under this subsection.

(B) Required information.—The Administrator shall require an affected facility applying for a grant under this subsection to submit information showing the presence of PFAS in water at the facility.

(3) Priority.—The Administrator shall prioritize for funding grants to affected facilities serving disadvantaged communities.

SEC. 1239. ACCOUNTABILITY AND MEDICAL MONITORING.

(a) Cause of action and remedies.—The Toxic Substances Control Act is amended by inserting after section 24 (15 U.S.C. 2623) the following:

"Sec. 25. Individuals exposed to perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances.

"(a) Definition of PFAS.—In this section, the term 'PFAS' means a perfluoroalkyl or polyfluoroalkyl substance with at least 1 fully fluorinated carbon atom.

"(b) Cause of action.—An individual who is significantly exposed to PFAS or has reasonable grounds to suspect that the individual was significantly exposed to PFAS may bring a claim, individually or on behalf of a class of similarly situated individuals, in any district court of the United States for appropriate legal and equitable relief against any person that—

"(1) engaged in any portion of a manufacturing process that created the PFAS to which the individual was significantly exposed, including any telomer, fluorosurfactant, or toll manufacturing process leading to the creation of the PFAS to which the individual was significantly exposed; and

"(2) foresaw or reasonably should have foreseen that the creation or use of PFAS would result in human exposure to PFAS.

"(c) Medical monitoring.—

"(1) In general.—A court may award medical monitoring to an individual or class of individuals bringing a claim under subsection (b) if—

"(A) the individual or class has been significantly exposed to PFAS;

"(B) as a result of that exposure, the individual or class has suffered an increased risk of developing a disease associated with exposure to PFAS;

"(C) as a result of that increased risk, there is a reasonable basis for the individual or class to undergo periodic diagnostic medical examinations of a nature or frequency that is different from or additional to what would be prescribed in the absence of the exposure; and

"(D) those medical examinations are effective in detecting a disease associated with exposure to PFAS.

"(2) Presumption of significant exposure.—

"(A) Individuals.—An individual plaintiff shall be presumed to have been significantly exposed to PFAS under paragraph (1)(A) if the individual—

"(i) demonstrates that—

"(I) the defendant engaged in any portion of a manufacturing process that created the PFAS to which the individual was exposed, including any telomer, fluorosurfactant, or toll manufacturing process leading to the creation of the PFAS to which the individual was exposed; and

"(II) the PFAS described in subclause (I) were released into 1 or more areas where the individual would have been exposed for a cumulative period of not less than 1 year; or

"(ii) offers testing results that demonstrate that PFAS or metabolites of PFAS have been or are currently detected in the body or blood serum of the individual.

"(B) Class actions.—In a class action, a presumption of significant exposure to PFAS under paragraph (1)(A) shall be established for the class by—

"(i) demonstrating that—

"(I) the defendant engaged in any portion of a manufacturing process that created the PFAS to which the class members were exposed, including any telomer, fluorosurfactant, or toll manufacturing process leading to the creation of the PFAS to which the class members were exposed; and

"(II) the PFAS described in subclause (I) were released into 1 or more areas where a representative portion of the class members would have been exposed for a cumulative period of not less than 1 year; or

"(ii) offering testing results that demonstrate that PFAS or metabolites of PFAS have been or are currently detected in the bodies of a representative portion of class members that share sufficient common exposure characteristics with the class.

"(3) Rebutting the presumption.—

"(A) In general.—A defendant may rebut a presumption of significant exposure with respect to an individual plaintiff or class member for which testing results are not offered under subparagraph (A)(ii) or (B)(ii) of paragraph (2) by offering results for that individual or class member of testing that—

"(i) uses a generally accepted method for detecting the particular PFAS or metabolites of PFAS at issue;

"(ii) is performed by an independent provider agreed on by both parties; and

"(iii) confirms that the relevant PFAS or metabolites of PFAS likely were not present in the body of the individual or class member at the relevant time in a sufficient quantity to qualify as significant exposure under paragraph (1)(A).

"(B) Costs.—A defendant shall be responsible for the costs of testing under subparagraph (A).

"(C) Independent provider.—If both parties cannot agree on an independent provider under subparagraph (A)(ii), the court shall appoint an independent provider.

"(4) Increased risk of developing disease.—

"(A) In general.—If there is insufficient toxicological data to reasonably determine whether an individual or class has suffered an increased risk of developing a disease associated with exposure to any individual PFAS or group of PFAS under paragraph (1)(B), a court may lower the standard for scientific proof with regard to the increased risk of developing that disease until independent and reliable toxicological data is available with respect to that individual PFAS or group of PFAS.

"(B) Ordering studies.—To make available independent and reliable toxicological data described in subparagraph (A) with respect to an individual PFAS or group of PFAS, a court may order new or additional epidemiological, toxicological, or other studies or investigations of that individual PFAS or group of PFAS as part of a medical monitoring remedy awarded under paragraph (1).

"(d) Sense of Congress.—It is the sense of Congress that courts should encourage more reliable and independent research into the latent health effects of PFAS.

"(e) Effect on State law claims and remedies.—Nothing in this section—

"(1) preempts, alters, bars, or precludes any State law claims or remedies, including any State law claims or remedies for an injury addressed by this section; or

"(2) provides an exclusive claim or remedy.".

(b) Clerical amendment.—The table of contents for the Toxic Substances Control Act (Public Law 94–469; 90 Stat. 2003) is amended by inserting after the item relating to section 24 the following:

"25. Individuals exposed to perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances.".

Subtitle C—Pollution Fees

SEC. 1241. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds that—

(1) Americans have a Constitutional duty to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity. America's children are our posterity, and they are on track to inherit avoidable pollution, depleted resources, and degraded environmental systems unless public policy changes course.

(2) Responsible adults clean up their messes, and responsible lawmakers try to prevent those messes from being made in the first place. Pollution fees create a market incentive to pollute less, waste less, conserve more, and place the cost of pollution on the persons that profit from polluting activities rather than on children, communities, taxpayers, workers, or future generations.

(3) Pollution fees also serve as clawbacks to the payments made under the American Union Jobs Program. By reducing excess purchasing power in pollution-intensive sectors, such fees can help reduce inflation while supporting the long-term goal of improving the inheritance of future generations.

(4) Greenhouse gas pollution imposes costs on public health, infrastructure, agriculture, ecosystems, oceans, national security, and future generations. A carbon fee is a widely recognized way to account for the external costs of fossil fuel use and to encourage the transition to cleaner energy, cleaner industry, and lower-emission consumption.

(5) Carbon border fee adjustments can protect domestic producers from unfair competition by imported goods made in jurisdictions with weaker greenhouse gas controls. Carbon border fee adjustments can also encourage international cooperation to reduce global greenhouse gas emissions.

(6) Plastic pollution and microplastics impose persistent costs on human health, water systems, oceans, wildlife, soils, food systems, and waste-management systems. A tax on virgin plastic resin and plastic products can reduce unnecessary plastic use, encourage reuse and substitution, and increase demand for recovered and nonpersistent materials.

(7) Methane is a powerful greenhouse gas, and emissions from venting, flaring, leakage, and other avoidable releases impose public costs. A methane waste emissions fee would encourage capture and use instead of meaningless release to the atmosphere.

(8) Data centers can impose substantial demands on water supplies, electric systems, watersheds, aquifers, and local infrastructure. A data center water accountability tax can encourage water conservation, recognize the higher public cost of water use in drought-stressed areas, and support water resilience in communities affected by large-scale data center development.

(9) Pollution fees should not be understood as permission to pollute. They should operate alongside performance standards, reporting requirements, permitting requirements, cleanup obligations, stronger State law, and other protections necessary to preserve public health and the environment.

(10) Sustainability requires not scarcity or retreat, but the disciplined use of American ingenuity, fair markets, public accountability, and responsible stewardship to build systems that can endure.

(b) Purpose.—The purpose of this subtitle is to preserve the environment for ourselves and our posterity.

SEC. 1242. CARBON FEE.

(a) In general.—The Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following new subtitle:

"SUBTITLE L—POLLUTION FEES

"CHAPTER 101. CARBON FEES.

"CHAPTER 102. CARBON BORDER FEE ADJUSTMENT.

"CHAPTER 101—CARBON FEES

"SEC. 9901. Definitions.

"SEC. 9902. Carbon fee.

"SEC. 9903. Emissions reduction schedule.

"SEC. 9904. Prospective decommissioning of carbon administration.

"SEC. 9905. Carbon capture and sequestration.

"SEC. 9906. Administrative authority.

"SEC. 9907. Revenues.

"Sec. 9901. Definitions.

"(a) Definitions.—For purposes of this subtitle:

"(1) Administrator.—The term 'Administrator' means the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

"(2) Carbon dioxide equivalent or CO2-e.—The term 'carbon dioxide equivalent' or 'CO2-e' means the number of metric tons of carbon dioxide emissions with the same global warming potential as one metric ton of another greenhouse gas.

"(3) Carbon-intensive product.—The term 'carbon-intensive product' means, as identified by the Secretary by rule—

"(A) for purposes of this chapter—

"(i) any manufactured or agricultural product which the Secretary in consultation with the Administrator determines is emissions-intensive and trade-exposed, except that no covered fuel is a carbon-intensive product, and

"(ii) until such time that the Secretary promulgates rules identifying carbon-intensive products, the following shall be considered carbon-intensive products: iron, steel, steel mill products (including pipe and tube), aluminum, cement, glass (including flat, container, and specialty glass and fiberglass), pulp, paper, chemicals, or industrial ceramics, and

"(B) for purposes of chapter 102, any economic sector, or product from that sector, which the Secretary in consultation with the Administrator determines is prone to carbon leakage because it is emissions-intensive and trade-exposed, along with other pertinent criteria, except that no covered fuel is a carbon-intensive product.

"(4) Carbon leakage.—The term 'carbon leakage' means an increase of global greenhouse gas emissions which are substantially due to the relocation of greenhouse gas sources from the United States to jurisdictions which lack comparable controls upon greenhouse gas emissions.

"(5) Cost of carbon or carbon costs.—The term 'cost of carbon' or 'carbon costs' means a national or sub-national government policy which explicitly places a price on greenhouse gas pollution and shall be limited to either a tax on greenhouse gases or a system of cap-and-trade. The cost of carbon is expressed as the price per metric ton of CO2-e.

"(6) Covered entity.—The term 'covered entity' means—

"(A) in the case of crude oil—

"(i) a refinery operating in the United States, and

"(ii) any importer of any petroleum or petroleum product into the United States,

"(B) in the case of coal—

"(i) any coal mining operation in the United States, and

"(ii) any importer of coal into the United States,

"(C) in the case of natural gas—

"(i) any entity entering pipeline quality natural gas into the natural gas transmission system, and

"(ii) any importer of natural gas into the United States,

"(D) any entity or class of entities which, as determined by the Secretary, is transporting, selling, or otherwise using a covered fuel in a manner which emits a greenhouse gas to the atmosphere and which has not been covered by the carbon fee or the carbon border fee adjustment.

"(7) Covered fuel.—The term 'covered fuel' means crude oil, natural gas, coal, or any other product derived from crude oil, natural gas, or coal which shall be used so as to emit greenhouse gases to the atmosphere.

"(8) Crude oil.—The term 'crude oil' means unrefined petroleum.

"(9) Export.—The term 'export' means to transport a product from within the jurisdiction of the United States to persons outside the United States.

"(10) Fossil fuel.—The term 'fossil fuel' means coal, coal products, petroleum, petroleum products, or natural gas.

"(11) Full fuel cycle greenhouse gas emissions.—The term 'full fuel cycle greenhouse gas emissions' means the greenhouse gas content of a covered fuel plus that covered fuel's upstream greenhouse gas emissions.

"(12) Global warming potential.—The term 'global warming potential' means the ratio of the time-integrated radiative forcing from the instantaneous release of one kilogram of a trace substance relative to that of one kilogram of carbon dioxide.

"(13) Greenhouse gas.—The term 'greenhouse gas' means carbon dioxide (CO_2), methane (CH_4), nitrous oxide (N_2O), and other gases as defined by rule of the Administrator.

"(14) Greenhouse gas content.—The term 'greenhouse gas content' means the amount of greenhouse gases, expressed in metric tons of CO_2-e using a 100-year global warming potential, which would be emitted to the atmosphere by the use of a covered fuel and shall include, nonexclusively, emissions of carbon dioxide (CO_2), nitrous oxide (N_2O), methane (CH_4), and other greenhouse gases as identified by rule of the Administrator.

"(15) Greenhouse gas effect.—The term 'greenhouse gas effect' means the adverse effects of greenhouse gases on health or welfare caused by the greenhouse gas's heat-trapping potential or its effect on ocean acidification.

"(16) Import.—Irrespective of any other definition in law or treaty, the term 'import' means to land on, bring into, or introduce into any place subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.

"(17) Petroleum.—The term 'petroleum' means oil removed from the earth or the oil derived from tar sands or shale.

"(18) Production greenhouse gas emissions.—The term 'production greenhouse gas emissions' means the quantity of greenhouse gases, expressed in metric tons of CO_2-e, emitted to the atmosphere resulting from, nonexclusively, the production, manufacture, assembly, transportation, or financing of a product.

"(19) Secretary.—The term 'Secretary' means the Secretary of the Treasury.

"(20) Upstream greenhouse gas emissions.—The term 'upstream greenhouse gas emissions' means the quantity of greenhouse gases, expressed in metric tons of CO2-e, emitted to the atmosphere resulting from, nonexclusively, the extraction, processing, transportation, financing, or other preparation of a covered fuel for use.

"Sec. 9902. Carbon fee.

"(a) Carbon fee.—There is hereby imposed a carbon fee on any covered entity's emitting use, or sale or transfer for an emitting use, of any covered fuel.

"(b) Amount of the carbon fee.—The carbon fee imposed by this section is an amount equal to—

"(1) the full fuel cycle greenhouse gas emissions of the covered fuel, multiplied by

"(2) the carbon fee rate.

"(c) Carbon fee rate.—For purposes of this section—

"(1) In general.—The carbon fee rate, with respect to any use, sale, or transfer during a calendar year, shall be—

"(A) in the case of calendar year 2027, $25, and

"(B) except as provided in paragraph (2), in the case of any calendar year thereafter—

"(i) the carbon fee rate in effect under this subsection for the preceding calendar year, plus

"(ii) $10.

"(2) Exceptions.—

"(A) Increased carbon fee rate after missed annual emissions reduction target.—In the case of any year immediately following a year for which the Secretary determines under section 9903(b) that the actual emissions of greenhouse gases from covered fuels exceeded the emissions reduction target for the previous year, paragraph (1)(B)(ii) shall be applied by substituting '$15' for the dollar amount otherwise in effect for the calendar year under such paragraph.

"(B) Cessation of carbon fee rate increase after certain emission reductions achieved.—In the case of any year immediately following a year for which the Secretary determines under section 9903(b) that actual emissions of greenhouse gases from covered fuels are not more than 10 percent of the greenhouse gas emissions from covered fuels during the year 2010, paragraph (1)(B)(ii) shall be applied by substituting '$0' for the dollar amount otherwise in effect for the calendar year under such paragraph.

"(3) Inflation adjustment.—In the case of any calendar year after 2027, each of the dollar amounts in paragraphs (1)(B) and (2)(A) shall be increased by an amount equal to—

"(A) such dollar amount, multiplied by

"(B) the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for the calendar year, determined by substituting 'calendar year 2026' for 'calendar year 2016' in subparagraph (A)(ii) thereof.

"(d) Exemption and refund.—The Secretary shall prescribe such rules as are necessary to ensure the fee imposed by this section is not imposed with respect to any nonemitting use, or any sale or transfer for a nonemitting use, including rules providing for the refund of any carbon fee paid under this section with respect to any such use, sale, or transfer.

"Sec. 9903. Emissions reduction schedule.

"(a) In general.—An emissions reduction schedule for greenhouse gas emissions from covered fuels is hereby established, as follows:

"(1) Reference year.—The greenhouse gas emissions from covered fuels during the year 2010 shall be the reference amount of emissions and shall be determined from the 'Inventory of U.S. Greenhouse Gas Emissions and Sinks: 1990–2010' published by the Environmental Protection Agency in April of 2012.

"(2) Emissions reduction target.—The emissions reduction target for 2029 shall be 95 percent of the reference amount. The emissions reduction target for each year thereafter shall be the previous year's target emissions minus a percentage of emissions during the reference year determined in accordance with the following table:

"Year	Emissions Reduction Target
2010	Reference year
2027 to 2028	No emissions reduction target
2029 to 2037	5 percent of 2010 emissions per year
2038 to 2055	3 percent of 2010 emissions per year

"(b) Administrative determination.—Not later than 60 days after the beginning of calendar year 2030, and not later than 60 days after the beginning of each calendar year thereafter, the Secretary, in consultation with the Administrator, shall determine whether actual emissions of greenhouse gases from covered fuels exceeded the emissions reduction target for the preceding calendar year. The Secretary shall make such determination using the same greenhouse gas accounting method as was used to determine the greenhouse gas emissions in the 'Inventory of U.S. Greenhouse Gas Emissions and Sinks: 1990–2010' published by the Environmental Protection Agency in April of 2012.

"Sec. 9904. Prospective decommissioning of carbon administration.

"At such time as the Secretary determines under section 9903(b) that actual emissions of greenhouse gases from covered fuels are not more than 25 percent of the greenhouse gas emissions from covered fuels during the year 2010, the Secretary, in consultation with the Administrator and the United States Trade Representative, shall, not later than January 1 of the calendar year following the calendar year in which the determination is made, submit to Congress proposed legislation providing for the orderly wind-down and termination of the carbon fee and carbon border fee adjustment upon a determination under section 9903(b) that actual emissions of greenhouse gases from covered fuels are not more than 10 percent of the greenhouse gas emissions from covered fuels during the year 2010. The proposed legislation shall address the prevention of a material rebound in emissions, the treatment of outstanding liabilities, refunds, and payments, and the orderly decommissioning of the bureaus and programs administering the carbon fee and carbon border fee adjustment.

"Sec. 9905. Carbon capture and sequestration.

"(a) In general.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Administrator and the Secretary of Energy, shall prescribe regulations for making payments as provided in subsection (b) to qualified facilities that—

"(1) capture and sequester qualified carbon dioxide; or

"(2) sequester qualified carbon dioxide obtained from 1 or more other qualified facilities.

"(b) Payment amounts.—

"(1) In general.—The Secretary shall make payments to a qualified facility in the same manner as if such payment was a refund of an overpayment of the carbon fee imposed by section 9902 if—

"(A) in the case of a qualified facility described in subsection (a)(1), such qualified facility—

"(i) uses any covered fuel—

"(I) with respect to which the carbon fee has been paid; and

"(II) which results in the emission of qualified carbon dioxide;

"(ii) captures such emitted, or an equivalent amount of, qualified carbon dioxide; and

"(iii) sequesters such qualified carbon dioxide in a manner which is safe, permanent, and in compliance with any applicable local, State, and Federal laws, or utilizes such qualified carbon dioxide in a manner provided in paragraph (3)(C); or

"(B) in the case of a qualified facility described in subsection (a)(2), such qualified facility—

"(i) receives qualified carbon dioxide captured at 1 or more other qualified facilities from emissions attributable to covered fuel with respect to which the carbon fee has been paid; and

"(ii) sequesters such qualified carbon dioxide in a manner described in paragraph (3)(D).

"(2) Amount of refund.—The aggregate amount of payments determined under this section with respect to any quantity of qualified carbon dioxide shall be an amount equal to the lesser of—

"(A) the adjusted total metric tons of qualified carbon dioxide captured and sequestered or utilized, multiplied by the carbon fee rate during the year in which the carbon fee was imposed by section 9902 upon the covered fuel to which such carbon dioxide relates, or

"(B) the amount of the carbon fee imposed by section 9902 with respect to such covered fuel.

"(3) Definitions and special rules.—For purposes of this section—

"(A) Qualified carbon dioxide; qualified facility.—

"(i) Qualified carbon dioxide.—The term 'qualified carbon dioxide' has the same meaning given such term under section 45Q(c).

"(ii) Qualified facility.—The term 'qualified facility' means a facility at which—

"(I) carbon capture equipment is placed in service; or

"(II) qualified carbon dioxide captured at a facility described in subclause (I) is received for sequestration.

"(B) Adjusted total metric tons.—The adjusted total metric tons of qualified carbon dioxide captured and sequestered or utilized shall be the total metric tons of qualified carbon dioxide captured and sequestered or utilized, reduced by the amount of any carbon dioxide likely to escape and be emitted into the atmosphere due to imperfect storage technology or otherwise, as determined by the Secretary in consultation with the Administrator.

"(C) Utilization.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Administrator, shall establish regulations providing for the methods and processes by which qualified carbon dioxide may be utilized so as to remove that qualified carbon dioxide safely and permanently from the atmosphere. The production of substances such as, but not limited to, plastics and chemicals shall not be considered utilization. Such regulations shall minimize the escape or further emission of the qualified carbon dioxide into the atmosphere.

"(D) Sequestration.—Not later than January 1, 2028, the Secretary, in consultation with the Administrator, shall prescribe regulations identifying the conditions under which carbon dioxide may be safely and permanently sequestered.

"(4) Coordination with credit for carbon dioxide sequestration.—At such time that the Secretary prescribes regulations implementing this section, no payment under this section shall be allowed to a taxpayer to whom a credit has been allowed for any taxable year under section 45Q.

"Sec. 9906. Administrative authority.

"(a) In general.—Not later than 270 days after the date of enactment of this chapter, the Secretary in consultation with the Administrator shall prescribe such regulations, and other guidance, as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this subtitle and assess and collect the carbon fee imposed by section 9902.

"(b) Specifically.—Such regulations and guidance shall include—

"(1) the identification of an effective point in the production, distribution, or use of a covered fuel for collecting such carbon fee, in such a manner so as to minimize administrative burden and maximize the extent to which full fuel cycle greenhouse gas emissions from covered fuels have the carbon fee levied upon them,

"(2) the identification of covered entities which shall be liable for the payment of the carbon fee,

"(3) requirements for the monthly payment of such fees,

"(4) as may be necessary or convenient, rules for distinguishing between different types of covered fuels,

"(5) as may be necessary or convenient, rules for distinguishing between a covered fuel's greenhouse gas content and its upstream greenhouse gas emissions,

"(6) rules to ensure that no covered fuel has the carbon fee or carbon border fee adjustment imposed upon it more than once, and

"(7) rules to ensure that the domestic implementation of the carbon fee coordinates with the implementation of the carbon border fee adjustment of chapter 102.

"Sec. 9907. Revenues.

"All amounts collected under this chapter shall be deposited into the general fund of the Treasury and credited to the American Value Fund established under section 623(b)(5) of the POPULIST Act.".

"CHAPTER 102—CARBON BORDER FEE ADJUSTMENT

"SEC. 9911. Carbon border fee adjustment.

"SEC. 9912. Administration of the carbon border fee adjustment.

"SEC. 9913. Allocation of carbon border fee adjustment revenues.

"SEC. 9914. Treaties and international negotiations.

"Sec. 9911. Carbon border fee adjustment.

"(a) In general.—The fees imposed by, and refunds allowed under, this section shall be referred to as 'the carbon border fee adjustment'.

"(b) Purpose.—The purpose of the carbon border fee adjustment is to protect animal, plant, and human life and health, to conserve exhaustible natural resources by preventing carbon leakage, and to facilitate the creation of international agreements.

"(c) Imports to the United States.—

"(1) Imported covered fuels fee.—In the case of any person that imports into the United States any covered fuel, there shall be imposed a fee equal to the total carbon fee that would be imposed on the fuel's greenhouse gas content under the domestic carbon fee, including processing emissions.

"(2) Imported carbon-intensive products fee.—In the case of any person that imports into the United States any carbon-intensive product, there shall be imposed a fee equal to the total carbon fee which would have accumulated upon the greenhouse gas content of the imported carbon-intensive product had the imported carbon-intensive product been produced domestically and subject to the domestic carbon fee.

"(3) Modifications.—The Secretary shall make an administrative determination of whether any class of imported covered fuels or class of imported carbon-intensive product is carrying any total foreign carbon cost. The Secretary shall make a determination of whether international law or the enhancement of global greenhouse gas mitigation efforts require that those foreign costs of carbon be deducted from the carbon border fee adjustment determined under paragraph (1) or (2).

"(4) Foreign cost of carbon; foreign carbon costs.—For purposes of this subsection, the term 'foreign cost of carbon' or 'foreign carbon cost' means the explicit price a foreign jurisdiction places upon the emission of greenhouse gas pollution to the atmosphere through law or regulation. Such price shall be expressed as the price per metric ton of CO_2-e.

"(d) Refund on exports from United States.—

"(1) Covered fuels.—Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary, in the case of a covered fuel produced in the United States with respect to which the fee under section 9902 was paid, there shall be allowed as a credit or refund (without interest) to any exporter of such covered fuels an amount equal to the total carbon fee levied upon the exported covered fuel up to the time of its exportation, including processing emissions. Any such credit or refund shall be allowed in the same manner as if it were an overpayment of tax imposed by section 9902.

"(2) Carbon-intensive products.—

"(A) In general.—Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary, there shall be allowed a credit or refund (without interest) to exporters of carbon-intensive products manufactured or produced in the United States in an amount equal to 75 percent of the total carbon fees accumulated upon the greenhouse gas content of the exported carbon-intensive product up to the time of exportation. Any such credit or refund shall be allowed in the same manner as if it were an overpayment of the fee imposed by section 9902.

"(B) Election for reduced refund.—An exporter eligible for a credit or refund under subparagraph (A) may elect, at such time and in such manner as the Secretary may prescribe, to receive a credit or refund in an amount less than the amount otherwise allowed under subparagraph (A), including no credit or refund, with respect to any shipment or class of shipments of carbon-intensive products.

"(C) Certification of unrefunded amount.—If an exporter makes an election under subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall, upon request of the exporter and in such form and manner as the Secretary may prescribe, provide a certification that identifies—

"(i) the exported carbon-intensive product;

"(ii) the export shipment or class of shipments covered by the election;

"(iii) the total carbon fees accumulated upon the greenhouse gas content of the exported carbon-intensive product up to the time of exportation;

"(iv) the amount of the credit or refund allowed under this paragraph after application of the election; and

"(v) the amount of carbon fees that remain unrefunded by reason of the election.

"Sec. 9912. Administration of the carbon border fee adjustment.

"(a) Generally.—The Secretary in consultation with the Administrator shall prescribe regulations and guidance which implement the carbon border fee adjustment under section 9911.

"(b) Collaboration.—In administering the carbon border fee adjustment, it is the sense of Congress that the Secretary should collaborate with authorized officers of any jurisdiction, including sub-national governments, affected by the carbon border fee adjustment.

"(c) Methodology.—In determining the carbon border fee adjustment, the Secretary shall use methodologies, procedures, and data which, as may be necessary or convenient—

"(1) disaggregate a product's greenhouse gas content;

"(2) are consistent with international law and facilitate international cooperation;

"(3) in the case of incomplete data, use customary methods of interpolation that favor enhanced mitigation and facilitate international cooperation;

"(4) avoid the double pricing of greenhouse gas emissions; and

"(5) harmonize the carbon border fee adjustment with the domestic carbon fee so as to ensure all covered fuels used in the United States are subject to the carbon fee.

"(d) Schedule.—The Secretary shall—

"(1) begin implementation of the carbon border fee adjustment for covered fuels at the same time as the implementation of the carbon fee; and

"(2) begin implementation of the carbon border fee adjustment for carbon-intensive products no later than January 1, 2028.

"(e) Procedure.—The Secretary shall—

"(1) establish fair, timely, impartial, and as necessary confidential procedures by which the importer of any carbon-intensive product or any covered fuel may petition the Secretary to revise the Secretary's determination of its carbon border fee adjustment liability calculated under section 9911(c);

"(2) establish fair, timely, impartial, and as necessary confidential procedures by which any exporter of any product from the United States may petition the Secretary to include that exported product on the list of carbon-intensive products; and

"(3) establish fair, timely, impartial, and as necessary confidential procedures by which the exporter of any carbon-intensive product or any covered fuel may petition the Secretary to revise the Secretary's determination of its carbon border fee adjustment refund calculated under section 9911(d).

"(f) Shipments from the United States to the territories of the United States.—Notwithstanding any other treaty, law, or policy, shipments of covered fuels or carbon-intensive products from the United States to American Samoa shall be eligible for a refund of the carbon fee under section 9911(d), until such time as the people of American Samoa are recognized as U.S. citizens and become eligible for American Union Jobs.

"(g) Imports to the territories of the United States.—Notwithstanding any other treaty, law, or policy, imports of covered fuels or carbon-intensive products to Guam, the United States Virgin Islands, American Samoa, Puerto Rico, and the Northern Mariana Islands shall not be subject to section 9911(c).

"Sec. 9913. Allocation of carbon border fee adjustment revenues.

"(a) Account.—There is established in the Treasury an account to be known as the 'Carbon Border Fee Adjustment Account'.

"(b) Appropriation and transfer.—There are appropriated to the Carbon Border Fee Adjustment Account, out of amounts in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, amounts equivalent to the net revenues received in the Treasury under this chapter.

"(c) Availability and use.—Amounts in the Carbon Border Fee Adjustment Account shall be available without further appropriation and until expended—

"(1) first, to U.S. Customs and Border Protection, in such amounts as are necessary to administer and enforce the carbon border fee adjustment; and

"(2) after application of paragraph (1), for transfer by the Secretary to the Green Climate Fund, created by decision 3/CP.17 adopted at the 17th Conference of the Parties to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change held in Durban, November 28 to December 11, 2011.

"Sec. 9914. Treaties and international negotiations.

"(a) Conformance with international treaties.—In the case that the Appellate Body of the World Trade Organization, or any other authoritative international treaty interpreter, shall find any portion of the carbon border fee adjustment under this chapter to violate any treaty to which the United States is a party, the Secretary of State is authorized to alter that aspect of such carbon border fee adjustment found to violate a treaty obligation so as to bring the carbon border fee adjustment into conformance with international law.

"(b) International negotiations.—The Congress finds the international mitigation of greenhouse gas emissions to be of national importance. Therefore, the Congress encourages the Secretary of State, or the Secretary's designee, to commence and complete negotiations with other nations with the goal of forming treaties, environmental agreements, accords, partnerships or any other instrument that effectively reduces global greenhouse gas emissions to zero percent of 2010 levels by 2050 and which respect the principle of common but differentiated responsibilities and respective capabilities.

"(c) Suspension of the carbon border fee adjustment.—The Secretary may suspend the carbon border fee adjustment, in whole or in part—

"(1) when, in the determination of the Secretary, a country has implemented greenhouse gas mitigation policies sufficient to contribute to a global net reduction of greenhouse gas emissions to zero by 2050. In making such determination, the Secretary may partially suspend particular provisions of the carbon border fee adjustment. In making the determination, the Secretary shall consult with the importing country. In making the determination, the Secretary shall follow all existing treaty obligations. The Secretary shall review any carbon border fee adjustment suspension at least every 5 years, or

"(2) by treaty or other international agreement that meets the criteria of section 9914(c)(1) and includes provisions for the suspension of the carbon border fee adjustment.".

(b) Coordination with carbon oxide sequestration credit.—Section 45Q(f) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 45Q(f)) is amended by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

"(8) Coordination with carbon capture and sequestration payments.—No credit shall be allowed under this section to a taxpayer which has received any payment under section 9905.".

(c) The amendments made by this section shall take effect on the date of enactment of this Act, except the carbon fee under section 9902 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall apply to uses, sales, or transfers after September 30, 2027.

(d) In the case of ambiguity within the express text of this section and the amendments made by this section, the texts of this section and its amending texts shall be interpreted so as to allow for the most effective abatement of greenhouse gas emissions.

(e) No preemption of stronger State law.—Nothing in this section or the amendments made by this section shall be construed to preempt or limit any State law or regulation that imposes a stricter greenhouse gas emissions standard, a higher carbon price, a more protective pollution control requirement, or any other requirement that is more protective of public health, the climate, or the environment than the requirements of this section or the amendments made by this section.

SEC. 1243. PLASTIC TAXES.

(a) In general.—Subtitle D of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended by this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following new chapter:

"CHAPTER 50E—PLASTIC TAXES

"SEC. 5000K. Definitions.

"SEC. 5000L. Virgin plastic resin.

"SEC. 5000M. Plastic products.

"SEC. 5000N. Administrative authority.

"SEC. 5000O. Revenues.

"Sec. 5000K. Definitions.

"(a) Definitions.—In this chapter:

"(1) Administrator.—The term 'Administrator' means the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

"(2) Applicable entity.—The term 'applicable entity' means any manufacturer, producer, or importer of taxable virgin plastic resin.

"(A) Exemption.—The term 'applicable entity' shall not include any manufacturer, producer, or importer of taxable virgin plastic resin which, with respect to any taxable year, meets the gross receipts test of section 448(c) for such taxable year; and

"(i) in the case of a manufacturer or producer, manufactured or produced not greater than 10 tons of taxable virgin plastic resin during the taxable year preceding such taxable year, or

"(ii) in the case of an importer, imported not greater than 10 tons of taxable virgin plastic resin during the taxable year preceding such taxable year.

"(3) Covered manufacturer.—

"(A) In general.—The term 'covered manufacturer' means any person that—

"(i) produces, assembles, or causes to be produced or assembled a plastic product, including through contract manufacturing or outsourcing arrangements, or

"(ii) imports into the United States a plastic product.

"(B) Exemption.—The term 'covered manufacturer' shall not include any person which, with respect to any taxable year, meets the gross receipts test of section 448(c) for such taxable year; and

"(i) in the case of a manufacturer or producer, manufactured or produced not greater than 20,000 plastic products during the taxable year preceding such taxable year, or

"(ii) in the case of an importer, imported not greater than 20,000 plastic products during the taxable year preceding such taxable year.

"(4) Import.—The term 'import' means to enter taxable virgin plastic resin or plastic product into the United States for consumption, sale, use, or warehousing.

"(5) Microplastic.—The term 'microplastic' means any solid or particulate material composed of synthetic polymer chains that—

"(A) results from the fragmentation, degradation, or erosion of plastic; and

"(B) retains polymeric structure and environmental persistence, regardless of particle size.

"(6) Multipack.—The term 'multipack' means a product containing multiple items, usually identical, which are intended for individual use. 'Multipack' does not include items, sets, or kits which contain plastic products intended to be assembled or otherwise used together.

"(7) Plastic.—

"(A) In general.—The term 'plastic' means a material commonly composed from petrochemicals which—

"(i) is composed of synthetic or semi-synthetic polymer chains; and

"(ii) degrades into microplastics.

"(B) Bioplastics.—The substitution of other production materials for conventional petrochemicals shall not disqualify an item or material from inclusion under this definition if microplastics remain a probable result.

"(C) Exclusions.—The term 'plastic' does not include materials that fully disassemble through chemical or biological processes into non-polymeric substances such that no persistent polymer chains remain under reasonably foreseeable conditions of disposal or environmental exposure. The Administrator may further clarify this exception by rule.

"(8) Plastic product.—The term 'plastic product' means any good which contains, or is packaged in, plastic, and is intended for public sale, distribution, or use.

"(A) Exceptions.—Plastic product shall not include a medical product regulated under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act or the Public Health Service Act.

"(9) Secretary.—The term 'Secretary' means the Secretary of the Treasury.

"(10) Taxable virgin plastic resin.—The term 'taxable virgin plastic resin' means any plastic resin which is manufactured or produced in the United States or entered into the United States for consumption, use, or warehousing.

"(A) Exception.—The term 'taxable virgin plastic resin' shall not include resin reprocessed from recovered material. The Administrator may further clarify this exception by rule.

"(11) United States.—The term 'United States' has the meaning given such term by section 4612(a)(4).

"Sec. 5000L. Virgin plastic resin.

"(a) General rule.—There is hereby imposed a tax on—

"(1) the entry into the United States of any taxable virgin plastic resin for consumption, use, or warehousing, and

"(2) the sale of any taxable virgin plastic resin sold by an applicable entity.

"(b) Amount of tax.—

"(1) Taxable virgin plastic resin.—The amount of the tax imposed under subsection (a) with respect to taxable virgin plastic resin shall be determined on a per-pound basis, as follows:

"(A) In the case of calendar year 2027, 10 cents per pound.

"(B) In the case of each of calendar years 2028 through 2031, an amount equal to the rate in effect for the preceding calendar year, plus 5 cents per pound.

"(C) In the case of calendar year 2032 and each calendar year thereafter, an amount equal to the rate in effect for the preceding calendar year, increased by an amount equal to—

"(i) such rate, multiplied by

"(ii) the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for the calendar year, determined by substituting 'calendar year 2026' for 'calendar year 2016' in subparagraph (A)(ii) thereof.

"(D) Rounding.—

"(i) Of calculated rate.—If any amount determined under subparagraph (C) is not a multiple of 1 cent, such amount shall be increased to the nearest multiple of 1 cent.

"(ii) Of weight.—In the case of a fraction of a pound, the tax imposed shall be the same as such tax imposed on a whole pound.

"(c) Single incidence and prevention of double taxation.—

"(1) In general.—The tax imposed under subsection (a) shall be imposed only once with respect to any unit of taxable virgin plastic resin.

"(2) Imported resin.—If the tax is imposed under subsection (a)(1) with respect to any taxable virgin plastic resin upon entry into the United States, no tax shall be imposed under subsection (a)(2) with respect to any subsequent sale of such resin.

"(3) Domestic resin.—If the tax is imposed under subsection (a)(2), no tax shall be imposed with respect to any subsequent sale of such resin.

"(4) Certification and tracing.—The Secretary may require such certifications, records, and tracing mechanisms as are necessary to ensure that taxable virgin plastic resin with respect to which tax has been imposed is not subject to additional tax under this section.

"(5) Aggregation rule.—All persons treated as a single employer under subsection (a) or (b) of section 52 or subsection (m) or (o) of section 414 shall be treated as a single applicable entity for purposes of this section.

"(d) Use treated as sale.—If any applicable entity manufactures, produces, or imports any taxable virgin plastic resin and uses such resin, then such person shall be liable for tax under this section in the same manner as if such resin were sold by such entity.

"Sec. 5000M. Plastic products.

"(a) General rule.—There is hereby imposed on a covered manufacturer a tax on the manufacture in the United States, or the import into the United States, of a plastic product.

"(b) Amount of tax.—The amount of the tax imposed under subsection (a) shall be determined on a per-item basis, as follows:

"(1) Before January 1, 2032, 5 cents for each plastic product.

"(2) On and after January 1, 2032, 10 cents for each plastic product.

"(c) Special cases.—

"(1) Single good.—A good intended for public sale, distribution, or use as a single unit, together with any plastic packaging in which the good is sold or distributed, shall be treated as 1 plastic product.

"(2) Multipacks.—For purposes of subsection (a), the tax shall be imposed for each individual plastic product contained in a multipack.

"(3) Sets and kits.—Items, sets, or kits containing components intended to be assembled or otherwise used together as a single finished good shall be treated as 1 plastic product.

"(4) Bulk quantities.—In the case of plastic products sold in bulk quantities and of minimal functionality in single units, the Secretary may by rule establish a weight or measure, of which the quantity shall be considered a single unit under subsection (a).

"(d) No credit or offset.—The tax imposed by this section shall apply without regard to whether any tax has been imposed under section 5000L or any other provision of law with respect to the materials used to produce such plastic product.

"(e) Single incidence.—The tax imposed under this section shall be imposed only once with respect to the same plastic product.

"Sec. 5000N. Administrative authority.

"(a) In general.—Not later than 210 days after the date of enactment of this chapter, the Secretary in consultation with the Administrator shall promulgate rules, guidance, and regulations useful and necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

"(b) Specifically.—Such regulations and guidance shall include—

"(1) the identification of effective points in the production and manufacturing process for collecting such taxes, in such a manner so as to minimize administrative burdens,

"(2) the identification of the entities which shall be liable for the payment of the taxes,

"(3) requirements for the monthly payment of such taxes, and

"(4) as may be necessary or convenient, rules for distinguishing between different types of plastic.

"Sec. 5000O. Revenues.

"All amounts collected under this chapter shall be deposited into the general fund of the Treasury and credited to the American Value Fund established under section 623(b)(5) of the POPULIST Act.".

(b) Clerical amendment.—The table of chapters for subtitle D of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

"CHAPTER 50E. PLASTIC TAXES.".

(c) No preemption of stronger State law.—Nothing in this section or the amendments made by this section shall be construed to preempt or limit any State law or regulation that imposes a stricter plastic pollution standard, a higher fee or tax on plastic resin or plastic products, a more protective product, packaging, recycling, waste reduction, or pollution control requirement, or any other requirement that is more protective of public health or the environment than the requirements of this section or the amendments made by this section.

(d) Effective date.—This section shall be effective September 30, 2027.

SEC. 1244. METHANE WASTE EMISSIONS FEE.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Carbon dioxide equivalent.—The term "carbon dioxide equivalent" or "CO2e" has the meaning given such term in section 9901 of title 26, United States Code.

(2) Carbon fee.—The term "carbon fee" means the amount calculated under section 9902(b) of title 26, United States Code.

(3) Covered facility.—The term "covered facility" means any oil or gas facility subject to greenhouse gas reporting requirements under section 114 of the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7414).

(4) Methane.—The term "methane" means the greenhouse gas CH4.

(5) Methane waste emissions.—The term "methane waste emissions" means methane emissions resulting from venting, flaring, leakage, or other releases of methane to the atmosphere in excess of applicable standards.

(6) Regulation.—The term "regulation" means any rule, regulation, guideline, interpretation, order, or requirement of general applicability prescribed by any officer or employee of the executive branch.

(7) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Treasury.

(b) Codification of methane emissions performance standards.—

(1) Incorporation of rule.—The provisions of the final rule promulgated by the Environmental Protection Agency, entitled "Standards of Performance for New, Reconstructed, and Modified Sources and Emissions Guidelines for Existing Sources: Oil and Natural Gas Sector Climate Review", as published in the Federal Register on March 8, 2024 (89 Fed. Reg. 16820), and subsequently corrected on August 1, 2024 (89 Fed. Reg. 62872), are incorporated into this Act and shall be treated as though such provisions are set forth in this subsection.

(2) Effect of incorporation.—The regulations incorporated under paragraph (1) are established as the minimum methane emissions performance standards by this Act, and may be weakened only by means of an Act of Congress. To the extent that any provision of such regulations does not conform with this Act, the provisions of this Act shall govern.

(3) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to limit any existing authority of the Environmental Protection Agency to impose stricter regulations, standards, or fees.

(c) Imposition of methane waste emissions fee.—Beginning April 1, 2027, there is imposed on methane waste emissions from each covered facility a methane waste emissions fee. Such fee shall be in addition to any fee imposed on methane emissions under chapter 101 of subtitle L of title 26.

(d) Calculation of fee.—The methane waste emissions fee imposed under subsection (c) with respect to any quantity of methane shall be equal to the carbon fee that would be imposed on such quantity of methane under section 9902 of title 26, United States Code.

(e) Exceptions.—No methane waste emissions fee shall apply to methane that is captured, reinjected, converted, destroyed, sold, or otherwise managed in a manner that prevents release of such methane to the atmosphere, as determined in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Environmental Protection Agency.

(f) Administration, collection, and enforcement.—

(1) In general.—The Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency shall administer and enforce this section with respect to measurement, reporting, monitoring, verification, applicability, exceptions, compliance, and determination of methane waste emissions, and the Secretary shall collect the methane waste emissions fee imposed under subsection (c).

(2) Returns and payment.—Each owner or operator of a covered facility subject to the fee imposed under subsection (c) shall file a return with the Secretary, at such time and in such manner as the Secretary may prescribe, and shall pay the fee imposed under subsection (c) at the time such return is due.

(3) EPA determination.—The Administrator shall determine, for each covered facility and each applicable reporting period, the quantity of methane waste emissions subject to the fee imposed under subsection (c), after applying the exceptions under subsection (e), and shall provide such determination to the Secretary in such form and manner as the Secretary and the Administrator jointly prescribe.

(4) Coordination with existing reporting.—To the maximum extent practicable, the Administrator shall coordinate measurement, reporting, monitoring, verification, and compliance under this section with greenhouse gas reporting requirements under section 114 of the Clean Air Act (42 U.S.C. 7414), regulations incorporated under subsection (b), and any other applicable methane emissions reporting requirements.

(5) Treatment for purposes of tax administration.—For purposes of subtitle F of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, the fee imposed under subsection (c) shall be treated as a tax imposed by subtitle D of such Code.

(6) Penalties.—

(A) In general.—Any person that fails to file a return required under paragraph (2), fails to pay the fee imposed under subsection (c), or submits materially false, incomplete, or misleading information for purposes of this section shall be subject to penalties under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 in the same manner as if the fee imposed under subsection (c) were a tax imposed by subtitle D of such Code.

(B) Additional civil penalty.—In addition to any penalty otherwise authorized by law, any person that knowingly underreports methane waste emissions subject to the fee imposed under subsection (c) shall be subject to a civil penalty of not more than 3 times the amount of the fee that should have been paid with respect to such underreported emissions.

(7) Deposit of revenues.—Amounts collected under this section shall be deposited into the general fund of the Treasury and credited to the American Value Fund.

(8) Regulations.—

(A) Interim final rules.—Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this section, the Administrator and the Secretary shall issue interim final regulations, guidance, forms, and procedures necessary to carry out this section.

(B) Effect.—The interim final regulations issued under subparagraph (A) shall take effect upon publication in the Federal Register and shall have the force and effect of law.

(C) Procedure.—The Administrator and the Secretary may issue an interim final regulation under subparagraph (A) without prior notice and opportunity for public comment under section 553 of title 5, United States Code.

(D) Use of prior administrative work.—Notwithstanding Public Law 119–2 or section 801(b)(2) of title 5, United States Code, the Administrator and the Secretary may use or adapt any procedure, method, form, or other administrative mechanism developed for the rule disapproved by that Public Law, to the extent consistent with this section.

(E) Public comment and final rules.—

(i) Public comment.—The Administrator and the Secretary shall provide a period of not less than 60 days after publication of an interim final regulation under subparagraph (A) for public comment.

(ii) Final rules.—Not later than September 30, 2027, the Administrator and the Secretary shall issue final regulations, guidance, forms, and procedures necessary to carry out this section after consideration of comments received under clause (i).

(F) No delay.—Failure to issue or finalize a regulation, guidance, form, or procedure under this paragraph shall not delay, limit, extinguish, or reduce—

(i) the fee imposed under subsection (c) beginning on April 1, 2027;

(ii) the standards incorporated under subsection (b); or

(iii) the authority of the Administrator or the Secretary to administer or enforce this section.

SEC. 1245. DATA CENTER WATER ACCOUNTABILITY TAX.

(a) Data center water accountability tax.—

(1) In general.—Chapter 38 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following new subchapter:

"SUBCHAPTER F—DATA CENTER WATER ACCOUNTABILITY TAX

"SEC. 4692. Data center water accountability tax.

"Sec. 4692. Data center water accountability tax.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Administrator.—The term 'Administrator' means the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

"(2) Alternative nonpotable water source.—The term 'alternative nonpotable water source' means reclaimed wastewater, captured stormwater, industrial reuse water, graywater, brackish water, seawater, produced water, or another source of water that is not potable water, groundwater, or surface freshwater.

"(3) Captured stormwater.—The term 'captured stormwater' means precipitation or storm runoff that is collected, stored, and used for cooling, humidification, or other data center operations without first being treated as potable water.

"(4) Chargeable water use.—The term 'chargeable water use' means—

"(A) with respect to potable water or groundwater, the total amount of such water withdrawn, purchased, received, or otherwise used by a data center, reduced only by the metered amount of such water returned directly to the public water system or reinjected into the same aquifer in compliance with applicable water quality requirements;

"(B) with respect to surface freshwater, the total amount of such water withdrawn, purchased, received, or otherwise used by a data center, reduced by the metered amount of such water returned to the same source or watershed in a condition that is substantially equivalent in quality and temperature; and

"(C) with respect to an alternative nonpotable water source, the total amount of such water withdrawn, purchased, received, or otherwise used by a data center, reduced by the metered amount of such water transferred for further nonpotable reuse or returned for further nonpotable use in a condition that is substantially equivalent in quality.

"(5) Data center.—The term 'data center' means any facility described in section 453(a)(1) of the Energy Independence and Security Act of 2007 (42 U.S.C. 17112(a)(1)) that—

"(A) has an actual peak electrical demand of not less than 25 megawatts;

"(B) is reasonably projected by the data center operator to have a peak electrical demand of not less than 25 megawatts; or

"(C) is part of a campus, phased development, or group of commonly controlled or commonly operated data centers that, in the aggregate, has or is reasonably projected to have a peak electrical demand of not less than 25 megawatts.

"(6) Data center operator.—The term 'data center operator' means the person with primary operational control over a data center.

"(7) Groundwater.—The term 'groundwater' means water located beneath the surface of the ground, including water withdrawn from an aquifer, well, spring, or other subsurface source.

"(8) Potable water.—The term 'potable water' means water that is treated, distributed, or otherwise made available for human consumption.

"(9) Reclaimed wastewater.—The term 'reclaimed wastewater' means municipal, industrial, or other wastewater that has been treated for reuse and is supplied for nonpotable use.

"(10) Surface freshwater.—The term 'surface freshwater' means water withdrawn from a river, stream, lake, reservoir, pond, wetland, or other surface water body, and does not include potable water, groundwater, or an alternative nonpotable water source.

"(b) Imposition of tax.—Beginning July 1, 2027, there is imposed on each data center operator a tax for each calendar month on the chargeable water use of each data center to which this section applies during such month.

"(c) Amount of tax.—The amount of the tax imposed under subsection (b) for a calendar month shall equal the sum of—

"(1) $26 for each 1,000 gallons of chargeable water use attributable to potable water or groundwater;

"(2) $18 for each 1,000 gallons of chargeable water use attributable to surface freshwater; and

"(3) $10 for each 1,000 gallons of chargeable water use attributable to an alternative nonpotable water source.

"(d) Drought and water-stress multiplier.—

"(1) In general.—The tax imposed under subsection (b) shall be increased by the applicable percentage under paragraph (2) with respect to chargeable water use by a data center located in an area classified as D1, D2, D3, or D4 by the United States Drought Monitor for any week during the calendar month for which the tax is imposed.

"(2) Applicable percentage.—The applicable percentage under paragraph (1) shall be the greatest of the following:

"(A) For a classification of D1, 50 percent.

"(B) For a classification of D2, 100 percent.

"(C) For a classification of D3, 150 percent.

"(D) For a classification of D4, 200 percent.

"(3) Additional water-stressed areas.—The Secretary of Energy, in consultation with the Administrator and the Director of the United States Geological Survey, may designate additional water-stressed areas by regulation based on groundwater depletion, surface water scarcity, public water supply constraints, aquifer stress, or other water-availability factors.

"(4) Treatment of additional water-stressed areas.—An area designated under paragraph (3) shall be treated as an area classified as D2 under the United States Drought Monitor unless the Secretary of Energy determines by regulation that conditions in such area warrant treatment as D1, D3, or D4.

"(e) Returns and payment.—

"(1) Quarterly estimated payments.—Each data center operator subject to the tax imposed under subsection (b) shall make quarterly estimated payments of such tax at such time and in such manner as the Secretary shall prescribe.

"(2) Annual reconciliation.—Each data center operator subject to the tax imposed under subsection (b) shall file an annual return reconciling quarterly estimated payments with actual chargeable water use for the calendar year.

"(3) Coordination with reporting.—The Secretary shall coordinate the timing and content of returns under this subsection with the reporting requirements under section 1245(b) of the POPULIST Act, to the maximum extent practicable.

"(f) Inflation adjustment.—For each calendar year after 2027, each dollar amount in subsection (c) shall be increased by an amount equal to—

"(1) such dollar amount, multiplied by

"(2) the cost-of-living adjustment determined under section 1(f)(3) for the calendar year, determined by substituting 'calendar year 2026' for 'calendar year 2016' in subparagraph (A)(ii) thereof.

"(g) Anti-evasion.—For purposes of this section, the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Energy, shall treat commonly controlled, colocated, phased, affiliated, or operationally integrated data centers as a single data center if such treatment is necessary to prevent evasion of the threshold under subsection (a)(5).

"(h) Regulations.—Not later than 210 days after the date of enactment of this section, the Secretary shall issue such regulations or other guidance as are necessary to carry out this section.".

(2) Clerical amendment.—The table of subchapters for chapter 38 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by adding at the end the following:

"SUBCHAPTER F. DATA CENTER WATER ACCOUNTABILITY TAX".

(b) Reporting.—

(1) Definitions.—In this subsection:

(A) Terms defined in Internal Revenue Code.—The terms "alternative nonpotable water source", "chargeable water use", "data center", "data center operator", "groundwater", "potable water", "reclaimed wastewater", and "surface freshwater" have the meanings given such terms in section 4692 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(B) Water usage effectiveness.—The term "water usage effectiveness" means the ratio of annual site water use to annual information technology equipment energy use, expressed in liters per kilowatt-hour, as determined under ISO/IEC 30134-9:2022 or any successor standard recognized by the Secretary of Energy.

(2) Annual report.—Beginning July 1, 2027, each data center operator subject to section 4692 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 shall submit an annual report to the Secretary of Energy, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, the Secretary of the Treasury, and each State in which the data center is located.

(3) Contents.—Each report under paragraph (2) shall include, for each month of the preceding calendar year—

(A) total electricity use;

(B) peak electrical demand;

(C) total water withdrawn, purchased, received, or otherwise used;

(D) total water use by source category, including potable water, groundwater, surface freshwater, and alternative nonpotable water sources;

(E) chargeable water use by source category;

(F) water returned, reinjected, discharged, or transferred for further nonpotable reuse, by source category;

(G) water usage effectiveness;

(H) the cooling technology or technologies used at the data center, including whether waste heat is recovered or made available for district heating, domestic hot water, industrial process heat, greenhouse agriculture, or another productive thermal use; and

(I) the identity of each water provider, water district, Tribal water authority, regional water authority, watershed, aquifer, or other water source serving or supplying the data center, and the chargeable water use attributable to each such provider, authority, watershed, aquifer, or source; and

(J) such other information as the Secretary of Energy, in consultation with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and the Secretary of the Treasury, determines necessary to carry out this section and section 4692 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(4) Transition rule.—For the annual report due on July 1, 2027, the report shall include only calendar months beginning more than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

(c) State and local access; public reporting.—

(1) Governmental access to reports.—The Secretary of Energy shall make reports submitted under subsection (b) available to any State, Indian Tribe, local government, public utility, water provider, water district, or regional water authority with jurisdiction over the siting, permitting, water supply, wastewater service, or electric service of the data center.

(2) Public reports.—The Secretary of Energy, in consultation with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and the Secretary of Agriculture, shall publish on the Department of Energy website annual reports, both regional and national, summarizing water and energy use by data centers.

(3) Aggregation.—Public reports under paragraph (2) may aggregate data to protect confidential business information, except that nothing in this paragraph shall authorize withholding from the public the identity, location, peak electrical demand, total annual water withdrawn, purchased, received, or otherwise used, total annual chargeable water use, or water source categories of a data center subject to this section.

(d) Data Center Water Resilience Fund.—

(1) Establishment.—There is established in the Treasury of the United States a fund to be known as the "Data Center Water Resilience Fund".

(2) Deposits.—There are appropriated to the Fund, out of amounts in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, amounts equivalent to the revenues received in the Treasury from the tax imposed under section 4692 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(3) Availability.—Amounts deposited into the Fund shall be available without further appropriation to carry out this subsection.

(4) Distribution.—For each fiscal year, amounts in the Fund shall be distributed as follows:

(A) Local and regional share.—50 percent of the amounts attributable to tax paid with respect to each data center shall be made available to the water provider, water district, Tribal water authority, regional water authority, or other public or Tribal authority serving or having water-resource jurisdiction over the provider, watershed, aquifer, or other source from which the chargeable water use is obtained. If chargeable water use is attributable to more than 1 such provider, authority, watershed, aquifer, or source, the amount shall be allocated among the applicable recipients in proportion to the chargeable water use attributable to each.

(B) State share.—25 percent of the amounts attributable to tax paid with respect to each data center shall be made available to the State in which the data center is located for water conservation, reclaimed water infrastructure, groundwater recharge, leak reduction, watershed restoration, or drought resilience. If a data center campus or operationally integrated group is located in more than 1 State, the amount shall be allocated among the States in proportion to the chargeable water use attributable to operations in each State.

(C) Federal share.—25 percent shall remain available to the Secretary of Energy, as lead administrator, to administer and enforce this section and section 4692 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. The Secretary of Energy may transfer amounts under this subparagraph to the Secretary of the Treasury, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, or the Secretary of Agriculture as necessary to carry out such administration and enforcement.

(D) Allocation rules.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of the Treasury, in consultation with the Secretary of Energy, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Secretary of Agriculture, shall issue rules for attributing and allocating amounts under this paragraph, including rules for data centers using multiple providers or water sources, self-supplied water, multistate campuses, and changes in providers or water sources during a fiscal year.

(e) Administration and enforcement coordination.—

(1) Tax administration.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall administer and collect the tax imposed under section 4692 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(2) Measurement and reporting rules.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Energy, in consultation with the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency and the Secretary of the Treasury, shall establish rules and procedures for measurement, reporting, verification, and audit of water use, chargeable water use, water sources, discharges, and water usage effectiveness under this section and section 4692 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986.

(f) Penalties.—

(1) Failure to report.—Any data center operator that fails to submit a report required under subsection (b) shall be liable for a civil penalty of not more than $20,000 for each day during which such failure continues.

(2) False or incomplete report.—Any data center operator that knowingly submits materially false, incomplete, or misleading information under subsection (b) shall be liable for a civil penalty of not more than $20,000 for each day during which such violation continues.

(3) Tax penalties.—Nothing in this subsection shall limit the application of any penalty under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 with respect to a failure to file a return, failure to pay tax, underpayment, false statement, fraud, or other violation relating to the tax imposed under section 4692 of such Code.

(g) No preemption.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to preempt or limit any State, Tribal, or local law, regulation, fee, charge, reporting requirement, water-use restriction, or permitting condition that is more protective of water resources or ratepayers than this section.

SEC. 1301. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) The concept of a Jubilee recognizes that societies accumulate not only financial obligations, but also moral debts, inherited hostilities, and relationships shaped by fear, coercion, and injustice. As the United States marks its 250th anniversary, a national Jubilee provides an opportunity to address debts, repair harms, and reconsider relationships that no longer serve peace, justice, or human dignity.

(2) Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. taught that "peace is not merely the absence of tension, but the presence of justice" and identified poverty, racism, and militarism as interrelated evils. The militarization of local law enforcement lies at the junction of those evils, bringing weapons and methods of war into communities already burdened by poverty and racial injustice. With the centenary of his birth approaching on January 15, 2029, the United States has an opportunity to honor his work by promoting peace as the presence of justice at home and abroad.

(3) For generations, the United States has institutionalized preparation for war, while diplomacy, mediation, and peacebuilding have not received comparable permanence or public investment. Peacebuilding is productive public investment that can prevent violence, reduce suffering, and promote the security of the United States.

(4) Defense expenditures and military service perform valuable economic functions by distributing Federal resources and providing employment, education, and health care. These benefits support workers, local economies, and communities with limited civilian opportunities, but can create economic dependence on continued military expenditure.

(5) The American Union Jobs Program, the employment access guarantee, and the industrial reconstruction initiatives established under title VIII, along with other investments throughout the POPULIST Act, provide practical means to reduce reliance on military spending as a primary channel of economic opportunity.

(6) In his April 16, 1953, "Chance for Peace" address, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who later warned the nation of the growth of the military-industrial complex, observed that producing "every gun that is made, every warship launched, every rocket fired" diverts labor and resources from human needs. Reductions in unnecessary military expenditure are more durable and publicly legitimate when the resulting peace dividends are visible and reinvested in productive civilian purposes.

(7) Across the planet, humanity shares a common desire for peace, justice, and prosperity. Disputes among governments must not convert entire peoples into permanent enemies. Accountability for wrongful conduct should be directed toward responsible persons and institutions rather than civilian populations. Collective punishment is not justice.

(8) The use of nuclear weapons would constitute one of the most extreme forms of collective punishment, causing catastrophic destruction that cannot be confined to combatants. On January 3, 2022, the leaders of the 5 nuclear-weapon states recognized under the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons jointly affirmed that "a nuclear war cannot be won and must never be fought" and committed to preventing nuclear war and avoiding arms races. The United States has an opportunity to lead by example in reducing nuclear danger through restraint, arms control, and diplomacy toward disarmament.

(9) For more than a century, countries across the planet have established international rules restricting inhumane weapons, including chemical weapons and, more recently, anti-personnel landmines and cluster munitions. The United States recognizes that fellowship among nations requires respect for shared humanitarian norms and that new frameworks are needed for 21st-century dangers, particularly lethal autonomous weapons.

(10) Arms transfers and security cooperation must be judged by their foreseeable consequences for civilians.

(11) Democratic self-government requires Congressional control over war. Decisions to begin, continue, expand, and finance hostilities are among the gravest exercises of governmental power and must be made through clear, current, and publicly accountable action by Congress.

(b) Purpose.—The purposes of this title are—

(1) to mark a national Jubilee by reassessing relationships, repairing harms, and redirecting public power toward peace, justice, prosperity, and human dignity;

(2) to reorient public institutions toward fellowship among nations, diplomacy, peacebuilding, and prevention of violence at home and abroad;

(3) to restore clear, current, and democratic congressional control over the use of military force and restrain weapons and policies that impose unacceptable harm on civilians;

(4) to reduce reliance on unnecessary military expenditure while protecting workers and communities through public employment, industrial reconstruction, and visible reinvestment of peace dividends; and

(5) to promote peace.

SEC. 1302. ENDING MILITARY EQUIPMENT DONATIONS TO LAW ENFORCEMENT.

(a) In general.—Chapter 153 of title 10, United States Code, is amended by striking section 2576a.

(b) Clerical amendment.—The table of sections at the beginning of such chapter is amended by striking the item relating to section 2576a.

Subtitle A—Establishing a Department of Peacebuilding

SEC. 1311. DEFINITIONS.

(a) Definitions.—In this subtitle:

(1) Committee.—The term "Committee" means the Federal Interagency Committee on Peace established under section 1315(b).

(2) Council.—The term "Council" means the Intergovernmental Advisory Council on Peace established under section 1315(a).

(3) Culture of peace.—The term "culture of peace" means social, civic, educational, economic, and governmental conditions that support nonviolent conflict resolution, civic dignity, democratic participation, fair economic opportunity, public safety, and respect for civil rights and civil liberties.

(4) Department.—The term "Department" means the Department of Peacebuilding established under section 1312(a).

(5) Elementary school.—The term "elementary school" has the meaning given that term in section 8101 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 7801).

(6) Federal agency.—The term "Federal agency" has the meaning given the term "agency" in section 551(1) of title 5, United States Code.

(7) Institution of higher education.—The term "institution of higher education" has the meaning given that term in section 101 of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1001).

(8) Nonprofit organization.—The term "nonprofit organization" means an entity that—

(A) is described in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 501(c)(3)); and

(B) is exempt from tax under section 501(a) of such Code.

(9) Peacebuilding.—The term "peacebuilding" means policies, programs, practices, and institutions that prevent, reduce, or repair violence, address the causes of conflict, strengthen nonviolent conflict resolution, and support conditions of civic dignity, economic security, democratic participation, and public safety.

(10) Peacemaking.—The term "peacemaking" means diplomatic, civic, community-based, or other nonviolent action to prevent, de-escalate, mediate, resolve, or repair conflict.

(11) Secondary school.—The term "secondary school" has the meaning given that term in section 8101 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 7801).

(12) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Peacebuilding appointed under section 1312(b).

(13) State educational agency.—The term "State educational agency" has the meaning given that term in section 8101 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 7801).

SEC. 1312. ESTABLISHMENT, MISSION, LEADERSHIP, AND STAFF.

(a) Establishment.—There is established in the executive branch of the Federal Government a Department of Peacebuilding.

(b) Secretary of Peacebuilding.—There shall be at the head of the Department a Secretary of Peacebuilding, who shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Secretary shall be compensated at the rate provided for level I of the Executive Schedule under section 5312 of title 5, United States Code.

(c) Mission.—The Department shall—

(1) cultivate peace, peacebuilding, and a culture of peace as strategic national policy objectives;

(2) prevent, reduce, and repair violence domestically and internationally through evidence-based peacebuilding, peacemaking, mediation, and nonviolent conflict resolution;

(3) strengthen nonmilitary means of preventing, de-escalating, and resolving conflict;

(4) analyze and address the relationships between peacebuilding and access to justice, public health, education, economic security, democratic self-government, environmental sustainability, civil rights, and civil liberties;

(5) identify, support, evaluate, replicate, and expand effective community-based and nongovernmental initiatives to prevent and reduce violence; and

(6) serve as an institutional center for peacebuilding expertise, research, policy development, interagency coordination, and measurement of progress toward peace.

(d) Under Secretary of Peacebuilding.—

(1) In general.—The President shall appoint an Under Secretary of Peacebuilding in the Department, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. "Assistant Secretaries of Peacebuilding (6).

"General Counsel, Department of Peacebuilding.".

(5) Presidential succession.—Section 19(d)(1) of title 3, United States Code, is amended by inserting ", Secretary of Peacebuilding" after "Secretary of Homeland Security".

SEC. 1313. RESPONSIBILITIES AND POWERS.

(a) In general.—The Secretary shall—

(1) advise the President, coordinate with Federal agencies, and consult with Congress on policies relating to peacebuilding and conditions of peace;

(2) consult with public, private, academic, and nongovernmental experts and with communities affected by the policies and programs of the Department;

(3) research and analyze the causes and conditions of conflict, violence, and peace, including the effects of economic insecurity, deprivation, exploitation, predatory debt, wage suppression, concentrated economic power, and coercive extraction of income or wealth;

(4) identify, evaluate, and disseminate effective violence prevention, peacebuilding, peacemaking, and conflict resolution practices; and

(5) develop metrics for measuring progress toward peace in the United States and submit annually to the President and Congress, and make publicly available on the website of the Department, a report on such progress.

(b) Domestic responsibilities.—The Secretary shall collaborate with governmental and nongovernmental organizations and individuals to promote personal and community safety and peace by—

(1) developing and supporting evidence-based policies and programs to prevent and reduce personal, family, school, workplace, police, and community violence, including suicide, domestic violence, child abuse, elder abuse, hate crimes, gang violence, human trafficking, and substance-related harm;

(2) analyzing policies and developing nonviolent approaches concerning firearms and other instruments of violence;

(3) addressing economic conditions that contribute to violence, including poverty, homelessness, predatory debt, wage theft, unemployment, and lack of access to health care, child care, transportation, and other basic needs;

(4) making policy recommendations to the Attorney General and other appropriate officials regarding civil rights, labor law, community safety, and police-community relations;

(5) supporting community-based violence prevention, violence interruption, peer mediation, unarmed civilian peacekeeping, crisis mitigation, restorative practices, and other nonmilitary public safety strategies;

(6) supporting counseling, advocacy, and trauma-informed services for people harmed by violence;

(7) supporting public education that promotes human dignity, nonviolence, mutual respect, civil rights, and civil liberties; and

(8) supporting community-led initiatives that address historical and structural sources of conflict and use local experience to inform national policy.

(c) International responsibilities.—The Secretary shall—

(1) advise the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense, and other appropriate officials regarding conflict prevention and de-escalation, civilian protection, civil rights, civil liberties, and nonmilitary alternatives to armed conflict;

(2) support the development of peacebuilding and conflict prevention training for United States personnel engaged in diplomacy, humanitarian response, demobilization, post-conflict reconstruction, or related civilian activities;

(3) sponsor and coordinate conflict prevention, mediation, reconciliation, dispute resolution, and peace summit initiatives and special task forces, drawing on affected communities and local, regional, and national expertise;

(4) support counseling, advocacy, trauma recovery, and civilian protection for victims and survivors of armed conflict, human trafficking, sexual violence, and other severe abuses;

(5) support international exchanges, sister-city programs, and other civic, cultural, educational, and faith-based initiatives that advance peace;

(6) support the training and deployment of unarmed civilian peacekeepers and the development of multinational civilian peacekeeping capacity;

(7) in consultation with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Treasury, support civilian monitoring and investigation of international arms embargoes and analyze the effects of United States arms transfers on peace and security;

(8) recommend reductions in and elimination of weapons of mass destruction and other appropriate arms-control and disarmament measures;

(9) through the BREAD program and in consultation with the Secretary of State, support nonviolent strategies addressing poverty, debt distress, labor exploitation, resource extraction, food insecurity, and other economic conditions that contribute to conflict, displacement, or violence;

(10) in consultation with the Secretary of State, advise the United States Permanent Representative to the United Nations on peacebuilding matters and support nonpartisan international election monitoring, democratic-transition assistance, and civilian protection; and

(11) encourage the creation of infrastructures for peace and the implementation of international strategies centered on peacebuilding, reconciliation, diplomacy, development, and nonviolent civilian protection.

(d) Membership of the Secretary of Peacebuilding on the National Security Council.—Section 101(c) of the National Security Act of 1947 (50 U.S.C. 3021(c)) is amended by inserting ", the Secretary of Peacebuilding" after "Treasury".

(e) Human security responsibilities.—The Secretary shall identify and offer nonviolent conflict resolution strategies and appropriate civilian peacebuilding resources to parties affected by conflict or crisis.

(f) Educational responsibilities.—The Secretary shall, in consultation with the United States Institute of Peace, the Department of Education, educators, and other appropriate individuals and organizations—

(1) support the development and dissemination of voluntary peace education curricula at the early-childhood, elementary, secondary, and postsecondary levels that address—

(A) civil rights and civil liberties movements in the United States and throughout the world, with particular attention to the role of nonviolence;

(B) the causes of violence and conditions of peace;

(C) nonviolent conflict resolution, mediation, restorative practices, and de-escalation;

(D) peace agreements and circumstances in which peaceful intervention has helped prevent or end conflict; and

(E) the relationships among economic conditions, democratic participation, civil rights, civil liberties, environmental sustainability, and peace;

(2) provide grants, training, and technical assistance to State educational agencies, school districts, schools, and institutions of higher education to develop and implement peace education, anti-bullying, restorative practice, and nonviolent conflict resolution programs;

(3) support educators and students in developing critical-thinking, civic education, democratic participation, reflection, mediation, and peaceful conflict resolution skills;

(4) support schools and communities in creating safe, nonviolent educational environments free from bullying and harassment;

(5) maintain a public website to disseminate peace education resources and solicit ideas from students, educators, and the public; and

(6) provide grants for peace studies and related programs in institutions of higher education.

(g) Peace Academy.—

(1) Establishment.—Not later than 3 years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Education, the Secretary of State, the United States Institute of Peace, institutions of higher education, and other appropriate Federal agencies and educational institutions, shall establish a Peace Academy.

(2) Purpose and course of instruction.—The Peace Academy shall provide a 4-year course of instruction to prepare individuals for public service in domestic and international peacebuilding, nonviolent conflict resolution, mediation, civilian protection, violence prevention, humanitarian response, democratic resilience, and post-conflict reconstruction, including instruction in—

(A) nonviolent conflict resolution, mediation, restorative practices, and de-escalation;

(B) diplomacy, international relations, civil rights, civil liberties, rule of law, and public administration;

(C) public health, humanitarian response, foreign languages, and cross-cultural communication; and

(D) the economic, environmental, technological, and social causes of conflict and violence.

(3) Degree authority.—The Peace Academy may confer a baccalaureate degree on a graduate who completes the course of instruction required under paragraph (2), subject to such accreditation requirements as the Secretary of Education determines appropriate.

(4) Tuition and support.—The Secretary may provide tuition-free instruction, room, board, books, supplies, and other support to students enrolled in the Peace Academy, subject to an agreement to satisfy the public service obligation under paragraph (5).

(5) Public service obligation.—A graduate of the Peace Academy who received tuition-free instruction or other support under paragraph (4) shall serve for 5 years in public service in an approved position dedicated to domestic or international peacebuilding, nonviolent conflict resolution, violence prevention, civilian protection, humanitarian response, democratic resilience, post-conflict reconstruction, or related work.

(6) Approved placements.—The Secretary may approve public-service placements for purposes of paragraph (5) with Federal agencies, State, Tribal, and local governments, international organizations, nonprofit organizations, nongovernmental organizations, and other entities that carry out work consistent with the purposes of the Peace Academy.

(7) Service agreements.—Before receiving support under paragraph (4), a student shall enter into a written agreement to complete the course of instruction and satisfy the public-service obligation under paragraph (5) or repay an appropriate portion of the value of the support received. The Secretary may waive repayment, in whole or in part, because of death, disability, extreme hardship, or another circumstance specified by regulation.

(8) Regulations.—The Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Education and the Director of the Office of Personnel Management, shall prescribe regulations governing admissions, academic standards, accreditation, service agreements, approved placements, deferments, waivers, repayment, and enforcement of the public-service obligation.

(h) Relationship to BREAD program.—Any civilian international assistance provided by the Department shall be administered through the BREAD program established under section 1316. Nothing in this section may be construed to authorize a separate civilian international assistance program outside the BREAD program.

SEC. 1314. FUNCTIONS OF ASSISTANT SECRETARIES.

(a) Functions.—Subject to the direction of the Secretary and without limiting section 1313, each Assistant Secretary appointed under section 1312(f) shall have primary responsibility for the functions assigned to that Assistant Secretary under this subsection:

(1) Assistant Secretary for Peace Education, Training, and Research.—The Assistant Secretary for Peace Education, Training, and Research shall carry out functions relating to—

(A) peace education and training at the pre-kindergarten, elementary, secondary, university, and postgraduate levels;

(B) in consultation with the Secretary of Education, the United States Institute of Peace, institutions of higher education, and other appropriate entities, development, support, and dissemination of peace education curricula and materials, including—

(i) historical and contemporary examples of nonviolent peacebuilding; and

(ii) lessons that foster empathy, mutual respect, nonviolent conflict resolution, and reconciliation;

(C) instruction and training in nonviolent conflict resolution, mediation, restorative practices, de-escalation, civic education, democratic participation, civil rights, civil liberties, and the economic, environmental, technological, and social causes of conflict and violence;

(D) school-based restorative practices and programs to prevent the school-to-prison pipeline through training for teachers, staff, students, families, and communities;

(E) coordination of approved placements for graduates of the Peace Academy with the Assistant Secretary for Domestic Peacebuilding and Community Safety and the Assistant Secretary for International Peacebuilding and Human Security;

(F) commissioning, compiling, publishing, and disseminating research on war, violence, peacebuilding, nonviolent conflict resolution, public health, economic security, education, democratic participation, rule of law, and other conditions affecting peace;

(G) developing metrics to measure progress toward peace, violence prevention, and nonviolent conflict resolution;

(H) promoting voluntary educational observances and public discussions concerning peacebuilding; and

(I) maintaining public access to reports, studies, data, and compiled research developed or supported by the Department.

(2) Assistant Secretary for Domestic Peacebuilding and Community Safety.—The Assistant Secretary for Domestic Peacebuilding and Community Safety shall carry out functions relating to—

(A) prevention and reduction of domestic violence, community violence, hate crimes, gang violence, substance abuse, animal cruelty, suicide, and other forms of interpersonal violence;

(B) violence interruption, civilian community peacekeeping, crisis mitigation, de-escalation training, restorative justice, restorative practices, trauma healing, reentry, and other nonmilitary public safety strategies;

(C) community-based policing practices that reduce targeting and harassment and strengthen de-escalation, transparency, accountability, and police-community relations;

(D) nonviolent resolution of labor disputes, collective bargaining, workplace democracy, and protection against coercion, retaliation, wage theft, predatory debt, and other economic conditions that contribute to domestic conflict;

(E) mediation of local disputes and support for community programs that reduce conflict, build trust across neighborhoods and communities, and promote nonviolent civic participation; and

(F) approved domestic placements for graduates of the Peace Academy.

(3) Assistant Secretary for International Peacebuilding and Human Security.—The Assistant Secretary for International Peacebuilding and Human Security shall carry out functions relating to—

(A) conflict prevention, mediation, civilian protection, nonviolent democratic transitions, election monitoring, humanitarian response, post-conflict reconstruction, and cross-border cooperation;

(B) training and deployment of graduates of the Peace Academy and other nonmilitary conflict prevention and peacebuilding personnel in approved international placements, including support for the creation, training, and coordination of multinational nonviolent peace forces and civilian peacekeeping teams;

(C) national and regional conflict prevention, de-escalation, and peaceful dispute resolution initiatives in nations experiencing social, political, environmental, medical, or economic strife;

(D) strategies to reduce poverty, debt distress, labor exploitation, resource extraction, food insecurity, and other economic conditions that contribute to conflict, displacement, or violence;

(E) efforts to prevent genocide, human trafficking, child labor, slave labor, and other severe abuses; and

(F) coordination, in consultation with the Secretary of State, with the United Nations, international organizations, and appropriate interagency bodies relating to atrocity prevention, civilian protection, humanitarian response, and peacebuilding.

(4) Assistant Secretary for Technology, Media, and Democratic Resilience.—The Assistant Secretary for Technology, Media, and Democratic Resilience shall carry out functions relating to—

(A) the effect of artificial intelligence, mobile technologies, social media, recommendation algorithms, digital advertising systems, drones, data science, and information systems on domestic and international peace;

(B) the role of social media, digital platforms, algorithmic amplification, misinformation, disinformation, fear-inducing content, hate-inducing content, and engagement-based business models in escalating or de-escalating conflict;

(C) policies and best practices to protect civil rights, civil liberties, privacy, free expression, democratic participation, and public safety in the use of technologies affecting peacebuilding; and

(D) research and development of technologies that support peacebuilding, humanitarian response, democratic resilience, conflict prevention, environmental sustainability, and other nonviolent public purposes.

(5) Assistant Secretary for Arms Control and Disarmament.—The Assistant Secretary for Arms Control and Disarmament shall carry out functions relating to—

(A) interagency discussions and international negotiations relating to arms control, disarmament, weapons of mass destruction, nuclear weapons, weaponized drones, and other weapons systems;

(B) policy development, interagency coordination, and support for the implementation of agreements and treaties addressing the reduction and elimination of nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction and the protection of space from militarization;

(C) policy development, interagency coordination, and oversight relating to cleanup and remediation of nuclear contamination at nuclear test sites, nuclear research facilities and laboratories, present and former military installations, Superfund sites, and adjacent lands, waters, and air; and

(D) support for voluntary programs for the safe surrender, purchase, disabling, recycling, destruction, or secure storage of firearms and ammunition, including public education on nonviolent conflict resolution and safe alternatives to firearm possession.

(6) Assistant Secretary for Civic Dignity and Economic Security.—The Assistant Secretary for Civic Dignity and Economic Security shall carry out functions relating to—

(A) civic dignity, economic security, fair labor conditions, democratic participation, access to justice, and protection against exploitation, coercion, deprivation, and violence;

(B) economic analyses of poverty, scarcity, misdistribution of resources, predatory debt, labor exploitation, wage suppression, concentrated economic power, and coercive extraction of income or wealth as sources of conflict and violence;

(C) nonviolent strategies to prevent, reduce, or repair conflict caused by economic insecurity, human displacement, criminalization, vilification, or mistreatment of people seeking safety or economic opportunity;

(D) strategies regarding international assistance, development, peacebuilding, reconstruction funds, labor standards, and the impact of such policies on peace and stability, in consultation with the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Secretary of Labor; and

(E) ensuring that the Department's domestic and international policies account for the relationship between economic security, civic dignity, democratic participation, and peace.

(b) Grants, contracts, and cooperative agreements.—The Secretary may make grants, enter into contracts, and enter into cooperative agreements with Federal agencies, State, Tribal, and local governments, international organizations, institutions of higher education, nonprofit organizations, nongovernmental organizations, labor organizations, mediation organizations, community violence prevention organizations, and other appropriate entities to carry out sections 1313 and 1314, except that civilian international assistance shall be administered in accordance with section 1316.

(c) Coordination.—The Secretary shall coordinate the functions carried out under this section across the Department, including with the BREAD program, and shall prevent unnecessary duplication, fragmentation, or conflict among such functions.

SEC. 1315. ADVISORY, INTERAGENCY, CONSULTATION, AND COLLABORATION FUNCTIONS.

(a) Intergovernmental Advisory Council on Peace.—

(1) Establishment.—There shall be in the Department an advisory committee known as the Intergovernmental Advisory Council on Peace.

(2) Functions.—The Council shall provide assistance and make recommendations to the President and the Secretary concerning intergovernmental policies relating to peace and nonviolent conflict resolution.

(3) Responsibilities.—The Council shall—

(A) provide a forum for representatives of international bodies, the Federal Government, Tribal governments, and State and local governments to discuss practices, traditions, and policies that promote peacebuilding, community safety, and well-being;

(B) promote better intergovernmental relations and offer professional mediation services to prevent or resolve intergovernmental and intragovernmental conflict, including by reducing inflammatory rhetoric and improving communication; and

(C) submit biennially, or more frequently if determined necessary by the Council, a report to the President, the Secretary, and Congress reviewing the impact of Federal peace activities on the Federal Government and on State and local governments.

(4) Membership.—The Council shall be composed of members appointed by the Secretary, including representatives of Federal agencies, State governments, Tribal governments, local governments, and, as appropriate, international bodies, regional organizations, peacebuilding organizations, mediation organizations, labor organizations, community violence prevention organizations, and institutions of higher education.

(b) Federal Interagency Committee on Peace.—

(1) Establishment.—There is established a Federal Interagency Committee on Peace.

(2) Functions.—The Committee shall—

(A) assist the Secretary in ensuring that the procedures and actions of the Department and other Federal agencies are coordinated; and

(B) study and recommend improvements in the coordination of Federal programs, policies, and administrative practices affecting peacebuilding, violence prevention, conflict resolution, public safety, and well-being.

(3) Membership.—The Committee shall be composed of representatives designated by the heads of Federal agencies whose programs, policies, or administrative practices affect peacebuilding, violence prevention, conflict resolution, public safety, education, labor, housing, health, foreign policy, national security, or economic security, including the Department of State, the Department of Defense, the Department of Justice, the Department of Education, the Department of Health and Human Services, the Department of Labor, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Department of the Treasury, and the Department of Homeland Security.

(c) Consultation in cases of conflict and violence prevention.—

(1) In general.—In any case in which a conflict between the United States and any other government or entity is foreseeable, imminent, or occurring, the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State shall consult with the Secretary concerning violence prevention, nonviolent means of conflict resolution, and peacebuilding.

(2) Review and assessment.—In any case in which a conflict described in paragraph (1) is ongoing or recently concluded, the Secretary shall independently review diplomatic and other nonviolent initiatives undertaken by the United States and other parties to the conflict, assess the effectiveness of such initiatives, and recommend improvements.

(3) Consultation process.—The Secretary shall establish a formal and timely process of consultation with the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Defense, and the National Security Council—

(A) before the United States initiates a policy or withdraws resources in a manner that could reasonably be expected to create a substantial risk of armed conflict or other violence involving the United States; and

(B) for any matter involving—

(i) the use of Department of Defense personnel within the United States; or

(ii) the proposed or actual distribution, transfer, sale, or donation of equipment, weapons, vehicles, surveillance tools, or other property of the Department of Defense to Federal, State, Tribal, or local law enforcement entities under any provision of law.

(d) Consultation in drafting treaties and agreements.—The Secretary of State and the head of any other Federal agency participating in the negotiation or drafting of a treaty or peace agreement relating to conflict prevention, peacebuilding, arms control, or post-conflict recovery shall consult with the Secretary regarding peacebuilding, conflict prevention, and implementation matters.

(e) Collaboration.—The Secretary shall collaborate with Federal agencies, relevant experts, nongovernmental and nonprofit organizations, State, Tribal, and local governments, and people and communities materially affected by relevant programs in designing, implementing, and evaluating such programs.

SEC. 1316. BASIC RELIEF, ECONOMIC ASSISTANCE, AND DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM.

(a) In general.—Title 22, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Sec. 10802. Establishment and purpose.

"(a) Establishment.—There is established in the Department a program to be known as the 'Basic Relief, Economic Assistance, and Development program' or the 'BREAD program'.

"(b) Purpose.—The purpose of the BREAD program is to establish a civilian, non-security framework for international assistance that—

"(1) administers civilian international assistance through the Department;

"(2) serves as the successor framework for transferred civilian assistance functions;

"(3) preserves and rebuilds civilian capacity for humanitarian assistance, disaster response, food security, public health, education, reconstruction, development, and nonviolent conflict prevention;

"(4) supports peacebuilding, peacemaking, and nonviolent alternatives to militarized foreign policy;

"(5) strengthens local productive capacity, fair labor conditions, cooperative development, small business development, agricultural resilience, public benefit systems, and nonextractive economic development;

"(6) reduces conditions that contribute to conflict, including poverty, debt distress, predatory lending, labor exploitation, wage suppression, food insecurity, resource extraction, corruption, concentrated economic power, and coercive extraction of income or wealth;

"(7) preserves local agency, supports locally driven solutions, promotes mutual accountability with local, national, and regional civilian partners, and avoids coercive economic or political conditionality;

"(8) provides civilian assistance capacity to support peace and stability partnerships established under section 1326 of the POPULIST Act, the sovereign debt relief, responsible lending, and peacebuilding conference required under section 1365 of such Act, and peace congresses convened under section 1362 of such Act;

"(9) ensures that civilian international assistance is not administered through military, intelligence, covert action, law enforcement, prison, border security, internal security, or security-force channels; and

"(10) requires defined metrics, monitoring of program outputs and policy outcomes, local partner feedback, affected community feedback, learning, and adaptive management.

"(c) Chapter-wide limitation.—No authority under this chapter, and no funds made available to carry out this chapter, may be used for an excluded function.

"Sec. 10803. Administration and coordination.

"(a) Administration by Secretary.—The Secretary shall administer the BREAD program and shall carry out the authorities of the Department under this chapter.

"(b) Lead officer.—The Assistant Secretary for International Peacebuilding and Human Security shall serve as the lead officer of the Department for the BREAD program.

"(c) Departmental consultation.—The Secretary shall consult, as appropriate, with the Assistant Secretaries of the Department on programs relating to economic security, education, training, research, technology, media, democratic resilience, arms control, disarmament, demining, public administration, monitoring, evaluation, and the civilian consequences of conflict.

"(d) Coordination with Secretary of State.—

"(1) In general.—The Secretary shall consult with the Secretary of State in administering the BREAD program.

"(2) Diplomatic coordination.—The Secretary shall coordinate with the Secretary of State and, where applicable, the chief of mission for the relevant country to ensure that assistance under this chapter is consistent with United States diplomatic relations, treaty obligations, and lawful foreign policy commitments.

"(3) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this chapter may be construed to limit the authority of the Secretary of State to conduct diplomacy or the authority of a chief of mission under section 207 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 3927).

"(e) Coordination with civilian Federal agencies.—The Secretary may coordinate with the heads of the Department of the Treasury, the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Commerce, the Department of Education, the Department of Energy, the Department of Health and Human Services, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Department of Labor, and other civilian Federal agencies as appropriate to carry out this chapter.

"(f) Federal Interagency Committee on Peace.—The Secretary may use the Federal Interagency Committee on Peace established under section 1315(b) of the POPULIST Act to coordinate civilian agency participation under this chapter.

"(g) Relationship to other peacebuilding authorities.—The Secretary may use the authorities under this chapter to support—

"(1) peace and stability partnerships under section 1326 of the POPULIST Act;

"(2) technical, research, economic-security, and peacebuilding support for the conference required under section 1365 of such Act; and

"(3) technical, mediation, research, translation, facilitation, logistical, planning, and other civilian support for peace congresses convened under section 1362 of such Act.

"(h) No duplication.—The Secretary shall administer this chapter in a manner that avoids unnecessary duplication of programs carried out under sections 1326, 1365, and 1362 of the POPULIST Act.

"Sec. 10804. Core civilian international assistance authorities.

"(a) Assistance authorities.—The Secretary may provide civilian international assistance through grants, contracts, cooperative agreements, technical assistance, training, research support, field support, public administration support, mediation support, planning support, emergency assistance, in-kind assistance, local procurement, or other civilian assistance mechanisms.

"(b) Eligible recipients.—Assistance under this chapter may be provided to foreign governments, regional organizations, local governments, international organizations, nonprofit organizations, nongovernmental organizations, humanitarian organizations, mediation organizations, labor organizations, cooperatives, educational institutions, health care institutions, public health institutions, community organizations, small business associations, agricultural associations, and other appropriate nonviolent entities.

"(c) Direct local assistance.—To the greatest extent practicable, the Secretary shall make assistance available directly to local partners that have demonstrated capacity to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

"(d) Core program lanes.—The Secretary may carry out programs and activities relating to—

"(1) humanitarian assistance, disaster response, disaster resilience, emergency civilian relief, food security, water, sanitation, shelter, energy, communications, transportation, and other essential civilian infrastructure;

"(2) health care, public health, disability services, trauma recovery, mental health services, education, vocational training, workforce development, and public administration;

"(3) anti-corruption systems, public accountability, transparent budgeting, procurement integrity, independent auditing, public records, competition policy, anti-monopoly enforcement, and accountable public institutions;

"(4) labor standards, workplace democracy, cooperatives, small business development, agricultural resilience, local ownership, local productive capacity, and nonextractive economic development;

"(5) debt-distress response, public banking, monetary reform, nonextractive finance, household financial stability, public benefit systems, and transparent stewardship of land, water, forests, minerals, ports, infrastructure, and other essential resources;

"(6) post-conflict reconstruction, restoration of public services, repair of civilian infrastructure, humanitarian access, displacement response, safe return or resettlement of displaced people, family reunification, and local economic recovery;

"(7) civilian protection, unarmed civilian peacekeeping, conflict analysis, early warning, early action, mediation, de-escalation, reconciliation, and nonviolent conflict prevention; and

"(8) other civilian, non-security assistance consistent with the purposes of this chapter.

"(e) Field capacity.—The Secretary may establish, maintain, deploy, or support civilian field offices, field teams, technical experts, emergency response personnel, local partner support systems, conflict analysis capacity, monitoring and evaluation capacity, and adaptive-management capacity as necessary to carry out this chapter.

"(f) No entitlement.—Nothing in this chapter may be construed to create an entitlement to assistance for any foreign government, organization, entity, or person.

"Sec. 10805. Local agency and noncoercion.

"(a) Local agency.—Assistance under this chapter shall be designed and administered, to the greatest extent practicable—

"(1) in consultation with affected communities and local partners;

"(2) in a manner that preserves local agency, supports practical capacity, strengthens civilian systems, and accounts for local conflict dynamics; and

"(3) avoids coercive economic or political conditionality.

"(b) Prohibited conditions.—Assistance under this chapter may not be conditioned on—

"(1) privatization of public assets;

"(2) austerity measures;

"(3) increased charges for basic public services;

"(4) reductions in essential public employment;

"(5) elimination of labor protections;

"(6) preferential treatment for United States corporations; or

"(7) adoption of a constitution, electoral system, central banking structure, public finance system, industrial policy, trade policy, resource-governance system, or development model designed by the United States.

"(c) Needs-based assistance.—Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit assistance from being targeted on the basis of need, exposure to harm, displacement, disability, age, medical condition, disaster impact, food insecurity, poverty, direct effect of conflict, or other measure of vulnerability or need.

"(d) Technical assistance.—Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit the Department from offering technical assistance, research, model policies, comparative analysis, or administrative support at the request of a participating partner or recipient.

"(e) Local procurement and local capacity.—To the greatest extent practicable, the Secretary shall administer assistance under this chapter in a manner that supports local procurement, local employment, local productive capacity, cooperative development, small business development, public administration, and long-term civilian capacity.

"(f) Nonextraction rule.—Assistance under this chapter shall not be used to facilitate predatory lending, coercive extraction of income or wealth, forced displacement, exploitative resource extraction, or the transfer of public assets to private or foreign control as a condition of assistance.

"Sec. 10806. Continuity of life-saving assistance.

"(a) Continuity required.—The Secretary shall carry out this chapter in a manner that, to the greatest extent practicable, prevents interruption of life-saving humanitarian assistance, disaster response, food assistance, public health assistance, medical assistance, water and sanitation assistance, shelter assistance, and other essential civilian assistance.

"(b) Transition continuity.—During the transfer of functions under section 10831, the Secretary, the Secretary of State, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, and the head of any Federal agency from which a function is transferred shall take all lawful steps necessary to preserve continuity of assistance described in subsection (a).

"(c) No blanket pause.—No officer or employee of the United States may impose a blanket pause, freeze, suspension, or termination of assistance described in subsection (a) except pursuant to an Act of Congress or a written determination by the Secretary that the pause, freeze, suspension, or termination is necessary to comply with law, prevent imminent misuse of funds, protect human life, or address a specific and substantial risk of fraud, corruption, diversion, violence, or coercion.

"(d) Case-specific action preserved.—Nothing in subsection (c) may be construed to prohibit the Secretary from suspending, redirecting, or terminating a specific award, program, activity, shipment, payment, or partner relationship if the Secretary determines that such action is necessary to comply with law, prevent misuse of funds, protect human life, respond to changed conditions, or carry out the purposes of this chapter.

"(e) Written justification.—A determination under subsection (c) or (d) shall be in writing and shall identify the legal, factual, and programmatic basis for the action, except that the Secretary may withhold from public disclosure information that would endanger a person, compromise humanitarian operations, disclose protected personal information, or reveal law enforcement-sensitive, procurement-sensitive, or security-sensitive information.

"(f) Congressional notice.—Not later than 7 days after making a determination under subsection (c), the Secretary shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a notice describing the determination, the assistance affected, the expected duration of the pause, freeze, suspension, or termination, and the steps being taken to mitigate harm to recipients and affected communities.

"(g) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section may be construed to require the continuation of assistance that is unlawful, impossible to administer, materially diverted, or being used to support violence, repression, corruption, coercion, exploitation, or severe labor abuses.

"Sec. 10807. Oversight, transparency, and congressional notification.

"(a) Oversight system.—The Secretary shall establish and maintain an oversight system for the BREAD program to ensure that assistance under this chapter is used for the purposes for which such assistance is provided.

"(b) Elements.—The oversight system required under subsection (a) shall include—

"(1) transparent accounting of funds obligated and expended under this chapter;

"(2) anti-corruption, conflict-of-interest, ethics, and revolving-door controls and protections for whistleblowers and other persons who report misconduct;

"(3) procurement integrity rules, including competition requirements, written justification and approval for sole-source or other noncompetitive awards, and heightened review of awards that receive fewer than 2 responsive bids;

"(4) beneficial ownership, subcontract, and subaward transparency requirements, including identification, to the greatest extent practicable, of pass-through layers, fees, overhead, indirect costs, and amounts retained by intermediaries, subject to appropriate protections for safety, privacy, and humanitarian operations;

"(5) partner and subaward vetting, sanctions screening, and diversion-risk review procedures, with safeguards to prevent such procedures from blocking lawful life-saving humanitarian assistance;

"(6) independent monitoring and evaluation, where practicable, including evaluation of program outputs, policy outcomes, and unintended effects;

"(7) field monitoring; local partner and affected-community feedback and complaint mechanisms; and conflict sensitivity review procedures to assess whether assistance may reinforce corruption, coercion, exploitation, exclusion, violence, or conflict dynamics;

"(8) procedures to modify, redesign, redirect, suspend, or terminate programs that are not producing measurable progress or are causing material harm, and to suspend, terminate, or recover funds that are stolen, diverted, materially misused, or used in a manner inconsistent with this chapter;

"(9) procedures for preserving records, award files, monitoring reports, partner information, and program data during any reorganization, transition, suspension, or termination of assistance; and

"(10) procedures for emergency action when delay would threaten human life, humanitarian access, or the integrity of funds.

"(c) Inspector General.—The Inspector General of the Department shall conduct, supervise, and coordinate audits and investigations of programs and activities carried out under this chapter.

"(d) Audit plan.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this chapter, the Inspector General of the Department shall submit to the Secretary and the appropriate congressional committees an audit and oversight plan for programs and activities carried out under this chapter.

"(e) Public database.—The Secretary shall establish and maintain a public, searchable database of grants, contracts, cooperative agreements, and other awards made under this chapter.

"(f) Contents of database.—The database required under subsection (e) shall include, for each award, to the greatest extent practicable—

"(1) the recipient, amount obligated, amount disbursed, country, region, program area, purpose, and period of performance;

"(2) major subawards, subcontractors, and pass-through layers between the Department and the ultimate implementing partner or local partner;

"(3) whether the award was made through full and open competition, limited competition, sole-source award, emergency award, or another noncompetitive procedure;

"(4) a written justification for any sole-source award, emergency award, or other noncompetitive award;

"(5) beneficial ownership information for major contractors, grantees, and implementing partners, subject to subsection (g);

"(6) fees, overhead, indirect costs, and amounts retained by intermediaries, to the extent practicable;

"(7) whether the award is made directly to a local partner;

"(8) any suspension, termination, or material modification of the award; and

"(9) such additional information as the Secretary determines appropriate to promote transparency and accountability.

"(g) Protection of sensitive information.—The Secretary may withhold from the database required under subsection (e) information that would endanger a person, compromise humanitarian operations, disclose protected personal information, reveal procurement-sensitive information, or materially increase the risk of violence, coercion, retaliation, corruption, or diversion.

"(h) Congressional notification for major organizational actions.—Not later than 30 days before carrying out a major reorganization, mass termination of awards, closure of a field office, transfer of a major function, elimination of a major program lane, or other material restructuring of the BREAD program, the Secretary shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a written notice describing the proposed action, the legal basis for the action, the funds and programs affected, the expected effect on life-saving assistance, and the steps planned to preserve continuity of assistance.

"(i) Emergency exception.—If the Secretary determines that an action described in subsection (h) must be carried out before the end of the 30-day period to comply with law, protect human life, prevent imminent misuse of funds, or respond to a specific and substantial risk of fraud, corruption, diversion, violence, or coercion, the Secretary may carry out the action after submitting the notice required under subsection (h).

"(j) Annual report.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this chapter, and annually thereafter, the Secretary shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees and make publicly available a report on programs and activities carried out under this chapter.

"(k) Contents.—Each report required under subsection (j) shall include—

"(1) a description of programs and activities carried out under this chapter, including the countries and regions served, the amount and form of assistance provided, the categories of recipients receiving assistance, the civilian systems supported, and the Federal agencies involved;

"(2) the metrics used to evaluate program outputs and policy outcomes;

"(3) significant findings from monitoring, evaluation, affected-community feedback, local partner feedback, and conflict sensitivity reviews;

"(4) programmatic course corrections made based on changed conditions, failure to produce measurable progress, feedback, conflict sensitivity review, misuse, diversion, corruption, coercion, exploitation, or severe labor abuses;

"(5) the share of assistance provided directly to local partners and the share provided through intermediaries;

"(6) the number and value of sole-source awards, emergency awards, other noncompetitive awards, and awards that received fewer than 2 responsive bids;

"(7) the concentration of awards among major contractors, grantees, implementing partners, and intermediaries;

"(8) available information on pass-through layers, fees, overhead, indirect costs, and amounts retained by intermediaries;

"(9) any known material misuse, diversion, corruption, coercion, obstruction, severe labor abuse, major suspension, redirection, termination, or recovery of assistance under this chapter;

"(10) a description of how assistance under this chapter supported peacebuilding, humanitarian response, disaster response, food security, health care, education, economic security, reconstruction, development, and nonviolent conflict prevention; and

"(11) recommendations for legislation or administrative action to improve the BREAD program.

"Sec. 10808. BREAD Fund.

"(a) Establishment.—There is established in the Treasury a fund to be known as the 'BREAD Fund'.

"(b) Use of Fund.—Amounts in the Fund shall be available to the Secretary to carry out this chapter.

"(c) Peace dividend appropriation.—There is appropriated to the Fund, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, $50,000,000,000 for fiscal year 2027, to remain available through September 30, 2029.

"(d) Intent of Congress.—It is the intent of Congress that the appropriation under subsection (c) be treated as a peace dividend from reductions in national defense budget function 050 under section 1342 of the POPULIST Act.

"(e) Availability.—Amounts in the Fund shall remain available only for civilian international assistance and may not be transferred to, administered by, or used by the Department of Defense, any element of the intelligence community, or any military, paramilitary, police, prison, intelligence, border-security, internal security, or coercive-security entity.

"(f) Supplement not supplant.—Amounts appropriated under subsection (c) shall supplement and not supplant amounts otherwise made available for assistance described in section 10806(a).

"Sec. 10809. Authorization of appropriations and budget account.

"(a) Authorization of appropriations.—In addition to amounts appropriated under section 10808(c), there are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for each fiscal year after fiscal year 2027 to carry out this chapter.

"(b) Separate budget account.—For each fiscal year beginning after fiscal year 2027, the President shall include in the budget submitted under section 1105 of title 31, United States Code, a separate account for Basic Relief, Economic Assistance, and Development.

"(c) Annual justification.—The budget materials submitted for the account required under subsection (b) shall include a detailed justification of amounts requested for—

"(1) humanitarian assistance and disaster response;

"(2) food security, water, sanitation, public health, medical assistance, shelter, and other essential civilian assistance;

"(3) reconstruction, development, local productive capacity, labor standards, cooperatives, small business development, agricultural resilience, and nonextractive economic development;

"(4) peacebuilding, peacemaking, mediation, civilian protection, unarmed civilian peacekeeping, and nonviolent conflict prevention;

"(5) oversight, auditing, monitoring, evaluation, transparency, and anti-corruption controls;

"(6) field capacity, local partner support systems, technical expertise, and administrative capacity; and

"(7) support for peace and stability partnerships under section 1326 of the POPULIST Act, the sovereign debt relief, responsible lending, and peacebuilding conference required under section 1365 of such Act, and peace congresses convened under section 1362 of such Act.

"(d) Limitation on reprogramming.—No funds made available to carry out this chapter may be reprogrammed for a purpose outside the scope of this chapter.

"SUBCHAPTER II—TRANSITION

"PART A—REORGANIZATION PLAN

"SEC. 10821. Reorganization plan.

"SEC. 10822. Transitional leadership and continued administration.

"Part A—Reorganization plan

"Sec. 10821. Reorganization plan.

"(a) Submission.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this chapter, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees and make publicly available a reorganization plan for carrying out this chapter.

"(b) Preparation.—The President shall prepare the reorganization plan required under subsection (a) acting through the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of State, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, and the heads of affected Federal agencies.

"(c) Contents.—The reorganization plan required under subsection (a) shall—

"(1) identify the civilian international assistance functions, authorities, personnel, accounts, appropriations, allocations, contracts, grants, cooperative agreements, interagency agreements, records, property, facilities, assets, liabilities, unobligated balances, and other resources of any USAID legacy authority that are to be transferred to the Department under this subchapter;

"(2) identify the steps necessary to separate transferred civilian assistance functions from excluded functions described in section 10832;

"(3) specify the proposed allocation and disposition of funds, property, facilities, contracts, grants, cooperative agreements, interagency agreements, records, assets, liabilities, personnel, and positions affected by the transfer;

"(4) provide a schedule for completing the reorganization, transfer of functions, transfer and allocation of appropriations, personnel transition, regulatory transition, and other administrative actions required under this subchapter;

"(5) describe the administrative, regulatory, contractual, grant management, procurement, oversight, information technology, financial management, human resources, field capacity, personnel safety, facility security, information security, and operational security actions necessary to implement this chapter;

"(6) describe the steps necessary to preserve continuity of life-saving assistance during the transition;

"(7) identify statutory, appropriations, and regulatory references requiring revision, transfer, redesignation, repeal, replacement, or conforming amendment to carry out this chapter;

"(8) describe the steps necessary to preserve technical expertise, local partner relationships, institutional knowledge, award files, monitoring records, program data, field offices, field personnel, conflict-analysis capacity, monitoring and evaluation capacity, adaptive-management capacity, procurement integrity capacity, diversion-risk review capacity, and local partner support systems;

"(9) describe the steps necessary to coordinate transferred civilian assistance functions with the Department of State, chiefs of mission, the Department of the Treasury, and other civilian Federal agencies;

"(10) describe the steps necessary to establish the systems required under section 10807;

"(11) identify duplicative awards, overlapping intermediaries, redundant field structures, unnecessary pass-through layers, and other administrative structures that may be consolidated without disrupting life-saving assistance, local partner relationships, or affected-community access;

"(12) include recommendations for technical and conforming amendments to chapter 32, chapter 74, the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, annual appropriations Acts, and any other provision of law necessary to carry out this chapter; and

"(13) include recommendations for additional legislation or appropriations necessary to carry out this chapter.

"(d) No delay.—The submission, completion, or implementation of the reorganization plan required under subsection (a) shall not limit, delay, or condition the transfer of functions required under section 10831.

"(e) Updates.—The President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees and make publicly available an updated reorganization plan not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this chapter and annually thereafter until the President certifies that the transition required under this subchapter is complete.

"Sec. 10822. Transitional leadership and continued administration.

"(a) Acting Secretary.—During the transition period and pending the appointment and qualification of the Secretary, the President may designate an officer of the United States whose appointment was made by and with the advice and consent of the Senate to act as Secretary.

"(b) Continued administration by predecessor officials.—Until the operational transfer of a transferred civilian assistance function is completed under the schedule required by section 10821(c)(4), the officer, office, agency, or other USAID legacy authority that administered the function immediately before the date of enactment of this chapter shall continue to administer the function on behalf of the Department, using the personnel, information systems, records, accounts, delegations, contracts, grants, cooperative agreements, facilities, and administrative procedures available immediately before such date, subject to the direction of the Secretary or Acting Secretary.

"(c) Legal effect.—An action taken under subsection (b) shall be deemed an action of the Department and shall have the same legal force and effect as an action taken directly by the Secretary.

"(d) No delay in legal transfer.—Continued administration under subsection (b) shall not delay or otherwise affect the legal transfer of a function under section 10831.

"(e) Continuity and limitations.—An official administering a function under subsection (b)—

"(1) shall preserve continuity of life-saving assistance and existing awards to the greatest extent practicable;

"(2) may exercise only authority relating to the transferred civilian assistance function; and

"(3) may not administer, fund, or carry out an excluded function described in section 10832.

"(f) Completion.—The operational transfer of each transferred civilian assistance function shall be completed as soon as practicable and not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this chapter.

"(g) Definition.—In this section, the term 'transition period' means the 1-year period beginning on the date of enactment of this chapter.

"PART B—REORGANIZATION AUTHORITY

"SEC. 10831. Transfer of civilian international assistance functions.

"SEC. 10832. Excluded functions.

"SEC. 10833. Transfer and allocation of appropriations.

"SEC. 10834. Transfer, appointment, and assignment of personnel.

"SEC. 10835. Incidental transfers.

"SEC. 10836. Savings provisions.

"SEC. 10837. Regulatory transition and references.

"SEC. 10838. Implementation report, completion report, and conforming amendments.

"Part B—Reorganization authority

"Sec. 10831. Transfer of civilian international assistance functions.

"(a) Transfer.—Except as provided in section 10832 and notwithstanding chapter 74 or any other provision of law, there are transferred to the Department, for administration through the BREAD program, all functions, authorities, personnel, assets, liabilities, contracts, grants, cooperative agreements, interagency agreements, records, property, facilities, unobligated balances of appropriations, allocations, and other resources of any USAID legacy authority that relate primarily to civilian international assistance.

"(b) Sources of authority.—The transfer under subsection (a) applies to functions, authorities, and resources described in such subsection without regard to whether such functions, authorities, or resources arise under statute, reorganization plan, executive order, delegation, regulation, appropriation, grant, contract, cooperative agreement, interagency agreement, memorandum of understanding, or administrative practice.

"(c) Successor authority.—With respect to a transferred civilian assistance function, the Department shall be the successor agency, and the Secretary shall be the successor officer, to the applicable USAID legacy authority.

"(d) Mixed functions.—If a function, office, account, award, contract, grant, cooperative agreement, interagency agreement, record, property, facility, asset, liability, or administrative action relates partly to civilian international assistance and partly to an excluded function described in section 10832, only the portion that relates to civilian international assistance shall be transferred to the Department under this section.

"(e) No delay.—The transfer required under subsection (a) shall take effect on the date of enactment of this chapter and shall not be limited, delayed, or conditioned on the completion, submission, or implementation of the reorganization plan required under section 10821. The operational transfer of personnel, information systems, records, contracts, grants, cooperative agreements, property, facilities, and other administrative resources may be carried out in accordance with the schedule required under section 10821(c)(4) to the extent necessary to preserve continuity of assistance and comply with law.

"(f) Allocation within Department.—Subject to the requirements of this chapter, the Secretary may allocate or reallocate a transferred civilian assistance function within the BREAD program or among organizational entities of the Department that administer or support the BREAD program, and may establish, consolidate, alter, or discontinue such organizational entities as necessary to carry out this chapter.

"(g) Limitation.—Subsection (f) does not authorize the Secretary to modify the terms of any statute that establishes or defines the functions of an office or officer of the Department, except to the extent expressly provided in this chapter.

"Sec. 10832. Excluded functions.

"(a) Excluded functions.—The following functions are excluded from transfer to, administration by, or funding through the BREAD program:

"(1) Weapons transfers.

"(2) Foreign military financing.

"(3) Foreign military sales.

"(4) Security-force assistance.

"(5) Military training, equipping, advising, logistics, intelligence support, operational support, or maintenance support.

"(6) Police, prison, border-security, internal security, paramilitary, or intelligence training, equipping, advising, logistics, operational support, or maintenance support.

"(7) Intelligence activities.

"(8) Covert action.

"(9) Regime-change operations.

"(10) Military occupation.

"(11) Construction, operation, or support of military, paramilitary, police, prison, intelligence, border-security, or internal security facilities.

"(12) Assistance to any unit of a military, paramilitary, police, prison, intelligence, border-security, or internal security force that has committed an atrocity crime, as defined in section 1337 of the POPULIST Act, or a serious violation of international humanitarian law.

"(13) Any other military, paramilitary, police, prison, intelligence, border-security, internal security, or coercive-security function.

"(b) No Department of Defense administration.—No function, program, account, grant, contract, cooperative agreement, or other activity carried out under this chapter may be transferred to, administered by, or carried out through the Department of Defense.

"(c) No intelligence or covert-action administration.—No function, program, account, grant, contract, cooperative agreement, or other activity carried out under this chapter may be transferred to, administered by, or carried out through any element of the intelligence community.

"(d) Civilian savings rule.—A function shall not be excluded under this section solely because civilian personnel, civilian contractors, humanitarian organizations, development organizations, or local partners operate in a country or region affected by armed conflict, political instability, disaster, famine, displacement, or public health emergency.

"(e) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this chapter may be construed to authorize the use of military force, covert action, intelligence activities, weapons transfers, security-force assistance, law enforcement assistance, prison assistance, border-security assistance, or internal security assistance.

"Sec. 10833. Transfer and allocation of appropriations.

"(a) Transfer.—Except as provided in section 10832, the assets, liabilities, contracts, grants, cooperative agreements, interagency agreements, property, facilities, records, and unexpended balances of appropriations, authorizations, allocations, and other funds employed, held, used, arising from, available to, or to be made available in connection with a transferred civilian assistance function shall be transferred to the Department for appropriate allocation by the Secretary.

"(b) Use of transferred funds.—Except as provided in subsection (c), funds transferred under subsection (a) shall be used only for the purposes for which the funds were originally authorized and appropriated.

"(c) Transition use.—

"(1) In general.—Funds transferred under subsection (a) may be used for the purposes of reorganization, transfer, integration, continuity of assistance, oversight, field capacity preservation, regulatory transition, personnel transition, grant administration, contract administration, and other administrative actions necessary to carry out this chapter, if the Secretary submits notice to the appropriate congressional committees not later than 15 days before the obligation or expenditure of such funds, in the same manner as notice of a reprogramming of funds under section 34 of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (22 U.S.C. 2706).

"(2) Exception.—The Secretary may waive the 15-day advance notice requirement under this subsection if the Secretary determines that delay would pose a substantial risk to human health or welfare, except that the Secretary shall submit notice as soon as practicable and not later than 3 days after taking the action to which the notice requirement applies.

"(d) Period of availability.—Funds transferred under subsection (a) shall retain the period of availability applicable to such funds on the day before transfer, unless otherwise provided by law.

"(e) Limitation.—No funds transferred under subsection (a), and no funds made available to carry out this chapter, may be used for any function excluded under section 10832.

"(f) No diversion from life-saving assistance.—The Secretary shall allocate transferred funds in a manner that, to the greatest extent practicable, prevents interruption of assistance described in section 10806(a).

"Sec. 10834. Transfer, appointment, and assignment of personnel.

"(a) Transfer of personnel.—Except as provided in section 10832, personnel and positions of any USAID legacy authority that perform, administer, support, oversee, or are associated with a transferred civilian assistance function shall be transferred to the Department in accordance with the schedule required under section 10821(c)(4), provided that such transfer shall begin as soon as practicable and shall be completed not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this chapter.

"(b) Status preserved.—Personnel transferred under subsection (a) shall be transferred at the same grade or class, rate of basic pay or basic salary rate, and tenure held immediately before transfer.

"(c) Assignment authority.—For a period of not more than 1 year after the date on which the affected personnel are transferred under subsection (a), the Secretary may assign personnel transferred under subsection (a) to any position or set of duties in the Department necessary to carry out this chapter, except that such assignment may not reduce the grade or class, rate of basic pay or basic salary rate, or tenure of such personnel.

"(d) Consultation with employee representatives.—The Secretary shall consult with the relevant exclusive representatives, as defined in section 1002 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 4102) and section 7103 of title 5, with respect to the exercise of authority under this section.

"(e) Presidential appointment limitation.—Nothing in this section authorizes the Secretary to assign any individual to any position that by law requires appointment by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

"(f) No transfer of excluded personnel.—Personnel and positions that perform, administer, support, oversee, or are associated primarily with an excluded function described in section 10832 shall not be transferred to the Department under this section.

"(g) Superseding authority.—This section shall apply notwithstanding any other provision of law, except that nothing in this section may be construed to limit any greater protection provided to an employee under any other provision of law.

"(h) Foreign Service personnel system.—For purposes of section 202(b)(2) of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 3922(b)(2)), the Secretary is authorized to utilize the Foreign Service personnel system with respect to personnel and positions transferred under this section. The Secretary shall exercise that authority subject to sections 201(b) and 207 of such Act (22 U.S.C. 3921(b) and 3927).

"Sec. 10835. Incidental transfers.

"(a) Incidental dispositions.—The Director of the Office of Management and Budget, when requested by the Secretary, is authorized to make such incidental dispositions of personnel, assets, liabilities, grants, contracts, cooperative agreements, interagency agreements, property, facilities, records, and unexpended balances of appropriations, authorizations, allocations, and other funds held, used, arising from, available to, or to be made available in connection with a transferred civilian assistance function as may be necessary to carry out this chapter.

"(b) Consultation.—The Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall carry out subsection (a) in consultation with the Secretary, the Secretary of State, and the head of any affected Federal agency.

"(c) Excluded functions.—No incidental disposition under this section may transfer to the Department any function, personnel, asset, liability, grant, contract, cooperative agreement, interagency agreement, property, facility, record, appropriation, allocation, or other resource that relates primarily to a function excluded under section 10832.

"Sec. 10836. Savings provisions.

"(a) Existing rights, duties, and obligations.—Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the transfer of a function under section 10831 shall not affect the validity of any right, duty, obligation, penalty, claim, contract, grant, cooperative agreement, interagency agreement, proceeding, administrative action, or other legal effect existing before the transfer.

"(b) Existing legal instruments.—A contract, grant, cooperative agreement, interagency agreement, memorandum of understanding, permit, license, certificate, approval, or other legal instrument relating to a transferred civilian assistance function and in effect on the day before the transfer shall continue in effect according to its terms until modified, replaced, terminated, or superseded by the Secretary in accordance with law.

"(c) Existing administrative actions.—A rule, regulation, order, determination, directive, delegation, guidance, policy, approval, authorization, or other administrative action relating to a transferred civilian assistance function and in effect on the day before the transfer shall continue in effect until modified, replaced, terminated, or superseded by the Secretary in accordance with law.

"(d) Pending proceedings.—A proceeding, application, request, investigation, audit, claim, enforcement action, personnel action, procurement matter, grant matter, or other administrative matter relating to a transferred civilian assistance function and pending on the date of transfer shall continue before the Department unless the Secretary determines that transfer, consolidation, dismissal, or other disposition is necessary to carry out this chapter and is consistent with law.

"(e) Judicial proceedings.—Nothing in this chapter may be construed to abate, discontinue, or otherwise affect a civil action, criminal action, petition for review, appeal, or other judicial proceeding pending on the date of transfer under section 10831.

"(f) Substitution of parties.—If, before the transfer of a function under section 10831, an officer or agency from which a transferred civilian assistance function is transferred is a party to a judicial or administrative proceeding in an official capacity, the Secretary or the Department, as appropriate, shall be substituted or added as a party with respect to the transferred civilian assistance function.

"(g) Orders and appeals.—An order issued, appeal taken, or judgment rendered with respect to a transferred civilian assistance function before the date of transfer shall continue in effect and shall be subject to further proceedings, review, or enforcement by or against the Department or the Secretary, as appropriate.

"(h) No impairment of claims.—Nothing in this chapter may be construed to impair a claim or remedy that existed before the transfer of a function under section 10831.

"(i) Excluded functions.—This section does not preserve, continue, transfer, or validate any use of funds, function, program, activity, legal instrument, administrative action, or proceeding in a manner that would violate section 10832.

"Sec. 10837. Regulatory transition and references.

"(a) Regulatory transition.—Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, a regulation in chapter II of title 22, Code of Federal Regulations, or any other regulation relating to a transferred civilian assistance function, shall continue in effect until modified, replaced, redesignated, repealed, or superseded by the Secretary in accordance with law.

"(b) Conforming regulations.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this chapter, the Secretary shall issue such regulations, rules, directives, delegations, and guidance as are necessary to conform regulations and administrative materials to this chapter.

"(c) Regulatory transition table.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this chapter, the Secretary shall publish a regulatory transition table identifying—

"(1) each part of chapter II of title 22, Code of Federal Regulations, that relates to a transferred civilian assistance function;

"(2) each part of chapter II of title 22, Code of Federal Regulations, that relates primarily to an excluded function described in section 10832;

"(3) each part, subpart, section, or provision of chapter II of title 22, Code of Federal Regulations, that requires revision, redesignation, repeal, replacement, or transfer to carry out this chapter; and

"(4) the planned disposition of each regulation identified under this subsection.

"(d) References to USAID legacy authority.—With respect to a transferred civilian assistance function, a reference in any statute, reorganization plan, executive order, regulation, rule, order, determination, directive, delegation, guidance, policy, permit, license, certificate, approval, contract, grant, cooperative agreement, interagency agreement, memorandum of understanding, appropriation, report, or other legal or administrative instrument to a USAID legacy authority shall be deemed to refer to the Department or the Secretary, as appropriate.

"(e) References to excluded functions.—Subsection (d) shall not apply to a reference that relates primarily to a function excluded under section 10832.

"(f) References to Department of State authority preserved.—Nothing in this section may be construed to transfer to the Department a diplomatic function of the Department of State, the authority of the Secretary of State to conduct diplomacy, or the authority of a chief of mission under section 207 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 3927).

"(g) No delay.—The continuation of regulations under subsection (a), the issuance of conforming regulations under subsection (b), the publication of the regulatory transition table under subsection (c), or the operation of the reference rule under subsection (d) shall not limit, delay, or condition the transfer of functions required under section 10831.

"Sec. 10838. Implementation report, completion report, and conforming amendments.

"(a) Implementation report.—Not later than 3 years after the date of enactment of this chapter, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees and make publicly available an implementation report on the transition required under this subchapter.

"(b) Contents of implementation report.—The implementation report required under subsection (a) shall include—

"(1) a description of each function transferred to the Department under section 10831 and each function reviewed but not transferred because the function was excluded under section 10832 or otherwise determined not to relate primarily to civilian international assistance;

"(2) an accounting of appropriations, allocations, personnel, assets, liabilities, grants, contracts, cooperative agreements, interagency agreements, records, property, facilities, regulations, administrative materials, and legal references affected by the transition;

"(3) a description of actions taken to preserve continuity of life-saving assistance, separate civilian assistance functions from excluded functions, and preserve technical expertise, local partner relationships, institutional knowledge, field capacity, award files, monitoring records, and program data;

"(4) a description of actions taken to establish the systems required under section 10807;

"(5) a description of actions taken to identify and reduce duplicative awards, overlapping intermediaries, redundant field structures, unnecessary pass-through layers, contractor concentration, and other administrative structures that may increase cost, reduce transparency, or weaken local agency;

"(6) an assessment of whether additional administrative action is necessary to complete the transition required under this subchapter;

"(7) an assessment of whether additional appropriations are necessary to carry out this chapter; and

"(8) recommendations for legislation necessary to complete the transition required under this subchapter.

"(c) Completion certification.—Upon completing the transition required under this subchapter, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees and make publicly available a certification that the transition is complete.

"(d) Completion report.—Not later than 90 days after submitting the certification required under subsection (c), the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees and make publicly available a completion report describing the final disposition of functions, personnel, appropriations, allocations, assets, liabilities, grants, contracts, cooperative agreements, interagency agreements, records, property, facilities, regulations, administrative materials, and legal references affected by the transition required under this subchapter.

"(e) Conforming amendments report.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this chapter, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees proposed legislation containing technical and conforming amendments necessary to carry out this chapter.

"(f) Contents of conforming amendments report.—The proposed legislation required under subsection (e) shall include amendments to—

"(1) chapter 32 of this title;

"(2) chapter 74 of this title;

"(3) the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961;

"(4) annual appropriations Acts;

"(5) provisions of law referring to a USAID legacy authority with respect to civilian international assistance; and

"(6) any other provision of law necessary to carry out this chapter.

"(g) No delay.—The submission, consideration, or enactment of legislation described in subsection (e) shall not limit, delay, or condition the transfer of functions required under section 10831.

"(h) Continuing updates.—If the President determines that additional conforming amendments are necessary after submitting the proposed legislation required under subsection (e), the President shall submit supplemental proposed legislation to the appropriate congressional committees.".

(b) Clerical amendment.—The table of chapters for title 22, United States Code, is amended by inserting after the item relating to chapter 114 the following:

"115. Basic Relief, Economic Assistance, and Development.....10801".

SEC. 1317. LEGISLATIVE RECOMMENDATIONS AND APPROPRIATIONS.

(a) Legislative recommendations.—Not later than 1 year after the date on which the first Secretary is appointed, the Secretary shall prepare and submit to Congress proposed legislation containing any necessary and appropriate amendments to the laws of the United States to carry out the purposes of this subtitle.

(b) Peacebuilding Fund.—

(1) Establishment.—There is established in the Treasury a fund to be known as the Peacebuilding Fund.

(2) Peace dividend appropriation.—There is appropriated to the Peacebuilding Fund, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, $20,000,000,000 for fiscal year 2027, to remain available through September 30, 2029.

(3) Intent of Congress.—It is the intent of Congress that the appropriation under paragraph (2) be treated as a peace dividend from reductions in national defense budget function 050 under section 1342.

(4) Use of funds.—Amounts in the Peacebuilding Fund shall be available to the Secretary to carry out sections 1312 through 1315, including the Peace Academy established under section 1313(g), and may not be used to carry out section 1316.

(5) Spending plan.—

(A) Initial plan.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to Congress and make publicly available an initial spending plan for amounts in the Peacebuilding Fund, including the planned use of such amounts during fiscal year 2027.

(B) Annual plans.—Not later than 30 days before the beginning of each fiscal year after fiscal year 2027 for which amounts in the Peacebuilding Fund remain available, the Secretary shall submit to Congress and make publicly available an annual spending plan for such fiscal year.

(C) Contents.—Each spending plan required under this paragraph shall describe planned allocations by office and program, amounts for personnel and administration, amounts for grants, contracts, and cooperative agreements, the expected schedule of obligations, and the intended outcomes of the planned expenditures.

(c) Authorization of appropriations.—In addition to amounts appropriated under subsection (b), there are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for each fiscal year to carry out sections 1312 through 1315.

Subtitle B—The Nuclear Overproduction Being Eliminated, Landmine Prohibition, Easing of Armed Conflict, Elevating Peace, Restraining Intervention, and Zero Escalation Act

PART I—FELLOWSHIP AMONG NATIONS

Subpart A—Diplomacy and Peaceful Economic Relations

SEC. 1321. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Alfred Nobel's will identified three essential components for striving toward peace. The first of these was "fellowship between nations."

(2) As a major actor on the world stage, the United States has an opportunity and duty to lead by example in promoting fellowship among nations through diplomacy, peaceful economic relations, and restraint with respect to weaponry.

(3) Fellowship among nations begins with recognition of equal human dignity and the understanding that longstanding hostility between governments need not become permanent hostility between peoples.

(4) Broad unilateral economic sanctions operate as collective punishment by depriving ordinary people, disproportionately the weakest and most vulnerable members of society, of the necessities for a dignified life. Such collective punishment rarely changes the conduct of those responsible for the underlying dispute. A commitment to fellowship among nations must minimize the use of deprivation as an instrument of policy.

(5) The United States can promote fellowship among nations by leading efforts to avoid a new arms race in the 21st century and exercising restraint with respect to weaponry. Human dignity is diminished by the deployment of weapons that inflict indiscriminate or enduring civilian harm or delegate decisions to use lethal force to machines rather than accountable human beings.

(6) Fellowship among nations must not become indifference to injustice. Nations are communities of people, and respect for nations requires respect for the dignity and safety of the people who compose them and noncooperation with governments responsible for atrocity crimes.

(b) Purpose.—The purposes of this part are—

(1) to promote peaceful and mutually beneficial relations among nations through diplomacy, economic cooperation, restraint in the use of unilateral economic sanctions, weapons restraint, civilian protection, and international partnerships that respect the dignity and self-government of all peoples; and

(2) to carry out the principle expressed in Alfred Nobel's will concerning fellowship between nations.

SEC. 1322. RESTRICTIONS ON UNILATERAL ECONOMIC SANCTIONS.

(a) Definitions.—Section 7201 of title 22, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (3) to read as follows:

"(3) Joint resolution.—The term 'joint resolution' means—

"(A) in the case of section 7202(a)(1), only a joint resolution introduced within 10 session days of Congress after the date on which the report of the President under section 7202(a)(1) is received by Congress, the matter after the resolving clause of which is as follows: 'That Congress approves the report of the President pursuant to section 7202(a)(1), transmitted on _____.', with the blank completed with the appropriate date;

"(B) in the case of section 7204(1), only a joint resolution introduced within 10 session days of Congress after the date on which the report of the President under section 7204(1) is received by Congress, the matter after the resolving clause of which is as follows: 'That Congress approves the report of the President pursuant to section 7204(1), transmitted on _____.', with the blank completed with the appropriate date; and

"(C) in the case of section 7204A(f), only a joint resolution introduced within 10 session days of Congress after the date on which the determination described in section 7204A(f) is received by Congress, the matter after the resolving clause of which is as follows: 'That Congress approves continuation of the sanction described in the determination submitted pursuant to section 7204A(f), transmitted on _____.', with the blank completed with the appropriate date."; and

(2) by adding at the end the following:

"(8) Essential civilian goods and services.—The term 'essential civilian goods and services' means—

"(A) food, agricultural commodities, medicine, medical devices, medical equipment, health care goods or services, public health goods or services, or veterinary medicines;

"(B) goods, services, technology, software, or financial services necessary for water, sanitation, sewage, waste management, civilian energy, civilian transportation, civilian aviation safety, or civilian telecommunications infrastructure;

"(C) goods, services, technology, software, or financial services necessary for personal communications, internet access, education, humanitarian assistance, peacebuilding, disaster response, refugee assistance, or migration-related assistance;

"(D) personal, noncommercial remittances; or

"(E) any transaction, service, payment, financing, insurance, transportation, logistics, communications, or professional service ordinarily incident to an activity described in subparagraphs (A) through (D).

"(9) Targeted sanction.—The term 'targeted sanction' means a prohibition, restriction, condition, or penalty imposed only against a specifically identified person, government official, military unit, security force, intelligence service, armed group, corporation, financial institution, vessel, aircraft, or other entity that is responsible for, complicit in, or knowingly materially assists the conduct giving rise to the sanction.

"(10) Unilateral economic sanction.—The term 'unilateral economic sanction' means a prohibition, restriction, condition, penalty, licensing requirement, or other limitation imposed by the United States principally to compel, punish, deter, or change foreign conduct and applied generally to commercial or economic activity with a foreign country, geographic region, economic sector, or civilian population, except in a case in which the United States imposes the measure—

"(A) as a targeted sanction;

"(B) pursuant to a multilateral regime and the other member countries of that regime have agreed to impose substantially equivalent measures; or

"(C) pursuant to a mandatory decision of the United Nations Security Council.".

(b) Restriction and termination.—Section 7202 of title 22, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a), in the matter preceding paragraph (1), by striking "a unilateral agricultural sanction or unilateral medical sanction" and inserting "a unilateral agricultural sanction, unilateral economic sanction, or unilateral medical sanction";

(2) by striking subsection (b) and inserting the following:

"(b) Existing sanctions.—

"(1) Termination.—Except as provided in section 7203, and notwithstanding any other provision of law, any unilateral agricultural sanction, unilateral economic sanction, or unilateral medical sanction in effect on the date of enactment of the POPULIST Act shall terminate effective 180 days after that date, unless, before the effective date of the termination, Congress enacts a law that expressly approves continuation of the sanction for a period not exceeding 2 years.

"(2) Implementation.—The President shall take all actions necessary to carry out paragraph (1), including by repealing or revising any regulation, order, license, directive, or guidance implementing a sanction that terminates under that paragraph.

"(3) Inventory and recommendations.—Not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of the POPULIST Act, the President shall submit to Congress and make publicly available a report identifying—

"(A) each sanction subject to termination under paragraph (1);

"(B) the statutory or executive authority for the sanction;

"(C) the scope and principal restrictions of the sanction;

"(D) the actions necessary to terminate the sanction; and

"(E) whether the President recommends that Congress approve continuation of the sanction and the reasons for the recommendation.

"(4) Continued sanctions.—A sanction continued by law under paragraph (1) shall be subject to section 7204 as if imposed pursuant to subsection (a)."; and

(3) by adding at the end the following:

"(c) Targeted sanctions.—Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit the President from imposing or continuing a targeted sanction, except that a targeted sanction may not be implemented in a manner that materially impairs access by a civilian population to essential civilian goods and services.".

(c) Essential civilian goods and services.—Section 7202 of title 22, United States Code, as amended by subsection (b), is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(d) Essential civilian goods and services.—

"(1) Prohibition.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, and except as provided in paragraph (4), no unilateral agricultural sanction, unilateral economic sanction, or unilateral medical sanction may prohibit, restrict, condition, penalize, or require a specific license for a transaction involving essential civilian goods and services.

"(2) General licenses.—If the President imposes or continues a sanction under any provision of law that could reasonably be construed to prohibit, restrict, condition, penalize, or require a specific license for a transaction involving essential civilian goods and services, the President shall issue and maintain any general license necessary to ensure that such transaction is not prohibited, restricted, conditioned, penalized, or delayed by the sanction.

"(3) Financial and logistical services.—A general license required under paragraph (2) shall authorize any payment, financing, banking, insurance, transportation, logistics, communications, professional service, or other service ordinarily incident to a transaction involving essential civilian goods and services.

"(4) Specific-license exception.—The President may require a specific license for a transaction involving essential civilian goods and services only if the President certifies to Congress that the specific transaction would directly and materially facilitate—

"(A) the design, development, production, acquisition, or use of a chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear, or conventional weapon;

"(B) malicious cyber activity;

"(C) genocide, crimes against humanity, war crimes, torture, extrajudicial killing, or forced disappearance;

"(D) a military or intelligence operation presenting a substantial risk of serious harm to civilians; or

"(E) knowing diversion to a person against whom a targeted sanction may be imposed.

"(5) Anti-diversion authority.—Nothing in this subsection may be construed to prohibit the President from imposing reasonable recordkeeping, reporting, end-use certification, or anti-diversion requirements, or from imposing a targeted sanction against a person who knowingly diverts essential civilian goods and services for a use or to a recipient described in paragraph (4).

"(6) Reasonable-reliance safe harbor.—A financial institution or other person that facilitates a transaction in reliance on a general license issued under paragraph (2) may reasonably rely on information obtained in the ordinary course of business and may not be subject to a civil or criminal penalty under a provision of law administered or enforced as part of the sanction unless the institution or person knew or had reason to know that the transaction was outside the scope of the general license.

"(7) Public guidance.—At the time a general license required under paragraph (2) is issued or materially revised, the Secretary of the Treasury shall issue public guidance describing the scope and application of the license, including examples of permissible financial and logistical services and the due diligence sufficient to qualify for paragraph (6).

"(8) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this subsection may be construed to limit the application or scope of section 7210 or to authorize a transaction that is prohibited under section 2339A or 2339B of title 18, United States Code.".

(d) Conforming protections for essential civilian goods and services.—

(1) Exceptions.—Section 7203 of title 22, United States Code, is amended, in the matter preceding paragraph (1), by inserting "Except as provided in section 7202(d), " before "Section 7202".

(2) State sponsors of international terrorism.—Section 7205(a)(1) of title 22, United States Code, is amended by striking "other than section 7203 of this title" and inserting "other than sections 7202(d) and 7203 of this title".

(e) Termination of approved sanctions.—Section 7204 of title 22, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking "Any unilateral agricultural sanction or unilateral medical sanction" and inserting "Any unilateral agricultural sanction, unilateral economic sanction, or unilateral medical sanction"; and

(2) by striking "the sanction" each place it appears and inserting "the unilateral agricultural sanction, unilateral economic sanction, or unilateral medical sanction".

(f) Sanctions impact and effectiveness reports.—Chapter 79 of title 22, United States Code, is amended by inserting after section 7204 the following:

"Sec. 7204A. Sanctions impact and effectiveness reports.

"(a) Pre-imposition impact assessment.—In addition to the report required under section 7202(a)(1), the President shall submit to Congress an impact assessment for any proposed unilateral agricultural sanction, unilateral economic sanction, or unilateral medical sanction.

"(b) Matters included.—The impact assessment required under subsection (a) shall include—

"(1) the specific foreign policy or national security objective of the proposed sanction;

"(2) a description of the conduct by the foreign country or foreign entity that the proposed sanction is intended to change, deter, or remedy;

"(3) a description of the targeted sanctions, diplomatic measures, legal measures, multilateral measures, and other alternatives considered by the President;

"(4) an explanation of why targeted sanctions or non-economic measures would not be adequate to achieve the objective described in paragraph (1);

"(5) an assessment of whether the proposed sanction is likely to materially impair access by a civilian population to essential civilian goods and services;

"(6) an assessment of the likely impact of the proposed sanction on humanitarian organizations, peacebuilding organizations, medical providers, personal, noncommercial remittances, financial channels, civilian infrastructure, and the economy of the affected civilian population;

"(7) a description of any general license, safe harbor, guidance, or other measure that will be used to ensure compliance with section 7202(d);

"(8) a description of whether the United Nations Security Council or a multilateral regime has adopted, or is considering, substantially equivalent measures; and

"(9) specific, measurable criteria for terminating the proposed sanction.

"(c) Public availability.—The President shall make each impact assessment required under subsection (a) available to the public in unclassified form not later than 7 days after submitting the impact assessment to Congress, but may include a classified annex only to the extent necessary to protect the national security of the United States.

"(d) Consultation.—In preparing an impact assessment under subsection (a), the President shall consult, as appropriate, with humanitarian organizations, peacebuilding organizations, medical and public health organizations, financial institutions, remittance providers, and nongovernmental organizations with substantial experience in the affected foreign country or civilian population.

"(e) Comptroller General review.—

"(1) Initial review.—Not later than 180 days after a unilateral agricultural sanction, unilateral economic sanction, or unilateral medical sanction becomes effective, the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit to Congress a report assessing the actual humanitarian, economic, diplomatic, and national security effects of the sanction.

"(2) Continuation review.—Not later than 90 days before the date on which a unilateral agricultural sanction, unilateral economic sanction, or unilateral medical sanction would terminate under section 7204, the Comptroller General of the United States shall submit to Congress a report assessing whether the sanction—

"(A) achieved, or made substantial progress toward achieving, the objective identified under subsection (b)(1);

"(B) materially impaired access by a civilian population to essential civilian goods and services;

"(C) impeded humanitarian assistance, peacebuilding activity, medical care, public health, personal, noncommercial remittances, or civilian infrastructure; or

"(D) produced humanitarian, economic, diplomatic, or national security effects that outweigh the benefit of continuing the sanction.

"(f) Termination for civilian harm.—

"(1) Presidential determination.—If the President determines, and submits the determination to Congress, that a unilateral agricultural sanction, unilateral economic sanction, or unilateral medical sanction materially impairs access by a civilian population to essential civilian goods and services, the President shall terminate the sanction not later than 30 days after submitting the determination unless, before the date of termination, Congress enacts a joint resolution approving continuation of the sanction.

"(2) Comptroller General finding.—If a report of the Comptroller General of the United States under subsection (e) finds that a sanction materially impairs access by a civilian population to essential civilian goods and services, the finding shall create a rebuttable presumption of material impairment. Not later than 30 days after the report is submitted, the President shall—

"(A) terminate the sanction; or

"(B) submit to Congress and make publicly available a contrary determination, based on substantial evidence, that the sanction does not materially impair such access, together with a detailed explanation of the determination and a description of any measures necessary to prevent material impairment.

"(3) Continuation following contrary determination.—A sanction continued pursuant to paragraph (2)(B) shall terminate 60 days after the contrary determination is submitted unless, before the date of termination, Congress enacts a joint resolution approving continuation of the sanction.

"(g) Information accompanying continuation request.—A report or determination submitted by the President under section 7204(1) or subsection (f) in connection with continuation of a sanction shall include—

"(1) an updated impact assessment containing the information described in subsection (b);

"(2) a response to each finding in the most recent report of the Comptroller General of the United States under subsection (e); and

"(3) a description of any additional general license, safe harbor, guidance, or other measure necessary to ensure compliance with section 7202(d) and prevent material impairment of access by a civilian population to essential civilian goods and services.".

(g) Congressional procedures.—Section 7206 of title 22, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a), by striking "section 7202(a)(1) or 7204(1)" and inserting "section 7202(a)(1), 7204(1), or a determination described in section 7204A(f)"; and

(2) in subsection (b)(1), by striking "Committee on International Relations" and inserting "Committee on Foreign Affairs".

(h) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section, or the amendments made by this section, may be construed—

(1) to prohibit a targeted sanction;

(2) to limit any authority to impose a targeted sanction against a person who knowingly diverts essential civilian goods and services for a use or to a recipient described in section 7202(d)(4), or for corrupt commercial use;

(3) to limit the application or scope of section 7210 or to authorize a transaction prohibited under section 2339A or 2339B of title 18, United States Code; or

(4) to authorize the export, reexport, or transfer of any item controlled on the United States Munitions List established under section 38 of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2778), or any transaction that the President may subject to a specific license under section 7202(d)(4).

SEC. 1323. UNITED STATES–IRAN MANUFACTURING AND NONPROLIFERATION DEAL.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Iran has established a national objective of expanding its electricity supply through approximately 20,000 megawatts of nuclear generating capacity over the coming decades. Reliable, affordable, and abundant electricity is a legitimate development objective for the people of Iran.

(2) The United States has established through the POPULIST Act a national objective of expanding its industrial manufacturing base and commercial shipping capacity, as well as an international objective of expanding fellowship among nations.

(3) Iran possesses abundant solar resources and a substantial domestic engineering, construction, and electrical workforce capable of siting, installing, connecting, operating, and maintaining large-scale civilian electricity infrastructure. Harnessing Iran's solar resources could make the development of nuclear generating capacity unnecessary.

(4) The United States possesses substantial technical expertise and the ability to expand domestic manufacturing capacity for solar modules and cells, electricity storage cells and systems, inverters, transformers, switchgear, mounting structures, electrical components, control systems, and related equipment.

(5) Approximately 100 gigawatts of utility-scale solar generating capacity, paired with approximately 240 gigawatt-hours of usable electricity storage capacity and appropriate power conversion and facility-level electrical equipment, provides a reasonable initial planning benchmark for replacing the annual electricity production and reliability anticipated from 20,000 megawatts of nuclear generating capacity.

(6) A 10-year Federal purchase commitment for such equipment would create stable public demand, incentivize the expansion of productive capacity in the United States, create high-quality employment, strengthen domestic supply chains, support the Strategic Commercial Fleet, and convert a peace dividend into visible productive investment.

(7) A deal in which the United States manufactures and delivers civilian solar generation and electricity storage equipment, while Iran provides land, local labor, construction, installation, inland transportation, grid connection, operation, and maintenance, can help both nations advance their objectives.

(8) A negotiated exchange of permanent and verifiable nuclear restraints for a material United States clean energy contribution can further promote fellowship among nations, reduce the risk of nuclear proliferation, and respect the dignity and legitimate development aspirations of the people of both nations.

(b) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Agreement.—The term "agreement" means the United States–Iran Manufacturing and Nonproliferation Deal authorized under subsection (c).

(2) Appropriate congressional committees.—The term "appropriate congressional committees" means—

(A) the Committee on Foreign Relations, the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources, the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate; and

(B) the Committee on Foreign Affairs, the Committee on Financial Services, the Committee on Energy and Commerce, the Committee on Science, Space, and Technology, the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure, and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives.

(3) Clean energy contribution.—The term "clean energy contribution" means covered equipment, inspection, export packaging, insurance, ocean transportation, warranties, spare equipment, training, documentation, and technical assistance provided by the United States under the agreement.

(4) Covered equipment.—The term "covered equipment" means equipment described in subsection (e)(3) that is procured, manufactured, or delivered under the agreement.

(5) Designated civilian entity.—The term "designated civilian entity" means a civilian ministry, public electric utility, special-purpose public authority, cooperative, municipality, or other civilian entity designated under the agreement to receive, hold, operate, or oversee covered equipment and certified by the President not to be owned, controlled, or materially directed by an excluded entity.

(6) Electricity-equivalent target.—The term "electricity-equivalent target" means the combination of annual net electricity generation, usable electricity storage capacity, power conversion capability, and facility-level grid reliability services reasonably necessary to replace the annual electricity production and reliability anticipated from 20,000 megawatts of nuclear generating capacity.

(7) Excluded entity.—The term "excluded entity" means—

(A) the Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps;

(B) an armed forces, intelligence, or internal-security entity of Iran; or

(C) a person subject to a targeted sanction imposed by the United States for terrorism, gross violations of internationally recognized human rights, significant corruption, or proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

(8) First material performance.—The term "first material performance" means the performance required under subsection (j)(2).

(9) Fund.—The term "Fund" means the United States–Iran Manufacturing and Nonproliferation Fund established under subsection (m).

(10) IAEA.—The term "IAEA" means the International Atomic Energy Agency.

(11) Local cost.—The term "local cost" means a cost incurred in Iran for land, a right-of-way, unloading, customs processing, inland transportation, storage after delivery, local labor, local construction material, site preparation, civil construction, installation, permitting, security, interconnection, transmission or distribution infrastructure beyond the project boundary, operation, maintenance, decommissioning, or another locally furnished good or service.

(12) Manufactured in the United States.—The term "manufactured in the United States" means, with respect to a manufactured product, that each major manufacturing process for the product occurs in the United States and the cost of domestic components satisfies subsection (g)(2).

(13) Planning benchmark.—The term "planning benchmark" means 100 gigawatts of nameplate direct-current solar generating capacity and 240 gigawatt-hours of usable electricity storage capacity, together with associated power conversion and facility-level electrical equipment.

(14) Verification Account.—The term "Verification Account" means the United States–Iran Nonproliferation Verification Account established under subsection (n).

(c) Congressional authorization and purposes.—

(1) Authority.—The President is authorized, but not required, to negotiate, conclude, enter into, and carry out an agreement with Iran that satisfies this section.

(2) Congressional authorization.—An agreement satisfying this section is specifically authorized by Congress and may take effect in accordance with its terms after the President has satisfied the requirements of subsection (l) applicable before entry into force. Congressional review of the agreement shall be conducted in accordance with subsection (l)(9), and no additional approval of the agreement by Congress is required.

(3) Public designation.—The President may publicly designate the agreement as the "United States–Iran Manufacturing and Nonproliferation Deal" or by another public name consistent with this section.

(4) Purposes.—The purposes of the agreement shall be—

(A) to end permanently and verifiably domestic uranium enrichment, reprocessing, and nuclear-weapons-related activity in Iran;

(B) to avoid the construction or operation of additional nuclear power reactors in Iran by providing a peaceful, nonnuclear means of meeting Iran's stated electricity objective;

(C) to provide the people of Iran with civilian solar generation, electricity storage, power conversion, and associated electrical equipment sufficient to achieve the electricity-equivalent target;

(D) to establish reciprocal, phased, enforceable, and independently verifiable performance, with the United States undertaking first material performance;

(E) to create stable demand for American-made products that rebuilds and expands domestic manufacturing capacity, supports maritime demand, and creates high-quality employment in the United States;

(F) to support locally rooted employment, construction, installation, operation, and maintenance capacity in Iran without directing the expenditure of Iranian money; and

(G) to strengthen peace, nonproliferation, human security, and fellowship among the people of the United States and Iran.

(5) Lead officials.—The Secretary of State shall lead negotiation and diplomatic implementation of the agreement. The Secretary of Energy shall lead domestic production planning, procurement, domestic-manufacturing compliance, technical evaluation, and delivery of the clean energy contribution. Those Secretaries shall consult the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of Transportation, the Secretary of Peacebuilding, the Maritime Administrator, the United States Trade Representative, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, and the heads of other relevant Federal agencies.

(6) Determination to pursue agreement.—If the President determines that the United States intends to pursue negotiation of the agreement, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a written determination stating that intention. Submission of the determination shall trigger the planning and program-readiness authorities specified in subsections (g)(4) and (m)(5) but shall not obligate the President to conclude or enter into the agreement.

(d) Required structure of agreement.—The agreement shall—

(1) establish a 10-year period for production and delivery of the clean energy contribution, to be known as the "clean energy delivery period", beginning on a date specified in the agreement and not later than the date of the first physical delivery under subsection (j)(2)(C), subject to reasonable adjustment for verified force majeure, material supply chain disruption, or mutual agreement;

(2) provide that—

(A) the commitment required under subsection (i)(5) remains in effect throughout the agreement and during any suspension, dispute, or orderly wind-down;

(B) the safeguards, transparency, and anti-diversion commitments required under subsection (i), the preservation commitments required under subsection (j)(1), the civilian-control and nondiscriminatory-access commitments required under paragraphs (5) and (9), and the maintenance, cybersecurity, safety, and warranty commitments applicable to covered equipment already delivered remain in effect during a suspension, dispute, or orderly wind-down;

(C) the nuclear commitments required under subsection (i) become permanent upon substantial completion of the clean energy contribution, as defined by objective milestones in the agreement; and

(D) before substantial completion, the continuation of the commitments described in subparagraph (C) following termination shall be governed by the reciprocal wind-down provisions of the agreement, except that no such provision may authorize nuclear-weapons-related activity or diversion of nuclear material;

(3) establish a schedule of reciprocal milestones for production, ocean transportation, delivery, installation, verification, nuclear restraint, dismantlement, and sanctions relief;

(4) require first material performance by the United States before Iran is required to complete an irreversible nuclear step;

(5) establish designated civilian entities and safeguards sufficient to prevent ownership, possession, or operational control of covered equipment or a project by an excluded entity and to prevent knowing diversion of covered equipment to a nuclear fuel cycle or weapons-related end use;

(6) provide that the clean energy contribution is a grant to the people of Iran and shall not create sovereign debt, a repayment obligation, a lien, a security interest, a claim to Iranian land or natural resources, or ownership or control by the United States in Iran's electrical system;

(7) provide for public disclosure of the agreement, implementation plans, aggregate production and purchase information, delivery milestones, and verification findings, subject to protection of classified information, proprietary information, physical-security information, and information the disclosure of which would materially impair verification or implementation;

(8) establish consultation, technical dispute resolution, cure of noncompliance, proportional suspension, resumption of performance, and orderly termination procedures, including reciprocal treatment of completed or irreversible performance and of covered equipment in production, in transit, delivered, installed, or commissioned;

(9) prohibit any party from conditioning civilian access to electricity generated or stored using covered equipment on political, religious, ethnic, gender-based, or military affiliation; and

(10) permit equipment, services, or financing from another country or an international organization only as a supplement to the United States commitment, and provide that such contribution may not reduce the amount, domestic manufacturing requirements, or delivery obligations of the United States unless Iran expressly agrees in writing.

(e) United States clean energy contribution.—

(1) Performance target.—The agreement shall commit the United States to cause covered equipment to be produced in the United States and delivered to Iran in quantities sufficient, together with Iran's performance of the responsibilities required under subsection (f), to achieve the electricity-equivalent target, and to provide the related support required under the agreement.

(2) Planning benchmark and technical adjustment.—

(A) Initial basis.—The implementation plan shall use the planning benchmark as the initial basis for design, domestic production planning, purchase commitments, and reciprocal scheduling.

(B) Adjustment.—The President may approve an increase, decrease, or reallocation between solar generation capacity, storage capacity, and associated power conversion or facility-level electrical equipment if the Secretary of Energy, based on an independent engineering analysis made publicly available to the extent practicable, certifies that the adjusted plan—

(i) is reasonably expected to achieve or exceed the electricity-equivalent target;

(ii) provides comparable or greater evening, overnight, and grid reliability capability;

(iii) does not materially reduce the value of the agreement to domestic manufacturing, employment, and maritime demand;

(iv) is expected to reduce lifecycle cost, improve safety or reliability, or accommodate verified conditions of Iran's electric grid; and

(v) does not substitute fossil fuel generation or fossil fuel infrastructure for solar generation, electricity storage, or another nonnuclear, nonfossil clean energy technology.

(C) Material adjustment after entry into force.—Not less than 30 days before approving, after the agreement enters into force, an adjustment that materially changes solar generating capacity, electricity storage capacity, expected annual electricity generation, evening or overnight capability, or the technology mix, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees—

(i) the independent engineering analysis supporting the adjustment;

(ii) a description of the adjustment and the reasons for the adjustment;

(iii) an assessment of the effect of the adjustment on domestic production, employment, and demand for the Strategic Commercial Fleet; and

(iv) if the adjustment would decrease the clean energy contribution, the written concurrence of Iran.

(3) Covered equipment.—Covered equipment may include—

(A) photovoltaic modules, cells, and related module components;

(B) fixed-tilt or tracking mounting structures, torque tubes, fasteners, foundations manufactured as part of a modular mounting system, and related mechanical components;

(C) direct-current collection equipment, combiner equipment, conductors, cables, connectors, disconnects, grounding equipment, and protective equipment;

(D) solar inverters and associated power electronics;

(E) battery cells, battery modules, battery packs, battery cabinets, thermal management systems, fire suppression systems, battery management systems, and other electricity storage equipment;

(F) bidirectional inverters, storage power conversion systems, and energy management systems;

(G) plant-level transformers, substations, switchgear, relays, meters, control systems, cybersecurity equipment, and supervisory control and data acquisition equipment;

(H) replacement parts, specialized tools, commissioning equipment, diagnostic equipment, and safety equipment;

(I) packaging, cargo handling equipment, and other equipment reasonably necessary for safe ocean transportation and delivery; and

(J) another nonnuclear, nonfossil clean energy generation, electricity storage, power conversion, or facility-level electrical technology manufactured in the United States that the Secretary of Energy determines will improve reliability, reduce lifecycle cost, or advance the electricity-equivalent target.

(4) Equipment boundary.—Except as otherwise agreed for a particular project, the United States contribution for each generating or storage facility shall extend through the high-voltage side of the facility's main transformer. Iran shall be responsible for transmission, distribution, and grid infrastructure beyond that point.

(5) International delivery point.—The United States shall be responsible for inspection, export packaging, insurance, and ocean transportation of covered equipment to 1 or more Iranian ports or other international delivery points specified in the agreement. Iran shall be responsible for unloading, customs processing, storage after delivery, inland transportation, and transportation to project sites.

(6) Title and risk of loss.—The agreement shall identify the point at which title and risk of loss pass to a designated civilian entity and shall provide commercially reasonable inspection, acceptance, warranty, and replacement procedures.

(7) Spares, warranties, and maintenance independence.—The clean energy contribution shall include—

(A) spare equipment and components in quantities determined by the independent engineering assessment to be reasonably necessary for reliable operation, taking into account expected failure rates, warranties, replacement lead times, environmental conditions, and the availability of replacement equipment;

(B) manufacturer warranties customary for comparable utility-scale equipment; and

(C) technical documentation, diagnostic tools, repair information, durable software licenses, locally controlled administrative credentials, security updates, diagnostic access, interoperability information, and training sufficient to permit Iranian civilian personnel to operate, maintain, and repair the equipment without continuing dependence on United States personnel.

(8) No remote coercive control.—Covered equipment may not include a concealed access mechanism or a remote disabling function controlled solely by the United States Government or a United States contractor. This paragraph does not prohibit a transparent and mutually agreed cybersecurity, safety, warranty, or emergency shutdown capability.

(9) No financing of local costs.—No amount appropriated or otherwise made available under this section may be used to pay or reimburse a local cost.

(f) Responsibilities of Iran.—The agreement shall require Iran to—

(1) provide suitable land and legally sufficient rights of access for each project without charge to the United States;

(2) conduct or obtain siting, environmental, water use, land use, cultural resource, construction, and operating approvals under Iranian law;

(3) provide roads, grading, drainage, fencing, ordinary civil works, foundations not included as covered equipment, buildings, trenches, site utilities, construction machinery, and other site preparation;

(4) provide the labor, contractors, construction management, installation, testing, and commissioning necessary to place covered equipment in service, with technical assistance from United States manufacturers as provided under the agreement;

(5) unload covered equipment, complete customs processing, provide inland transportation and storage, and transport the equipment to project sites;

(6) construct, upgrade, operate, and maintain transmission, distribution, dispatch, and grid infrastructure beyond the equipment boundary described in subsection (e)(4);

(7) retain sole authority over selection and payment of Iranian contractors and expenditure of Iranian public or private money for local costs, subject only to mutually agreed technical-interface, end-use, safety, verification, anti-corruption, anti-diversion, labor, and excluded-entity requirements, including a prohibition on use of an excluded entity as a project contractor or subcontractor;

(8) provide physical security that protects workers and equipment without placing an excluded entity in ownership or operational control of a project;

(9) operate and maintain each project, bear ordinary operating and maintenance costs after commissioning, and establish reserves for replacement and decommissioning;

(10) ensure transparent metering, dispatch, and accounting sufficient to verify civilian use and public benefit;

(11) avoid forced displacement to the maximum extent practicable and provide fair notice, consultation, and compensation when displacement cannot reasonably be avoided;

(12) apply occupational-safety protections, prohibit forced labor and child labor, and permit workers lawfully to organize and bargain collectively in connection with projects carried out under the agreement; and

(13) provide the IAEA and other monitors established under the agreement such access, information, and cooperation as are necessary to verify compliance.

(g) Domestic manufacturing and procurement.—

(1) Final manufacture.—Except as provided in paragraph (5), covered equipment shall be finally manufactured in the United States, and each major manufacturing process for such equipment shall occur in the United States. The Secretary of Energy shall define by regulation the major manufacturing processes applicable to each category of covered equipment.

(2) Domestic-content schedule.—The cost of components manufactured, mined, produced, processed, or recycled in the United States shall be—

(A) not less than 80 percent of the total cost of all components for equipment delivered during the first through third years of the clean energy delivery period;

(B) not less than 90 percent of the total cost of all components for equipment delivered during the fourth through seventh years of that period; and

(C) not less than 95 percent of the total cost of all components for equipment delivered during the eighth through tenth years of that period.

(3) Critical components and maximum practicable domestic content.—The percentages in paragraph (2) are minimum requirements. The Secretary of Energy shall require the maximum practicable quantity and value of domestic components, subcomponents, materials, and critical minerals and shall establish a procurement schedule that increases domestic content as additional domestic production becomes commercially available in sufficient quantity and satisfactory quality. The Secretary shall establish product-specific or component-specific domestic-content requirements for critical components, including photovoltaic cells, battery cells, utility-scale inverters, power semiconductors, transformers, and switchgear, sufficient to prevent compliance through domestic content concentrated principally in less critical components.

(4) Domestic manufacturing procurement plan.—Not later than 180 days after the President submits the determination required under subsection (c)(6), the Secretary of Energy, in consultation with the Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of Labor, shall publish a plan for using procurement specifications, phased domestic-content requirements, multi-year contracts, advance purchase commitments, long-term offtake agreements, capacity reservations, and delivery schedules under this section to create predictable demand for domestic production of photovoltaic cells, wafers, ingots, polysilicon, glass, encapsulants, backsheets, frames, junction boxes, battery cells, cathode and anode materials, electrolytes, separators, battery management systems, thermal management systems, utility-scale inverters, power semiconductors, transformers, switchgear, relays, meters, control systems, and other components critical to the clean energy contribution.

(5) Limited waiver.—The Secretary of Energy may waive paragraph (1) or (2), or make a corresponding adjustment to a requirement established under paragraph (3), with respect to a particular component or product only if—

(A) the Secretary determines in writing that the component or product is not produced in the United States in sufficient and reasonably available quantity or satisfactory quality;

(B) the Secretary determines in writing that a temporary waiver is necessary to prevent a material delay that would jeopardize verified reciprocal performance under the agreement; or

(C) the Secretary—

(i) determines in writing that—

(I) application of the requirement would increase the total cost of the relevant procurement by more than 25 percent compared with an otherwise acceptable offer that does not satisfy the requirement; or

(II) no responsive domestic offer represents a fair and reasonable price; and

(ii) before making such determination—

(I) seeks full and open competition to the maximum extent practicable and conducts negotiations, as appropriate;

(II) prepares or obtains an independent Government cost estimate and conducts price analysis; and

(III) if fewer than 2 responsive domestic offers from responsible offerors are received, obtains certified cost or pricing data from each domestic offeror under consideration and conducts cost analysis.

(6) Conditions on waiver.—A waiver or adjustment under paragraph (5)—

(A) shall be limited in scope and duration;

(B) shall be published with a nonproprietary explanation not later than 15 days after issuance;

(C) may not be based solely on administrative convenience or a contractor's failure to plan for the domestic-content schedule;

(D) shall, when practicable, be accompanied by a solicitation, advance purchase commitment, long-term offtake agreement, or other procurement action designed to establish predictable demand for domestic production of the waived component or product; and

(E) in the case of an adjustment to a requirement established under paragraph (3), shall apply only to the component or product covered by the waiver and only to the extent and for the duration necessary to give effect to the waiver.

(7) Coordination with title VIII.—To the maximum extent practicable, the Secretary of Energy shall coordinate procurement under this section with industrial reconstruction activities carried out under sections 843 through 846 and 848 to align predictable demand with domestic supply, avoid duplication, and coordinate production and maritime delivery. Amounts in the Fund may not be used to provide a grant, loan, loan guarantee, cooperative agreement, factory construction or conversion assistance, tooling assistance, workforce development assistance, or other direct industrial investment under those sections.

(8) Multi-year production and purchase commitments.—

(A) Authority.—Subject to the availability of appropriations and the agreement, and notwithstanding any otherwise applicable limitation on the duration of a multi-year contract, the Secretary of Energy may enter into contracts and commitments having a period of performance not exceeding 10 years, including multi-year production and procurement contracts, advance purchase commitments, long-term offtake agreements, capacity reservations, milestone payment contracts, and other purchase commitments necessary to cause covered equipment to be produced in the United States and to provide stable demand.

(B) Advance payments.—Notwithstanding section 3324 of title 31, United States Code, the Secretary may make an advance payment under a contract or commitment described in subparagraph (A) only to the extent necessary to reserve production capacity or finance contract performance and only under terms providing adequate security, repayment or recoupment, financial controls, and audit access for the United States.

(C) Commitments counted toward first material performance.—A contract or commitment counted toward first material performance under subsection (j)(2) shall be binding, shall be supported by amounts legally available for obligation, and shall provide for any minimum purchase, cancellation, or termination liability necessary to make the commitment commercially reliable.

(9) Labor standards.—Each contract exceeding $5,000,000 for covered equipment shall require compliance with applicable Federal labor, employment, nondiscrimination, workplace safety, and prevailing wage laws; a plan for recruitment, training, and retention of a skilled domestic workforce; disclosure and remediation of forced labor or child labor in the supply chain; neutrality with respect to lawful worker organizing; and no expenditure of Federal funds to interfere with such organizing.

(10) Competition and regional diversity.—The Secretary shall promote competition, avoid unnecessary concentration among contractors, provide meaningful opportunities for small and medium-sized manufacturers, cooperatives, and worker-owned enterprises, and seek geographic diversity in manufacturing awards and production.

(h) Strategic Commercial Fleet delivery.—

(1) Exclusive requirement.—Ocean transportation of covered equipment and materials procured under this section shall be provided exclusively on vessels enrolled in the Strategic Commercial Fleet established under chapter 536 of title 46, United States Code. No waiver, exception, or alternative vessel authority may be used to transport such equipment or materials.

(2) Coordination and capacity planning.—The Maritime Administrator and the Secretary of Energy shall coordinate procurement and delivery schedules with the Ship America Office, cargo preference requirements, port priority requirements, operating agreements, and demand-signal requirements established under title VIII and shall provide sufficient advance notice of anticipated cargo volumes and routes to permit the Strategic Commercial Fleet to maintain or develop the capacity necessary to carry out this subsection.

(3) Multi-year transportation contracting.—Subject to the availability of appropriations and the agreement, and notwithstanding any otherwise applicable limitation on the duration of a multi-year contract, the Secretary of Energy or the Maritime Administrator may enter into contracts and commitments having a period of performance not exceeding 10 years, including multi-year transportation-service contracts, advance commitments, capacity reservations, milestone payment contracts, and other purchase commitments necessary to secure Strategic Commercial Fleet capacity for transportation under this section. Notwithstanding section 3324 of title 31, United States Code, an advance payment may be made under such a contract or commitment only to the extent necessary to reserve or expand transportation-service capacity and only under terms providing adequate security, repayment or recoupment, financial controls, and audit access for the United States. This paragraph does not authorize a grant, loan, loan guarantee, or direct capital investment in a vessel, shipyard, or maritime carrier.

(4) Insufficient Fleet capacity.—Lack of available Strategic Commercial Fleet capacity does not authorize transportation on another vessel. To the extent such lack of capacity causes the United States to miss a performance milestone, the delay shall be treated as a failure by the United States under subsection (j)(6), the corresponding Iranian performance deadline shall be tolled, and the corrective action plan required under that subsection shall include measures to secure sufficient Strategic Commercial Fleet capacity.

(i) Required nuclear commitments.—

(1) Enrichment and reprocessing.—The agreement shall require Iran, throughout the period in which the agreement is in effect and thereafter as provided in subsection (d)(2), to cease and refrain from—

(A) enriching uranium or possessing, producing, acquiring, importing, or receiving enriched uranium, except fabricated nuclear fuel (including fuel assemblies) or target material supplied from outside Iran for an activity expressly permitted under paragraph (3) or (4);

(B) conducting research, development, design, modeling, experimentation, testing, or manufacturing principally directed toward uranium enrichment or the development or production of centrifuges, centrifuge components, or other enrichment equipment;

(C) reprocessing spent nuclear fuel or separating plutonium; and

(D) constructing, acquiring, operating, or maintaining a facility or equipment designed or principally used for uranium enrichment, spent-fuel reprocessing, plutonium separation, or production of heavy water for a prohibited nuclear activity.

(2) Nuclear materials and equipment.—The agreement shall provide for verified removal from Iran, conversion to a form that cannot readily be used for further enrichment or weapons purposes, or other verified disposition of—

(A) stocks of enriched uranium, except enriched uranium—

(i) contained in or constituting fabricated nuclear fuel (including fuel assemblies) permitted under paragraph (3) or (4); or

(ii) contained in or constituting target material permitted under paragraph (4);

(B) stocks of separated plutonium;

(C) all centrifuges and centrifuge components designed or principally used for uranium enrichment;

(D) enrichment and reprocessing equipment; and

(E) other material or equipment the IAEA determines necessary to verify compliance.

(3) Nuclear reactors.—The agreement shall require Iran to refrain from constructing or operating an additional nuclear power reactor after the agreement enters into force and shall establish a reasonable schedule for the verified abandonment, securing, and disposition of any additional nuclear power reactor that is under construction on that date, together with related reactor components or nuclear material. The agreement may permit continued operation of Unit 1 of the Bushehr Nuclear Power Plant if—

(A) all fuel is fabricated and supplied from outside Iran;

(B) all spent fuel is removed from Iran promptly after discharge under an IAEA-approved schedule; and

(C) the reactor and related nuclear material and activities remain subject to continuous IAEA safeguards and monitoring.

(4) Peaceful nonpower uses.—The agreement may permit peaceful medical, agricultural, industrial, and scientific uses of nuclear material at a facility specifically identified or approved under the agreement if—

(A) fuel and target material are supplied from outside Iran in a form and enrichment level specified under the agreement and subject to IAEA safeguards;

(B) no activity involves domestic enrichment or reprocessing;

(C) imported fuel and target material are, as applicable, removed or otherwise subject to verified disposition after use;

(D) the activity remains subject to IAEA safeguards and enhanced monitoring, including verified accounting for imported fuel and target material; and

(E) in the case of a new facility, the President—

(i) determines, based on an independent technical assessment and after consultation with the IAEA, that the facility—

(I) serves a demonstrated peaceful civilian need;

(II) uses the least proliferation-sensitive technology reasonably capable of meeting that need;

(III) is not designed or intended for electricity generation; and

(IV) will not materially increase Iran's capacity to produce or separate weapons-usable nuclear material or conduct an activity prohibited under this subsection; and

(ii) submits the determination and technical assessment to the appropriate congressional committees not less than 30 days before construction or operation of the facility begins, whichever occurs first.

(5) Nuclear-weapons-related activity.—The agreement shall require Iran, without time limitation, to refrain from designing, developing, producing, acquiring, possessing, testing, or seeking a nuclear explosive device and from research, modeling, experimentation, procurement, or other activity principally directed toward a nuclear explosive device.

(6) Safeguards and transparency.—The agreement shall require Iran to remain a party to and comply fully with the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons and shall provide that a notice by Iran of withdrawal from that Treaty constitutes a material breach of the agreement. The agreement shall further require Iran to maintain and fully implement its comprehensive safeguards agreement with the IAEA; ratify, bring into force, and fully implement an Additional Protocol; implement modified Code 3.1; provide timely access to locations, persons, records, equipment, environmental samples, and supply chain information reasonably necessary to verify declared and undeclared nuclear activities; permit continuous or near-continuous monitoring of sensitive material and locations; and preserve and restore monitoring continuity.

(7) Procurement and transfer controls.—The agreement shall establish monitored procurement channels and end-use verification sufficient to prevent acquisition or transfer of equipment, material, software, or technology for a prohibited nuclear activity.

(8) No military control.—The agreement shall prohibit ownership or operational control by a military or intelligence entity over a nuclear activity permitted under the agreement.

(j) Sequencing, reciprocal milestones, and remedies.—

(1) Initial Iranian measures.—The agreement shall require Iran, upon entry into force and before first material performance by the United States—

(A) to freeze expansion of sensitive nuclear activities;

(B) to preserve relevant equipment and records;

(C) to provide a complete baseline declaration;

(D) to grant verification access sufficient to begin establishing a verified nuclear baseline; and

(E) to refrain from increasing stocks of enriched uranium, except through receipt from outside Iran of—

(i) fabricated nuclear fuel (including fuel assemblies) for an activity expressly permitted under subsection (i)(3) or (4); or

(ii) target material for an activity expressly permitted under subsection (i)(4).

Such measures shall be reversible or preservative rather than destructive.

(2) First material performance by United States.—Before Iran is required to destroy, export, or permanently disable more than a de minimis portion, as objectively defined in the agreement, of its enrichment infrastructure or enriched uranium stockpile, the United States shall—

(A) enter into binding procurement or manufacturing contracts, advance purchase commitments, long-term offtake agreements, or other purchase commitments representing not less than 10 percent of the estimated value of the clean energy contribution stated in the preliminary implementation plan required under subsection (l)(1) and supported as required under subsection (g)(8)(C);

(B) make the initial disbursements required under such commitments; and

(C) complete 1 or more physical deliveries to 1 or more agreed international delivery points that, in the aggregate, include solar generation and electricity storage equipment representing not less than 2 percent of the planned total capacity of each category in the preliminary implementation plan required under subsection (l)(1) or, after its approval, the final implementation plan required under subsection (l)(4), unless Iran agrees in writing to another measure that the President certifies to Congress is at least equivalent in value and materiality as evidence of United States performance.

(3) Verified baseline and reciprocal milestones.—No irreversible Iranian step beyond the de minimis portion described in paragraph (2) may be required until the IAEA has reported that Iran has provided a baseline declaration and access sufficient to establish a verified baseline for measuring Iran's performance and any material discrepancy identified in establishing that baseline has been resolved or is subject to an agreed, time-limited resolution plan. After first material performance and establishment of that baseline, the agreement shall pair each principal United States production or delivery tranche with a verified Iranian nuclear milestone and shall pair each irreversible Iranian deadline with a corresponding verified United States production or delivery milestone.

(4) Certification before delivery tranche.—Before authorizing each annual delivery tranche or another delivery tranche paired with an irreversible Iranian milestone, the President shall certify to the appropriate congressional committees that the IAEA has reported that Iran is implementing the nuclear commitments within the IAEA's verification responsibilities applicable at that stage; the President has determined, based on IAEA findings and other reliable evidence, that Iran is implementing the remaining nuclear commitments applicable at that stage; the United States is materially performing its obligations applicable at that stage; the covered equipment complies with subsection (g), subject to a published waiver; and the designated civilian entities and anti-diversion controls remain adequate.

(5) Iranian material breach.—If the President determines, based substantially on IAEA findings with respect to a nuclear commitment or on reliable evidence, including findings of the joint implementation commission or independent technical experts, with respect to another commitment, that Iran has materially breached the agreement, the President—

(A) may suspend the corresponding future delivery, production or purchase obligation, or sanctions relief after providing notice and a reasonable opportunity to cure, except that immediate suspension may occur when necessary to prevent a material proliferation risk, diversion, fraud, or imminent danger; and

(B) shall, not later than 10 days after determining that the material breach has occurred, notify the appropriate congressional committees and describe the affected obligations, the evidence relied upon, the opportunity to cure, and the expected civilian and contractual effects.

(6) United States material breach.—If the United States materially fails to meet a production, purchase, ocean-transportation, delivery, licensing, sanctions-relief, warranty, replacement-equipment, technical-assistance, software-access, or other performance milestone, the corresponding Iranian performance deadline shall be tolled until the United States cures the failure or the parties agree to an adjusted schedule. Not later than 30 days after the missed milestone, the President shall submit to Congress and provide to Iran a corrective action plan and revised completion date. If the failure continues for more than 90 days or materially frustrates the value of an irreversible measure already completed by Iran, the agreement shall require the parties to adopt a reciprocal adjustment that restores the balance of remaining performance, including accelerated, substitute, or additional United States performance, as appropriate. Neither tolling nor an adjustment may authorize nuclear-weapons-related activity or diversion of nuclear material.

(7) Proportionality and civilian safety.—A suspension shall be proportionate to the breach and, to the maximum extent practicable, may not interrupt technical assistance, replacement equipment, cybersecurity support, fire safety support, warranty service, or other action necessary to prevent injury, environmental harm, damage to installed equipment, or destabilization of the civilian electrical grid.

(8) Dispute resolution.—The agreement shall establish an expedited technical and diplomatic dispute resolution process, including consultation with the IAEA on nuclear verification disputes, use of independent technical experts on energy production, delivery, or transportation disputes, and, for a dispute not resolved through consultation, mediation by a neutral state, international organization, or panel mutually agreed to by the United States and Iran.

(9) Resumption.—Performance suspended under the agreement shall resume promptly after verified cure or a mutually agreed resolution.

(10) Termination.—The President may terminate the agreement only after determining that a material breach has not been cured or that the purposes of the agreement can no longer reasonably be achieved; consulting Iran, the IAEA as appropriate to the nature of the dispute, and any neutral mediator then involved in the dispute; submitting to Congress, not less than 30 days before termination, a detailed explanation and wind-down plan, except when immediate termination is necessary to prevent an imminent proliferation or security risk; and taking reasonable steps to protect human life, safely wind down projects, preserve installed civilian infrastructure, preserve safeguards and monitoring, provide reciprocal treatment of completed or irreversible performance and of covered equipment in production, in transit, delivered, installed, or commissioned, and satisfy lawful contractual obligations.

(k) Sanctions and authorized transactions.—

(1) Coordination with section 1322.—To the extent that a sanction or transaction restriction remains in effect after application of section 1322, the President shall use the authorities provided under this subsection and any other applicable provision of law to waive, suspend, modify, terminate, license, or otherwise authorize the sanction or transaction to the extent necessary to negotiate, conclude, or carry out the agreement.

(2) Implementation authority.—Subject to paragraphs (4) through (7), and notwithstanding a provision of law that would otherwise prohibit or restrict the activity, the President may authorize a transaction, export, import, financial service, insurance service, ocean transportation service, customs service, software update, warranty service, replacement part shipment, verification activity, or other activity that is directly necessary or ordinarily incident to the agreement.

(3) Necessary channels.—The President shall ensure that lawful channels are available for procurement, contracting, banking, payment to United States suppliers and carriers, insurance, shipping, customs processing, technical services, software updates, warranties, replacement parts, maintenance support, verification, refunds, recoveries, and other transactions necessary to carry out the agreement.

(4) Limitations.—An authorization under this subsection shall be limited to the persons, transactions, goods, services, time periods, and conditions necessary to carry out the agreement and shall be subject to recordkeeping, end-use, anti-diversion, and audit requirements established by the President.

(5) Excluded items and activities.—Nothing in this section authorizes—

(A) the export, reexport, or transfer of a defense article or defense service on the United States Munitions List;

(B) the transfer of nuclear material, production or utilization equipment, sensitive nuclear technology, or Restricted Data;

(C) the transfer of an item for a military, intelligence, internal security, nuclear fuel cycle, or weapons-related end use;

(D) a transaction with an excluded entity; or

(E) a transaction prohibited under section 2339A or 2339B of title 18, United States Code.

(6) No nuclear cooperation agreement.—The agreement authorized by this section is not an agreement for cooperation under section 123 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 (42 U.S.C. 2153) and shall not include or authorize the transfer of nuclear material, production or utilization equipment, sensitive nuclear technology, Restricted Data, or other cooperation subject to that section.

(7) Targeted sanctions.—Nothing in this section requires termination of a targeted sanction imposed on a person for terrorism, gross violations of internationally recognized human rights, significant corruption, or proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

(l) Administration, congressional notice, and oversight.—

(1) Preliminary technical and implementation assessment.—After the President submits the determination required under subsection (c)(6) and before the agreement enters into force, the Secretary of Energy shall complete an independent engineering assessment and a preliminary implementation plan addressing the technical sufficiency, lifecycle cost, planning benchmark, domestic production and procurement strategy, division of responsibilities, reciprocal milestones, estimated annual and total Federal obligations, including separate estimates of obligations under subsections (m) and (n), and, based on information provided by Iran, the credibility of Iran's plans for site readiness, local financing, construction, transmission, distribution, grid integration, operation, maintenance, replacement, and decommissioning.

(2) Notice before entry into force.—Not later than 5 calendar days after reaching the agreement and not less than 30 days before the agreement enters into force, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees and to each committee and congressional leader specified in section 135(h)(3) of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 (42 U.S.C. 2160e(h)(3))—

(A) the complete text of the agreement and each annex, side agreement, implementation arrangement, and technical protocol;

(B) the assessment and preliminary implementation plan required under paragraph (1);

(C) an assessment by the Secretary of State, in consultation with the Director of National Intelligence and the Secretary of Energy, of the adequacy and verifiability of the nuclear commitments;

(D) an estimate of aggregate and annual obligations of the United States under subsections (m) and (n), stated separately;

(E) the domestic production, procurement, and maritime delivery plan;

(F) a description of sanctions, export, import, and financial authorities expected to be exercised;

(G) the verification assessment report required under section 135(a)(2) of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 (42 U.S.C. 2160e(a)(2)); and

(H) the certification required under section 135(a)(1)(C) of that Act.

(3) Certification.—The agreement may not enter into force unless the President certifies to Congress that the agreement contains the required terms of this section, is technically feasible, is reasonably designed to achieve the electricity-equivalent target within the authorized funding, provides adequate verification of the required nuclear commitments, has legally available funding sufficient to initiate such verification, includes a credible plan for Iran to perform the responsibilities required under subsection (f), and will, upon entry into force, be supported by amounts legally available and contracting authority sufficient for first material performance by the United States.

(4) Final implementation plan.—Not later than 180 days after the agreement enters into force, the President shall approve, with the concurrence of Iran, and submit to Congress and make publicly available a final implementation plan that includes the final technical design basis; the 10-year domestic production, purchase, ocean transportation, delivery, installation, and verification schedule; projected annual and total Federal obligations; domestic production and critical-component procurement strategy; division of responsibilities; Iran's site-readiness, local-financing, construction, and grid-integration plan; nuclear milestones and reciprocal sequencing; anti-diversion, cybersecurity, worker safety, environmental, and anti-corruption controls; and performance metrics.

(5) Joint implementation commission.—The agreement shall establish a joint implementation commission composed of representatives of the United States and Iran, with appropriate participation or observation by the IAEA for nuclear verification matters. The commission shall not limit the independent authority or reporting of the IAEA.

(6) Annual report.—Not later than 90 days after the end of each fiscal year during which the agreement is in effect, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees and make publicly available a report describing—

(A) Federal obligations and expenditures; production and purchase awards; domestic-content performance and waivers; domestic production performance; estimated domestic employment; and anticipated actions and obligations for the following 2 fiscal years;

(B) equipment manufactured, shipped, delivered, accepted, installed, commissioned, and operating, and Strategic Commercial Fleet transportation performance;

(C) Iranian performance of the responsibilities required under subsection (f), to the extent information is available, and electricity generation and storage performance;

(D) IAEA findings, sanctions relief, and licenses; and

(E) disputes, breaches, suspensions, cures, and resumed performance.

(7) Inspectors general.—The inspectors general of the Department of State, Department of Energy, Department of Commerce, and Department of Transportation shall coordinate oversight of production and purchase contracts, ocean transportation, delivery, anti-corruption controls, and Federal administration under this section.

(8) Comptroller General.—The Comptroller General of the United States may audit and evaluate the program and shall have timely access to relevant Federal records, contractors, and subcontractors, subject to applicable protections for classified and proprietary information. The Comptroller General may not audit or direct expenditure of money supplied by Iran for local costs.

(9) Coordination with Iran Nuclear Agreement Review Act of 2015.—

(A) Application.—The agreement shall be subject to section 135 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954 (42 U.S.C. 2160e).

(B) Concurrent submission and review.—A submission made under paragraph (2) that includes the materials required under section 135(a) of that Act shall constitute the transmission required under that section. The period preceding entry into force required under paragraph (2) shall run concurrently with the applicable review period under section 135(b) of that Act.

(C) Effect of review.—The agreement may not enter into force before the expiration of the applicable review period and any additional period during which action involving statutory sanctions relief is prohibited under section 135(b) of that Act. Any statutory sanctions relief provided under the agreement shall remain subject to section 135(c) of that Act.

(D) Coordinated oversight.—A report or certification under this subsection may be submitted jointly with a report or certification required under section 135(d) of that Act if the submission separately satisfies each applicable requirement.

(m) United States–Iran Manufacturing and Nonproliferation Fund.—

(1) Establishment.—There is established in the Treasury of the United States a fund to be known as the "United States–Iran Manufacturing and Nonproliferation Fund".

(2) Deposits.—The Fund shall consist of—

(A) amounts appropriated to the Fund; and

(B) refunds, recoveries, warranty payments, insurance proceeds, damages, proceeds from disposition of rejected or excess equipment, and other amounts received in connection with activities carried out under this subsection.

(3) Availability and use.—

(A) Availability.—Amounts deposited in the Fund are appropriated to the Fund and, without further appropriation, shall remain available until expended.

(B) Authorized uses.—Amounts in the Fund may be used only to—

(i) purchase, inspect, package, insure, transport, deliver, replace, and support covered equipment;

(ii) enter into and finance production and transportation-service contracts and purchase commitments authorized under subsections (g)(8) and (h)(3);

(iii) provide training, documentation, technical assistance, commissioning, warranties, cybersecurity support, and safety support;

(iv) administer and oversee activities financed under this subsection;

(v) carry out audit and anti-corruption activities relating to such activities; and

(vi) using amounts appropriated under paragraph (5)(A), carry out the activities described in that subparagraph.

(C) Prohibited uses.—Amounts in the Fund may not be used for a grant, loan, loan guarantee, cooperative agreement, direct capital investment, factory construction or conversion, tooling assistance, workforce development assistance, vessel construction or conversion, or shipyard investment.

(4) Funding after entry into force.—

(A) Initial appropriation.—There is appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to the Fund $23,750,000,000, to remain available until expended, beginning on the date on which the agreement enters into force.

(B) Subsequent authorizations.—There are authorized to be appropriated to the Fund $14,000,000,000 for each of the 9 consecutive fiscal years beginning with the first fiscal year after the fiscal year in which the agreement enters into force.

(5) Program readiness expenditures.—

(A) Appropriation.—Upon submission of the determination required under subsection (c)(6), there is appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to the Fund $250,000,000, to remain available until expended, for negotiation, independent engineering, technical design, domestic supply-chain assessment, procurement preparation, maritime capacity planning, and program readiness.

(B) Unused readiness amounts.—If the President withdraws the determination required under subsection (c)(6), or if the agreement has not entered into force by the date that is 3 years after submission of that determination, the unobligated balance of amounts appropriated under subparagraph (A) shall be transferred to the general fund of the Treasury.

(6) Federal administration.—Not more than 1 percent of amounts appropriated under paragraph (4) may be used for Federal administrative expenses, excluding inspection, technical assistance, and audit costs directly attributable to the procurement, transportation, delivery, or support of covered equipment.

(7) Condition on delivery obligations.—Other than amounts reasonably necessary for the activities described in paragraph (5), no amount may be obligated for equipment delivery until the agreement has entered into force.

(8) No local costs.—No amount in the Fund may be used for a local cost.

(9) Return of unobligated balance.—The unobligated balance of the Fund shall be transferred to the general fund of the Treasury on the date that is 3 years after the end of the clean energy delivery period, except for amounts the Secretary of Energy certifies are necessary for outstanding warranties, claims, audits, safety obligations, or orderly wind-down.

(10) Separation of funds.—No amount in the Fund may be transferred to the Verification Account or used for an activity authorized to be financed from that account.

(n) United States–Iran Nonproliferation Verification Account.—

(1) Establishment.—The Secretary of State shall establish within the Nonproliferation and Disarmament Fund authorized under section 504 of the FREEDOM Support Act (22 U.S.C. 5854) a separate account to be known as the "United States–Iran Nonproliferation Verification Account".

(2) Deposits.—The Verification Account shall consist of—

(A) amounts specifically appropriated or otherwise made available to the Verification Account;

(B) contributions from a foreign government or international organization accepted by the President for the Verification Account; and

(C) refunds, recoveries, and other amounts received in connection with activities financed from the Verification Account.

(3) Availability.—Amounts deposited in the Verification Account are appropriated to the Verification Account and, without further appropriation, shall remain available until expended.

(4) Authorized uses.—Amounts in the Verification Account may be used only to—

(A) make voluntary contributions to the IAEA for verification and monitoring under the agreement;

(B) support establishment and verification of the nuclear baseline, implementation of safeguards and enhanced monitoring, verification of declared and undeclared nuclear activities, monitoring of procurement and transfer controls, and other activities necessary to verify the nuclear commitments required under subsection (i);

(C) support United States participation in nuclear-verification activities of the joint implementation commission and independent technical analysis of nuclear-verification disputes;

(D) support mediation or other dispute-resolution activities concerning nuclear verification; and

(E) carry out reporting, audit, oversight, and Federal administration directly related to activities financed under this subsection.

(5) International contributions.—

(A) Solicitation.—Upon submission of the determination required under subsection (c)(6), the President shall seek contributions from foreign governments and international organizations to share the costs of verification and monitoring under the agreement.

(B) Supplementation.—A contribution accepted under paragraph (2)(B) shall supplement amounts made available by the United States and may not be treated as a condition of carrying out verification or monitoring required under the agreement.

(C) Independence.—The President may not accept a contribution subject to a condition that would limit or direct the scope, methods, findings, or reporting of the IAEA or another independent verifier.

(6) Authorization of appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated to the Verification Account such sums as may be necessary, beginning with the fiscal year in which the President submits the determination required under subsection (c)(6) and for each fiscal year thereafter during which activities authorized under this subsection are carried out. The President shall request amounts sufficient to prevent an interruption of required verification or monitoring without regard to whether anticipated contributions under paragraph (2)(B) have been received.

(7) Other legally available amounts.—Amounts otherwise legally available to the Nonproliferation and Disarmament Fund or for voluntary contributions to the IAEA may be used, as necessary, to prevent or address an interruption of verification or monitoring required under the agreement. The availability or use of such amounts may not be treated as a substitute for seeking contributions under paragraph (5) or requesting amounts specifically for the Verification Account under paragraph (6).

(8) Separation from manufacturing commitment.—No amount in the Verification Account may be transferred to the Fund or used to purchase, manufacture, transport, deliver, replace, or support covered equipment or to pay a local cost.

(9) Return of unobligated balance.—On the date that is 3 years after the President certifies to Congress that all verification and monitoring activities authorized under this subsection have concluded, the unobligated balance of the Verification Account shall be transferred to the general fund of the Treasury.

(o) Rules of construction.—Nothing in this section may be construed—

(1) to require the President to negotiate, conclude, or enter into the agreement;

(2) as an authorization for the use of military force against Iran or any other country or person;

(3) to authorize the transfer of a nuclear weapon, nuclear explosive device, nuclear material, sensitive nuclear technology, production facility, utilization facility, or Restricted Data;

(4) to create a private cause of action;

(5) to require the United States to finance a local cost;

(6) to require Iran to repay the value of covered equipment delivered in accordance with the agreement;

(7) to limit the authority of the IAEA or alter Iran's obligations under the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons or its safeguards agreement with the IAEA;

(8) to authorize ownership or control by the United States of land or civilian electricity infrastructure in Iran;

(9) to require general normalization of relations with Iran or termination of a sanction unrelated to the agreement;

(10) to prevent the United States and Iran from agreeing to additional peaceful, nonnuclear energy cooperation consistent with this section; or

(11) to require the United States to provide, finance, arrange, or guarantee reactor fuel, medical isotopes, target material, or other nuclear material for Iran.

SEC. 1324. PEACE ON THE KOREAN PENINSULA.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) On July 27, 1953, the commander in chief of the United Nations Command signed an armistice agreement with the supreme commander of the North Korean People's Army and the commander of the Chinese People's Volunteers, aiming to "insure a complete cessation of hostilities and of all acts of armed force in Korea until a final peaceful settlement is achieved".

(2) The armistice agreement neither formally ended the war nor represented a final peaceful settlement. After 7 decades, and as part of a commitment to fellowship among nations, the United States should pursue a sustained and credible diplomatic process to achieve an end to the Korean War.

(3) One major consequence of the continuation of the Korean War is that the United States does not have formal relations with North Korea. Approximately 100,000 Americans have relatives in North Korea, and diplomatic difficulties can prevent them from seeing their families.

(4) On April 27, 2018, in Panmunjom, the leaders of South Korea and North Korea declared that "a new era of peace has begun on the Korean peninsula", and committed "to declare the end of war" on the Korean peninsula 65 years after the signing of the armistice agreement.

(5) The United States and the Republic of Korea have continued to identify implementation of the framework established by the joint statement signed by the United States and North Korea in Singapore on June 12, 2018, meaningful dialogue, peace and stability on the Korean peninsula, and denuclearization as legitimate and related objectives.

(6) At the Hanoi Summit in February 2019, the United States and North Korea discussed formally ending the Korean War and exchanging diplomatic liaison offices, but those discussions did not advance because of a stalemate concerning nuclear and missile issues.

(7) In 2025 and 2026, the Government of the Republic of Korea renewed a policy of peaceful coexistence and shared growth on the Korean peninsula, including the institutionalization of peaceful coexistence, progress toward a permanent peace regime, practical efforts to resolve the nuclear issue, and attention to humanitarian concerns arising from division.

(8) The ongoing nuclear- and ballistic-missile-related activities of North Korea continue to pose a threat to international peace and security. Diplomatic efforts to establish a permanent peace regime on the Korean peninsula and diplomatic efforts to achieve denuclearization should proceed on parallel and mutually reinforcing tracks.

(b) Establishing liaison offices.—

(1) Negotiations required.—The Secretary of State shall seek to enter into and sustain negotiations with the Democratic People's Republic of Korea to establish liaison offices of North Korea and the United States in the respective capitals of each country.

(2) Functions.—The negotiations under paragraph (1) should address the use of liaison offices to support diplomatic communication, consular communication, family reunification, humanitarian coordination, de-escalation, and the negotiation and implementation of agreements concerning peace and denuclearization.

(3) Report.—The Secretary of State shall include in the report required under subsection (e)(3) a description of actions taken and progress made under this subsection.

(c) Validity of United States passports for travel to North Korea.—

(1) Termination of existing restriction.—Notwithstanding section 211a of title 22, United States Code, section 51.63 of title 22, Code of Federal Regulations, or any other provision of law, any determination, public notice, restriction, extension, or other action in effect on the date of enactment of this Act that makes a United States passport invalid for travel to, in, or through the Democratic People's Republic of Korea shall cease to have force or effect on that date.

(2) Future countrywide restriction.—The Secretary of State may not designate a United States passport as restricted for travel to or for use in the Democratic People's Republic of Korea before January 1, 2027. On or after January 1, 2027, the Secretary may make such a designation only if—

(A) the Secretary determines, based on materially changed circumstances occurring on or after January 1, 2027, that a condition described in the last sentence of section 211a of title 22, United States Code, exists;

(B) the determination is not based solely or substantially on conduct, facts, or circumstances occurring before January 1, 2027; and

(C) the Secretary publishes in the Federal Register the determination, the specific factual basis for the determination, and the scope and duration of the restriction.

(3) Family reunification and humanitarian travel.—The Secretary of State shall seek to facilitate bona fide travel by United States nationals for—

(A) visiting relatives residing in North Korea;

(B) attending or witnessing funerals, burials, religious commemorations, or family commemorations of relatives; and

(C) participating in organized family-reunification programs or other humanitarian activities directly related to the separation of families by the division of the Korean peninsula.

(4) Travel advisories and warnings.—The Secretary of State may issue, maintain, or strengthen a travel advisory, warning, or other public notice concerning the risks of travel to North Korea.

(5) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this subsection may be construed—

(A) to require North Korea or any transit country to admit a United States national;

(B) to limit the application of any otherwise applicable sanctions, export-control, customs, or criminal law; or

(C) to create a guarantee by the United States of the safety, consular access, release, or return of a traveler.

(d) Roadmap for phased sanctions relief.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State, in consultation with the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of Commerce, shall submit to the committees specified in subsection (e)(3)(A) a roadmap for phased sanctions relief concerning North Korea.

(2) Contents.—The roadmap required under paragraph (1) shall—

(A) identify North Korea–related unilateral economic sanctions scheduled to terminate under section 7202(b) of title 22, United States Code, as amended by section 1322;

(B) identify any such sanction for which the President recommends temporary continuation by Congress and state the specific objective and measurable termination criteria for that sanction;

(C) distinguish targeted sanctions against specifically identified persons or entities from countrywide or sectorwide restrictions;

(D) identify sanctions imposed pursuant to a mandatory decision of the United Nations Security Council or a substantially equivalent multilateral regime and describe the diplomacy necessary to modify or terminate such sanctions;

(E) describe reciprocal, verifiable, and proportionate steps through which sanctions relief may support progress concerning peace, denuclearization, humanitarian access, family reunification, and reduced military tension; and

(F) ensure that sanctions implementation does not materially impair access by the civilian population of North Korea to essential civilian goods and services, as defined in section 7201 of title 22, United States Code, as amended by section 1322.

(3) Form and public availability.—The roadmap required under paragraph (1) shall be submitted in unclassified form, may contain a classified annex, and shall be made publicly available on the website of the Department of State on the date on which it is submitted, except for the classified annex.

(4) State Sponsor of Terrorism designation unaffected.—Nothing in this section may be construed to rescind or require the rescission of a determination that the Government of North Korea has repeatedly provided support for acts of international terrorism.

(e) Formal end to the Korean War.—

(1) Diplomatic engagement required.—The Secretary of State shall seek to initiate and sustain serious and urgent diplomatic engagement with North Korea and South Korea, in consultation with such other parties as the Secretary determines necessary or appropriate, in pursuit of—

(A) a binding peace agreement constituting a formal and final end to the state of war between North Korea, South Korea, and the United States; and

(B) such related agreements or arrangements involving other necessary parties as may be required to replace or supersede the Armistice Agreement and establish a permanent and stable peace regime on the Korean peninsula.

(2) Parallel tracks.—Diplomatic efforts to establish a permanent peace regime and diplomatic efforts to achieve denuclearization shall proceed on parallel and mutually reinforcing tracks. Neither objective shall be treated as a categorical precondition to beginning or sustaining diplomatic engagement concerning the other objective.

(3) Report.—

(A) Initial report.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall submit to the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate a report describing a clear roadmap for achieving a permanent peace agreement on the Korean peninsula.

(B) Contents.—The report required under subparagraph (A) shall—

(i) contain an accounting of the steps necessary to enter into and sustain negotiations with North Korea and South Korea to conclude a binding peace agreement;

(ii) identify the parties and other key stakeholders whose participation or consultation may be necessary or appropriate;

(iii) describe the challenges concerning the ability of the United States to achieve a binding peace agreement constituting a formal and final end to the state of war between North Korea, South Korea, and the United States;

(iv) describe how peace regime negotiations and denuclearization negotiations can proceed on parallel and mutually reinforcing tracks; and

(v) identify practical confidence-building, humanitarian, communication, and de-escalation measures that could support the diplomatic process.

(C) Form and public availability.—The report required under subparagraph (A) shall be submitted in unclassified form, may contain a classified annex, and shall be made publicly available on the website of the Department of State on the date on which it is submitted, except for the classified annex.

(D) Annual reports.—Not later than 1 year after the date on which the report required under subparagraph (A) is submitted, and annually thereafter for 4 years, the Secretary of State shall submit to the committees specified in subparagraph (A) and make publicly available an updated report describing—

(i) actions taken and progress made with respect to each matter described in subparagraph (B);

(ii) actions taken and progress made to establish liaison offices under subsection (b);

(iii) progress in peace regime and denuclearization diplomacy;

(iv) efforts relating to family reunification and humanitarian concerns arising from the division of the Korean peninsula; and

(v) progress in carrying out the roadmap required under subsection (d).

(f) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section may be construed to affect the status of United States armed forces stationed in South Korea or any other foreign country.

SEC. 1325. REMOVAL OF PROVISIONS RELATING TO CUBA.

(a) Sense of Congress.—

(1) In general.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(A) the United States should promote democratic change and economic reform by normalizing trade relations with Cuba; and

(B) upon the enactment of this Act, it will no longer be necessary for the United States to continue to use article XXI of the GATT 1994 with respect to Cuba, understanding that the President retains full authority to invoke article XXI of the GATT 1994 and comparable provisions in other Uruguay Round Agreements in the future in all appropriate circumstances.

(2) Definitions.—In this subsection, the terms "GATT 1994" and "Uruguay Round Agreements" have the meanings given those terms in section 2 of the Uruguay Round Agreements Act (19 U.S.C. 3501).

(b) Extension of nondiscriminatory treatment to the products of Cuba.—

(1) Harmonized Tariff Schedule amendments.—Subdivision (b) of general note 3 of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States is amended—

(A) by striking "to section 401 of the Tariff Classification Act of 1962,"; and

(B) by striking "Cuba".

(2) Repeal of section 401 of the Tariff Classification Act of 1962.—Section 401 of the Tariff Classification Act of 1962 (Public Law 87–456; 76 Stat. 78) is repealed.

(3) Termination of application of title IV of the Trade Act of 1974 to Cuba.—

(A) Extension of nondiscriminatory treatment.—Nondiscriminatory treatment (normal trade relations treatment) shall apply to the products of Cuba.

(B) Termination of application of title IV.—Title IV of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2431 et seq.) shall cease to apply to Cuba.

(4) Effective date.—This subsection, and the amendments made by this subsection, shall apply with respect to goods entered, or withdrawn from warehouse for consumption, on or after the 15th day after the date of enactment of this Act.

(5) Report to Congress.—The President shall submit to Congress, not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, a report on trade relations between the United States and Cuba.

(c) Authority for embargo and sugar quota.—

(1) In general.—Section 620(a) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2370(a)) is repealed.

(2) Conforming amendment.—Section 1610(f)(1)(A) of title 28, United States Code, is amended by striking "section 620(a) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2370(a)),".

(d) Trading with the Enemy Act.—

(1) In general.—The authorities conferred upon the President by section 5(b) of the Trading With the Enemy Act (50 U.S.C. 4305(b)), which were being exercised with respect to Cuba on July 1, 1977, as a result of a national emergency declared by the President before that date, and are being exercised on the day before the effective date of this section, may not be exercised on or after such effective date with respect to Cuba.

(2) Regulations.—Any regulation in effect on the day before the effective date of this section pursuant to the exercise of authorities described in paragraph (1) shall cease to be effective on such effective date.

(e) Exercise of authorities under other provisions of law.—

(1) Removal of prohibitions.—Any prohibition on exports to Cuba that is in effect on the day before the effective date of this section under the Export Administration Act of 1979 (Public Law 96–72; 93 Stat. 503) or the Export Control Reform Act of 2018 (50 U.S.C. 4801 et seq.) shall cease to be effective on such effective date.

(2) Authority for new restrictions.—The President may, on and after the effective date of this section—

(A) impose export controls with respect to Cuba under the Export Control Reform Act of 2018 (50 U.S.C. 4801 et seq.); and

(B) exercise the authorities the President has under the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (50 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.) with respect to Cuba pursuant to a declaration of national emergency required by that Act that is made on account of an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security, foreign policy, or economy of the United States that is independently supported by conduct or circumstances occurring on or after the date of enactment of this Act, including continuing conduct to the extent that it continues on or after that date or a material change or intensification occurring on or after that date, and that is not based solely or substantially on conduct or circumstances occurring before that date.

(3) Termination of Cuba-specific national emergencies.—Pursuant to section 202 of the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1622), each national emergency in effect on the date of enactment of this Act that was declared specifically with respect to Cuba, the Government of Cuba, or conduct by the Government of Cuba is terminated on the effective date of this section.

(4) Executive actions.—Executive Order 14380 of January 29, 2026, Executive Order 14404 of May 1, 2026, and any Executive order, proclamation, presidential memorandum, directive, determination, or other presidential action issued before the effective date of this section that implements, continues, expands, or relies solely or principally on a national emergency terminated under paragraph (3) shall have no force or effect on or after such effective date.

(5) Implementing measures.—Notwithstanding section 101(a) of Public Law 95–223 (50 U.S.C. 1706(a)), any regulation, order, directive, license restriction, designation, blocking action, tariff, sanction, or other restriction imposed solely pursuant to a national emergency terminated under paragraph (3) or a presidential action described in paragraph (4) shall cease to have force or effect on the effective date of this section.

(6) Regulatory implementation.—Not later than the effective date of this section, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Homeland Security, the United States Trade Representative, and the head of each other relevant Federal department or agency shall—

(A) rescind, revoke, or revise each regulation, order, directive, list, licensing requirement, and guidance document that is inconsistent with this section or an amendment made by this section;

(B) publish consolidated public guidance describing the trade, travel, financial, telecommunications, remittance, and other transactions that are lawful on and after the effective date of this section;

(C) establish procedures for the prompt release of property and authorization of transactions blocked solely under an authority terminated by paragraph (3), (4), or (5), except for property subject to attachment, execution, or other judicial process under otherwise applicable law; and

(D) certify to the appropriate committees of Congress that the department or agency has completed the actions required by this paragraph.

(7) No delay in statutory effect.—Failure or delay by an executive department or agency in carrying out paragraph (6) does not delay, limit, extinguish, or reduce the effect of paragraphs (1) through (5).

(8) Preservation of generally applicable targeted authorities.—Nothing in paragraphs (3) through (6) may be construed to limit the authority of the United States to impose a sanction, export control, visa restriction, blocking action, or other targeted measure against a particular individual or entity under an authority that applies without regard to Cuba, based on the individualized findings required by that authority, for conduct involving terrorism, proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, narcotics trafficking, malicious cyber activity, corruption, serious human rights abuse, transnational crime, or another specifically identified threat.

(9) Prior conduct and accrued liabilities.—Except as otherwise expressly provided in this section, the termination of an emergency, authority, or executive action under this subsection shall not affect a final judgment, a penalty incurred, an enforcement action based on conduct occurring before the effective date of this section, or a right or duty that matured before such effective date.

(f) Repeal of Cuban Democracy Act of 1992.—The Cuban Democracy Act of 1992 (22 U.S.C. 6001 et seq.) is repealed.

(g) Repeal of Cuban Liberty and Democratic Solidarity (LIBERTAD) Act of 1996.—

(1) Repeal.—The Cuban Liberty and Democratic Solidarity (LIBERTAD) Act of 1996 (22 U.S.C. 6021 et seq.) is repealed.

(2) Conforming amendments.—

(A) Visa revocation.—Section 428(c)(2) of the Homeland Security Act of 2002 (6 U.S.C. 236(c)(2)) is amended—

(i) by striking subparagraph (K); and

(ii) by redesignating subparagraphs (L) through (P) as subparagraphs (K) through (O), respectively.

(B) Effect of determination.—Section 606 of the Illegal Immigration Reform and Immigrant Responsibility Act of 1996 (Public Law 104–208; 8 U.S.C. 1255 note) is repealed.

(C) Property immune from attachment.—Section 1611 of title 28, United States Code, is amended by striking subsection (c).

(D) International claims.—Sections 514 and 515 of the International Claims Settlement Act of 1949 (22 U.S.C. 1643l and 1643m) are repealed.

(h) Repeal of provisions imposing certain restrictions on assistance to former Soviet countries.—

(1) In general.—Section 498A of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2295a) is amended—

(A) in subsection (a)(11), by striking "and intelligence facilities, including the military and intelligence facilities at Lourdes and Cienfuegos," and inserting "facilities,";

(B) in subsection (b)—

(i) in paragraph (4), by inserting "or" after the semicolon;

(ii) by striking paragraph (5); and

(iii) by redesignating paragraph (6) as paragraph (5); and

(C) by striking subsection (d).

(2) Definitions.—Section 498B(k) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2295b(k)) is amended by striking paragraphs (3) and (4).

(i) Trade Sanctions Reform and Export Enhancement Act of 2000.—The Trade Sanctions Reform and Export Enhancement Act of 2000 (22 U.S.C. 7201 et seq.) is amended—

(1) in section 906(a)(1) (22 U.S.C. 7205(a)(1)), as amended by section 1322, by striking "Cuba,";

(2) in section 908 (22 U.S.C. 7207)—

(A) by striking subsection (b);

(B) in subsection (a)—

(i) by striking "Prohibition" and all that follows through "(1) In general.—Notwithstanding" and inserting "In general.—Notwithstanding";

(ii) by striking "for exports to Cuba or";

(iii) by striking paragraph (2); and

(iv) by redesignating paragraph (3) as subsection (b) and by moving such subsection, as so redesignated, 2 ems to the left; and

(C) in subsection (b), as redesignated by subparagraph (B)(iv), by striking "paragraph (1)" and inserting "subsection (a)";

(3) by striking section 909 (22 U.S.C. 7208);

(4) by striking section 910 (22 U.S.C. 7209); and

(5) by redesignating section 911 (Public Law 106–387; 114 Stat. 1549A–72) as section 909.

(j) Repeal of prohibition on transactions or payments with respect to certain United States intellectual property.—Section 211 of the Department of Commerce and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 1999 (as contained in section 101(b) of division A of Public Law 105–277; 112 Stat. 2681–88) is repealed.

(k) Sugar quota prohibition under Food Security Act of 1985.—Subsection (c) of section 902 of the Food Security Act of 1985 (Public Law 99–198; 99 Stat. 1444) is repealed.

(l) Telecommunications equipment and facilities.—

(1) In general.—Any common carrier, as defined in section 3 of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U.S.C. 153), may install, maintain, and repair telecommunications equipment and facilities in Cuba, and otherwise provide telecommunications services between the United States and Cuba.

(2) Upgrade of facilities and equipment.—The authority under paragraph (1) includes the authority to upgrade facilities and equipment.

(m) Travel.—

(1) In general.—Travel to and from Cuba by individuals who are citizens or residents of the United States, and any transactions ordinarily incident to such travel, may not be regulated or prohibited if that travel would be lawful in the United States.

(2) Transactions incident to travel.—Transactions ordinarily incident to travel that may not be regulated or prohibited under paragraph (1) include the following:

(A) Transactions ordinarily incident to travel or maintenance in Cuba.

(B) Normal banking transactions involving foreign currency drafts, traveler's checks, or other negotiable instruments incident to that travel.

(n) Negotiations with Cuba.—

(1) Negotiations.—The President should take all necessary steps to advance negotiations with the Government of Cuba—

(A) for the purpose of settling claims of nationals of the United States against the Government of Cuba for the taking of property by such government; and

(B) for the purpose of securing the protection of internationally recognized human rights.

(2) Definitions.—In this subsection, the terms "national of the United States" and "property" have the meanings given those terms in section 502 of the International Claims Settlement Act of 1949 (22 U.S.C. 1643a).

(o) Prohibition on limiting annual remittances.—

(1) In general.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), the Secretary of the Treasury may not limit the amount of remittances to Cuba that may be made by any person who is subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, and the Secretary shall rescind all regulations in effect on the date of enactment of this Act that limit the amount of those remittances.

(2) Rule of construction.—Nothing in paragraph (1) may be construed to prohibit the prosecution or conviction of any person committing an offense described in section 1956 of title 18, United States Code, relating to the laundering of monetary instruments, or section 1957 of such title, relating to engaging in monetary transactions in property derived from specified unlawful activity.

(p) Rescission of determinations relating to support for international terrorism.—

(1) Rescission.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, each determination in effect on the date of enactment of this Act that the Government of Cuba has repeatedly provided support for acts of international terrorism, including a determination in effect for purposes of section 620A of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2371), section 40 of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2780), section 1754(c) of the Export Control Reform Act of 2018 (50 U.S.C. 4813(c)), or any predecessor, successor, or other provision of law, is rescinded on that date.

(2) Foreign-tax-credit certification.—Not later than 7 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury, for purposes of section 901(j)(2)(B)(ii) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, that Cuba is no longer described in section 901(j)(2)(A) of such Code, unless the Secretary of State determines and reports to the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate that Cuba remains described in such section on a basis independent of a determination rescinded under paragraph (1).

(3) Future determination.—After the date of enactment of this Act, a determination described in paragraph (1) may be made with respect to Cuba only if—

(A) acts or omissions of the Government of Cuba occurring on or after that date independently establish that the Government of Cuba has repeatedly provided support for acts of international terrorism under the applicable provision of law; and

(B) the determination is not based solely or substantially on conduct occurring before that date.

(4) Continuing conduct.—Conduct that began before the date of enactment of this Act and continues on or after that date may be considered under paragraph (3) only to the extent that the conduct continues on or after that date.

(5) Report and public availability.—At the time a determination described in paragraph (3) is made, the Secretary of State shall—

(A) submit to the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate an unclassified report identifying the specific post-enactment conduct supporting the determination, which may contain a classified annex; and

(B) make the unclassified report publicly available on the website of the Department of State.

(q) Requirement to report to Congress prior to denial of foreign tax credit with respect to certain foreign countries.—

(1) In general.—Subclause (II) of section 901(j)(2)(B)(i) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 is amended by striking "such country becomes" and inserting "the date on which the President reports to Congress that such country has been determined to be".

(2) Effective date.—

(A) In general.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the amendment made by paragraph (1) shall apply to any determination regarding whether a foreign country is described in subparagraph (A) of section 901(j)(2) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 that is made after the date of enactment of this Act.

(B) Nonapplication to countries subject to denial of foreign tax credit.—Nothing in this subsection, or the amendment made by this subsection, may be construed to alter, amend, or otherwise affect the application of subsection (j) of section 901 of such Code to any country that has been determined to be a country described in paragraph (2)(A) of such subsection on or before the date of enactment of this Act.

(r) Effective date.—Except as provided in subsection (b) or (p), this section and the amendments made by this section shall take effect on December 31, 2026.

SEC. 1326. FELLOWSHIP AMONG NATIONS AND PEACE AND STABILITY PARTNERSHIPS.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Violent conflict, state collapse, famine, displacement, organized corruption, predatory debt, labor exploitation, concentrated economic power, and coercive extraction of income or wealth contribute to human suffering, regional instability, and long-term insecurity.

(2) Preventing conflict through diplomacy, peacebuilding, civilian assistance, fair economic development, and locally rooted institutions is less costly, less destructive, and more consistent with the interests of the United States than responding to war after violence has erupted.

(3) The Global Fragility Act of 2019 recognized that the United States should pursue a long-term strategy to prevent conflict, promote stability, support locally driven solutions, and measure outcomes rather than merely program outputs.

(4) Peace and stability are strengthened when nations and communities have the practical capacity to resolve disputes without violence, provide essential services, prevent corruption, limit concentrated economic power, protect local productive capacity, and maintain public systems that serve ordinary people.

(5) The United States should practice fellowship among nations by offering voluntary civilian partnership, technical assistance, and nonviolent support without imposing political, constitutional, or economic models on other nations.

(b) Purpose.—The purpose of this section is to establish a civilian framework for voluntary peace and stability partnerships that help willing nations, regions, local governments, and civic institutions prevent conflict, reduce fragility, strengthen public systems, combat corruption, build productive and competitive economies, and resolve disputes without war.

(c) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Civilian non-security assistance.—The term "civilian non-security assistance" means assistance that is not administered by the Department of Defense and does not provide weapons, military equipment, intelligence support, covert operational support, combat support, or training, equipping, or operational support for military, paramilitary, police, prison, intelligence, or internal security forces.

(2) Participating partner.—The term "participating partner" means a foreign government, regional organization, local government, civic institution, labor organization, cooperative, educational institution, health care institution, humanitarian organization, religious institution, mediation organization, nonprofit organization, nongovernmental organization, small business association, agricultural association, or other nonviolent entity that participates in a peace and stability partnership.

(3) Peace and stability partnership.—The term "peace and stability partnership" means a voluntary partnership established under subsection (e) to support civilian, nonviolent, locally rooted efforts to prevent conflict, reduce fragility, strengthen public systems, and promote peaceful cooperation.

(d) Administration.—

(1) In general.—The Secretary of State, in consultation with the Secretary of Peacebuilding, may establish and administer peace and stability partnerships in accordance with this section.

(2) Department of Peacebuilding participation.—The Secretary of Peacebuilding shall support the administration of peace and stability partnerships through—

(A) the Assistant Secretary for International Peacebuilding and Human Security;

(B) the Assistant Secretary for Civic Dignity and Economic Security;

(C) the Assistant Secretary for Technology, Media, and Democratic Resilience;

(D) the Assistant Secretary for Peace Education, Training, and Research; and

(E) such other officers of the Department of Peacebuilding as the Secretary of Peacebuilding determines appropriate.

(3) Lead office.—The Assistant Secretary for International Peacebuilding and Human Security shall serve as the lead officer of the Department of Peacebuilding for purposes of coordination under this section.

(4) Economic systems consultation.—The Assistant Secretary for Civic Dignity and Economic Security shall advise the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Peacebuilding regarding the relationship between peace and economic security, including poverty, debt distress, labor exploitation, resource extraction, wage suppression, concentrated economic power, and coercive extraction of income or wealth.

(e) Peace and stability partnerships authorized.—

(1) In general.—The Secretary of State, in consultation with the Secretary of Peacebuilding, may establish peace and stability partnerships with 1 or more participating partners.

(2) Voluntary nature.—A peace and stability partnership shall be voluntary and shall be developed through consultation with participating partners.

(3) Local agency.—To the greatest extent practicable, a peace and stability partnership shall be designed with meaningful participation by national, regional, local, and civic partners in the country or region in which the partnership will operate.

(4) No imposed model.—Assistance under this section may not be conditioned on the adoption of a political, constitutional, monetary, financial, industrial, or economic model designed by the United States.

(f) Partnership objectives.—A peace and stability partnership shall be based on a written plan developed under subsection (g), which should contain some or all of the following provisions:

(1) The partnership may support peaceful dispute resolution, mediation, reconciliation, nonviolent political settlement, de-escalation, civilian protection, and local capacity to prevent violence.

(2) The partnership may support essential services, including food, water, housing, transportation, energy, communications, sanitation, emergency response, and disaster resilience.

(3) The partnership may support health care, public health, trauma recovery, mental health services, disability services, maternal and child health, disease prevention, and humanitarian medical response.

(4) The partnership may support education, vocational training, civic capacity, public administration, workforce development, peace education, and training in nonviolent conflict resolution.

(5) The partnership may support anti-corruption systems, public accountability, transparent budgeting, procurement integrity, public records, independent auditing, and rule of law.

(6) The partnership may support natural resource, land, water, forest, mineral, port, and infrastructure governance, including transparent public stewardship of resources essential to peace, economic security, and community survival.

(7) The partnership may support labor standards, workplace democracy, cooperatives, small business development, agricultural development, local ownership, productive capacity, and fair participation by workers and producers in economic life.

(8) The partnership may support competition policy, anti-monopoly enforcement, prevention of concentrated control over essential markets, and protection against economic coercion by dominant firms, cartels, oligarchs, or foreign monopolies.

(9) The partnership may support debt relief, public banking, monetary reform, nonextractive finance, payment systems, household financial stability, and public benefit systems designed to reduce conflict arising from economic insecurity.

(10) The partnership may support post-conflict reconstruction, restoration of public services, repair of civilian infrastructure, reintegration of people affected by conflict, and local economic recovery.

(11) The partnership may support technology, media, communications, digital public infrastructure, information integrity, democratic resilience, and protection against disinformation or propaganda that incites violence.

(12) The partnership may support humanitarian access, displacement response, safe return or resettlement of displaced people, family reunification, and the restoration of community life after conflict or disaster.

(g) Partnership plans.—

(1) In general.—Each peace and stability partnership shall be carried out under a written partnership plan.

(2) Contents.—A partnership plan shall include—

(A) the participating partners;

(B) the objectives selected under subsection (f);

(C) the forms of civilian non-security assistance to be provided;

(D) the expected contributions of participating partners, if any;

(E) the expected contributions of the United States;

(F) the process for consultation with local governments, civic institutions, workers, producers, affected communities, and other participating partners;

(G) safeguards against corruption, diversion, coercion, violence, and misuse of funds;

(H) metrics for evaluating progress toward the objectives selected under subsection (f);

(I) procedures for revising the plan at the request of participating partners; and

(J) procedures for suspending, redirecting, or terminating assistance in accordance with subsection (k).

(3) No mandatory cost-sharing.—A partnership plan may include cost-sharing or in-kind contributions by participating partners, but assistance under this section may not be denied solely because a participating partner lacks financial resources to provide cost-sharing.

(4) Revision.—A participating partner may request revision of a partnership plan based on changed conditions, local experience, implementation challenges, or a determination that a different approach would better serve the purposes of this section.

(h) Civilian non-security assistance.—

(1) In general.—The Secretary of State, in consultation with the Secretary of Peacebuilding, may provide civilian non-security assistance to carry out a peace and stability partnership.

(2) Forms of assistance.—Assistance under paragraph (1) may include—

(A) grants;

(B) cooperative agreements;

(C) technical assistance;

(D) training;

(E) research and data support;

(F) mediation support;

(G) public administration support;

(H) humanitarian and disaster response support;

(I) planning and implementation support for reconstruction and restoration of public services;

(J) support for anti-corruption, public accountability, and independent auditing systems;

(K) support for nonextractive economic development, competition policy, and local productive capacity; and

(L) support for education, health care, public health, communications, transportation, energy, water, food, and other civilian systems that reduce conflict and strengthen peace.

(i) Coordination.—

(1) Department of Peacebuilding.—The Secretary of State and the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall coordinate assistance under this section with the Department of Peacebuilding.

(2) Federal Interagency Committee on Peace.—The Secretary of Peacebuilding may use the Federal Interagency Committee on Peace established under section 1315(b) to coordinate civilian agency participation in peace and stability partnerships.

(3) Civilian agencies.—The Secretary of State and the Secretary of Peacebuilding may coordinate with the heads of the Department of the Treasury, the Department of Commerce, the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Energy, the Department of Health and Human Services, the Department of Education, the Department of Labor, and other civilian Federal agencies as appropriate.

(4) Department of Defense limitation.—No funds made available to carry out this section may be transferred to, administered by, or used by the Department of Defense.

(j) Local agency and noncoercion.—

(1) In general.—A peace and stability partnership shall preserve the agency of participating partners and shall be implemented in a manner that supports local responsibility, practical capacity, and voluntary cooperation.

(2) Prohibited conditions.—Assistance under this section may not be conditioned on—

(A) privatization of public assets;

(B) austerity measures;

(C) elimination of labor protections;

(D) preferential treatment for United States corporations;

(E) adoption of a United States-designed constitution, electoral system, central banking structure, public finance system, industrial policy, or trade policy; or

(F) exclusion of nonviolent civic participants based on demographic preference.

(3) Construction.—Nothing in this subsection may be construed to prohibit the United States from offering technical assistance, research, model policies, or comparative analysis at the request of a participating partner.

(k) Accountability and stewardship.—

(1) In general.—The Secretary of State and the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall establish safeguards to ensure that assistance under this section is used for the purposes of the applicable partnership plan.

(2) Safeguards.—Safeguards under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) transparent accounting;

(B) public reporting, to the greatest extent consistent with safety and diplomatic necessity;

(C) anti-corruption controls;

(D) independent monitoring, where practicable;

(E) procedures for receiving information from participating partners and affected communities;

(F) procedures for revising partnership plans based on evidence and local experience; and

(G) procedures for suspending, redirecting, or terminating assistance under paragraph (3).

(3) Suspension, redirection, or termination.—The Secretary of State, in consultation with the Secretary of Peacebuilding, may suspend, redirect, or terminate assistance under this section if—

(A) funds are stolen, diverted, or materially misused;

(B) assistance is used to support violence, repression, corruption, coercion, or exploitation;

(C) a participating partner knowingly provides materially false accounting or reporting;

(D) implementation of the partnership plan becomes impossible because of armed conflict, disaster, or collapse of local administration;

(E) continued assistance would materially undermine the purposes of this section; or

(F) the United States and 1 or more participating partners jointly determine that suspension, redirection, or termination would better serve the purposes of this section.

(l) Reports to Congress.—

(1) Annual report.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, and annually thereafter, the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall submit to Congress a report on peace and stability partnerships carried out under this section.

(2) Contents.—Each report required under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) a list of peace and stability partnerships in effect during the reporting period;

(B) the participating partners for each partnership;

(C) the objectives selected under subsection (f);

(D) the amount and form of assistance provided;

(E) the Federal agencies involved;

(F) the metrics used to evaluate progress;

(G) any known misuse, diversion, or corruption involving funds provided under this section;

(H) any suspension, redirection, or termination of assistance under subsection (k);

(I) any request by a participating partner to revise a partnership plan; and

(J) recommendations for legislation or administrative action to improve civilian peacebuilding, conflict prevention, and fellowship among nations.

(m) Limitations.—

(1) Prohibited uses.—No funds made available to carry out this section may be used for—

(A) military occupation;

(B) regime-change operations;

(C) covert action;

(D) intelligence activities;

(E) weapons transfers;

(F) security-force assistance;

(G) construction, operation, or support of military, paramilitary, police, prison, intelligence, or internal security facilities;

(H) demographic preference programs; or

(I) assistance to any unit of a military, paramilitary, police, prison, intelligence, or internal security force that has committed an atrocity crime, as defined in section 1337, or a serious violation of international humanitarian law.

(2) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section may be construed to authorize the use of military force, covert action, intelligence activities, weapons transfers, or security-force assistance.

(n) Authorization of appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this section.

Subpart B—Weapons Restraint and Civilian Protection

SEC. 1331. PROHIBITION ON FIRST PLACEMENT OF WEAPONS IN OUTER SPACE AND ON SPACE-BASED MISSILE DEFENSE WEAPONS.

(a) Statement of policy.—It is the policy of the United States—

(1) to refrain from being the first country to place a weapon in outer space;

(2) to seek to prevent an arms race in outer space and preserve outer space for peaceful use; and

(3) to seek to negotiate and conclude a legally binding international agreement that—

(A) includes effective verification and compliance mechanisms;

(B) prohibits the placement of weapons in outer space;

(C) prohibits the threat or use of force against outer space objects;

(D) prohibits a party to the agreement from assisting or inducing another country or person to engage in conduct prohibited under subparagraph (B) or (C); and

(E) preserves the inherent right of individual or collective self-defense, as recognized by Article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations.

(b) Prohibition on first placement of weapons in outer space and on space-based missile defense weapons.—Chapter 135 of title 10, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new section:

"Sec. 2280. Prohibition on first placement of weapons in outer space and on space-based missile defense weapons.

"(a) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) Federal funds.—The term 'Federal funds' means amounts appropriated or otherwise made available to a department, agency, or instrumentality of the United States.

"(2) Outer space object.—The term 'outer space object' means an object, including any component thereof, that has been placed in outer space.

"(3) Place or placement in outer space.—The terms 'place in outer space' and 'placement in outer space' mean, with respect to an object, to cause the object to—

"(A) enter an orbit around Earth, whether or not the object completes a full revolution before leaving the orbit;

"(B) be positioned for sustained operation elsewhere in outer space; or

"(C) be installed on a celestial body other than Earth.

"(4) Space-based missile defense weapon.—The term 'space-based missile defense weapon' means a space weapon designed or modified to intercept, destroy, damage, disable, or disrupt a missile or its payload.

"(5) Space weapon.—The term 'space weapon' means an object, including any component thereof, designed or modified for placement in outer space to destroy, damage, disable, disrupt, or materially interfere with the normal functioning of a person or object in outer space, in Earth's atmosphere, or on Earth.

"(6) Weapon in outer space.—The term 'weapon in outer space' means a space weapon that has been placed in outer space.

"(b) No first placement of weapons in outer space.—No Federal funds may be obligated or expended to place a space weapon in outer space or to operate or maintain a weapon in outer space unless—

"(1) the President submits to Congress a written certification, in unclassified form but which may include a classified annex, that—

"(A) a foreign country, directly or through an agency, instrumentality, or person acting on behalf of or under the direction or control of the foreign country, has placed and continues to operate or maintain a weapon in outer space; and

"(B) the certification identifies the foreign country responsible, describes the weapon, and states the factual basis for the certification; and

"(2) after receiving the certification, Congress enacts a law that expressly refers to this section and specifically authorizes the placement, operation, or maintenance.

"(c) No first use of weapons against outer space objects.—No Federal funds may be obligated or expended to use a ground-based, sea-based, or air-based weapon to destroy, damage, disable, or materially disrupt the normal functioning of an outer space object under the jurisdiction or control of another country unless—

"(1) the action is undertaken in individual or collective self-defense consistent with Article 51 of the Charter of the United Nations; or

"(2) Congress enacts a law that expressly refers to this section and specifically authorizes the action.

"(d) No space-based missile defense weapons.—No Federal funds may be obligated or expended for research, development, test, evaluation, production, procurement, deployment, operation, or sustainment of a space-based missile defense weapon.

"(e) No space weapons component of Golden Dome.—No Federal funds may be obligated or expended to develop, test, produce, procure, deploy, operate, sustain, or otherwise carry out the Golden Dome for America program, formerly known as the Iron Dome for America initiative established under Executive Order 14186 (90 Fed. Reg. 8767), or any successor or substantially similar program, regardless of designation, to the extent that the program includes—

"(1) a space weapon, including a space-based missile defense weapon; or

"(2) a battle management, targeting, command and control, or fire control system specifically designed or modified to direct, control, or enable the placement or use of a space weapon.

"(f) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit—

"(1) a ground-based, sea-based, or air-based missile defense system that is not specifically designed or modified to direct, control, or enable the placement or use of a space weapon;

"(2) an outer space object, sensor, communications system, or data processing system that is not a space weapon and is not specifically designed or modified to direct, control, or enable the placement or use of a space weapon; or

"(3) activities and expenditures strictly necessary to safely terminate, deactivate, dismantle, deorbit, dispose of, or otherwise eliminate a weapon, component, program, or system prohibited under this section.".

(c) Conforming amendments.—

(1) Space systems for space warfighting and control.—Section 2275d(a) of title 10, United States Code, is amended by striking "The Secretary of Defense" and inserting "Subject to section 2280, the Secretary of Defense".

(2) Table of sections.—The table of sections at the beginning of chapter 135 of title 10, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new item:

"2280. Prohibition on first placement of weapons in outer space and on space-based missile defense weapons.".

(d) Application to previously available amounts.—The amendments made by this section shall apply to amounts appropriated or otherwise made available before, on, or after the date of enactment of this Act.

SEC. 1332. PROHIBITION ON LETHAL AUTONOMOUS WEAPON SYSTEMS.

(a) Statement of policy.—It is the policy of the United States to prohibit lethal autonomous weapon systems that operate without meaningful human control and to pursue, through diplomatic channels, a legally binding international instrument that prohibits such systems and ensures that all countries retain human decision making authority over decisions to use lethal force.

(b) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Human dignity requires that decisions to use lethal force against a human being remain under the conscience and judgment of accountable human beings, and delegating those decisions to machines undermines that dignity.

(2) Fully autonomous weapon systems that select and engage targets without meaningful human control raise grave legal, moral, strategic, and security concerns, including the risk of unlawful killings, violations of the laws of armed conflict, the erosion of accountability, and the destabilizing potential for rapid escalation.

(3) Advances in autonomy, machine learning, computer vision, and sensor fusion have outpaced the development of binding domestic and international rules to ensure that human beings retain ultimate authority over lethal force.

(4) The United Nations General Assembly and the Group of Governmental Experts on Lethal Autonomous Weapons Systems have recognized the urgent need to ensure meaningful human involvement in decisions to use force and have called for the development of a normative and operational framework to address the risks posed by such systems.

(5) The United States has a responsibility to provide for the common defense in a manner consistent with Constitutional values and with international humanitarian law, including the principles of distinction, proportionality, and precaution.

(6) By adopting a clear prohibition on lethal autonomous weapon systems and prohibiting the creation of platforms that could be converted into lethal autonomous weapon systems through software modification alone, the United States can restore moral leadership and advance diplomatic efforts to prevent the development, deployment, or proliferation of such weapons.

(c) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Appropriate congressional committees.—The term "appropriate congressional committees" means—

(A) the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives; and

(B) the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Foreign Relations, and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate.

(2) Defined terms.—The terms "lethal autonomous weapon system" and "meaningful human control" have the meanings given those terms in section 229F of title 18, United States Code.

(d) Prohibition on Federal activities.—No department, agency, or other entity of the United States may engage in, authorize, direct, or knowingly facilitate conduct that would violate section 229(a) of title 18, United States Code, if engaged in by a person, to the extent the conduct involves a lethal autonomous weapon system.

(e) Permitted autonomous functions.—Nothing in subsection (d) or chapter 11B of title 18, United States Code, may be construed to prohibit—

(1) autonomous or semi-autonomous navigation, guidance, or station keeping;

(2) autonomous defensive measures directed exclusively against incoming munitions or vehicles, provided that—

(A) the system is designed, tested, and reviewed to minimize risk to human beings and to comply with the laws of armed conflict; and

(B) if the application of force is known or reasonably likely to cause the death of a human being, including where human beings are being used as human shields, human authorization is required before lethal force is applied whenever time and circumstances reasonably permit; or

(3) autonomous or semi-autonomous functions that do not involve selecting human beings as targets or applying lethal force, provided that such functions are subject to meaningful human control and to legal review under subsection (g).

(f) Prohibition on funds.—No funds appropriated or otherwise made available to any department or agency of the United States may be obligated or expended to engage in, authorize, direct, or knowingly facilitate conduct that would violate section 229(a) of title 18, United States Code, if engaged in by a person, to the extent the conduct involves a lethal autonomous weapon system.

(g) Autonomous Weapons Review Board.—

(1) Establishment.—There is established within the Department of Defense an Autonomous Weapons Review Board (in this subsection referred to as the "Board").

(2) Composition.—The Board shall be composed of—

(A) not fewer than 11 and not more than 19 members;

(B) at least 4 technical experts in autonomy, machine learning, or robotics;

(C) at least 3 legal experts in the laws of armed conflict or human rights law, including at least 1 civilian expert not employed by the United States;

(D) at least 2 operational military officers with experience in weapons employment or targeting; and

(E) at least 2 representatives of the Department of State with expertise in arms control or weapons governance.

(3) Appointment.—Members of the Board shall be appointed by the Secretary of Defense, except that the civilian legal expert described in paragraph (2)(C) shall be appointed by the Secretary of State. The Secretary of Defense shall designate 1 member of the Board as Chair.

(4) Terms.—Members shall serve renewable terms of 3 years.

(5) Meetings.—The Board shall meet not fewer than 4 times per year and may convene additional meetings as determined necessary by the Chair.

(6) Duties.—The Board shall conduct legal, technical, and operational reviews of any weapon system that incorporates autonomous or semi-autonomous target selection or force application functions, determine compliance with this section, chapter 11B of title 18, United States Code, and international humanitarian law, and certify compliance before any such system is fielded, deployed, or used.

(7) Reports.—The Board shall submit an annual unclassified report, which may include a classified annex, to the appropriate congressional committees describing all systems reviewed, certified, rejected, or modified under this subsection.

(h) Chemical weapons and lethal autonomous weapon systems offenses.—

(1) Chapter heading.—

(A) Table of chapters.—The table of chapters for part I of title 18, United States Code, is amended by striking the item relating to chapter 11B and inserting the following:

"11B. Chemical weapons and lethal autonomous weapon systems.....229".

(B) Chapter heading.—The heading for chapter 11B of title 18, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"CHAPTER 11B—CHEMICAL WEAPONS AND LETHAL AUTONOMOUS WEAPON SYSTEMS".

(2) Prohibited activities.—Section 229 of title 18, United States Code, is amended—

(A) in subsection (a)(1)—

(i) by inserting "test," after "produce,"; and

(ii) by inserting "or lethal autonomous weapon system" after "chemical weapon";

(B) in subsection (b)(1)—

(i) by inserting "or lethal autonomous weapon system" after "chemical weapon"; and

(ii) by striking "the weapon" and inserting "the weapon or system"; and

(C) by amending subsection (c) to read as follows:

"(c) Jurisdiction.—Conduct prohibited by subsection (a) is within the jurisdiction of the United States if—

"(1) in the case of conduct involving a chemical weapon, the prohibited conduct takes place in the United States;

"(2) in the case of conduct involving a lethal autonomous weapon system—

"(A) the prohibited conduct takes place in the United States and occurs in or affects interstate or foreign commerce; or

"(B) the prohibited conduct is carried out by or on behalf of a department or agency of the United States, uses Federal funds or property, or is carried out under a Federal contract, grant, or cooperative agreement;

"(3) the prohibited conduct takes place outside of the United States and is committed by a national of the United States;

"(4) the prohibited conduct is committed against a national of the United States while the national is outside the United States; or

"(5) the prohibited conduct is committed against property owned, leased, or used by the United States or by any department or agency of the United States, whether the property is within or outside the United States.".

(3) Criminal forfeitures and destruction.—Section 229B of title 18, United States Code, is amended—

(A) in subsection (c), by striking "It is an affirmative defense" and inserting "In the case of property alleged to be a chemical weapon, it is an affirmative defense"; and

(B) by amending subsection (d) to read as follows:

"(d) Destruction.—The Attorney General shall provide for the destruction of any chemical weapon or lethal autonomous weapon system seized and forfeited pursuant to this section.".

(4) Individual self-defense devices.—Section 229C of title 18, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 229C. Individual self-defense devices.

"Nothing in this chapter may be construed to prohibit an individual self-defense device solely because the device uses a chemical substance, including pepper spray or chemical mace.".

(5) Injunctions.—Section 229D of title 18, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 229D. Injunctions.

"The United States may obtain in a civil action an injunction against—

"(1) conduct prohibited under section 229 of this title; or

"(2) preparation or solicitation to engage in conduct prohibited under section 229 of this title.".

(6) Emergency military assistance.—

(A) Section 229E of title 18, United States Code, is amended—

(i) by striking "section 382 of title 10" and inserting "section 282 of title 10";

(ii) by striking "a chemical weapon" and inserting "a chemical weapon or a lethal autonomous weapon system"; and

(iii) by striking "section 382(f)(2) of title 10" and inserting "section 282(f)(2) of title 10".

(B) Section 282(b) of title 10, United States Code, is amended, in the matter preceding paragraph (1), by inserting " or a lethal autonomous weapon system (as defined in section 229F of title 18)" after "means a circumstance involving a weapon of mass destruction".

(7) Definitions.—Section 229F of title 18, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(10) Lethal autonomous weapon system.—The term 'lethal autonomous weapon system' means a weapon system, platform, subsystem, or combination thereof that—

"(A) once activated, is designed, expected, or reasonably likely to select 1 or more human beings as targets and apply lethal force to such human beings without meaningful human control over each individual engagement; or

"(B) is designed, configured, or equipped so that the capability described in subparagraph (A) may be enabled without substantial physical modification, including through a change to software, firmware, algorithms, machine learning functions, or other digital functionality.

"(11) Meaningful human control.—The term 'meaningful human control' means a level of human involvement in decisions to use force that ensures that—

"(A) a human commander or operator has sufficient information about the target, the weapon system, and the operational context to make a judgment specific to the context as to the lawfulness, necessity, and proportionality of each individual use of lethal force;

"(B) the commander or operator has a genuine opportunity to approve or withhold approval of each individual engagement before lethal force is applied; and

"(C) the commander or operator retains the ability to supervise the weapon system, to intervene, and to deactivate or abort an attack in real time when technologically feasible.".

(i) Debarment.—

(1) Contractors.—Any contractor that knowingly engages in conduct that violates section 229(a) of title 18, United States Code, with respect to a lethal autonomous weapon system shall be debarred from eligibility for Federal contracts for not less than 5 years.

(2) Responsible individuals.—Any officer or employee of a contractor who knowingly participates in conduct described in paragraph (1) shall be debarred and excluded, for not less than 5 years, from participating in any Federal contract or subcontract, including as an officer, employee, agent, representative, consultant, or principal of a contractor or subcontractor.

(j) Transition.—Not later than July 1, 2027, the Secretary of Defense shall certify to the appropriate congressional committees that any existing lethal autonomous weapon system has been retired and destroyed.

SEC. 1333. PROHIBITION ON CLUSTER MUNITIONS.

(a) Statement of policy.—It is the policy of the United States—

(1) to phase out the use, transfer, export, production, acquisition, and stockpiling of cluster munitions;

(2) to pursue alternatives to cluster munitions that are consistent with the protection of civilians and the laws of armed conflict;

(3) to support clearance of unexploded cluster munitions and explosive submunitions in areas affected by armed conflict; and

(4) to take the steps necessary to enable the United States to accede to the Convention on Cluster Munitions.

(b) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Appropriate congressional committees.—The term "appropriate congressional committees" means—

(A) the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives; and

(B) the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Foreign Relations, and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate.

(2) Cluster munition.—

(A) In general.—The term "cluster munition" means a conventional munition that is designed to disperse or release explosive submunitions, each weighing less than 20 kilograms, and includes such explosive submunitions. For purposes of this section, the term also includes a dispenser and any explosive bomblet designed to be dispersed or released by the dispenser.

(B) Exclusions.—The term "cluster munition" does not include—

(i) a mine;

(ii) a munition or submunition designed to dispense flares, smoke, pyrotechnics, or chaff;

(iii) a munition or submunition designed exclusively for an air defense role;

(iv) a munition or submunition designed to produce electrical or electronic effects; or

(v) a munition that, to avoid indiscriminate area effects and the risks posed by unexploded submunitions, has each of the following characteristics:

(I) The munition contains fewer than 10 explosive submunitions.

(II) Each explosive submunition weighs more than 4 kilograms.

(III) Each explosive submunition is designed to detect and engage a single target object.

(IV) Each explosive submunition is equipped with an electronic self-destruction mechanism.

(V) Each explosive submunition is equipped with an electronic self-deactivation feature.

(3) Convention on Cluster Munitions.—The term "Convention on Cluster Munitions" means the Convention on Cluster Munitions, done at Dublin May 30, 2008, and opened for signature at Oslo December 3, 2008.

(4) Dispenser.—The term "dispenser" means a container designed to disperse or release explosive bomblets and affixed to an aircraft at the time of dispersal or release.

(5) Explosive bomblet.—The term "explosive bomblet" means a conventional munition weighing less than 20 kilograms that is not self-propelled, is dispersed or released by a dispenser to perform its task, and is designed to function by detonating an explosive charge prior to, on, or after impact.

(6) Explosive submunition.—The term "explosive submunition" means a conventional munition that, in order to perform its task, is dispersed or released by a cluster munition and is designed to function by detonating an explosive charge prior to, on, or after impact.

(7) Self-deactivating.—The term "self-deactivating" means automatically rendering a munition inoperable by means of the irreversible exhaustion of a component, for example a battery, that is essential to the operation of the munition.

(8) Self-destruction mechanism.—The term "self-destruction mechanism" means an incorporated automatically functioning mechanism that is in addition to the primary initiating mechanism of the munition and that secures the destruction of the munition into which it is incorporated.

(9) Transfer.—The term "transfer" means, in addition to the physical movement of a cluster munition or explosive submunition into or from territory under the jurisdiction or control of the United States, the transfer of title to or control over such a munition or submunition, but does not include the transfer of territory containing cluster munition remnants.

(c) Transitional limitation on Federal funds.—Until fiscal year 2030, no funds appropriated or otherwise made available to any department or agency of the United States may be obligated or expended to purchase, acquire, produce, retain, transfer, export, issue a license for the export of, or use any cluster munition unless—

(1) the cluster munition, after arming, does not result in more than 1 percent unexploded ordnance across the range of intended operational environments;

(2) the cluster munition will only be used against clearly defined military targets;

(3) the cluster munition will not be used where civilians are known to be present or in areas normally inhabited by civilians; and

(4) in the case of a transfer, export, or license for export, the recipient has entered into a binding end-use agreement that prohibits use inconsistent with paragraphs (1), (2), and (3).

(d) Prohibition after transition period.—Beginning with fiscal year 2030, no funds appropriated or otherwise made available to any department or agency of the United States may be obligated or expended—

(1) to develop, purchase, acquire, produce, use, transfer, export, issue a license for the export of, or otherwise obtain any cluster munition, except as provided in subsection (e); or

(2) to retain any cluster munition except solely pending destruction under subsection (f).

(e) Limited exceptions for detection, clearance, destruction training, countermeasures, and destruction.—

(1) Limited retention and acquisition for training and countermeasures.—Notwithstanding subsections (c), (d), and (h), the Secretary of Defense may retain or acquire a limited number of cluster munitions and explosive submunitions solely for—

(A) the development of, and training in, cluster munition and explosive submunition detection, clearance, or destruction techniques; or

(B) the development of cluster munition countermeasures.

(2) Minimum number.—The number of cluster munitions and explosive submunitions retained or acquired under paragraph (1) may not exceed the minimum number absolutely necessary for the purposes described in such paragraph.

(3) Transfer for training or countermeasure purposes.—The Secretary of Defense may transfer cluster munitions or explosive submunitions retained or acquired under paragraph (1) only if the recipient provides written assurances that the cluster munitions or explosive submunitions will be used only for a purpose described in paragraph (1) and will not be further transferred except for such a purpose.

(4) Activities for destruction.—Notwithstanding subsections (c), (d), and (h), the Secretary of Defense may authorize the possession, retention, storage, transportation, or transfer of cluster munitions or explosive submunitions solely to the minimum extent necessary to carry out subsection (f), except that a transfer may be made only if the recipient provides written assurances that the cluster munitions or explosive submunitions will be destroyed and will not be further transferred except for destruction.

(5) No operational use.—A cluster munition or explosive submunition retained, acquired, or transferred under this subsection may not be used for operational purposes.

(f) Stockpile destruction and reporting.—

(1) Destruction plan.—Not later than 270 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a plan to destroy all cluster munitions and explosive submunitions under the jurisdiction or control of the United States, except for the minimum number retained under subsection (e)(1).

(2) Completion.—The Secretary of Defense shall complete the destruction required under paragraph (1) not later than September 30, 2031.

(3) Annual report.—Not later than April 30 of each year during which the United States retains, acquires, or transfers cluster munitions or explosive submunitions under subsection (e), the Secretary of Defense shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report describing—

(A) the planned and actual use of such cluster munitions and explosive submunitions;

(B) the type, quantity, and lot numbers of such cluster munitions and explosive submunitions;

(C) the number destroyed during the preceding calendar year and the number remaining under the jurisdiction or control of the United States;

(D) in the case of any transfer, the recipient, quantity, purpose, and written assurances required under subsection (e)(3) or (4), as applicable; and

(E) the basis for determining that the number retained or acquired does not exceed the minimum number absolutely necessary under subsection (e)(2).

(g) Report after use, transfer, export, or export licensing.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 30 days after any use, transfer, export, or issuance of a license for the export of cluster munitions under subsection (c) by or on behalf of the United States, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report describing—

(A) the legal authority for the use, transfer, export, or license;

(B) the military target and operational necessity, if applicable;

(C) the type and quantity of cluster munitions used, transferred, exported, or licensed;

(D) the basis for determining compliance with subsection (c);

(E) the measures taken to avoid civilian harm;

(F) any known civilian harm or unexploded ordnance resulting from the use; and

(G) any plan for clearance, remediation, warnings to civilians, medical assistance, and assistance to affected communities.

(2) Form.—The report required under paragraph (1) shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

(h) Prohibition.—Beginning with fiscal year 2030, it shall be unlawful for any person, in or affecting interstate or foreign commerce, to use, develop, produce, acquire, possess, retain, sell, broker, export, transfer, or stockpile a cluster munition, or to assist, encourage, or induce another person to engage in such an activity, except as authorized by the Secretary of Defense under subsection (e).

(i) Military cooperation.—Participation in military cooperation or operations with a country not party to the Convention on Cluster Munitions shall not, by itself, constitute assistance, encouragement, or inducement prohibited under subsection (h), except that no person may, in such cooperation or operations—

(1) use, develop, produce, acquire, possess, retain, sell, broker, export, transfer, or stockpile a cluster munition; or

(2) expressly request the use of a cluster munition if the choice of munitions used is within the exclusive control of the United States.

(j) Criminal penalties.—Any person who knowingly and willfully violates subsection (h) shall be subject to the criminal penalties provided in section 2778(c) of title 22, United States Code.

(k) Contractor ineligibility.—Any contractor that knowingly—

(1) produces, sells, transfers, exports, brokers, or otherwise provides a cluster munition in connection with an obligation or expenditure prohibited under subsection (c) or (d);

(2) violates a condition imposed under subsection (e); or

(3) violates subsection (h), shall be debarred from eligibility for Federal contracts for not less than 5 years.

SEC. 1334. PROHIBITION ON ANTI-PERSONNEL LANDMINES.

(a) Statement of policy.—It is the policy of the United States—

(1) to protect civilians and support post-conflict recovery by phasing out the use, export, transfer, production, acquisition, possession, retention, and stockpiling of anti-personnel landmines in accordance with this section;

(2) to provide for the common defense through alternatives to anti-personnel landmines that are consistent with the protection of civilians and the laws of armed conflict;

(3) to support the clearance of anti-personnel landmines and other explosive remnants of war in areas affected by armed conflict; and

(4) to acknowledge the international community's moral judgment that the use of anti-personnel landmines is unacceptable and incompatible with the protection of civilians and to take the steps necessary to accede to the Ottawa Convention.

(b) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Anti-handling device.—The term "anti-handling device" means a device intended to protect a mine that is part of, linked to, attached to, or placed under the mine and that activates when an attempt is made to tamper with or otherwise intentionally disturb the mine.

(2) Anti-personnel landmine.—The term "anti-personnel landmine" means a mine designed to be exploded by the presence, proximity, or contact of a person and that will incapacitate, injure, or kill 1 or more persons. The term does not include a mine designed to be detonated by the presence, proximity, or contact of a vehicle rather than a person solely because the mine is equipped with an anti-handling device.

(3) Mine.—The term "mine" means a munition designed to be placed under, on, or near the ground or another surface area and to be exploded by the presence, proximity, or contact of a person or vehicle.

(4) Ottawa Convention.—The term "Ottawa Convention" means the Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Stockpiling, Production and Transfer of Anti-Personnel Mines and on Their Destruction (1997).

(5) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Defense.

(6) Transfer.—The term "transfer" includes the physical movement of an anti-personnel landmine into or from territory under the jurisdiction or control of the United States and the transfer of title to or control over an anti-personnel landmine, but does not include the transfer of territory containing an emplaced anti-personnel landmine.

(c) Prohibitions on Federal funds.—No Federal funds may be obligated or expended to—

(1) develop or produce anti-personnel landmines;

(2) acquire anti-personnel landmines;

(3) export or transfer anti-personnel landmines, except as permitted under subsection (d) or (f);

(4) use anti-personnel landmines, except as temporarily permitted under subsection (f);

(5) assist, encourage, or induce any person to engage in conduct prohibited by the Ottawa Convention, except as temporarily permitted under subsection (f); or

(6) possess or stockpile anti-personnel landmines, except as permitted under subsection (d) or (f).

(d) Limited exceptions for mine detection, clearance, destruction training, and destruction.—

(1) Limited retention for training.—Notwithstanding subsection (c), the Secretary may retain a limited number of anti-personnel landmines solely for the development of, and training in, mine detection, mine clearance, or mine destruction techniques.

(2) Minimum number.—The number of anti-personnel landmines retained under paragraph (1) may not exceed the minimum number absolutely necessary for the purposes described in such paragraph.

(3) Transfer for training purposes.—The Secretary may transfer anti-personnel landmines retained under paragraph (1) only if the recipient provides written assurances that the anti-personnel landmines will be used only for a purpose described in paragraph (1) and will not be further transferred except for such a purpose.

(4) Transfer for destruction.—Notwithstanding subsection (c), the Secretary may transfer anti-personnel landmines solely for destruction.

(5) Activities necessary for destruction.—Notwithstanding subsections (c) and (e), the Secretary may authorize the possession, retention, storage, transportation, or transfer of anti-personnel landmines to the minimum extent necessary to carry out subsection (g).

(6) No operational use.—An anti-personnel landmine retained, transferred, or otherwise handled under this subsection may not be used for operational purposes.

(e) Prohibition.—It shall be unlawful for any person, in or affecting interstate or foreign commerce, to use, develop, produce, acquire, possess, retain, sell, broker, export, transfer, or stockpile an anti-personnel landmine, or to assist, encourage, or induce another person to engage in an activity described in this subsection, except as authorized by the Secretary under subsection (d) or (f).

(f) Temporary exception for the Korean Peninsula.—Notwithstanding subsection (c), the Secretary may, until September 30, 2029, authorize, to the minimum extent necessary for the defense of the Republic of Korea, the possession, stockpiling, export, transfer, or use of anti-personnel landmines by the United States or by a person acting under the direction or control of the United States.

(g) Destruction of anti-personnel landmines.—Not later than September 30, 2031, the Secretary shall destroy or ensure the destruction of all anti-personnel landmines owned or possessed by the United States or under the jurisdiction or control of the United States, except for the minimum number retained under subsection (d)(1).

(h) Criminal penalties.—Any person who knowingly and willfully violates subsection (e) shall be subject to the criminal penalties provided in section 2778(c) of title 22, United States Code.

(i) Debarment.—Any contractor, and any officer or employee of a contractor, who knowingly violates subsection (c) or (e) shall be debarred from eligibility for Federal contracts for not less than 5 years.

SEC. 1335. CIVILIAN HARM REVIEW AND REASSESSMENT.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Civilian harm.—The term "civilian harm" has the meaning given the term in section 1336(b)(2).

(2) Congressional defense committees.—The term "congressional defense committees" means—

(A) the Committee on Armed Services and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate; and

(B) the Committee on Armed Services and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives.

(b) Procedures required.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of Peacebuilding and nongovernmental organizations that focus on civilian harm, shall establish procedures for identifying, reviewing, and reinvestigating allegations of civilian harm resulting from military operations involving the United States armed forces conducted between 2011 and 2026. The procedures shall require the review and reinvestigation of an allegation if—

(1) the Secretary of Defense finds that the allegation was dismissed, found not credible, administratively closed, closed without a complete investigation, or otherwise rejected or left unsubstantiated because of investigative error or incomplete information; or

(2) the Secretary of Peacebuilding submits to the Secretary of Defense a written recommendation, supported by specific and credible information, recommending the review and reinvestigation of an allegation that may have been disposed of in a manner described in paragraph (1).

(c) Reports.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, and annually thereafter, the Secretary of Defense shall submit to the congressional defense committees a report that includes—

(1) the number and status of reviews and reinvestigations conducted under subsection (b), including the number completed and pending and the number of recommendations submitted under subsection (b)(2);

(2) an identification of any revised credibility assessments and new credibility findings;

(3) a description of steps taken in response to new credibility findings, including any offers of ex gratia payments;

(4) a description of any errors identified during the review and reinvestigation process required under subsection (b);

(5) recommended steps to prevent similar errors in the assessment, investigation, or disposition of civilian-harm allegations and to address recurring operational patterns associated with civilian harm identified through the reviews and reinvestigations.

SEC. 1336. ARMS SALES MODERNIZATION AND CIVILIAN HARM MONITORING.

(a) Statement of policy.—It is the policy of the United States to ensure that arms transfers advance peace and fellowship among nations, protect civilians, and do not enable serious violations of international humanitarian law or internationally recognized human rights.

(b) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Appropriate congressional committees.—The term "appropriate congressional committees" means—

(A) the Committee on Foreign Affairs, the Committee on Armed Services, and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives, or any successor committee having substantially the same jurisdiction; and

(B) the Committee on Foreign Relations, the Committee on Armed Services, and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate, or any successor committee having substantially the same jurisdiction.

(2) Civilian harm.—The term "civilian harm" means civilian casualties, damage to or destruction of civilian objects, and significant adverse effects on the civilian population and the personnel, organizations, resources, infrastructure, essential services, and systems on which civilian life depends resulting from military operations.

(3) Defense article; defense service.—The terms "defense article" and "defense service" have the meanings given those terms in section 47 of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2794).

(4) Operational end-use monitoring.—The term "operational end-use monitoring" means gathering and assessing information regarding the actual use of a defense article or defense service after delivery.

(5) Responsible recipient or end user.—The term "responsible recipient or end user" means—

(A) if the conduct was committed or materially facilitated by the government of a foreign country or by an officer, employee, military unit, agency, instrumentality, or other person acting on behalf of or under the direction or control of such government, the government of that foreign country; and

(B) in any other case, the foreign recipient or end user that possessed, controlled, directed, authorized, or used the defense article or defense service in connection with the conduct, including any successor, renamed, reorganized, or substantially equivalent entity.

(6) Serious violation of law.—The term "serious violation of law" means—

(A) conduct described in section 1091(a), 2441(c), or 2442(a) of title 18, United States Code, without regard to the jurisdictional requirements applicable to an offense under the applicable section; or

(B) a gross violation of internationally recognized human rights described in section 502B(d)(1) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2304(d)(1)).

(c) Establishment.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the President shall establish in the Department of State a program, to be known as the Silver Shield program, to provide for operational end-use monitoring of defense articles and defense services sold, leased, loaned, transferred, or exported to a foreign government, international organization, or other foreign recipient or end user under the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2751 et seq.) or the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2151 et seq.). The requirements of subsections (d) through (g) shall apply beginning on the date on which the program is established.

(d) Monitoring and review by Silver Shield program.—

(1) Monitoring.—Beginning on the date on which the Silver Shield program is established, the program shall monitor information concerning whether a foreign recipient or end user used a United States–origin defense article or defense service in connection with civilian harm or conduct that may constitute a serious violation of law.

(2) Initiation and conduct of review.—The Secretary of State, acting through the Silver Shield program, shall initiate and conduct a review if—

(A) the Secretary identifies specific and credible information indicating that a United States–origin defense article or defense service may have been used—

(i) in a manner that caused civilian harm and materially violated international humanitarian law or an applicable transfer agreement; or

(ii) in connection with conduct constituting a serious violation of law; or

(B) the Secretary of Peacebuilding submits to the Secretary of State a written recommendation, supported by specific and credible information, to initiate a review of conduct described in subparagraph (A).

(3) Sources.—In conducting a review, the Silver Shield program may consider reports of United States Government personnel, eyewitness interviews, publicly available evidence, satellite imagery, credible reporting by nongovernmental organizations or the media, intelligence information, forensic investigations, site visits, and any other credible source.

(4) Review standards.—Each review shall—

(A) evaluate, to the maximum extent practicable, the reliability, authenticity, provenance, and corroboration of material evidence, including whether evidence has been materially altered, manipulated, or synthetically generated;

(B) require the affected foreign government and affected foreign recipient or end user to provide records, access, and other cooperation reasonably necessary to complete the review;

(C) provide the affected foreign government and, where practicable, the affected foreign recipient or end user reasonable notice of the material allegation and a reasonable opportunity to submit responsive information, unless the Secretary of State determines in writing that notice would create a substantial risk to the safety of a person or to an intelligence source or method;

(D) be completed not later than 180 days after initiation; and

(E) result in a written determination stating the factual and legal basis for the determination.

(5) Coordination.—The Secretary of State shall carry out the program in coordination with the Secretary of Defense, the Director of National Intelligence, the Secretary of Peacebuilding, and any other relevant Federal official.

(e) Temporary hold on a proposed transaction.—

(1) In general.—If information under review under subsection (d) materially concerns the proposed recipient, end user, or intended use of a particular proposed sale, export, lease, loan, or other transfer, the Secretary of State shall place that proposed transaction on temporary hold pending completion of the review.

(2) Effect.—The hold shall prevent issuance of the applicable letter of offer, license, lease, loan agreement, or other authorization but shall not cancel the proposed transaction.

(3) Limitation.—A hold under this subsection shall apply only to the particular proposed transaction to which the information relates and shall not, by itself, impose a countrywide restriction.

(f) Determinations and consequences.—

(1) No adverse determination.—If the Secretary of State does not make an affirmative determination under paragraph (2), the hold shall terminate and the proposed transaction may proceed subject to otherwise applicable law.

(2) Affirmative determination.—The Secretary shall issue an affirmative determination stating the factual and legal basis for the determination if—

(A) a United States–origin defense article or defense service was used in a manner described in subsection (d)(2)(A); or

(B) the affected foreign government or affected foreign recipient or end user, after reasonable notice and an opportunity to cooperate, materially failed to provide records, access, or other cooperation reasonably necessary to complete the review.

(3) Consequences.—Beginning on the date of an affirmative determination—

(A) any proposed transaction on hold under subsection (e) shall be denied;

(B) the following entities shall be ineligible for 2 years to receive any defense article or defense service under the Arms Export Control Act or the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, including by delivery, performance, or other provision under an existing agreement:

(i) in the case of a determination under paragraph (2)(A), the responsible recipient or end user; and

(ii) in the case of a determination under paragraph (2)(B), each affected foreign government, foreign recipient, or end user that materially failed to provide the required cooperation; and

(C) the Secretary may require the return of a United States–origin defense article provided to an entity made ineligible under subparagraph (B), to the extent permitted by the applicable transfer agreement and law.

(4) Scope.—An affirmative determination shall not, by itself, cancel a completed transfer or terminate an existing agreement, except that paragraph (3)(B) applies to any delivery, performance, or other provision under an existing agreement.

(5) Early restoration.—The Secretary may restore eligibility before the end of the 2-year period if—

(A) in the case of an affirmative determination under paragraph (2)(A), the Secretary determines that—

(i) the conduct has ceased;

(ii) the responsible authority has taken reasonable and effective lawful steps to investigate the conduct and, where the evidence warrants, to prosecute, discipline, remove, or otherwise impose lawful accountability on responsible persons;

(iii) measures reasonably designed to prevent recurrence have been implemented; and

(iv) appropriate remedies have been or are being provided to victims, surviving family members, and affected communities; or

(B) in the case of an affirmative determination based solely on paragraph (2)(B), each entity made ineligible under paragraph (3)(B)(ii) has provided the cooperation reasonably necessary to complete the review and the completed review does not support an affirmative determination under paragraph (2)(A).

(6) New determination after cooperation.—If, after an affirmative determination based solely on paragraph (2)(B), the completed review supports an affirmative determination under paragraph (2)(A), the Secretary shall issue a new affirmative determination under paragraph (2)(A), and the 2-year period under paragraph (3)(B) shall begin on the date of the new determination.

(7) Fair proceedings and unavailable persons.—For purposes of paragraph (5)(A)(ii), an acquittal or other disposition following a credible and fair process does not prevent restoration, and the death or genuine unavailability of a responsible person does not prevent restoration if reasonable lawful steps have been taken with respect to that person and other responsible persons.

(8) Expiration.—An ineligibility determination under paragraph (3) shall terminate at the end of the 2-year period unless new or continuing conduct supports a new determination under this section.

(g) Transfer agreements.—Before authorizing or licensing a sale, export, lease, loan, or other transfer of a defense article or defense service, the President shall ensure that the applicable agreement, letter of offer and acceptance, license, end-use assurance, or other authorization—

(1) prohibits use of the article or service—

(A) to commit or facilitate a serious violation of law; or

(B) in a manner that causes civilian harm and materially violates international humanitarian law or an applicable transfer agreement;

(2) requires the recipient or end user to take feasible precautions to prevent and minimize civilian harm;

(3) authorizes operational end-use monitoring sufficient to carry out this section; and

(4) provides that the United States may require the return of the article if the Secretary of State makes an affirmative determination under subsection (f).

(h) Policy updates.—

(1) Secretary of State.—The Secretary of State shall incorporate into the Silver Shield program the Civilian Harm Incident Response Guidance issued by the Department of State in August 2023, or any successor to that guidance, and revise relevant policy and doctrine as necessary to carry out this section.

(2) Secretary of Defense.—The Secretary of Defense shall reissue Department of Defense Instruction 4140.66 and revise relevant policy and doctrine as necessary to carry out this section.

(i) Funding.—

(1) Startup appropriation.—In addition to amounts otherwise available, there is appropriated to the Department of State, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, $30,000,000, to remain available through September 30, 2029, for establishment and initial operation of the Silver Shield program.

(2) Continuing authorization.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out the Silver Shield program.

(3) Foreign Military Sales Administrative Surcharge.—The Silver Shield program shall be considered an administrative service in the administration of sales under section 21(e)(1) of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2761(e)(1)).

(4) Foreign Military Financing administrative funds.—The Silver Shield program shall be considered an administrative and operational cost of the Department of State related to military assistance and sales for purposes of funds appropriated under the heading "Foreign Military Financing Program".

(j) Reports.—

(1) Required resources.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on the resources, staffing, and authorities necessary to implement the Silver Shield program, including whether the amount appropriated under subsection (i)(1) is sufficient.

(2) Annual report.—Not later than 1 year after establishment of the program, and annually thereafter, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report describing—

(A) the costs and personnel associated with the program;

(B) the number and status of reviews, including any failure to meet the 180-day deadline;

(C) the number and disposition of determinations;

(D) the number of temporary holds imposed and released;

(E) the number of recipients and end users determined ineligible; and

(F) each restoration under this section and the basis for the decision.

(3) Form.—Each report under this subsection shall be submitted in unclassified form but may include a classified annex. The unclassified portion shall be made publicly available.

(k) Prior conduct.—The Secretary of State may review conduct occurring before the date of enactment of this Act if the conduct is materially relevant to a proposed transaction or to the current eligibility of a foreign recipient or end user.

SEC. 1337. PROHIBITED SECURITY COOPERATION WITH GOVERNMENTS RESPONSIBLE FOR ATROCITY CRIMES.

(a) Statement of policy.—It is the policy of the United States to refrain from arming, training, or financing a foreign government responsible for atrocity crimes, sharing intelligence with such a government, or maintaining an institutional security partnership with such a government.

(b) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Appropriate congressional committees.—The term "appropriate congressional committees" has the meaning given the term in section 1336(b)(1).

(2) Atrocity crime.—The term "atrocity crime" means—

(A) conduct described in section 1091(a), 2441(c), or 2442(a) of title 18, United States Code, without regard to the jurisdictional requirements applicable to an offense under the applicable section; or

(B) any of the following acts, when knowingly committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population:

(i) Murder, extermination, enslavement, deportation or forcible transfer of population, imprisonment or other severe deprivation of physical liberty in violation of fundamental rules of international law, torture, or enforced disappearance of persons.

(ii) Rape, sexual slavery, enforced prostitution, forced pregnancy, enforced sterilization, or another form of sexual violence of comparable gravity.

(iii) Persecution against an identifiable group or collectivity on political, racial, national, ethnic, cultural, religious, gender, disability, or other grounds universally recognized as impermissible under international law, in connection with conduct described in subparagraph (A) or another act described in this subparagraph.

(iv) The crime of apartheid, meaning inhumane acts of a character similar to the acts described in this subparagraph, committed in the context of an institutionalized regime of systematic oppression and domination by one racial group over one or more other racial groups and with the intention of maintaining that regime.

(3) Restricted foreign government.—The term "restricted foreign government" means the government of a foreign country with respect to which an affirmative determination under subsection (d)(5) is in effect.

(4) Secretary.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of State.

(c) Initiation of review.—The Secretary shall initiate a review under subsection (d) if either of the following applies:

(1) the Secretary identifies specific and credible information indicating that the government of a foreign country committed or materially facilitated an atrocity crime, or knowingly failed to take reasonable measures within its power to prevent an atrocity crime; or

(2) the Secretary of Peacebuilding submits to the Secretary a written recommendation to initiate a review, supported by specific and credible information indicating conduct described in paragraph (1).

(d) Review and determination.—

(1) Evidence.—The Secretary shall evaluate, to the maximum extent practicable, the reliability, authenticity, provenance, and corroboration of material evidence, including whether evidence has been materially altered, manipulated, or synthetically generated.

(2) Notice and response.—Not later than 90 days after initiating a review, the Secretary shall provide the government of the foreign country written notice of the material allegations and, to the maximum extent consistent with the protection of persons and intelligence sources and methods, a summary of the principal evidence supporting the allegations. The government shall have 30 days after receiving the notice to submit responsive information. The Secretary may shorten the response period to not less than 10 days upon a written finding that delay would create a substantial risk of continuing civilian harm or another atrocity crime. The Secretary may withhold or redact information to the extent necessary to protect a person or an intelligence source or method.

(3) Consultation.—The Secretary shall consult with the Secretary of Defense, the Director of National Intelligence, the Secretary of Peacebuilding, and any other relevant Federal official.

(4) Deadline.—The Secretary shall complete the review not later than 180 days after initiation.

(5) Determination.—If the Secretary determines, based on specific, credible, and corroborated information, that the government of the foreign country engaged in conduct described in subsection (c)(1), the Secretary shall issue an affirmative determination that states the factual and legal basis for the determination.

(6) Submission and publication.—The Secretary shall promptly submit a determination under paragraph (5) to the appropriate congressional committees and make the determination publicly available in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

(7) No interim countrywide restriction.—Initiation of a review under this subsection shall not, by itself, impose the restrictions under subsection (e).

(e) Restrictions.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, during the period in which an affirmative determination under subsection (d)(5) is in effect—

(1) the President may not provide a restricted foreign government, or an agent or instrumentality of that government, with security assistance, intelligence, training, equipment, maintenance, testing, technical data, a defense article, a defense service, a design and construction service, or other defense cooperation;

(2) no Federal funds may be obligated or expended to establish, maintain, or carry out a bilateral defense-technology, defense-industrial, intelligence-sharing, joint-training, technical-data-sharing, or other institutional security-cooperation program with the restricted foreign government or an agent or instrumentality of that government; and

(3) no letter of offer, export license, lease, loan, or other authorization for a defense article or defense service may be issued to the restricted foreign government or an agent or instrumentality of that government.

(f) Limited exception.—The President may authorize narrowly tailored assistance otherwise prohibited under subsection (e) only to—

(1) protect or evacuate United States personnel or other persons under United States protection; or

(2) secure, recover, disable, remove, or destroy a United States–origin defense article or other item presenting a substantial risk to civilians.

(g) Notice and assistance.—Upon issuing an affirmative determination under subsection (d)(5), the Secretary shall—

(1) promptly inform the restricted foreign government of the basis for the determination and the restrictions imposed under this section; and

(2) in consultation with the Secretary of Peacebuilding, make technical and other appropriate assistance available to the restricted foreign government to support satisfaction of the requirements of subsection (h)(2).

(h) Duration, review, termination, and renewal.—

(1) Duration and periodic review.—

(A) Duration.—An affirmative determination shall remain in effect for 2 years after issuance unless the determination is terminated early under paragraph (2), renewed under paragraph (4), or superseded under paragraph (5).

(B) Periodic review.—Not less frequently than once every 180 days, the Secretary shall review each affirmative determination in effect under subsection (d)(5).

(2) Early termination.—The Secretary shall terminate an affirmative determination if the Secretary determines that—

(A) the conduct that formed the basis for the determination has ceased;

(B) the government of the foreign country has taken reasonable and effective lawful steps to investigate the conduct and, where the evidence warrants, to prosecute, discipline, remove, or otherwise impose lawful accountability on responsible persons;

(C) the government of the foreign country has implemented structural, legal, institutional, or other measures reasonably designed to prevent recurrence; and

(D) appropriate remedies have been or are being provided to victims, surviving family members, and affected communities.

(3) Additional considerations.—

(A) Fair proceedings.—For purposes of paragraph (2)(B), an acquittal or other disposition following a credible and fair process does not prevent termination. Summary or extrajudicial punishment does not satisfy paragraph (2)(B).

(B) Unavailable persons.—The death or genuine unavailability of a responsible person does not prevent termination if reasonable lawful steps have been taken with respect to that person and other responsible persons.

(C) Change in government.—The Secretary shall consider any change in the government of the foreign country and the conduct and capacity of that government.

(4) Renewal for insufficient progress.—

(A) In general.—Before an affirmative determination expires, the Secretary may renew the determination for 1 additional 2-year period if—

(i) the conduct that formed the basis for the determination has ceased; and

(ii) the government of the foreign country has failed to make reasonable and demonstrable progress toward satisfying the requirements of subparagraphs (B) through (D) of paragraph (2).

(B) Effective period.—A renewal under this paragraph shall take effect on the date on which the determination would otherwise expire and shall remain in effect for 2 years.

(C) Limitation.—An affirmative determination may be renewed only once under this paragraph.

(D) Submission and publication.—A renewal determination shall be submitted and made public in the manner required under subsection (d)(6).

(5) Superseding determination based on new or continuing conduct.—

(A) New review.—If, while an affirmative determination is in effect, the Secretary identifies specific and credible information indicating new or continuing conduct described in subsection (c)(1), the Secretary shall initiate a new review under subsection (d).

(B) Supersession and new period.—A new affirmative determination issued as a result of a review under subparagraph (A) shall supersede each affirmative determination then in effect with respect to the same foreign government, and the 2-year period under paragraph (1)(A) shall begin on the date of issuance of the new determination.

(C) Prior conduct and remedial obligations.—In determining whether to terminate or renew the new affirmative determination, the Secretary shall consider the conduct and the progress of the foreign government toward satisfying the requirements of paragraph (2) with respect to the conduct underlying the new determination and each superseded determination.

(i) Annual report.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, and annually thereafter, the Secretary shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees and make publicly available a report identifying—

(1) the status and disposition of each review initiated under subsection (c), including each review completed without an affirmative determination;

(2) each affirmative determination, termination, expiration, supersession, or renewal under this section;

(3) each use of the exception under subsection (f); and

(4) the assistance made available under subsection (g)(2).

(j) State and local security-cooperation programs.—During the period in which an affirmative determination under subsection (d)(5) is in effect, a State, unit of local government, or law enforcement agency thereof may not use public funds to establish, maintain, or participate in a training, exchange, intelligence sharing, technical assistance, or other institutional security-cooperation program with the restricted foreign government or an agent or instrumentality of that government.

PART II—ABOLITION OR REDUCTION OF STANDING ARMIES

Subpart A—Military Spending, Foreign Installations, and War Powers

SEC. 1341. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Alfred Nobel's will identified three essential components for striving toward peace. The second of these was "the abolition or reduction of standing armies."

(2) In the modern world, standing armies consist not only of armed forces, but also of the infrastructure of warfare, including the budgets, bases, authorities, and arsenals that sustain a permanent capacity for war.

(3) The military budget of the United States and its extensive standing military establishment command immense public resources. Military spending substantially in excess of legitimate national defense needs can divert public resources from diplomacy, peacebuilding, shared prosperity, and other investments that strengthen lasting security.

(4) Open-ended authorizations for use of military force and the initiation or continuation of hostilities without meaningful Congressional approval weaken democratic accountability and the Constitutional allocation of war powers.

(5) Nuclear weapons represent the most destructive component of the standing military power of the United States. Policies permitting first-use nuclear strikes or renewed explosive nuclear testing increase the risk of catastrophic escalation, weaken international restraints on nuclear weapons, and encourage other nations to pursue or expand similar capabilities.

(6) The Jubilee established by this Act provides an opportunity for the United States to demonstrate leadership in slowing or halting a renewed nuclear arms race.

(7) The security of the United States can be strengthened through a smaller and more disciplined military posture, renewed Congressional control over war, diplomacy, arms control, nuclear restraint, and the redirection of public resources toward the conditions of a durable peace.

(b) Purpose.—The purposes of this part are—

(1) to reduce the scale and reach of the standing military establishment of the United States by reducing military budgets, foreign military bases, standing war authorizations, and nuclear arsenals, and by restoring Congress's Constitutional role in decisions to initiate and continue hostilities; and

(2) to carry out the principle expressed in Alfred Nobel's will concerning the abolition or reduction of standing armies.

SEC. 1342. REDUCTION OF NATIONAL DEFENSE BUDGET AUTHORITY BY ONE-QUARTER.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Applicable limit.—The term "applicable limit" means—

(A) for fiscal year 2027, 93.75 percent of the baseline amount;

(B) for fiscal year 2028, 87.5 percent of the baseline amount;

(C) for fiscal year 2029, 81.25 percent of the baseline amount; and

(D) for fiscal year 2030, 75 percent of the baseline amount.

(2) Baseline amount.—The term "baseline amount" means the total new budget authority for fiscal year 2026 classified in national defense budget function 050, calculated net of rescissions and negative budget authority.

(3) New budget authority.—The term "new budget authority" has the meaning given that term in section 3(2) of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act of 1974 (2 U.S.C. 622(2)).

(b) Aggregate limits.—For each of fiscal years 2027 through 2030—

(1) the total new budget authority provided for national defense budget function 050 may not exceed the applicable limit; and

(2) the total amount authorized to be appropriated for national defense budget function 050 may not exceed the applicable limit.

(c) Determination of baseline amount.—

(1) Initial estimate.—Not later than 15 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall determine and publish an initial estimate of the baseline amount based on laws enacted through the date of the estimate.

(2) Final determination.—Not later than 30 days after the later of September 30, 2026, or the date of enactment of this Act, the Director shall determine and publish the final baseline amount.

(3) Contents.—Each estimate or determination under this subsection shall—

(A) identify the new budget authority included in the baseline amount by account and source of authority;

(B) identify discretionary and mandatory new budget authority separately;

(C) identify amounts provided through regular appropriations, supplemental appropriations, emergency legislation, reconciliation legislation, continuing resolutions, authorization Acts, and other provisions of law;

(D) identify rescissions and negative budget authority deducted from the baseline amount;

(E) explain the treatment of transfers, reappropriations, offsetting collections, borrowing authority, contract authority, and changes in the availability of unobligated balances; and

(F) describe the functional classification methodology used to determine whether an amount is classified in national defense budget function 050.

(4) Subsequent revision.—If a law enacted after the final determination under paragraph (2) changes the amount of new budget authority for fiscal year 2026 classified in national defense budget function 050, the Director shall publish a revised final baseline amount not later than 15 days after the date of enactment of that law.

(5) Comptroller General review.—

(A) In general.—Not later than 30 days after the Director publishes a final or revised final baseline amount, the Comptroller General of the United States shall review the determination and submit to Congress and make publicly available a report evaluating the completeness, accuracy, and consistency of the determination with this section and generally applicable Federal budget classification principles.

(B) Response to material error.—Not later than 15 days after the Comptroller General submits a report identifying a material error, the Director shall—

(i) correct the error and publish a revised determination; or

(ii) submit to Congress and make publicly available a detailed explanation of why the Director has not made the correction.

(d) Provisional administration for fiscal year 2027.—

(1) In general.—Until the final baseline amount is determined under subsection (c)(2), the initial estimate under subsection (c)(1) shall be used to administer the applicable limit for fiscal year 2027.

(2) Reservation from obligation.—The Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall reserve from obligation, on a proportionate basis, such amounts of new budget authority for fiscal year 2027 as the Director determines necessary to prevent obligations from being incurred against amounts that would cause total new budget authority provided for national defense budget function 050 to exceed the applicable limit calculated using the initial estimate.

(3) No premature cancellation.—An amount reserved under paragraph (2) shall remain available in accordance with the law providing the amount and may not be permanently cancelled under this section before the final baseline amount is determined.

(4) Final adjustment.—Upon publication of the final baseline amount, the Director shall release any amount reserved in excess of the amount necessary to comply with the applicable limit for fiscal year 2027 and shall carry out subsection (e) with respect to any remaining excess.

(e) Automatic cancellation of excess budget authority.—

(1) Determination of excess.—Not later than 15 days after—

(A) publication of the final baseline amount under subsection (c)(2); or

(B) enactment of a law that provides additional new budget authority for an applicable fiscal year, the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall determine whether the total new budget authority provided for that fiscal year for national defense budget function 050 exceeds the applicable limit.

(2) Automatic cancellation.—If the Director determines that the total new budget authority exceeds the applicable limit, an amount of the unobligated balances of new budget authority for that fiscal year equal to the excess is hereby permanently cancelled, without further action by Congress.

(3) Proportional application.—

(A) Accounts.—The cancellation required under paragraph (2) shall be applied by a uniform percentage to the unobligated balances of new budget authority for the applicable fiscal year in each account classified in national defense budget function 050.

(B) Programs, projects, and activities.—Within each account, the same percentage reduction shall apply to each program, project, and activity, as identified in the applicable appropriations Act or accompanying report or, for an account not included in an appropriations Act, in the most recently submitted budget of the President.

(4) Implementation.—The Director shall publish the amount of the excess, the uniform percentage reduction, and the amount cancelled from each account, and shall revise applicable apportionments to reflect the cancellation.

(5) Existing obligations.—A cancellation under this subsection may not affect an obligation validly incurred before the date on which the Director publishes the uniform percentage reduction.

(6) Application to previously enacted funding.—This subsection applies to new budget authority provided before, on, or after the date of enactment of this Act.

(f) Automatic reduction of excess authorizations.—

(1) In general.—If the aggregate amount authorized to be appropriated for an applicable fiscal year for national defense budget function 050 exceeds the applicable limit, each amount authorized to be appropriated for that fiscal year for that budget function is reduced by the uniform percentage necessary to eliminate the excess.

(2) Determination and publication.—The Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall determine and publish the uniform percentage reduction and identify each authorization affected by the reduction.

(3) Application to previously enacted authorizations.—This subsection applies to amounts authorized to be appropriated before, on, or after the date of enactment of this Act.

(g) Scope and prevention of evasion.—

(1) Sources of budget authority.—The limits under this section apply to new budget authority and authorizations provided through—

(A) a regular or supplemental appropriations Act;

(B) an emergency, disaster, or national-security designation;

(C) a reconciliation Act;

(D) a continuing resolution or continuing appropriation;

(E) an authorization Act;

(F) a transfer, reappropriation, advance appropriation, change in availability, or other provision of law; or

(G) any other legislative vehicle or source of Federal budget authority.

(2) Discretionary and mandatory amounts.—The limits apply to both discretionary and mandatory new budget authority.

(3) Transfers.—

(A) A transfer of budget authority from a budget function other than national defense budget function 050 into national defense budget function 050 shall be included in the total for the fiscal year in which the transferred authority first becomes available for obligation in budget function 050.

(B) A transfer between accounts within national defense budget function 050 shall not be counted more than once.

(C) A transfer out of national defense budget function 050 shall reduce the total only to the extent that the transferred amount is no longer available for an activity classified in that budget function.

(4) Successive continuing and regular appropriations.—If new budget authority made available under a continuing resolution or other continuing appropriation for an account, program, project, benefit payment, or activity is charged against or superseded by a subsequently enacted appropriation for the same fiscal year, the budget authority made available under the continuing appropriation shall be treated as included in, and not in addition to, the amount provided by the subsequently enacted appropriation. Multiple continuing appropriations for the same period or activity may not be counted more than once.

(5) Prior-year unobligated balances.—Except for a change in availability that constitutes new budget authority under section 3(2) of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act of 1974, an unobligated balance of budget authority first made available before an applicable fiscal year shall not be included in the total for that fiscal year solely because the balance remains available for obligation and shall not be cancelled under subsection (e).

(6) Functional classification.—An amount shall be classified for purposes of this section according to the same functional classification principles used in preparation of the budget of the United States Government and may not be excluded from national defense budget function 050 solely because the amount is provided to a department or agency other than the Department of Defense or is labeled as emergency, supplemental, mandatory, or temporary funding.

(h) Subsequent congressional adjustments.—

(1) Adjustments within aggregate limit.—Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit Congress, by an Act enacted after the date of enactment of this Act, from rescinding, transferring, or reallocating amounts among accounts, programs, projects, or activities within national defense budget function 050, if the total new budget authority for the applicable fiscal year does not exceed the applicable limit.

(2) Express amendment required.—A law enacted after the date of enactment of this Act may not be construed to increase an applicable limit unless that law expressly refers to this section and states the revised applicable limit or the amount by which the applicable limit is increased.

(i) Rule of the House of Representatives and Senate.—

(1) Unless the measure expressly amends the applicable limit in accordance with subsection (h)(2), it shall not be in order in the House of Representatives or the Senate to consider any bill, joint resolution, amendment, amendment between the Houses, motion, or conference report if enactment of the measure would cause—

(A) the total new budget authority for an applicable fiscal year for national defense budget function 050 to exceed the applicable limit; or

(B) the total amount authorized to be appropriated for an applicable fiscal year for national defense budget function 050 to exceed the applicable limit.

(2) Paragraph (1) may be waived or suspended in the House of Representatives or the Senate only by a roll call vote of not less than two-thirds of the Members voting, a quorum being present.

(3) This subsection is enacted by Congress as an exercise of the rulemaking power of the House of Representatives and the Senate, respectively, and as such is deemed a part of the rules of each House, respectively, but applicable only with respect to the procedure to be followed in that House.

SEC. 1343. REDUCTION OF FOREIGN MILITARY INSTALLATIONS.

(a) Findings and purpose.—

(1) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(A) A Jubilee provides an opportunity to reestablish relationships on a foundation of justice and mutual respect.

(B) The stationing of United States armed forces can contribute to collective security while also imposing significant effects on the communities in which military installations are located.

(C) Fellowship among nations requires the United States to respect the consent of communities directly and materially affected by the presence of the United States armed forces.

(2) Purpose.—As part of the Jubilee, the purpose of this section is to provide host nations and local communities a one-time opportunity to affirm or withdraw consent for the continued presence of the United States armed forces at existing foreign military installations.

(b) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Close; closure.—The terms "close" and "closure", with respect to a foreign military installation, mean the termination of Department of Defense ownership, operation, control, permanent or standing access to, and regular use of the installation and the removal of United States armed forces from the installation, except for activities necessary to carry out a closure and transition plan under subsection (h).

(2) Eligible local participant.—The term "eligible local participant", with respect to a foreign military installation, means an adult citizen of the host nation who satisfies 1 or more of the following criteria:

(A) The individual is a resident of the local impact area.

(B) The individual owns or operates a business located within the installation or not more than 5 miles from the perimeter of the installation.

(C) The individual works at the installation and resides in the host nation.

(D) The individual has another direct and material connection to the installation, as determined by the Secretary of State.

(3) Foreign military installation.—The term "foreign military installation" means any fixed base, installation, site, facility, airfield, port facility, training range, logistics site, prepositioning site, or other real property site, including an overseas military location described in section 2687a(a)(3)(A) of title 10, United States Code, or a site identified in the Base Structure Report, the real property inventory of the Department of Defense, the Enduring Location Master List, or any successor inventory or report, that—

(A) is located outside the United States, its territories, or its possessions; and

(B) on the date of enactment of this Act, is owned, operated, controlled, or regularly used by the Department of Defense.

(4) Host nation.—The term "host nation" means the foreign country in which a foreign military installation is located.

(5) Independent survey.—The term "independent survey" means a survey of eligible local participants that—

(A) is conducted by a public-opinion research entity that has demonstrated experience conducting representative surveys in the host nation or a comparable setting and is independent of the Department of Defense and the government of the host nation;

(B) uses a representative sampling method designed to produce a reliable estimate of how eligible local participants would vote on the question described in paragraph (7)(A);

(C) is conducted in the local language or languages and protects the confidentiality of respondents;

(D) includes reasonable measures to protect respondents against intimidation, coercion, and reprisal; and

(E) publicly reports the methodology, sample size, results, margin of error, and confidence level, except for information withheld to protect respondents or classified information.

(6) Local impact area.—The term "local impact area" means—

(A) the area within 5 miles of the perimeter of a foreign military installation;

(B) any village, town, city, municipality, or comparable municipal jurisdiction any part of which is located not more than 15 miles from the perimeter of the installation; and

(C) any additional area that the Secretary of State determines is directly and materially affected by the operations of the installation.

(7) Local referendum.—The term "local referendum" means a referendum or plebiscite conducted in the local impact area that—

(A) asks substantially the following question: "Should the United States armed forces continue their military presence at this installation?";

(B) includes all eligible local participants in the franchise, to the greatest extent practicable;

(C) permits each eligible local participant to cast 1 ballot;

(D) uses secret ballots, to the greatest extent practicable;

(E) provides ballots in the local language or languages;

(F) is publicized for not less than 60 days before voting concludes;

(G) protects participants against intimidation, coercion, and reprisal;

(H) produces a publicly reported result; and

(I) is certified by the Secretary of State under subsection (f)(4).

(8) Unit of local government.—The term "unit of local government" means—

(A) a village, town, city, municipality, or comparable general-purpose municipal government that has a governing body elected by residents of its jurisdiction; or

(B) for an area not within the jurisdiction of a unit described in subparagraph (A), a county, district, or comparable general-purpose political subdivision that has a governing body elected by residents of its jurisdiction.

The term does not include the host nation or a State, province, region, or other first-order political subdivision of the host nation.

(c) Installations subject to closure.—The Secretary of Defense shall prepare for and carry out the closure of a foreign military installation if—

(1) the host nation publicly requests closure of the installation not later than May 1, 2027, in accordance with subsection (d);

(2) units of local government adopt resolutions opposing the continued presence of the United States armed forces at the installation in accordance with subsection (e), unless a local referendum completed under subsection (f) subsequently establishes majority support for the continued presence of the United States armed forces at the installation;

(3) a local referendum completed under subsection (f) fails to establish majority support for the continued presence of the United States armed forces at the installation; or

(4) no local referendum is completed by August 31, 2027, and—

(A) an independent survey completed under subsection (g) fails to establish majority support for the continued presence of the United States armed forces at the installation; or

(B) no independent survey is completed by October 30, 2027.

(d) Host nation requests for closure.—

(1) Request.—The condition described in subsection (c)(1) is satisfied if, not later than May 1, 2027, the host nation requests closure of the installation through a law, treaty, agreement, diplomatic note, or other official public act.

(2) Rescission.—The condition described in subsection (c)(1) is not satisfied if, not later than May 1, 2027, the host nation rescinds the request through a law, treaty, agreement, diplomatic note, or other official public act that, under the law of the host nation, has authority to rescind the act through which the request was made.

(e) Local government resolutions.—

(1) In general.—The condition described in subsection (c)(2) is satisfied if, before completion of a local referendum and not later than August 31, 2027—

(A) units of local government adopt resolutions opposing the continued presence of the United States armed forces at the installation; and

(B) the resident population represented by the adopting units, as calculated under paragraph (2), exceeds 50 percent of the resident population of the local impact area.

(2) Population represented.—For purposes of paragraph (1)—

(A) an adopting unit described in subsection (b)(8)(A) represents each resident of the local impact area who resides within its jurisdiction;

(B) an adopting unit described in subsection (b)(8)(B) represents each resident of the local impact area who resides within its jurisdiction and outside the jurisdiction of every unit described in subsection (b)(8)(A); and

(C) each resident shall be counted not more than once, regardless of the number of adopting units whose jurisdictions include the resident.

(f) Local referenda.—

(1) In general.—For each foreign military installation not subject to closure under subsection (c)(1), the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of State shall take all practicable steps to organize and conduct a local referendum not later than August 31, 2027, including by affirmatively seeking the cooperation and approval of the host nation and appropriate local authorities.

(2) Advance designation.—Before the 60-day publicization period required under subsection (b)(7)(F) begins, the Secretary of State shall fix and publicly identify the local impact area and the criteria used to identify eligible local participants for the referendum.

(3) Majority defined.—A local referendum establishes majority support for the continued presence of the United States armed forces only if more than 50 percent of the ballots cast are in favor of the question described in subsection (b)(7)(A).

(4) Certification.—Not later than 3 days after voting concludes, the Secretary of State shall ensure that the result of the referendum is publicly reported. Not later than 10 days after the result is publicly reported, the Secretary of State shall—

(A) certify that the referendum satisfies subsection (b)(7); or

(B) issue and make publicly available a written determination identifying each requirement of subsection (b)(7) that was not satisfied and the factual basis for the determination.

(5) A referendum is completed for purposes of this section only upon certification under subparagraph (A). Upon such certification, the referendum shall be deemed to have been completed on the date voting concluded. For purposes of subsections (c)(4) and (g)(1), a referendum for which voting concluded not later than August 31, 2027, shall not be treated as uncompleted while the period for a certification decision under this paragraph remains open.

(g) Fallback independent surveys.—

(1) In general.—If no local referendum has been completed for a foreign military installation by August 31, 2027, and the installation is not subject to closure under subsection (c)(1) or (2), the Secretary of State may commission an independent survey to be completed not later than October 30, 2027.

(2) Survey population.—An independent survey shall use the local impact area and eligibility criteria fixed under subsection (f)(2). If no such designation was made, the Secretary of State shall fix the local impact area and eligibility criteria before survey fieldwork begins.

(3) Majority-support standard.—For purposes of subsection (c)(4)(A), an independent survey establishes majority support for the continued presence of the United States armed forces at the installation only if the estimated percentage of eligible local participants supporting continued presence exceeds 50 percent by more than the survey's reported margin of error, calculated at a 95-percent confidence level.

(4) Classified information.—An independent survey under paragraph (1) shall be designed to avoid disclosure of classified information. To the extent necessary, the survey may identify the installation by a general description of its location and operations sufficient to permit eligible local participants to express an informed opinion. The classified status of an installation does not excuse compliance with this subsection.

(h) Closure and transition plans.—

(1) Applicable closure determination date.—For purposes of this section, the applicable closure determination date for a foreign military installation is—

(A) for closure under subsection (c)(1), the date of the host nation request, unless the request is timely rescinded under subsection (d)(2);

(B) for closure under subsection (c)(2), August 31, 2027, if no local referendum is completed by that date;

(C) for closure under subsection (c)(3), the date on which the Secretary of State certifies the result of the local referendum under subsection (f)(4);

(D) for closure under subsection (c)(4)(A), the date on which the result of the independent survey is publicly reported; and

(E) for closure under subsection (c)(4)(B), October 30, 2027.

(2) In general.—Not later than 90 days after the applicable closure determination date for a foreign military installation, and in no event later than January 15, 2028, the Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Peacebuilding, shall submit to Congress a plan to close the installation.

(3) Contents.—For each foreign military installation included in a plan required under paragraph (2), the plan shall include—

(A) the schedule for closure and, as applicable, the return, transfer, disposition, termination of a lease, license, or access agreement, or other relinquishment of United States rights in land, facilities, or infrastructure;

(B) the estimated cost of closure and the estimated annual savings after closure;

(C) the diplomatic, administrative, legislative, and legal steps necessary to carry out the closure and the actions described in subparagraph (A), including steps required under a treaty, status of forces agreement, lease, license, access agreement, or other international agreement;

(D) the treatment of residual value, improvements, personal property, and other property interests of the United States;

(E) the steps required to remediate environmental contamination, if any; and

(F) the steps required for worker transition and compliance with applicable severance, pension, and other employment obligations.

(4) Completion.—Except as provided in paragraph (5), each closure included in a plan required under paragraph (2) shall be completed not later than 1 year after the applicable closure determination date for the foreign military installation.

(5) Extension.—On a case-by-case basis, the President may extend the deadline under paragraph (4) for a foreign military installation for not more than 90 days, but in no case beyond January 15, 2029, if the President certifies to Congress that additional time is necessary to—

(A) protect members of the United States armed forces, civilian employees, contractors, or other persons during an orderly withdrawal from the installation;

(B) safely remove classified, sensitive, hazardous, or explosive material;

(C) comply with a binding international agreement or host nation legal requirement governing the disposition of land, facilities, infrastructure, or property interests; or

(D) complete environmental remediation or another action necessary to carry out the closure safely and lawfully.

(i) Limitation on funds.—

(1) In general.—Beginning on the date on which closure of a foreign military installation is required to be completed under subsection (h)(4) or (5), no funds appropriated or otherwise made available by any provision of law may be obligated or expended by any Federal department or agency to enable the Department of Defense or the United States armed forces to—

(A) own, operate, control, maintain permanent or standing access to, or regularly use the installation;

(B) station, assign, or deploy members of the United States armed forces at the installation; or

(C) directly or indirectly support an activity described in subparagraph (A) or (B).

(2) Closure activities.—The limitation under paragraph (1) does not apply to funds used solely for closure, removal of United States armed forces, cleanup, environmental remediation, worker transition, protection of persons during closure, or the return, transfer, disposition, termination of a lease, license, or access agreement, or other relinquishment of United States rights in land, facilities, infrastructure, or property.

(j) Relation to other law.—

(1) Closure requirement.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary of Defense shall carry out each closure required under this section.

(2) European installations.—Section 2828 of the Military Construction Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2021 (division B of Public Law 116–283; 10 U.S.C. 2687a note) shall not apply to a closure required under this section.

(3) Property and settlement requirements.—Except to the extent directly inconsistent with the duty and deadline to complete a closure under this section, nothing in this section may be construed to alter the requirements of subsections (b) through (g) of section 2687a of title 10, United States Code, or another provision of law governing residual value, settlement review, environmental remediation, property disposition, payments-in-kind, or the treatment of nonappropriated-fund property.

(k) Reports.—

(1) Initial report.—Not later than July 1, 2027, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall jointly submit to Congress and make publicly available a report on implementation of this section.

(2) Subsequent reports.—Not less frequently than once every 6 months after submission of the report required under paragraph (1), and until each closure required under subsection (c) is complete, the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall jointly submit to Congress and make publicly available an updated report on implementation of this section.

(3) Contents.—Each report required under this subsection shall include, as applicable—

(A) a list of foreign military installations for which local referenda were conducted;

(B) the certified results of each local referendum;

(C) a list of foreign military installations subject to closure under subsection (c)(2), including the local government resolutions and the resident population represented by the adopting units under subsection (e)(2);

(D) a list of foreign military installations for which independent surveys were conducted and, for each survey, the methodology, sample size, result, margin of error, confidence level, and whether the survey established majority support under subsection (g)(3);

(E) a list of foreign military installations for which no local referendum or independent survey was completed and the reason the determination was not completed;

(F) a list of foreign military installations subject to closure under subsection (c);

(G) the status of each closure, removal of United States armed forces, environmental remediation, and return, transfer, disposition, termination of a lease, license, or access agreement, or other relinquishment of United States rights in land, facilities, or infrastructure;

(H) the estimated closure costs and annual savings associated with each installation subject to closure; and

(I) recommendations for legislation or administrative action.

(4) Classified annex.—A report required under this subsection may include a classified annex, but the unclassified portion of the report shall include, to the maximum extent practicable, the information necessary for Congress and the public to evaluate compliance with this section.

SEC. 1344. SUNSET OF EXISTING AUTHORIZATIONS FOR USE OF MILITARY FORCE.

(a) Sunset.—Effective 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the following laws are repealed:

(1) The 2001 Authorization for Use of Military Force (Public Law 107–40; 50 U.S.C. 1541 note).

(2) The 1957 Authorization for Use of Military Force in the Middle East (Public Law 85–7; 71 Stat. 5; 22 U.S.C. 1961 et seq.).

(b) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit Congress from passing a new Authorization for Use of Military Force pursuant to the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1541 et seq.).

SEC. 1345. WAR POWERS MODERNIZATION.

(a) Purpose and policy.—Section 2 of the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1541) is amended—

(1) in subsection (b), by adding at the end the following: "Congress has the sole authority to authorize the obligation or expenditure of funds for the introduction or continued use of armed forces in hostilities or in situations in which imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances. The temporary emergency authority provided by section 5(a) constitutes an exercise by Congress of that authority."; and

(2) in subsection (c), by striking paragraph (3) and inserting the following:

"(3) the temporary emergency authority provided by section 5(a).".

(b) Definitions.—The War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1541 et seq.) is amended by inserting after section 2 the following:

"Sec. 2A. Definitions.

"(a) Definitions.—For purposes of this joint resolution and section 1549 of title 50, United States Code:

"(1) Appropriate congressional committees.—The term 'appropriate congressional committees' means—

"(A) the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Appropriations, the Committee on Foreign Relations, and the Select Committee on Intelligence of the Senate, or any successor committee having substantially the same jurisdiction; and

"(B) the Committee on Armed Services, the Committee on Appropriations, the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and the Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence of the House of Representatives, or any successor committee having substantially the same jurisdiction.

"(2) Armed forces.—The term 'armed forces' has the meaning given the term in section 101(a)(4) of title 10.

"(3) Congressional defense committees.—The term 'congressional defense committees' has the meaning given the term in section 101(a)(16) of title 10.

"(4) Congressional foreign affairs committee.—The term 'congressional foreign affairs committee' means, with respect to a House of Congress, the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives or the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate, or any successor committee of that House having substantially the same jurisdiction.

"(5) Congressional leadership.—The term 'congressional leadership' means the Speaker and minority leader of the House of Representatives and the majority leader and minority leader of the Senate.

"(6) Consultation.—The term 'consultation' means a meaningful exchange, before or after the introduction of armed forces as required by this joint resolution, between the President and the congressional leadership and, to the greatest extent practicable, the chairs and ranking minority members of the congressional foreign affairs committees and congressional defense committees, which includes the legal basis, factual basis, mission objectives, estimated scope, anticipated duration, countries or geographic areas involved, and the nature of any planned or ongoing hostilities.

"(7) Reserved.

"(8) Hostilities.—The term 'hostilities' includes any use of lethal or potentially lethal force by or against armed forces, and any situation in which armed forces are actively coordinating, directing, participating in, or providing operational support for the use of such force by another state, group, or person.

"(9) Immediate self-defense.—The term 'immediate self-defense' means force used only to repel or prevent an imminent armed attack against armed forces, United States civilian personnel, or United States diplomatic personnel, and does not include retaliatory, punitive, deterrent, preemptive, or continuing offensive operations.

"(10) Introduction of armed forces.—The term 'introduction of armed forces' includes—

"(A) the assignment of members of the armed forces to command, coordinate, participate in the movement of, or accompany the regular or irregular military forces of any foreign country or government when such military forces are engaged, or there exists an imminent threat that such forces will become engaged, in hostilities; and

"(B) the provision of operational support for the use of force by such regular or irregular military forces.

"(11) Operational support for the use of force.—The term 'operational support for the use of force' includes selecting or identifying targets, providing tactical or operational intelligence for strikes or raids, command and control, mission planning, refueling aircraft conducting strikes, cyber operations integral to kinetic operations, and accompanying foreign forces that are engaged or are likely to become engaged in hostilities.

"(12) Safe and orderly withdrawal.—The term 'safe and orderly withdrawal' means actions strictly necessary to remove armed forces, United States civilian personnel, or United States diplomatic personnel from actual or imminent danger, including force protection, extraction, transportation, medical care, communications, intelligence, surveillance, and rescue directly incident to such removal.

"(13) Specific statutory authorization.—The term 'specific statutory authorization' means a provision of Federal law that—

"(A) expressly authorizes the introduction or continued use of armed forces in hostilities or in situations in which imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances;

"(B) identifies, by name or objective limiting criteria, the foreign state, organization, alliance or coalition, person, or class of forces against which such authority may be used;

"(C) identifies the mission and military objectives authorized by the law and identifies the theater of operations by name, geographic description, or objective limiting criteria;

"(D) states that it is intended to constitute specific statutory authorization within the meaning of this joint resolution; and

"(E) terminates not later than 2 years after the date of enactment unless renewed by a subsequent provision of Federal law that satisfies this paragraph.

"(14) Substantially enlarge.—The term 'substantially enlarge' means, during any 30-day period, an increase in the overall number of armed forces equipped for combat in a foreign nation, including members present on temporary duty or rotational deployment, that equals or exceeds the lesser of—

"(A) 25 percent of the number present at the beginning of the period; or

"(B) 1,000 members of the armed forces.

"(15) Substantially related forces.—The term 'substantially related forces' means forces acting in coordination with, under the direction of, in material support of, or as a co-belligerent with a foreign state, organization, or person against whom hostilities were previously conducted.

"(16) Theater of operations.—The term 'theater of operations' means the foreign country, countries, airspace, waters, or other geographic area in which hostilities are occurring or from which hostilities are being launched or materially supported.

"(17) War powers measure.—The term 'war powers measure' means a bill or joint resolution—

"(A) the sole purpose of which is—

"(i) to declare war or provide specific statutory authorization;

"(ii) to extend by law the 60-day period under section 5(a); or

"(iii) to direct removal under section 5(d); and

"(B) that contains no provision not directly related to the declaration, authorization, extension, or removal described in subparagraph (A).

"(b) Rule of construction.—For purposes of this joint resolution, whether hostilities exist shall be determined based on the facts and circumstances and shall not depend solely on the characterization of such actions by the executive branch.".

(c) Consultation.—Section 3 of the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1542) is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 3. Consultation; condition of temporary emergency authority.

"(a) Prior consultation.—The President may exercise the temporary emergency authority provided by section 5(a) only after engaging in consultation with Congress in every possible instance before introducing armed forces into hostilities or into situations in which imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances.

"(b) Consultation after emergency introduction.—If the President determines that circumstances do not permit consultation before such introduction, the President shall engage in consultation with Congress as soon as practicable after such introduction, but not later than 24 hours after such introduction.

"(c) Renewed consultation.—The President shall renew consultation before any material expansion in the scope, mission, geographic area, or expected duration of such introduction, including the use of force against an additional foreign state, organization, or person.

"(d) Continuing consultation.—After any such introduction, the President shall engage in regular consultation with Congress until armed forces are no longer engaged in the hostilities or have been removed from the situation.".

(d) Reporting requirement.—Section 4 of the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1543) is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 4. Reporting requirement.

"(a) Initial report.—In the absence of a declaration of war, the President shall, not later than 48 hours after introducing armed forces in any manner described in paragraph (1), (2), or (3), submit to Congress a written report that satisfies subsection (b):

"(1) Introduction into hostilities or into situations in which imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances.

"(2) Introduction into the territory, airspace, or waters of a foreign nation while equipped for combat, except for deployments that relate solely to the supply, replacement, repair, or training of such forces.

"(3) Introduction in numbers that substantially enlarge armed forces equipped for combat already located in a foreign nation.

"(b) Contents of initial report.—Each report required by subsection (a) shall—

"(1) be transmitted on the same calendar day to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President pro tempore of the Senate;

"(2) be referred to the appropriate congressional committees; and

"(3) set forth—

"(A) the circumstances necessitating the introduction of armed forces;

"(B) the constitutional and statutory authority under which the introduction took place, including whether the President is acting pursuant to section 5(a);

"(C) the foreign state, organization, or person against which force has been used, is being used, or is reasonably anticipated to be used;

"(D) each country or geographic area in which such forces have been introduced or in which hostilities have occurred or are reasonably anticipated to occur;

"(E) the mission objectives and the nature of the hostilities or likely hostilities involved;

"(F) the estimated scope and duration of the hostilities or involvement;

"(G) whether consultation with Congress occurred before the introduction and, if not, the reasons prior consultation did not occur;

"(H) if, at the time the report is transmitted, Congress has adjourned sine die or for a period exceeding 3 calendar days, whether the President has exercised or intends to exercise the authority under Article II, Section 3 of the Constitution of the United States to convene both Houses and, if not, the reasons therefor; and

"(I) such other matters as are necessary to inform Congress of the factual and legal basis, scope, and anticipated consequences of the introduction, including any information then available concerning amounts obligated or expended and any reasonably available estimate of amounts expected to be obligated or expended during the period of temporary emergency authority.

"(c) Additional information.—The President shall provide such other information as Congress may request in the fulfillment of its constitutional responsibilities with respect to war, the use of armed forces abroad, and the authorization of appropriations.

"(d) Periodic reports.—

"(1) Hostilities and imminent hostilities.—Whenever armed forces are introduced into hostilities or into a situation described in subsection (a)(1), the President shall, for so long as such forces remain engaged in such hostilities or situation, submit to Congress periodic reports on the status, scope, duration, and legal and factual basis of such hostilities or situation, including any funds obligated or expended, but in no event less often than once every 30 days.

"(2) Other deployments.—Whenever armed forces are introduced in a manner described in paragraph (2) or (3) of subsection (a), but are not engaged in hostilities or in a situation described in subsection (a)(1), the President shall, for so long as such forces remain so deployed, submit to Congress the information described in paragraph (1), but in no event less often than once every 180 days.

"(e) Supplemental reports on material changes.—

"(1) In general.—Not later than 48 hours after any material expansion in the scope, mission, geographic area, expected duration, or additional foreign state, organization, or person involved in hostilities or likely hostilities, the President shall submit a supplemental report containing the information required under subsection (b), as updated to reflect such change.

"(2) Separate introduction.—If a material expansion independently constitutes an introduction described in subsection (a)(1), including an introduction into hostilities against an additional foreign state, organization, or person, the President shall submit a new initial report under subsection (a). If the President claims that a separate period applies, the report shall state that claim and set forth the facts supporting the conclusion that the later hostilities are distinct. Subject to section 8(d), the separate introduction shall be subject to a separate 60-day period under section 5(a).

"(3) Existing periods unaffected.—A supplemental report under paragraph (1) does not extend or restart any period under section 5. A separate period arising under paragraph (2) does not extend or restart the period applicable to any hostilities previously reported.

"(f) Incident reports.—

"(1) In general.—Not later than 48 hours after any incident in which armed forces are involved in an attack or hostilities, whether in an offensive or defensive capacity, the President shall submit to the congressional defense committees and the congressional foreign affairs committees a report on the incident, unless—

"(A) the President submits a report under subsection (a) or (e) within the same 48-hour period that includes the information required by paragraph (2); or

"(B) before the incident, the President determined in an annual report, semiannual update, or notice submitted under section 1549 of title 50, United States Code, that the armed forces involved would be operating pursuant to specific statutory authorization, the determination remained current at the time of the incident, and the incident falls within the scope of the authority and operations described in that report, update, or notice.

"(2) Contents.—Each report required by paragraph (1) shall include—

"(A) the authority or authorities under which armed forces were operating when the incident occurred;

"(B) the date, location, and duration of the incident and the other parties involved;

"(C) a description of the armed forces involved in the incident and the mission of those forces;

"(D) the number of combatant casualties and civilian casualties resulting from the incident; and

"(E) any other information the President determines appropriate.".

(e) Repeal of separate incident-reporting provision.—Section 1543a of title 50, United States Code, is repealed.

(f) Temporary emergency authority and congressional action.—Section 5 of the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1544) is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 5. Temporary emergency authority; congressional action.

"(a) Temporary emergency authority.—Subject to compliance with sections 3 and 4, the President may obligate or expend funds appropriated or otherwise made available under any law for the introduction or use of armed forces in hostilities, or in a situation in which imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances, for a period not exceeding 60 calendar days beginning on the date on which a report concerning such introduction is submitted or required to be submitted under section 4(a)(1), whichever occurs first. After the expiration of that period, no funds appropriated or otherwise made available under any law may be obligated or expended for the continued use of such forces except as provided in subsections (b) and (c).

"(b) Exceptions to termination.—The prohibition in the second sentence of subsection (a) shall not apply if Congress—

"(1) has declared war or has enacted a specific statutory authorization for such use of armed forces;

"(2) has extended by law the 60-day period under subsection (a); or

"(3) is unable, as a direct result of an armed attack upon the United States, to convene or complete action on a measure described in paragraph (1) or (2), but only for so long as that inability continues.

"(c) Limited authority for withdrawal.—Before the expiration of the 60-day period under subsection (a), the President may certify to Congress in writing that unavoidable military necessity respecting the safety of armed forces, United States civilian personnel, or United States diplomatic personnel requires the continued use of such forces solely to carry out a safe and orderly withdrawal and immediate self-defense during such withdrawal. Upon submission of the certification, the authority under subsection (a) shall continue for an additional period not exceeding 30 calendar days. No funds appropriated or otherwise made available under any law may be obligated or expended during the additional 30-day period to initiate a new mission, materially expand the hostilities, or conduct retaliatory operations not necessary to the withdrawal or immediate self-defense.

"(d) Earlier removal by law.—At any time that armed forces are engaged in hostilities outside the territory of the United States, its possessions, and its territories without a declaration of war or specific statutory authorization, Congress may by law direct the removal of such forces.

"(e) Protection of personnel compensation and benefits.—Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit the obligation or expenditure of funds for pay or benefits owed to members of the armed forces or their survivors, or for military funeral honors.".

(g) Congressional priority procedures.—Section 6 of the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1545) is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 6. Congressional priority procedures for war powers measures.

"(a) Introduction.—A war powers measure may be introduced in either House of Congress by any Member of that House.

"(b) Committee consideration.—

"(1) Referral.—A war powers measure introduced in either House shall be referred to the congressional foreign affairs committee of that House.

"(2) Report or discharge.—Not later than 7 calendar days after the first war powers measure addressing particular hostilities is referred to the committee, the committee shall report 1 war powers measure addressing those hostilities. If the committee has not reported such a measure by the end of that period, the committee shall be automatically discharged from further consideration of the first such measure.

"(3) Pending business.—Only the war powers measure reported or discharged under paragraph (2) shall become the pending business of that House and receive expedited consideration under this section.

"(4) Other measures.—Any other war powers measure addressing the same hostilities that was referred before the report or discharge under paragraph (2) shall remain referred to the committee under otherwise applicable rules. After that House has finally disposed of the measure described in paragraph (3), a war powers measure addressing the same hostilities referred thereafter shall be treated as the first such measure for purposes of paragraph (2).

"(c) Accelerated consideration near expiration.—

"(1) Recorded approval required.—If, on the date a war powers measure is introduced in a House, not more than 15 calendar days remain before the expiration of the 60-day period applicable to the hostilities addressed by the measure under section 5(a), or if, on the date a war powers measure passed by one House is received by the other House, not more than 8 calendar days remain before that expiration, the accelerated procedures under paragraph (2) shall apply in that House only upon adoption of a motion to apply such procedures. The motion shall be privileged, shall not be debatable, and shall be determined by the yeas and nays.

"(2) Accelerated procedures.—Upon adoption of a motion under paragraph (1)—

"(A) if the committee to which 1 or more war powers measures addressing the same hostilities are referred has not reported 1 such measure at the end of 48 hours after the first such measure is referred, the committee shall be automatically discharged from further consideration of the first such measure;

"(B) the measure reported or discharged under subparagraph (A) shall become the pending business of that House immediately;

"(C) debate shall be limited as provided in subsection (d)(2); and

"(D) the vote on passage shall be determined by the yeas and nays and shall occur immediately after the conclusion of debate.

"(3) Failure to approve accelerated consideration.—Failure to adopt a motion under paragraph (1) shall not prevent continued consideration of the war powers measure under the otherwise applicable procedures of this section.

"(4) Expiration during consideration.—Expiration of the applicable period under section 5(a) shall not terminate or suspend consideration of a war powers measure.

"(d) Floor consideration.—

"(1) Pending business.—A war powers measure that becomes the pending business of a House under subsection (b) or (c) shall be considered immediately. All points of order against the war powers measure and against consideration of the war powers measure are waived. Consideration of the measure shall not be subject to a motion to postpone or to proceed to the consideration of other business.

"(2) Debate.—Debate on a war powers measure and all amendments thereto shall be limited to 10 hours in each House, divided equally between proponents and opponents of the measure.

"(3) Amendments and motions.—Amendments to a war powers measure shall be in order, but each amendment shall be directly related to the declaration, authorization, extension, or removal addressed by the war powers measure. No motion to postpone or recommit a war powers measure shall be in order.

"(4) Vote.—Except as provided in subsection (c)(2)(D), a vote on passage of a war powers measure shall be determined by the yeas and nays and shall occur immediately after the conclusion of debate and not later than 3 calendar days after the measure becomes the pending business of that House. A motion to reconsider the vote on passage shall not be in order.

"(e) Consideration by other House.—A war powers measure passed by one House shall be referred to the congressional foreign affairs committee of the other House. The procedures and deadlines under subsections (b) through (d) shall apply in the other House beginning on the date the measure is received.

"(f) Disagreement between Houses.—If the Houses pass different versions of a war powers measure, conferees shall be appointed not later than 24 hours after passage of the second version. The committee of conference shall, not later than 48 hours after the conferees are appointed, file a conference report or report to the respective Houses in disagreement. A conference report filed under this subsection shall be considered under subsection (d), except that, notwithstanding any rule in either House concerning the printing of conference reports in the Congressional Record or concerning any delay in the consideration of such reports, each House shall vote on the conference report not later than 48 hours after the report is filed.

"(g) Veto message.—If the President vetoes a war powers measure, debate on the veto message shall be limited to 10 hours in each House, divided equally between proponents and opponents of overriding the veto, and a vote on overriding the veto shall occur not later than 3 calendar days after the veto message is received by that House.

"(h) Rules of the House of Representatives and Senate.—This section is enacted by Congress—

"(1) as an exercise of the rulemaking power of the House of Representatives and the Senate, respectively, and as such is deemed a part of the rules of each House, respectively, but applicable only with respect to the procedure to be followed in that House in the case of a war powers measure and supersedes other rules only to the extent of any inconsistency with this section; and

"(2) with full recognition of the constitutional right of either House to change the rules, so far as relating to the procedure of that House, at any time, in the same manner and to the same extent as in the case of any other rule of that House.".

(h) Repeal of concurrent-resolution procedures.—Section 7 of the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1546) is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 7. Reserved.".

(i) Repeal of additional expedited procedures.—Section 1546a of title 50, United States Code, is repealed.

(j) Interpretation and rules of construction.—Section 8 of the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1547) is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 8. Interpretation and rules of construction.

"(a) Funding not authorization or ratification.—Except for the temporary emergency authority provided by section 5(a), neither the enactment or availability of any appropriation, authorization, transfer, reprogramming, or other funding provision nor the obligation or expenditure of funds under such a provision may be construed—

"(1) to constitute or imply specific statutory authorization for hostilities;

"(2) to ratify hostilities undertaken without a declaration of war or specific statutory authorization;

"(3) to extend or restart any period under section 5; or

"(4) to cure a failure to comply with this joint resolution.

"(b) Scope of declarations and authorizations.—

"(1) General rule.—No provision of law may be construed to authorize the introduction or continued use of armed forces in hostilities or in situations in which imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances unless the provision is a declaration of war or constitutes specific statutory authorization within the meaning of this joint resolution.

"(2) Limits on construction.—No declaration of war, authorization for use of military force, specific statutory authorization, or other provision of law may be construed to—

"(A) authorize hostilities against a foreign state, organization, alliance or coalition, person, or class of forces not identified in such law by name or objective limiting criteria; or

"(B) in the case of any such law other than a declaration of war, authorize a mission, military objective, or theater of operations not identified in such law by name, geographic description, or objective limiting criteria.

"(c) International sources.—Authority to introduce or continue the use of armed forces in hostilities or in situations in which imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances shall not be inferred from any treaty, international agreement, resolution of the United Nations Security Council, or other source of international law unless implemented by legislation constituting specific statutory authorization within the meaning of this joint resolution.

"(d) Continuity of hostilities; separate hostilities; anti-evasion.—

"(1) Totality of circumstances.—Whether a later introduction or use of armed forces constitutes part of the same hostilities as, or hostilities separate from, an earlier introduction or use shall be determined from the totality of the facts and circumstances. No single factor described in paragraph (2) or (3) is controlling.

"(2) Factors indicating the same hostilities.—Factors indicating that later operations are part of the same hostilities include whether the later operations—

"(A) pursue the same or substantially related military objectives;

"(B) are part of the same military campaign, armed conflict, or operational plan;

"(C) are conducted against the same foreign state, organization, alliance or coalition, person, or substantially related forces as part of the same armed conflict;

"(D) share command, logistics, intelligence, targeting, or operational support with the earlier hostilities;

"(E) were contemplated or reasonably foreseeable when the earlier hostilities began; or

"(F) advance, protect, sustain, or facilitate the earlier hostilities.

"(3) Factors indicating separate hostilities.—Factors indicating that later operations constitute separate hostilities include whether the later operations—

"(A) arise from a distinct armed attack or other separate emergency;

"(B) are conducted against a different adversary that is not acting in coordination with, under the direction of, in material support of, or as a co-belligerent with an adversary in the earlier hostilities;

"(C) pursue a substantially distinct military objective;

"(D) are independently planned, commanded, supplied, and conducted;

"(E) do not depend operationally on the earlier hostilities; or

"(F) are not a contemplated or reasonably foreseeable expansion of the earlier hostilities.

"(4) Changes insufficient.—A change in the name, legal characterization, stated mission, military objective, command structure, composition of forces, weapons, tactics, operational tempo, location, foreign country, theater of operations, political leadership, government, or identity of any person shall not, by itself, establish separate hostilities, including when the change results from the earlier hostilities.

"(5) Effect on periods.—Hostilities treated as part of the same hostilities under this subsection shall not create new temporary emergency authority or start, extend, or restart a period under section 5. Hostilities treated as separate under this subsection shall be subject to a separate 60-day period under section 5(a), and that separate period shall not extend or restart the period applicable to earlier hostilities.

"(6) Presidential characterization not controlling.—A statement or determination by the President that later hostilities are separate shall not be controlling.

"(e) Joint headquarters operations of high-level military commands.—Nothing in this joint resolution may be construed to require any further specific statutory authorization to permit members of the armed forces to participate jointly with members of the armed forces of 1 or more foreign countries in the headquarters operations of high-level military commands that were established before November 7, 1973, pursuant to the United Nations Charter or any treaty ratified by the United States before that date.

"(f) Constitutional authorities and treaties.—Nothing in this joint resolution is intended to alter the constitutional authority of Congress or the President or the legal effect of any treaty, except that no treaty shall itself constitute specific statutory authorization within the meaning of this joint resolution.

"(g) No additional presidential authority.—This joint resolution does not confer on the President any authority to introduce or continue the use of armed forces in hostilities or in situations in which imminent involvement in hostilities is clearly indicated by the circumstances, except for the temporary emergency authority provided by section 5(a).".

(k) Comprehensive reports and briefings on use of military force.—Section 1549 of title 50, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 1549. Comprehensive reports and briefings on use of military force.

"(a) Annual comprehensive report.—

"(1) In general.—Not later than March 1 of each year, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report setting forth the complete legal and policy frameworks for the use of military force and related national security operations that are in effect on the date of submission and describing operations conducted during the preceding calendar year.

"(2) Complete current framework.—The report required by paragraph (1) shall describe the entire current framework and shall not consist solely of changes made since a previous report.

"(b) Matters to be included.—The report required by subsection (a) shall include—

"(1) Authorities.—A list of each declaration of war, specific statutory authorization, exercise of temporary emergency authority under section 1544, or other constitutional authority under which the President claims that armed forces have been or may be introduced or used in hostilities, together with the legal, factual, and policy basis for each claim and the limits the executive branch considers applicable to that authority.

"(2) Adversaries and targeting criteria.—

"(A) a list of each foreign state, organization, alliance or coalition, person, or class of forces against which the executive branch considers force authorized or against which force was used during the reporting period;

"(B) the legal and factual basis for each determination described in subparagraph (A); and

"(C) the criteria used to determine whether a state, organization, alliance or coalition, person, or class of forces falls within an authority described in paragraph (1), including any criteria for determining membership, affiliation, co-belligerency, material support, or lawful targetability.

"(3) Geographic scope and operations.—A list of each country, geographic area, airspace, or waters in which operations were conducted or in which the executive branch considers operations authorized, including the circumstances necessitating the use of force, the mission and military objectives, the status and scope of operations, the anticipated duration, and whether the area has been designated as an area of active hostilities.

"(4) Threat assessments.—An intelligence assessment of the risk to the United States posed by each adversary identified under paragraph (2).

"(5) Partner forces.—A list of each partner force and country with respect to which armed forces commanded, coordinated, participated in the movement of, accompanied, trained, or provided operational support to regular or irregular forces that were engaged, or were likely to become engaged, in hostilities, including the authority claimed for such activity and the nature and extent of the United States role.

"(6) Coalition contributions.—A description of the actual and proposed contributions, including financing, equipment, intelligence, training, troops, and logistical support, provided by each foreign country participating in an international coalition with the United States in connection with operations described in the report.

"(7) Changes.—A description of each material change made since the preceding annual or semiannual report to any legal or policy framework, targetability criterion, operational scope, mission, adversary, partner-force relationship, or geographic area described in this subsection, together with the legal, factual, and policy justification for the change.

"(c) Semiannual update.—Not later than September 1 of each year, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees an update describing each material change and each operation described in subsection (b) that commenced after submission of the annual report. If no such change occurred and no such operation commenced, the President shall submit a statement to that effect.

"(d) Notice of material changes.—Not later than 30 days after a material change is made to a legal or policy framework described in subsection (a), the President shall notify the appropriate congressional committees of the change and provide the legal, factual, and policy justification for the change.

"(e) Briefings.—At least once during each 180-day period, the President, acting through 1 or more appropriate senior officials of the executive branch, shall provide to the appropriate congressional committees a briefing on the matters required to be reported under this section.

"(f) Form and public availability.—Each report, update, and notice required by this section shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may contain a classified annex. The unclassified portion shall include, to the maximum extent practicable, the information required by this section and shall be made available to the public at the same time it is submitted to Congress.

"(g) Incorporation of other reports.—A report under this section may incorporate by reference information submitted under section 1543 or another provision of law, but the annual report required by subsection (a) shall remain a complete and comprehensible statement of the current framework and operations.".

(l) Conforming amendments.—

(1) Sinai early warning system.—

(A) Congressional termination.—The first section of the joint resolution entitled "Joint resolution to implement the United States proposal for the early-warning system in Sinai" (Public Law 94–110; 89 Stat. 572) is amended by striking "if the Congress by concurrent resolution determines" and inserting "if a joint resolution is enacted into law determining".

(B) Expedited procedures.—Section 2 of such joint resolution is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 2. Expedited consideration.

"(a) In general.—A joint resolution introduced in either House of Congress, the sole purpose of which is to make a determination described in the first section and which contains no provision not directly related to that determination or the resulting removal of United States civilian personnel assigned to Sinai, shall be treated as a war powers measure for purposes of section 6 of the War Powers Resolution.

"(b) Application.—In applying section 6 of the War Powers Resolution to a joint resolution described in subsection (a)—

"(1) subsection (c) of such section shall not apply;

"(2) references in subsection (b) of such section to particular hostilities, those hostilities, or the same hostilities shall be treated as references to the grounds for removal addressed by the joint resolution; and

"(3) paragraph (3) of subsection (d) of such section shall be applied by substituting 'the determination or removal addressed by the joint resolution' for 'the declaration, authorization, extension, or removal addressed by the war powers measure'.".

(2) Support of special operations for irregular warfare.—Section 127d of title 10, United States Code, is amended—

(A) by striking "section 8(c) of the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1547(c))" each place it appears and inserting "section 2A(a)(10) of the War Powers Resolution"; and

(B) by striking "section 5(b) of such Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1544(b))" and inserting "section 2A(a)(13) of such Resolution".

(3) Support of special operations to combat terrorism.—Section 127e(g)(2) of title 10, United States Code, is amended—

(A) by striking "section 8(c) of the War Powers Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1547(c))" and inserting "section 2A(a)(10) of the War Powers Resolution"; and

(B) by striking "section 5(b) of such Resolution (50 U.S.C. 1544(b))" and inserting "section 2A(a)(13) of such Resolution".

(4) Repeal of duplicative reporting provision.—Section 1550 of title 50, United States Code, is repealed.

(m) Transitional treatment of existing authorizations.—

(1) Continuation during transition.—During the period described in section 1344(a), each law identified in that subsection shall continue to have the same force, effect, and lawful scope that the law had immediately before the date of enactment, notwithstanding the amendments made by this section.

(2) Application of procedural requirements.—During the period described in paragraph (1), the consultation, reporting, congressional-notification, and congressional-procedure requirements of the War Powers Resolution, as amended by this section, shall apply to hostilities conducted under a law identified in section 1344(a).

(3) No expansion or renewal.—Nothing in this subsection may be construed to expand the scope of an authorization, authorize force against an additional state, organization, alliance or coalition, person, or class of forces, authorize operations in an additional theater of operations, or extend, renew, or restart an authorization or a period under the War Powers Resolution.

SEC. 1346. PROHIBITION ON FIRST-USE NUCLEAR STRIKES.

(a) Definition.—Section 2A(a) of the War Powers Resolution, as inserted by section 1345, is amended by striking paragraph (7) and inserting the following:

"(7) First-use nuclear strike.—The term 'first-use nuclear strike' means an attack using a nuclear weapon against an enemy conducted without prior joint confirmation to the President by the Secretary of Defense and the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff that the enemy has used a nuclear weapon against the United States, a territory or possession of the United States, or the armed forces.".

(b) No funding authority.—Section 7 of the War Powers Resolution, as amended by section 1345, is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 7. No funding authority for first-use nuclear strikes.

"Funds appropriated or otherwise made available under any law may be obligated or expended to conduct a first-use nuclear strike only pursuant to a declaration of war enacted by Congress that expressly authorizes the strike.".

Subpart B—Restricting the Supply of Nuclear Weapons

SEC. 1351. PROHIBITION ON EXPLOSIVE NUCLEAR TESTING BY THE UNITED STATES.

(a) Statement of policy.—It is the policy of the United States—

(1) to seek the advice and consent of the Senate to ratification of the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty, adopted by the United Nations General Assembly on September 10, 1996 (in this section referred to as the "CTBT"), and, upon receiving such advice and consent, promptly deposit the instrument of ratification of the United States;

(2) to support the prompt entry into force and full implementation of the CTBT; and

(3) to encourage each other State listed in Annex 2 to the CTBT that has not signed or ratified the CTBT, or has withdrawn or revoked its ratification, to sign, ratify, or restore its ratification, as applicable.

(b) Prohibition on explosive nuclear testing.—Section 6121 of title 10, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 6121. Prohibition on explosive nuclear testing.

"(a) Prohibition.—No nuclear weapon test explosion or any other nuclear explosion may be conducted by the United States. No department or agency of the United States, and no officer, employee, or contractor thereof acting under color of Federal authority, may make preparations for or maintain readiness to conduct any such explosion.

"(b) Limitation on availability of funds.—None of the funds authorized to be appropriated or otherwise made available for fiscal year 2027 or any fiscal year thereafter may be obligated or expended to conduct, make preparations for, or maintain readiness to conduct any nuclear weapon test explosion or any other nuclear explosion.

"(c) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section may be construed to limit nuclear stockpile stewardship activities, including subcritical experiments, that are consistent with the zero-yield standard and other requirements of law.

"(d) Subcritical experiment defined.—In this section, the term 'subcritical experiment' means an experiment involving fissile material that is conducted under conditions that do not permit a self-sustaining, supercritical nuclear fission chain reaction.".

(c) Nuclear weapons stockpile plan.—Section 6114 of title 10, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a), by striking "and nuclear test readiness" and inserting "and compliance with section 6121"; and

(2) in subsection (c), by amending paragraph (5) to read as follows:

"(5) With respect to compliance with section 6121—

"(A) a description of actions taken to eliminate capabilities maintained solely to conduct a nuclear weapon test explosion or any other nuclear explosion; and

"(B) an assessment of the stockpile stewardship capabilities necessary to maintain the safety, security, and reliability of the nuclear weapons stockpile without explosive nuclear testing.".

(d) Annual stockpile assessments.—Section 6117(e)(2) of title 10, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"(2) Such official's determination as to whether an issue identified in the assessments requires corrective action and, if so, identification of the stockpile stewardship, repair, refurbishment, retirement, dismantlement, or other action consistent with section 6121 that is necessary to resolve the issue.".

SEC. 1352. SMARTER APPROACH TO NUCLEAR EXPENDITURES.

(a) Limits on nuclear-capable delivery platforms.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no Federal funds may be obligated or expended to procure, acquire, or place into service—

(1) more than 6 Columbia-class ballistic missile submarines;

(2) more than 50 B-21 long-range penetrating bomber aircraft; or

(3) any F-35 aircraft capable of carrying a nuclear weapon.

(b) Reduction and consolidation of land-based intercontinental ballistic missile forces.—

(1) Force cap and single missile field.—Beginning on October 30, 2028, the intercontinental ballistic missile forces of the Air Force shall include not more than 150 intercontinental ballistic missiles confined to a single missile field.

(2) Designated missile field and deactivation of other missile fields.—Except as provided in paragraph (3), not later than October 30, 2028—

(A) the single missile field described in paragraph (1) shall consist of launch facilities assigned to the 341st Missile Wing at Malmstrom Air Force Base, Montana;

(B) no operational intercontinental ballistic missile or nuclear warhead may remain assigned to, deployed within, or maintained for operational use by the 90th Missile Wing at Francis E. Warren Air Force Base or the 91st Missile Wing at Minot Air Force Base; and

(C) each launch facility assigned to either wing, and each launch control center and other facility used principally to command, control, maintain, secure, or support the intercontinental ballistic missile mission of either wing, shall be permanently deactivated and rendered incapable of launching, commanding, controlling, maintaining, securing, or supporting an intercontinental ballistic missile.

(3) Alternative single missile field designated by Congress.—Congress may, by an Act enacted after the date of enactment of this Act, designate a different single missile field and make corresponding substitutions for the retained and deactivated missile fields identified in paragraph (2).

(4) Consolidation and disposition.—In carrying out paragraphs (1) and (2), the Secretary of Defense may relocate intercontinental ballistic missiles, nuclear warheads, and components among or from the missile fields identified in paragraph (2) as necessary to select the 150 intercontinental ballistic missiles and associated nuclear warheads to be retained at the single missile field. Each intercontinental ballistic missile not retained under paragraph (1) shall be retired and dismantled, demilitarized, or otherwise permanently rendered incapable of use as a nuclear delivery system. Each nuclear warhead removed from the intercontinental ballistic missile force to comply with paragraph (1) shall be retired and placed on a binding dismantlement schedule under section 1353(c)(3).

(c) Prohibition on nuclear missile and cruise-missile programs.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no Federal funds may be obligated or expended for the research, development, test, evaluation, production, procurement, deployment, sustainment, or life extension of—

(1) the LGM-35 Sentinel intercontinental ballistic missile (previously known as the ground-based strategic deterrent) or any other new intercontinental ballistic missile;

(2) the long-range stand-off weapon or any other new air-launched cruise missile; or

(3) a new submarine-launched cruise missile capable of carrying a low-yield or nonstrategic nuclear warhead.

(d) Prohibition on nuclear warheads, bombs, and life extension programs.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no Federal funds may be obligated or expended for the research, development, test, evaluation, production, procurement, deployment, sustainment, or life extension of—

(1) the W87-1 warhead or any other new nuclear warhead associated with an intercontinental ballistic missile;

(2) the W80-4 life extension program or any other nuclear warhead life extension program associated with a new air-launched cruise missile;

(3) the W93 warhead on a submarine-launched ballistic missile;

(4) the W76-2 warhead or any other low-yield or nonstrategic nuclear warhead; or

(5) the B83-1 bomb.

(e) Anti-evasion.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, no Federal funds may be obligated or expended for any program, contract, transaction, or other arrangement that knowingly evades or attempts to evade this section, including by replacing, renaming, dividing, transferring, or otherwise carrying out an activity prohibited under subsection (a), (b), (c), or (d).

(f) Transfer of unobligated balances.—Unexpired unobligated balances made available for an activity prohibited under this section shall be identified and transferred in accordance with section 1353(f).

(g) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit the orderly termination of an activity prohibited under this section, including the payment of legally required termination costs, or activities necessary to safely deactivate, secure, dismantle, or dispose of a nuclear weapon, delivery system, facility, or component or otherwise carry out section 1353, if such activities do not continue or expand the prohibited activity.

SEC. 1353. NUCLEAR PRODUCTION AND STOCKPILE REDUCTION.

(a) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Deployed nuclear warhead.—The term "deployed nuclear warhead" means a nuclear warhead that meets 1 or more of the following conditions:

(A) The warhead is mounted on or loaded on a nuclear-capable delivery system.

(B) The warhead is located outside the 50 States and the District of Columbia.

(C) The warhead is assigned to, stored for, or otherwise maintained for use by a military unit equipped with an operational nuclear-capable delivery system.

(2) Military capability increase.—The term "military capability increase" means an improvement or expansion of the operational capabilities of a nuclear warhead or nuclear delivery system, and does not include a change made solely to improve safety, security, reliability, or use control.

(3) New nuclear delivery system.—The term "new nuclear delivery system" means a nuclear-capable delivery system not in operational service on the date of enactment of this Act, including a replacement, modification, or redesign of an existing system that materially changes its operational capabilities.

(4) New nuclear warhead type.—The term "new nuclear warhead type" means a nuclear warhead type not in the nuclear weapons stockpile on the date of enactment of this Act, including a replacement, modification, or redesign of an existing warhead type that materially changes its operational capabilities.

(5) Nuclear weapons stockpile.—The term "nuclear weapons stockpile" means the active and inactive nuclear weapons stockpile of the United States, excluding a retired nuclear warhead that satisfies the requirements of subsection (c)(3).

(b) Deployed nuclear warhead reduction.—

(1) Beginning on October 30, 2028, the United States shall maintain not more than 1,300 deployed nuclear warheads.

(2) Beginning on October 30, 2030, the United States shall maintain not more than 999 deployed nuclear warheads.

(c) Nuclear weapons stockpile reduction.—

(1) Beginning on October 30, 2028, the number of nuclear warheads in the nuclear weapons stockpile of the United States shall not exceed 70 percent of the number of nuclear warheads in the nuclear weapons stockpile on the date of enactment of this Act.

(2) Beginning on October 30, 2031, the number of nuclear warheads in the nuclear weapons stockpile of the United States shall not exceed 40 percent of the number of nuclear warheads in the nuclear weapons stockpile on the date of enactment of this Act.

(3) Exclusion for retired warheads.—A retired nuclear warhead is excluded from the nuclear weapons stockpile only if the warhead has been—

(A) removed from any operational assignment; and

(B) placed on a binding dismantlement schedule administered by the National Nuclear Security Administration through the Weapons Dismantlement and Disposition program.

(d) Prohibition on new nuclear weapons programs.—

(1) No Federal funds may be obligated or expended for the development, production, procurement, deployment, or life extension of—

(A) a new nuclear warhead type;

(B) a new nuclear delivery system;

(C) a nuclear weapons component for a new nuclear warhead type or new nuclear delivery system; or

(D) a life extension program that results in a military capability increase.

(2) Paragraph (1) does not apply to an activity necessary to maintain the safety, security, reliability, or use control of an existing nuclear warhead or nuclear delivery system, or to dismantle or dispose of a nuclear warhead or component, if the activity does not result in a military capability increase.

(3) Paragraph (1) does not apply to activities relating to Columbia-class ballistic missile submarines or B-21 long-range penetrating bomber aircraft to the extent such activities are consistent with subsection (a) of section 1352.

(e) Plutonium pit capability and manufacturing infrastructure.—

(1) Plutonium pit capability.—Section 6128 of title 10, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 6128. Plutonium pit capability.

"(a) Requirement.—Consistent with statutory requirements for nuclear weapons stockpile reduction, the Secretary of Energy shall ensure that the nuclear security enterprise maintains only such plutonium pit inspection, testing, certification, reacceptance, reuse, refurbishment, requalification, disassembly, and disposition capability as is necessary for safety, security, stockpile surveillance, dismantlement, verification, and compliance with law.

"(b) Prohibition on new fabrication.—No Federal funds may be obligated or expended to fabricate any new war reserve plutonium pit.

"(c) Savannah River Site.—No Federal funds may be obligated or expended to establish, construct, operate, or support plutonium pit production at the Savannah River Plutonium Processing Facility at the Savannah River Site, Aiken, South Carolina.

"(d) Los Alamos National Laboratory.—Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit the inspection, testing, certification, reacceptance, reuse, refurbishment, or requalification at Los Alamos National Laboratory of a plutonium pit.

"(e) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section may be construed to prohibit activities necessary for dismantlement, waste disposition, environmental remediation, worker safety, nuclear material security, or compliance with statutory nuclear weapons stockpile reduction requirements.".

(2) Manufacturing infrastructure.—Section 6122 of title 10, United States Code, is amended—

(A) in subsection (a)(1)(C), by striking "To fabricate and certify new nuclear warheads, as necessary" and inserting "To dismantle and dispose of retired nuclear warheads and components"; and

(B) in subsection (b)(4), by striking "The fissile material component processing and fabrication capabilities of the Savannah River Plutonium Processing Facility and the Los Alamos National Laboratory" and inserting "The plutonium pit capabilities authorized under section 6128".

(3) Workforce development and training.—Section 6130(c)(2) of title 10, United States Code, is amended by striking "to support plutonium pit production at a covered facility" and inserting "to support a capability authorized under section 6128 at a covered facility".

(f) Transfer of funds.—

(1) Identification.—Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Energy, in consultation with the Secretary of Defense and the Director of the Office of Management and Budget, shall identify unexpired unobligated balances made available for activities prohibited under section 1352 or subsection (d), or rendered unnecessary by the amendments made by subsection (e).

(2) Dismantlement transfer.—Not later than 30 days after the identification required under paragraph (1), the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall transfer the lesser of $1,000,000,000 or the total amount of the balances identified under paragraph (1) to the Weapons Dismantlement and Disposition program of the National Nuclear Security Administration.

(3) Availability and use.—Amounts transferred under paragraph (2) shall remain available until expended for dismantlement, retired component disposition, waste disposition, verification, environmental remediation, safety analysis, and workforce transition, and may not be used to support an activity prohibited under section 1352 or subsection (d), or inconsistent with the amendments made by subsection (e).

(4) Peace dividend.—After making the transfer required under paragraph (2), the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall transfer any remaining balances identified under paragraph (1) to the BREAD Fund established under section 10808 of title 22, United States Code, to remain available until expended.

(5) Report.—Not later than 30 days after each transfer under paragraph (2) or (4), the Director of the Office of Management and Budget shall submit to Congress a report identifying the source account, amount transferred, destination account, and planned use of the transferred funds.

(g) Implementation schedule.—

(1) Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Energy, acting through the Administrator for Nuclear Security and in consultation with the Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of Peacebuilding, shall submit to Congress a schedule for achieving the reductions required under this section.

(2) The schedule required under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) the baseline number of deployed nuclear warheads and nuclear warheads in the nuclear weapons stockpile on the date of enactment of this Act;

(B) annual deployed nuclear warhead reduction targets;

(C) annual nuclear weapons stockpile reduction targets;

(D) annual dismantlement targets;

(E) the capacity and resources required for dismantlement, retired component disposition, waste disposition, verification, environmental remediation, safety analysis, and workforce transition;

(F) any statutory, administrative, logistical, workforce, environmental, or security barriers to timely implementation; and

(G) recommendations for additional legislation necessary to carry out this section.

(3) The schedule required under paragraph (1) shall be submitted in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

(h) Nuclear Weapons Council.—Section 179 of title 10, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)—

(A) by striking "the Department of Defense and the Department of Energy" each place it appears and inserting "the Department of Defense, the Department of Energy, and the Department of Peacebuilding"; and

(B) by striking "nuclear deterrence related activities" and inserting "nuclear weapons stockpile reduction, dismantlement, safety, security, and stewardship activities";

(2) in subsection (a), by adding after paragraph (6) the following new paragraph:

"(7) The Assistant Secretary for Arms Control and Disarmament of the Department of Peacebuilding.";

(3) in subsection (d)(1)—

(A) by striking "nuclear deterrence activities" and inserting "nuclear activities"; and

(B) by striking "the deterrence posture" and inserting "the nuclear weapons posture";

(4) in subsection (d)(3), by striking "Developing nuclear weapons stockpiles options and the costs of such options and alternatives" and inserting "Developing nuclear weapons stockpile reduction, dismantlement, safety, security, and stewardship options and the costs of such options and alternatives";

(5) in subsection (d)(5), by striking "nuclear weapons production" and inserting "nuclear weapons stockpile reduction, dismantlement, safety, security, and stewardship";

(6) in subsection (d)(6), by striking "for existing weapons and for proposed new weapon program starts" and inserting "for existing weapons and for activities necessary to meet statutory nuclear weapons stockpile reduction and dismantlement requirements";

(7) in subsection (d)(7), by striking "Overseeing the approval of design, performance, and cost tradeoffs for all proposed new nuclear weapons programs" and inserting "Overseeing design, performance, and cost tradeoffs for nuclear weapons stockpile reduction, dismantlement, safety, security, and stewardship activities";

(8) in subsection (d)(8)(B), by striking "including production, surveillance, research, construction," and inserting "including stockpile reduction, dismantlement, production, surveillance, research,";

(9) in subsection (d)(9), by striking "study, development, production, and retirement of nuclear warheads and weapon systems, including concept definition studies, feasibility studies, engineering development, hardware component fabrication, warhead and weapon system production, and warhead retirement" and inserting "study, surveillance, safety, security, stewardship, dismantlement, and retirement of nuclear warheads and weapon systems, including activities necessary for compliance with statutory nuclear weapons stockpile reduction requirements";

(10) in subsection (f)(1), by striking "requirements relating to nuclear weapons and related weapon systems supporting nuclear deterrence missions" and inserting "requirements relating to nuclear weapons stockpile reduction, dismantlement, safety, security, and stewardship";

(11) in subsection (f)(2)(B)(i)—

(A) by striking "the objectives of the Department of Defense with respect to nuclear weapons" and inserting "statutory nuclear weapons stockpile reduction, dismantlement, safety, security, and stewardship requirements"; and

(B) by striking "those objectives" and inserting "those requirements";

(12) in subsection (f)(2)(B)(ii), by striking "the objectives described in clause (i)" and inserting "the requirements described in clause (i)";

(13) in subsection (f)(3)(B)(ii)—

(A) in subclause (I)—

(i) by striking "the requirements to produce war reserve plutonium pits under section 4219(a) of such Act (50 U.S.C. 2538a(a))" and inserting "the requirements relating to plutonium pit capability under section 6128 of this title"; and

(ii) by striking "and" at the end;

(B) by redesignating subclause (II) as subclause (III); and

(C) by inserting after subclause (I) the following:

"(II) the requirements relating to nuclear weapons stockpile reduction and dismantlement; and";

(14) in subsection (f)(3)(C), by striking "the requirements to produce war reserve plutonium pits under section 6218" and inserting "the requirements relating to plutonium pit capability under section 6128 of this title";

(15) in subsection (f)(5)(A)(i), by striking "nuclear stockpile and stockpile stewardship program requirements" and inserting "nuclear stockpile reduction, dismantlement, and stewardship program requirements"; and

(16) in subsection (f)(6), by striking "section 231(f)" and inserting "section 231(h)".

PART III—HOLDING AND PROMOTION OF PEACE CONGRESSES

SEC. 1361. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Alfred Nobel's will identified "the holding and promotion of peace congresses" as an essential component of striving toward peace.

(2) As Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. observed, "Peace is not merely the absence of tension, but it is the presence of justice." Durable peace depends on institutions, relationships, and material conditions that enable people and nations to resolve disputes without violence and live with dignity, security, and democratic self-government, rather than on military force or coercion alone.

(3) People and communities directly affected by a conflict, injustice, shared threat, or other matter addressed by a peace congress possess knowledge, experience, and a stake in the outcome that are indispensable to legitimate, practical, and durable peace, and should have meaningful opportunities to participate in the processes through which peace is pursued.

(4) Peace processes should be capable of addressing immediate violence and the underlying conditions that sustain or renew it, including economic injustice, sovereign debt distress, predatory lending, and the concentration or exploitation of political and economic power.

(5) Peace congresses can also provide forums for arms-control negotiations, disarmament summits, sovereign-debt relief, responsible lending, and other forms of international cooperation that reduce shared dangers and prevent future conflict.

(6) The United States advances its own security and the security of others by supporting peace congresses that are locally rooted, meaningfully inclusive, sustained beyond a single meeting, and designed to supplement rather than displace existing peace efforts.

(7) A Department of Peacebuilding can provide the expertise, continuity, coordination, and public accountability necessary to make the holding and promotion of peace congresses an enduring responsibility of the Federal Government.

(b) Purpose.—The purposes of this part are—

(1) to establish durable civilian capacity within the Federal Government to convene, support, and promote peace congresses and continuing dialogue and cooperation to prevent, de-escalate, resolve, and repair conflict and address shared international problems through peaceful means; and

(2) to carry out the principle expressed in Alfred Nobel's will concerning the holding and promotion of peace congresses.

SEC. 1362. PEACE CONGRESSES FOR CONFLICT PREVENTION AND STABILIZATION.

(a) Establishment.—The Secretary of Peacebuilding, in consultation with the Secretary of State, may convene peace congresses for a foreign country or region, or for an international or transnational conflict or substantial risk of such a conflict, for the purpose of supporting nonviolent dispute resolution, promoting humanitarian access, protecting people and communities, and cultivating locally rooted processes for peace and stabilization.

(b) Administration.—

(1) Lead officer.—The Assistant Secretary for International Peacebuilding and Human Security shall serve as the lead officer of the Department of Peacebuilding for purposes of this section.

(2) Consultation.—In carrying out this section, the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall consult, as appropriate, with—

(A) the Secretary of State;

(B) the Secretary of the Treasury;

(C) the Attorney General;

(D) the Secretary of Homeland Security;

(E) the Assistant Secretary for Civic Dignity and Economic Security;

(F) the Assistant Secretary for Technology, Media, and Democratic Resilience;

(G) the Assistant Secretary for Peace Education, Training, and Research;

(H) the Federal Interagency Committee on Peace established under section 1315(b);

(I) regional organizations, international organizations, and multilateral institutions;

(J) national, regional, and local governments willing to participate peacefully;

(K) civil society institutions and community organizations in affected areas; and

(L) other stakeholders directly affected by the relevant conflict or risk of conflict that are willing to participate peacefully.

(3) Diplomatic coordination.—In convening and administering a peace congress, the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall coordinate with the Secretary of State regarding United States diplomatic relations, treaty obligations, recognition questions, sanctions administered by the United States, and entry into the United States.

(4) Chief of mission coordination.—If a peace congress or related activity under this section is conducted in a foreign country, the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall coordinate with the chief of mission for that country in accordance with section 207 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 3927).

(5) Preservation of diplomatic authority.—Nothing in this section may be construed to limit the authority of the Secretary of State to conduct diplomacy or the authority of a chief of mission under section 207 of the Foreign Service Act of 1980 (22 U.S.C. 3927).

(c) Triggering conditions and responses.—

(1) Conditions.—The Secretary of Peacebuilding may convene a peace congress under this section if the Secretary determines that 1 or more of the following conditions exist:

(A) Violent conflict is ongoing, recently concluded, likely to recur, or substantially threatened, or an opportunity exists to prevent, de-escalate, resolve, or stabilize such a conflict, including through a ceasefire, peace agreement, political transition, humanitarian access agreement, or local stabilization process.

(B) Economic injustice, including labor exploitation, severe unemployment, predatory debt, corruption, resource extraction, concentration of economic power, or deprivation of essential services, is contributing to conflict, displacement, instability, or violence.

(C) Disinformation, propaganda, incitement, or media or technology systems are increasing the risk of violence or undermining peaceful dispute resolution.

(D) A regional or international organization, foreign or local government, civic institution, group of affected communities, or committee of Congress with jurisdiction over the relevant matter submits a written request for assistance in convening or evaluating a peace congress.

(2) Response to requests.—Not later than 60 days after receiving a written request described in paragraph (1)(D), the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall provide the requesting entity a written response stating whether the Secretary intends to convene or further evaluate a peace congress and briefly stating the reasons for the determination. The Secretary may provide a classified or confidential annex if necessary to protect diplomatic negotiations or the safety of any person.

(3) Congressional direction.—Congress may direct by law that the Secretary convene a peace congress under this section. The Secretary shall convene the congress in accordance with that law.

(d) Participants.—

(1) In general.—The Secretary of Peacebuilding shall take reasonable steps to ensure meaningful participation by people and communities directly affected by the conflict or risk of conflict and may invite any government, organization, movement, belligerent, institution, community, or person that is willing to participate peacefully and either is directly involved in or affected by the conflict or risk of conflict or has a direct interest in its peaceful resolution.

(2) Participation standards.—The Secretary of Peacebuilding may establish reasonable participation standards to ensure that a peace congress is conducted in a manner consistent with the principles and practice of nonviolence, the protection of people and communities, humanitarian principles, and the safety of participants.

(3) Rule of construction.—Participation in a peace congress—

(A) does not constitute diplomatic recognition of a government, organization, movement, or person;

(B) does not alter the legal status of a participant or remove, suspend, or otherwise affect a sanction, designation, or other restriction applicable to the participant, except to the extent expressly authorized under subsection (h);

(C) does not constitute endorsement by the United States of a participant or of conduct by the participant;

(D) does not confer immunity from criminal or civil liability, arrest, detention, extradition, or other lawful process;

(E) does not create an entitlement to participate in a peace congress or to enter or remain in the United States; and

(F) does not limit, supersede, or otherwise affect the restrictions under section 1337.

(e) Preparation.—Before convening a peace congress, the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall take reasonable steps to protect participants, preserve appropriate confidentiality, ensure lawful participation, and determine whether a peace and stability partnership under section 1326 may be appropriate.

(f) Peace and stabilization outcomes.—

(1) Agenda.—A peace congress convened under this section shall seek to develop a written peace and stabilization agenda containing 1 or more of the following provisions:

(A) recommendations for ceasefires, de-escalation, mediation, nonviolent political settlement, local reconciliation, and peaceful dispute resolution;

(B) recommendations to secure humanitarian access to people in need, protect people and communities, reunify families, support the safe return or resettlement of displaced people, and safeguard essential civilian systems;

(C) recommendations for truth and reconciliation committees, local justice mechanisms, transitional justice, restorative justice, reparative processes, and accountability for severe abuses;

(D) recommendations for disarmament, demobilization, reintegration, unarmed civilian peacekeeping, community safety, and reduction of the destabilizing influence of armed groups;

(E) recommendations for monitoring, verification, sequencing, protection against retaliation, continued dialogue, and benchmarks for compliance; and

(F) recommendations for the establishment of a peace and stability partnership under section 1326.

(2) Forms of outcome.—The outcome of a peace congress may include an agreed, interim, partial, or nonconsensus agenda, agreements among some participants, a statement of areas of agreement and disagreement, or a report of a mediator or facilitator.

(3) Local agency.—A recommendation under this subsection shall preserve the agency of participating partners and may not condition further assistance on adoption of a political, constitutional, monetary, financial, industrial, or economic model designed by the United States.

(4) Legal effect.—An agenda, agreement, statement, recommendation, or report developed under this subsection is not binding on the United States or any participant unless adopted or carried out under independent legal authority.

(g) Assistance for peace congresses.—

(1) Authorized assistance.—The Secretary of Peacebuilding, in consultation with the Secretary of State, may provide technical assistance, mediation, research, translation, interpretation, accessibility, facilitation, logistical, and planning assistance necessary to convene a peace congress, facilitate participation, and develop an outcome under subsection (f).

(2) No separate authority for further assistance.—This section does not authorize assistance to carry out a recommendation, agreement, agenda, or other outcome of a peace congress. Any such assistance may be provided only under section 1326 or another provision of law.

(3) Method of furnishing assistance.—To the greatest extent practicable, assistance under paragraph (1) that is provided to facilitate participation shall be furnished in kind or paid directly to a vendor. A reimbursement or controlled per diem may be provided only for a documented, reasonable, and necessary expense and may not be provided as unrestricted financial support.

(h) Lawful participation by sanctioned, designated, or inadmissible persons.—

(1) Peacebuilding determination.—The Secretary of Peacebuilding may determine in writing that the participation of a person, including a person subject to a sanction administered by the United States, affiliated with or acting on behalf of an organization designated under section 219 of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1189), or inadmissible under section 212(a) of such Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(a)), is reasonably necessary or materially useful to a peace congress and consistent with the purposes and safeguards of this section.

(2) Sanctions licenses.—Upon a determination under paragraph (1), and after consultation with the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury shall issue or amend such general or specific licenses under sanctions authorities administered by the Department of the Treasury as are necessary to authorize transactions ordinarily incident and necessary to participation in the peace congress. A license under this paragraph shall be limited to the congress and period identified in the determination and shall include reasonable recordkeeping, reporting, and anti-diversion safeguards.

(3) Material-support exception.—Section 2339B(j) of title 18, United States Code, is amended to read as follows:

"(j) Exceptions.—

"(1) Existing approval authority.—No person may be prosecuted under this section in connection with the term 'personnel', 'training', or 'expert advice or assistance' if the provision of that material support or resources to a foreign terrorist organization was approved by the Secretary of State with the concurrence of the Attorney General.

"(2) Peace congresses.—No person may be prosecuted under this section for providing material support or resources to a foreign terrorist organization if—

"(A) the material support or resources are provided solely to convene a peace congress under section 1362 of the POPULIST Act, facilitate participation in the congress, or develop a peace and stabilization agenda or other outcome under such section;

"(B) the provision is approved in writing by the Secretary of Peacebuilding with the concurrence of the Attorney General and after consultation with the Secretary of State;

"(C) the approval identifies the recipient, the material support or resources authorized, the safeguards imposed, and the duration of the approval; and

"(D) the provision complies with subsections (g) and (h) of such section 1362.

"(3) Prohibited approvals.—Neither the Secretary of State under paragraph (1) nor the Secretary of Peacebuilding under paragraph (2) may approve the provision of any material support that may be used to carry out terrorist activity (as defined in section 212(a)(3)(B)(iii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(a)(3)(B)(iii))).

"(4) Scope.—An approval under paragraph (2) does not—

"(A) alter the designation or legal status of a foreign terrorist organization or any person;

"(B) provide immunity for conduct outside the scope of the approval; or

"(C) bar prosecution of a person who knowingly facilitates terrorist activity.".

(4) Consideration for temporary parole.—Section 212(d)(5) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(d)(5)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(D) Peace congresses.—Upon a written request from the Secretary of Peacebuilding identifying an alien whose temporary presence in the United States is reasonably necessary or materially useful to a peace congress under section 1362 of the POPULIST Act, the Secretary of Homeland Security shall expeditiously consider, on a case-by-case basis, whether parole under subparagraph (A), solely to participate in the congress and related travel, would constitute a significant public benefit. The request shall identify the proposed duration and any recommended conditions of parole. Nothing in this subparagraph creates an entitlement to parole, limits the discretion of the Secretary of Homeland Security under subparagraph (A), alters a ground of inadmissibility, or causes parole to be regarded as an admission.".

(5) Conditions, suspension, and revocation.—

(A) A determination, license, approval, or grant of parole under this subsection or an amendment made by this subsection shall be limited to the person, congress, activities, and period identified.

(B) An official exercising authority under this subsection or an amendment made by this subsection may—

(i) impose conditions reasonably necessary for participant safety, public safety, recordkeeping, reporting, anti-diversion, or compliance with law; or

(ii) suspend or revoke the action for a material violation of its terms or conditions, a material misrepresentation, misuse or diversion of authorized assistance, or conduct that threatens participant or public safety or facilitates violence or terrorist activity.

(i) Reports to Congress.—

(1) Final and interim reports.—Not later than 180 days after a peace congress concludes, the Secretary of Peacebuilding, in consultation with the Secretary of State, shall submit to Congress a final report on the peace congress. If the peace congress has not concluded within 180 days after it is first convened, the Secretary shall submit an interim report not later than 60 days after the end of that 180-day period and, annually thereafter, shall submit an additional interim report until the final report is submitted.

(2) Contents.—Each report required under paragraph (1) shall include, as applicable—

(A) the foreign country or region, or international or transnational conflict or risk of conflict, addressed by the peace congress;

(B) the triggering conditions under subsection (c);

(C) a description of the consultation and peace-congress process;

(D) any peace and stabilization agenda or other outcome developed under subsection (f);

(E) any Federal funds obligated to convene or support the peace congress;

(F) safeguards used to protect the safety and agency of participants;

(G) a summary of sanctions licenses, material-support approvals, and parole requests associated with the congress;

(H) any known misuse, diversion, coercion, intimidation, or obstruction relating to the peace congress; and

(I) recommendations for legislation or administrative action to improve conflict prevention, civilian peacebuilding, and nonviolent stabilization.

(3) Public availability and protection of sensitive information.—Each report required under paragraph (1) shall be submitted in unclassified form and made publicly available in an accessible format. The Secretary of Peacebuilding may include a classified annex and may withhold, aggregate, or anonymize information if disclosure would endanger a person, violate a lawful confidentiality commitment, or materially harm an active peace process.

(j) Civilian control.—

(1) In general.—The Department of Defense may not exercise programmatic control over a peace congress, including by determining its location, schedule, agenda, mediator or facilitator, or substantive proceedings. No funds made available to carry out this section may be transferred to or administered by the Department of Defense, except to reimburse logistical support provided under paragraph (2).

(2) Department of Defense logistical support.—At the request of the Secretary of Peacebuilding, the Department of Defense may provide transportation, facilities, communications, medical services, protective services, or other logistical support for a peace congress, on a reimbursable basis or without reimbursement as otherwise authorized by law.

(3) Department of Defense participation.—Nothing in this section prohibits the Department of Defense or an element of the armed forces from participating in a peace congress, or from designating its own representatives, if invited by the Secretary of Peacebuilding.

(k) Limitations.—

(1) Prohibited authority.—Nothing in this section may be construed to authorize the use of military force, including military occupation or regime change operations, or to authorize covert action, intelligence activities, or weapons transfers.

(2) Prohibited assistance.—No assistance or funds under this section may be used to train, arm, equip, or provide operational support to a military, paramilitary, police, intelligence, or other security force, or be intended or reasonably expected to facilitate violence or terrorist activity.

(3) Protection of confidential information.—Information provided in confidence for purposes of a peace congress may not be used for an unrelated military, intelligence, law enforcement, or immigration enforcement purpose. This paragraph does not prohibit identity verification, threat assessment, or protective measures reasonably necessary to protect participants or the public, or the use of information necessary to prevent an imminent threat of death or serious bodily harm, comply with a court order, or enforce a condition of parole granted pursuant to subsection (h)(4).

(l) Authorization of appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated $50,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2027 through 2036 to carry out this section.

SEC. 1363. SUDAN PEACE PROCESS AND HUMANITARIAN ACCESS.

(a) Statement of policy.—It is the policy of the United States—

(1) to support inclusive, Sudanese-led and African-led diplomatic processes to establish a comprehensive ceasefire and sustainable peace agreement in Sudan;

(2) to facilitate unrestricted delivery of humanitarian assistance throughout Sudan, across military lines and across international borders, including through local mutual-aid organizations, emergency response rooms, and other grassroots organizations;

(3) to support civilian protection, atrocity prevention, ceasefire monitoring, and nonviolent conflict resolution in Sudan;

(4) to support an inclusive civilian political dialogue aimed at establishing a civilian-led transition and durable constitutional framework;

(5) to support accountability for genocide, war crimes, crimes against humanity, violations of international humanitarian law, conflict-related sexual violence, and other severe abuses committed by armed actors in Sudan; and

(6) to prevent United States–origin weapons or military equipment from being used by belligerents in Sudan.

(b) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Appropriate congressional committees.—The term "appropriate congressional committees" means—

(A) the Committee on Foreign Affairs, the Committee on Armed Services, and the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives; and

(B) the Committee on Foreign Relations, the Committee on Armed Services, and the Committee on Appropriations of the Senate.

(2) Major defense equipment.—The term "major defense equipment" has the meaning given the term in section 47(6) of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2794(6)).

(c) Strategy.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 120 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a strategy to support civilian protection, humanitarian access, ceasefire negotiations, and progress toward a sustainable peace in Sudan.

(2) Matters included.—The strategy required under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) plans to support, supplement, or help consolidate existing Sudanese-led, African-led, United Nations-led, regional, local, or other diplomatic processes toward a comprehensive ceasefire and sustainable peace agreement, without displacing or unnecessarily duplicating such processes;

(B) an assessment of whether and how a peace congress under section 1362 could support the processes described in subparagraph (A), including by facilitating participation, coordination, or agreement among parties and affected communities;

(C) actions in multilateral fora and with regional institutions to support civilian protection, sustained and unimpeded humanitarian access, enforcement of the United Nations arms embargo on Darfur, and expansion of such embargo to include all of Sudan;

(D) plans to support an inclusive civilian political dialogue with safe and meaningful leadership and participation by Sudanese people and communities directly affected by the conflict, including through local mutual-aid organizations, civic organizations, labor organizations, professional associations, local peace committees, and other representative community institutions;

(E) efforts to support grassroots organizations providing humanitarian and peacebuilding assistance in conflict-affected areas that traditional implementing partners cannot reach, including mechanisms to fund such organizations and facilitate secure communications;

(F) efforts to provide training and other support for doctors, lawyers, journalists, civic leaders, humanitarian workers, local mutual-aid organizations, and other persons working at the grassroots level to—

(i) preserve witness testimony, forensic evidence, medical evidence, and other information relating to genocide, war crimes, crimes against humanity, violations of international humanitarian law, conflict-related sexual violence, and other severe abuses; and

(ii) provide psychosocial support for Sudanese civilians who have experienced violence, including conflict-related sexual violence;

(G) a targeted accountability and anti-diversion strategy to deter atrocities, support accountability, end hostilities, and restrict arms, materiel, financial support, resources, and equipment that materially support military operations of the Rapid Support Forces or the Sudanese Armed Forces;

(H) an identification of foreign countries, foreign persons, and other entities knowingly providing support described in subparagraph (G); and

(I) an assessment of whether conduct identified under subparagraph (G) or (H) warrants a determination or other action under section 1337.

(3) Implementation reports.—Not later than 180 days after the date on which the strategy required under paragraph (1) is submitted, and every 180 days thereafter for 4 years, the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on implementation of the strategy that includes substantive updates on the matters described in paragraph (2).

(d) Special Envoy for Sudan.—

(1) Appointment and extension.—Section 7204 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2025 (Public Law 118–159; 22 U.S.C. 10001 note) is amended—

(A) in subsection (a), by striking "with the advice and consent of the Senate" and inserting "consistent with section 1(j) of the State Department Basic Authorities Act of 1956 (22 U.S.C. 2651a(j))"; and

(B) in subsection (d), by striking "2 years" and inserting "5 years".

(2) Coordination.—The Special Envoy for Sudan shall coordinate implementation of the strategy required under subsection (c) with the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Peacebuilding, and other relevant Federal officials.

(3) Peace dividend appropriation.—There is appropriated to the Secretary of State, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, $4,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2027 through 2029, to remain available until expended, to carry out section 7204 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2025, as amended by paragraph (1). It is the intent of Congress that amounts appropriated under this paragraph be treated as a peace dividend from reductions in national defense budget function 050 under section 1342.

(e) Multilateral implementation.—The Secretary of State and the United States Permanent Representative to the United Nations shall use the voice, vote, and influence of the United States at the United Nations and other multilateral bodies to advance the policies described in subsection (a) and implement the strategy required under subsection (c), including by supporting unimpeded humanitarian access, documentation of atrocity crimes, civilian protection, and an end to hostilities in Sudan.

(f) Civilian protection and ceasefire monitoring.—

(1) In general.—The Secretary of Peacebuilding, in consultation with the Secretary of State, shall engage the United Nations, the African Union, and relevant international, regional, local, and community participants to develop and support locally rooted, nonviolent civilian protection, humanitarian access, and ceasefire monitoring mechanisms in Sudan.

(2) Civilian administration.—The Department of Defense and the intelligence community may not exercise programmatic control over a mechanism supported under paragraph (1).

(g) International protection force.—

(1) Assistance under independent authority.—The Secretary of State may, under authority otherwise available under law, provide assistance to deploy and sustain a protection force authorized by the United Nations, the African Union, or another competent multilateral body to protect civilians, facilitate humanitarian operations, and monitor a ceasefire in Sudan.

(2) End-use and retransfer assurances.—Assistance under paragraph (1) may be provided only after the force provides written assurances that the force will not—

(A) transfer the assistance to a person who is not an officer, employee, or agent of the force without the prior consent of the President; or

(B) use or permit the use of the assistance for a purpose other than the purpose for which it was furnished without the prior consent of the President.

(3) Congressional notification.—If the President provides consent described in paragraph (2), the President shall promptly notify the appropriate congressional committees in accordance with the procedures applicable to reprogramming notifications under section 634A of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2394-1).

(4) Planning assistance.—At the request of the Secretary of State and under authority otherwise available under law, the Secretary of Defense and the Director of National Intelligence may detail personnel or provide technical assistance to the African Union or another competent multilateral body solely to assess conditions and plan for the possible establishment of a protection force described in paragraph (1).

(5) Exclusion of civilian peacebuilding funds.—No amounts made available to the Basic Relief, Economic Assistance, and Development program or the Peacebuilding Fund may be used to deploy, sustain, arm, train, equip, or provide operational support to a force described in paragraph (1).

(h) Participation in peacebuilding, relief, and recovery.—The Secretary of State and the Secretary of Peacebuilding, in coordination with the heads of other relevant Federal agencies, shall take available measures to facilitate safe and meaningful leadership and participation by Sudanese people and communities directly affected by the conflict, including through local mutual-aid organizations, civic organizations, labor organizations, professional associations, local peace committees, and other representative community institutions, in—

(1) formal and informal conflict prevention and conflict resolution processes to address the conflict in Sudan;

(2) post-conflict relief, recovery, accountability, reconstruction, and civilian governance efforts;

(3) prevention, mitigation, and response efforts relating to conflict-related sexual violence; and

(4) planning and delivery of humanitarian relief and civilian protection efforts.

(i) Prohibition on sale or licensing of major defense equipment.—

(1) In addition to other restrictions.—In addition to any restriction applicable under section 1337, the United States may not issue a license or other approval for, authorize, or carry out a sale, export, or transfer of major defense equipment to a foreign country that the President identifies under subsection (c)(2)(H) or an implementation report under subsection (c)(3) as knowingly providing support described in subsection (c)(2)(G).

(2) Waiver.—The President may waive the prohibition under paragraph (1) on a case-by-case basis if the President—

(A) determines that the waiver is vital to the national interests of the United States; and

(B) not later than 15 days after issuing the waiver, submits to the appropriate congressional committees a notification of the waiver and a detailed description and justification for the waiver.

(3) Termination.—The prohibition under paragraph (1) shall cease to apply to a country on the date on which the President determines that the country no longer knowingly provides support described in subsection (c)(2)(G). The President shall promptly submit the determination and its factual basis to the appropriate congressional committees and make the determination publicly available in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex.

(j) Assessment of restrictions on United States humanitarian assistance.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a certification and report consistent with the requirements of section 620I(a) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2378-1(a)) describing and assessing the extent to which a foreign country prohibits or otherwise restricts, directly or indirectly, the transport or delivery of United States humanitarian assistance in Sudan, including a United States Government-supported international effort to provide such humanitarian assistance.

(2) Use of exception.—The certification and report required under paragraph (1) shall include a description of any use of the authority described in section 620I(b) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2378-1(b)) and the date such authority was exercised in the continued provision of assistance to such foreign country.

(3) Relationship to strategy.—The strategy required under subsection (c) shall incorporate the findings of the certification and report required under paragraph (1).

(4) Form.—The certification and report required under paragraph (1) shall be submitted in unclassified form but may include a classified annex.

(k) Report on United States–origin weapons being used in Sudan.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State, in consultation with the Secretary of Defense and the Director of National Intelligence, shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on United States–origin weapons or military equipment being used by belligerents in Sudan.

(2) Matters included.—The report required under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) an assessment of whether United States–origin weapons or military equipment have been or are being used by belligerents in Sudan and by which actors;

(B) a list of the types of United States–origin weapons or military equipment identified as having been used by belligerents in Sudan;

(C) an analysis of the chain of control for United States–origin weapons or military equipment identified as having been used by belligerents in Sudan;

(D) a summary of actions taken, and steps necessary, to prevent United States–origin weapons or military equipment from being used by belligerents in Sudan; and

(E) an assessment of whether the findings of the report warrant a determination or other action under section 1337 or investigation, monitoring, suspension, or other action under section 1336.

(3) Form.—The report required under paragraph (1) shall be submitted in unclassified form but may include a classified annex.

(l) Rule of construction.—Nothing in this section may be construed as congressional authorization for the use of military force or as independent authority to provide security force assistance.

SEC. 1364. NUCLEAR ARMS CONTROL TALKS AND DISARMAMENT SUMMITS.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Nuclear weapons pose an existential threat to humanity, a fact affirmed on January 3, 2022, when the leaders of the People's Republic of China, France, the Russian Federation, the United Kingdom, and the United States (commonly referred to as the "P5") issued a joint statement declaring that "a nuclear war cannot be won and must never be fought".

(2) Since the advent of nuclear weapons in 1945, millions of people around the world have demanded meaningful international action to halt, reduce, and eliminate the threats posed by nuclear weapons, nuclear weapons testing, and nuclear war.

(3) The Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons (21 UST 483), entered into force March 5, 1970, includes a binding obligation to pursue negotiations in good faith on effective measures relating to cessation of the nuclear arms race and to nuclear disarmament.

(4) Bipartisan United States global leadership has curbed the growth in the number of countries possessing nuclear weapons and slowed vertical proliferation among countries already possessing nuclear weapons, as shown by a reduction of approximately 90 percent in the United States nuclear weapons stockpile from its Cold War height of 31,255 in 1967.

(5) Despite progress made to reduce the number and role of, and risks posed by, nuclear weapons, tensions among nuclear-armed countries are increasing, key nuclear risk-reduction treaties are under threat or have expired, significant stockpiles of weapons-usable fissile material remain, and a qualitative global nuclear arms race may be beginning.

(6) On September 23, 2025, President Trump stated before the United Nations General Assembly, "We want to have a cessation of the development of nuclear weapons . . . . If we ever use them, the world literally might come to an end."

(7) A nuclear freeze and reduction by the United States would seek to halt the new nuclear arms race and renew a comprehensive and verifiable global freeze on the testing, deployment, and production of nuclear weapons and delivery vehicles for such weapons.

(8) Through this title, the United States builds on decades-long bipartisan efforts to reduce the number and salience of nuclear weapons by prohibiting first-use nuclear strikes by the United States, prohibiting explosive nuclear testing by the United States, and directing renewed international nuclear arms control talks, treaty negotiations, and disarmament summits.

(b) Statement of policy.—It is the policy of the United States—

(1) to seek to build upon its decades-long, bipartisan efforts to reduce the number and salience of nuclear weapons by leading international negotiations on specific arms-reduction measures as part of a 21st-century global denuclearization movement;

(2) to seek to engage with all other countries that possess nuclear weapons, including the People's Republic of China and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, to negotiate and conclude future multilateral arms control, disarmament, and risk-reduction agreements, which should contain some or all of the following provisions:

(A) an agreement by the United States and the Russian Federation on a resumption of onsite inspections and verification measures formerly provided under the New START Treaty and a follow-on treaty or agreement that lowers central limits and covers new kinds of strategic delivery vehicles or non-strategic nuclear weapons;

(B) an agreement on a verifiable freeze on the testing, production, and further deployment of all nuclear weapons and delivery vehicles for such weapons;

(C) an agreement that establishes, to the extent practicable, a verifiable numerical ceiling on the deployed shorter-range and intermediate-range delivery systems, as defined by the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty (TIAS No. 12101), and strategic delivery systems, as defined by the New START Treaty (TIAS No. 11-205), and the nuclear warheads associated with such systems for all countries that possess nuclear weapons, using August 2, 2019, the date on which the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces Treaty terminated, as the baseline;

(D) an agreement by each country to adopt a policy of no first use of nuclear weapons or provide transparency into its nuclear declaratory policy;

(E) an agreement on a proactive United Nations Security Council resolution that expands access by the International Atomic Energy Agency to any country found by the Board of Governors of that Agency to be noncompliant with its obligations under the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons;

(F) an agreement to refrain from configuring nuclear forces in a "launch on warning" or "launch under warning" nuclear posture, which may prompt a nuclear-armed country to launch a ballistic missile attack in response to detection by an early-warning satellite or sensor of a suspected incoming ballistic missile;

(G) an agreement not to target or interfere with the nuclear command, control, and communications infrastructure of another country through a kinetic attack or a cyberattack;

(H) an agreement on transparency measures or verifiable limits, or both, on hypersonic cruise missiles and glide vehicles that are fired from sea-based, ground, and air platforms; and

(I) an agreement to provide a baseline and continuous exchanges detailing the aggregate number of active nuclear weapons and associated systems possessed by each country.

(3) to seek to rejuvenate efforts in the United Nations Conference on Disarmament toward the negotiation of a verifiable Fissile Material Treaty or Fissile Material Cutoff Treaty, or to move negotiations to another international body or forum, such as a meeting of the P5, to verifiably prevent the production by any country of highly enriched uranium and plutonium for use in nuclear weapons;

(4) to seek to convene a series of head-of-state-level summits on nuclear disarmament modeled on the Nuclear Security Summits process, which saw the elimination of the equivalent of 150 nuclear weapons; and

(5) to refrain from developing new designs for nuclear warheads or bombs and to seek reciprocal commitments from other nuclear-armed countries.

SEC. 1365. SOVEREIGN DEBT RELIEF, RESPONSIBLE LENDING, AND PEACEBUILDING CONFERENCE.

(a) Statement of policy.—It is the policy of the United States—

(1) to support sovereign debt relief for low-income countries, conflict-affected countries, and other countries experiencing unsustainable debt burdens;

(2) to support responsible lending and borrowing standards that reduce the risk of future debt crises;

(3) to oppose debt-relief conditions that require privatization of public resources, increased costs for basic public services, reductions in essential public employment, or austerity measures that deepen poverty, food insecurity, displacement, or conflict;

(4) to support transparent, participatory, and accountable use of savings generated by debt relief for health care, education, food security, housing, public infrastructure, environmental restoration, post-conflict recovery, and other peacebuilding purposes;

(5) to support orderly, fair, timely, and predictable sovereign debt restructuring mechanisms; and

(6) to oppose predatory collection of sovereign debt by creditors that acquire distressed debt for the purpose of extracting excessive returns from countries experiencing debt distress.

(b) Findings.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Sovereign debt distress can contribute to armed conflict, forced displacement, food insecurity, austerity, political instability, predatory resource extraction, and weakened democratic self-government.

(2) In 1996, the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank launched the Heavily Indebted Poor Countries Initiative to reduce unsustainable debt burdens on low-income countries, and, in 2005, that initiative was supplemented by the Multilateral Debt Relief Initiative to provide deeper cancellation of eligible debts owed to multilateral institutions.

(3) Debt relief can free public resources for health care, education, food security, infrastructure, environmental restoration, post-conflict recovery, and other investments that reduce the conditions that contribute to violence and instability.

(4) Debt relief that is conditioned on privatization of public resources, increased costs for basic public services, reductions in essential public employment, or austerity measures that deepen poverty can undermine peacebuilding and democratic stability.

(5) A durable international debt framework should promote responsible lending and borrowing, transparent debt contracting, meaningful public accountability, orderly sovereign debt workouts, and protection against predatory debt collection.

(6) The United States can promote peace by convening debtor countries, creditor countries, international financial institutions, regional development banks, the United Nations, civil society organizations, labor organizations, anti-corruption experts, debt justice experts, and communities affected by debt distress to develop a fair, transparent framework centered on peacebuilding for sovereign debt relief.

(c) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) Eligible bilateral debt.—The term "eligible bilateral debt" means any loan, credit, guarantee, insurance claim, concessional financing obligation, development assistance debt, export credit, food assistance credit, or other sovereign obligation owed by an eligible country to the United States.

(2) Eligible country.—The term "eligible country" means a foreign country that—

(A) is a low-income country;

(B) is experiencing sovereign debt distress;

(C) is affected by armed conflict, recent armed conflict, mass displacement, famine, or severe political instability; or

(D) is determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, in consultation with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Peacebuilding, to be a country for which debt relief would materially advance peacebuilding, civilian welfare, democratic stability, or economic self-determination.

(3) Fund.—The term "Fund" means the Sovereign Debt Relief and Peacebuilding Fund established under subsection (g).

(d) Peacebuilding conference on sovereign debt relief and responsible lending.—

(1) In general.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the President, acting through the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of State, and in consultation with the Secretary of Peacebuilding, acting through the Assistant Secretary for Civic Dignity and Economic Security, and the Assistant Secretary for International Peacebuilding and Human Security, shall convene an international conference on sovereign debt relief, monetary reform, responsible lending, and peacebuilding.

(2) Participation.—The conference required under paragraph (1) shall seek participation from—

(A) debtor countries experiencing unsustainable debt burdens or debt distress;

(B) creditor countries;

(C) the International Monetary Fund, the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, the International Development Association, regional development banks, and other international financial institutions;

(D) the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development and other appropriate bodies of the United Nations;

(E) labor organizations, civil society organizations, anti-corruption experts, debt justice experts, public finance experts, and other nongovernmental stakeholders with relevant expertise; and

(F) communities directly affected by debt distress, austerity measures, resource extraction, forced displacement, or conflict.

(3) Purpose.—The purpose of the conference required under paragraph (1) shall be to develop a framework for sovereign debt relief, responsible lending and borrowing, and orderly sovereign debt restructuring that supports peacebuilding, democratic accountability, and economic self-determination, including monetary reform.

(e) Negotiating objectives.—In carrying out subsection (d), the United States shall seek international agreement on—

(1) cancellation or reduction of unsustainable bilateral and multilateral debts owed by low-income countries, conflict-affected countries, and other countries experiencing debt distress;

(2) use of grants, rather than new loans, for development assistance to countries for which additional borrowing would create or deepen debt distress;

(3) responsible lending and borrowing standards requiring that sovereign loans—

(A) be publicly disclosed in accessible form;

(B) include the principal amount, interest rate, fees, maturity, collateral, governing law, and material repayment terms;

(C) comply with applicable domestic and international law;

(D) be approved through transparent and accountable domestic legal processes;

(E) include an assessment of debt sustainability and the likely effect of the loan on public services, labor conditions, food security, environmental sustainability, and conflict risk; and

(F) not finance corruption, repression, forced displacement, severe labor exploitation, resource theft, or violations of international humanitarian law;

(4) debt-relief standards that prohibit conditions requiring privatization of public resources, increased costs for basic public services, reductions in essential public employment, or austerity measures that deepen poverty, food insecurity, displacement, or conflict;

(5) debt portfolio audits to identify debts that are odious, illegal, fraudulent, corrupt, predatory, unconscionable, or inconsistent with responsible lending and borrowing standards;

(6) an orderly, fair, timely, and predictable sovereign debt workout mechanism, which may include arbitration, mediation, a standing international sovereign debt restructuring process, or another neutral mechanism capable of binding public and private creditors;

(7) measures to prevent predatory collection of distressed sovereign debt, including litigation or enforcement practices that undermine debt relief, humanitarian assistance, or peacebuilding;

(8) international monetary reform, public payment systems, nonextractive finance, and other public finance tools that reduce reliance on predatory debt and support peaceful economic development;

(9) disclosure and public accountability requirements for the use of savings generated by debt cancellation or debt reduction; and

(10) mechanisms to ensure that debt relief does not reduce other forms of development assistance, humanitarian assistance, or peacebuilding assistance.

(f) Use of voice, vote, and influence.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall instruct the United States Executive Director at each international financial institution to use the voice, vote, and influence of the United States to support—

(1) debt cancellation, debt reduction, and debt restructuring consistent with this section;

(2) responsible lending and borrowing standards consistent with subsection (e)(3);

(3) limits on harmful conditionality consistent with subsection (e)(4);

(4) debt portfolio audits consistent with subsection (e)(5);

(5) orderly sovereign debt workout mechanisms consistent with subsection (e)(6);

(6) measures to prevent predatory collection of distressed sovereign debt consistent with subsection (e)(7);

(7) international monetary reform, public payment systems, nonextractive finance, and other public finance tools consistent with subsection (e)(8); and

(8) grant-based assistance for countries for which additional borrowing would create or deepen debt distress.

(g) Sovereign Debt Relief and Peacebuilding Fund.—

(1) Establishment.—There is established in the Treasury a fund to be known as the Sovereign Debt Relief and Peacebuilding Fund.

(2) Peace dividend appropriation.—There is appropriated to the Fund, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, $5,000,000,000 for fiscal year 2027, to remain available until expended. It is the intent of Congress that the appropriation under this paragraph be treated as a peace dividend from reductions in national defense budget function 050 under section 1342.

(3) Administration.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall administer the Fund in consultation with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Peacebuilding.

(h) Use of Fund.—Amounts in the Fund shall be available to the Secretary of the Treasury for—

(1) the cost, as defined in section 502 of the Federal Credit Reform Act of 1990 (2 U.S.C. 661a), of modifying, reducing, cancelling, or otherwise forgiving eligible bilateral debts owed to the United States;

(2) contributions by the United States to multilateral debt cancellation, debt reduction, or debt restructuring arrangements negotiated through international financial institutions;

(3) transfers to the Comptroller General of the United States for debt portfolio audits described in subsection (k);

(4) support for responsible lending and borrowing standards described in subsection (e)(3);

(5) support for orderly sovereign debt workout mechanisms described in subsection (e)(6); and

(6) administrative costs necessary to carry out this section.

(i) Bilateral debt cancellation authority.—

(1) In general.—The President, acting through the Secretary of the Treasury, may modify, reduce, cancel, or otherwise forgive any eligible bilateral debt owed to the United States by an eligible country, to the extent amounts are available in the Fund for the cost of such modification, reduction, cancellation, or forgiveness.

(2) No refund of amounts previously paid.—Cancellation of an eligible bilateral debt under this subsection shall not require the United States to refund principal, interest, fees, or charges paid before the date of cancellation, unless expressly provided by a subsequent Act of Congress.

(j) Multilateral debt cancellation authority.—The Secretary of the Treasury may use amounts in the Fund to support a multilateral debt cancellation, debt reduction, or debt restructuring arrangement if—

(1) the arrangement reduces or cancels debts owed by 1 or more eligible countries to an international financial institution;

(2) the arrangement is consistent with the policy and negotiating objectives described in subsections (a) and (e);

(3) the arrangement does not condition debt relief on privatization of public resources, increased costs for basic public services, reductions in essential public employment, or austerity measures that deepen poverty, food insecurity, displacement, or conflict; and

(4) the Secretary of the Treasury determines that the contribution would support peacebuilding, civilian welfare, democratic stability, or economic self-determination.

(k) Debt portfolio audits.—

(1) In general.—The Comptroller General of the United States shall conduct audits of eligible bilateral debts and, to the extent practicable, debts owed by eligible countries to international financial institutions or private creditors, to identify debts that are odious, illegal, fraudulent, corrupt, predatory, unconscionable, or inconsistent with responsible lending and borrowing standards.

(2) Matters included.—An audit under paragraph (1) shall assess—

(A) the origin, purpose, principal amount, interest rate, fees, maturity, collateral, governing law, and repayment terms of the debt;

(B) whether the debt complied with applicable domestic and international law at the time it was incurred;

(C) whether the proceeds of the debt were used for the stated public purpose;

(D) whether the debt financed corruption, repression, forced displacement, severe labor exploitation, resource theft, or violations of international humanitarian law;

(E) whether the debt materially contributed to debt distress, austerity, economic instability, conflict, displacement, or deprivation of essential services; and

(F) whether cancellation, reduction, restructuring, or other remedial action would advance the purposes of this section.

(3) Consultation.—In conducting audits under this subsection, the Comptroller General may consult with the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Peacebuilding, international financial institutions, debtor governments, civil society organizations, labor organizations, anti-corruption experts, debt justice experts, and communities affected by debt distress.

(4) Prioritization, initial audit, and public availability.—

(A) Prioritization.—In selecting debts for audit, the Comptroller General shall give priority to—

(i) eligible bilateral debts for which action under subsection (i) is under consideration;

(ii) debts of eligible countries experiencing acute debt distress, armed conflict, post-conflict recovery, or humanitarian crisis;

(iii) debts for which credible information indicates the presence of 1 or more conditions described in paragraph (1); and

(iv) debts for which an audit is likely to materially inform action under subsection (i) or (j), or negotiations or international action under subsection (e) or (f).

(B) Initial audit.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General shall complete at least 1 audit under this subsection.

(C) Public availability.—Upon completion of an audit under this subsection, the Comptroller General shall submit the audit to Congress and make the audit publicly available in unclassified form, but may include a classified annex and may omit information prohibited from disclosure by law.

(l) Relationship to fellowship among nations and peace congresses.—

(1) Peace and stability partnerships.—A framework developed under this section may inform the establishment of a peace and stability partnership under section 1326, including partnership objectives relating to debt relief, public banking, monetary reform, nonextractive finance, public benefit systems, anti-corruption, labor standards, natural resource governance, and local productive capacity.

(2) Peace congresses.—A framework developed under this section may inform a peace and stabilization agenda developed under section 1362 if sovereign debt distress, austerity, predatory lending, predatory resource extraction, concentrated economic power, or deprivation of essential services contributes to the conflict or potential conflict addressed by the peace congress.

(3) No merger of authorities.—Nothing in this subsection may be construed to authorize assistance, grants, cooperative agreements, debt cancellation, or debt restructuring except as otherwise authorized by law.

(m) Report to Congress.—

(1) Report required.—Not later than 180 days after the conclusion of the conference required under subsection (d), the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of Peacebuilding shall jointly submit to Congress a report on the conference.

(2) Contents.—The report required under paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) a description of the participants in the conference;

(B) a summary of any framework, recommendations, or agreements developed through the conference;

(C) a description of progress toward the negotiating objectives described in subsection (e);

(D) an assessment of how sovereign debt distress, predatory lending, predatory collection, austerity, resource extraction, and harmful conditionality affect peacebuilding, democratic accountability, economic self-determination, forced displacement, food security, public health, education, and conflict risk;

(E) an assessment of how debt relief and responsible lending standards may support peace and stability partnerships under section 1326;

(F) an assessment of how sovereign debt relief and responsible lending standards may support peace congresses under section 1362;

(G) a description of actions taken by the United States Executive Director at each international financial institution pursuant to subsection (f); and

(H) recommendations for legislation or administrative action to advance sovereign debt relief, responsible lending, orderly sovereign debt workouts, limits on harmful conditionality, and protection against predatory collection of distressed sovereign debt.

(3) Public availability.—The report required under paragraph (1) shall be made publicly available in an accessible format, except that the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of Peacebuilding may withhold information if public disclosure would materially harm an ongoing diplomatic negotiation.

Subtitle C—Presidential Address on Peace and Populism

SEC. 1371. PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS ON PEACE AND POPULISM.

(a) Address.—Not later than July 4, 2027, the President shall deliver to Congress and the people of the United States an address describing progress made through the Jubilee, in carrying out the POPULIST Act, and in advancing peace, justice, prosperity, democratic self-government, and dignity for all.

(b) Consultation.—The President shall prepare the address in consultation with members of the Cabinet and the heads of other relevant Federal departments and agencies.

(c) Public availability.—At the time the address is delivered, the President shall make the text of the address and supporting data and sources sufficient to substantiate its principal factual claims publicly available without charge in accessible and searchable formats.

(d) Matters addressed.—The address shall describe, in clear language and using concrete measures and examples to the extent practicable—

(1) progress in the lives of ordinary people, including changes in health care coverage and costs, poverty, employment, wages, education, housing, household debt, the cost of living, and access to essential public systems;

(2) progress in ensuring that people working in the United States are authorized for employment, that all workers are protected from exploitation and unfair competition, and that workers are empowered to meaningfully participate in collective bargaining;

(3) progress in reducing concentrations of economic and political power, including actions by the Federal Trade Commission and other Federal agencies to promote competition, limit algorithmic price coordination, safeguard against mega-mergers, and prevent unfair, deceptive, and abusive acts or practices;

(4) progress toward establishing justice, including changes in incarceration, community safety, access to legal services, de-escalation of the war on drugs, promoting government accountability, immigration reform, the establishment of complaints.gov, and rebuilding public trust;

(5) progress toward democratic self-government, including the principle of one citizen, one vote, reducing the influence of political spending, addressing gerrymandering with fair redistricting standards, expanding representation, and statehood for Washington, D.C.;

(6) progress in building a better food system, including reductions in child hunger and food insecurity, implementation of universal free school meals, stronger enforcement against unfair agricultural practices, restoration of country-of-origin labeling, and rebuilding public capacity in the Department of Agriculture;

(7) progress in reining in Big Tech and regulating artificial intelligence, including breaking up dominant digital platforms, protecting data privacy, restricting surveillance advertising and surveillance pricing, protecting consumers from addictive product designs, limiting children's access to social media, and ensuring that technology serves human dignity;

(8) progress in making housing affordable, including restrictions on excessive institutional ownership of homes, preservation of rural and farmworker housing, reductions in homelessness and housing cost burdens, rehabilitation and expansion of public housing, and the status of the study on a modern metropolis in the heartland of the nation;

(9) progress in reforming the monetary and banking system to reduce dependence on money created through private debt and support broad-based economic abundance, including through sovereign money, public banking and Treasury transaction accounts, the National Infrastructure Bank, and the Strategic Public Production Corporation;

(10) progress in advancing fellowship among nations, including diplomatic engagement and normalization, restraint of broad economic sanctions, humanitarian access, family reunification, clean energy and nonproliferation cooperation, peace and stability partnerships, civilian international assistance, sovereign debt relief, and other peaceful economic and civic cooperation;

(11) progress in the abolition or reduction of standing armies, including reductions in the national defense budget, the ending of forever wars, restoration of congressional control over war powers, progress toward nuclear disarmament, prevention of first-use nuclear strikes, and protection of outer space from weaponization;

(12) progress in the holding and promotion of peace congresses, including peace congresses for conflict prevention and stabilization, the Sudan peace process, nuclear arms-control talks and disarmament summits, and the sovereign debt relief, responsible lending, and peacebuilding conference; and

(13) priorities for continuing the work begun under the POPULIST Act of 2026, including legislative provisions for consideration in the legislative package to be bargained for in 2028, as part of the larger goal of making America a great country in which the majority of citizens no longer feel that the political and economic systems are stacked against them.
